6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that he may intreat thee, that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our understanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can let himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we are all our weaknesse of thy hands as thou hast sayd.

8 For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, the creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, both suffer nine months the creature, which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that contineth, and that which is conceived, shall both be preferred, and when time is come, the wombe, being pressed, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposed it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousness, nurturest it with thy law, and reioicest with thy iudgement.

13 Thou steapest it as thy creature, and giueth it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou bestrovest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by the commandment, that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

15 Nowe therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generalI thou shaldest prouide) but concerning the people, for whose sake I am sorry,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne : for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Jacob, for whose sake I am grieved :

17 For them will I pray before thee, whilI for my selfe as for them : for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 But I haue heard the sudden coming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voice, and vnderstand my words, which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before he was taken vp :

20 O Lord, that liuest for ever, which holdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose thome is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whose the host of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and sayings steadfast, whose commandment is strong, and government terrible,

23 Whose looke wyeth by the depth, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witness, 24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receive into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and as long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answer.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked faintly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

19 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which have lived like beasts, but looke vpon them which have clearly caught thy Law.

20 Make not displeasure with them, which are worse than beasts, but loue them, that may put their trust in thy righteousness and grace.

21 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sinnes: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

22 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull towards vs which haue no works of righteousness.

23 For the righteous, which haue layd by many good works, let them receive the reward of their owne deedes.

24 But what is man, that thou shouldst take displeasure at him? what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldst bee so grieved towards it?

25 For verely there is no man among them that is borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doeth confesse thee, which hath not done amiss.

26 For in this, O Lorde, thy righteousness and thy goodnes shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good works.

27 Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according to thy words it shall be.

28 For I will not verely consider the workes of men, because the death, before the iudgement, is their destruction:

29 But I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation, & the reward that they shall haue.

30 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

31 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowed, cometh not to time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

32 I answered then and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

33 Like as the husbandmans seede perissheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in his season, or if it bee destroyed with too much raine:

34 So perissheth man which is created with fowle hands, and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seed.

35 For not woth with vs, O Lorde, but haue thy people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt bee mercifull vnto thy creature.

36 Then answered he me, & said, The things which thou speakest, are for the present, & the things to come, so such as be to come.

37 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldst haue my creature aboute me: but I haue oft times beene nere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer seen the righteous.

38 In this also thou art maruelous before the Lord.

39 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becometh thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

40 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them, that shall live in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

41 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like vnto thee.

42 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plentifully made ready: the citie is builded: and rest is prepared, perfect goodnes and absolute wisdom.

43 The root of euil is sealed by from you: the weakenesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

44 Sorowes are banished away, and in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortallitie.

45 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish:

46 For when they had libertie, they despised the most high: they contemned his Lawe, and forsooke his wayes.

47 Wherefore, they haue trodden downe his righteousnes,

48 & saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

49 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirft and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

50 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

51 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

52 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 53 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to do in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

1 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end. 2 Torments for the wicked after this life. 3 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 4 The Jewes ingratitude. 5 Therefore they perish. 6 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou feelest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most high will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall bee seene an earthquake in the world, and an uprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most high spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and thens is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most high haue platine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And every one that shall escape safe, & that bee deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherewith he haue beleueed,

8 Shall be preferred from the sayd perils and shall see my saluation in my land, and within my holdes: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselves, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitely, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not knowne me,

11 But haue abhorred my lawe, while they were yet in liberty, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it,

12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more carefull, to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire how the righteous shall be laued, & whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and sayd,

15 I haue aforesayde that which I say now and will speake it hereafter, that there be many more of them which perish, then of them that shall be laued.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the fieldes is, so is also the seede: as the flowers bee, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now line, no man spake against me.

19 For then every one obeyed, but now the manners of them that are created in this worlde, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seed, and by a law, whereout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and beholds, there was perill, because of the deuilles, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dyed with great labour.

23 Acquiesce, if thou wilt cease seven dayes more: but thou shalt not fast in them.

24 But shalt go into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the flowers of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely.

25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commaunded me, into the field, which is called Abarah, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eate of the hearbes of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seven dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and my heart was vexed within mee, as aforesaid,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shew thy selfe vnto vs, thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt.

30 And especially spakest vnto them, saying, Pray me, O Israel, and make my words, the seed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I sowe my lawe in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 For they that receiued it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueh seede, or the sea a ship, or a vessel meate and drinke, if that perish within a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise, the thing that is sown, is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but in vs it cometh not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne: & our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, and vpon the right side: I saw a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voyce, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her.

40 And sayde vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she sayd vnto me, Sir, let mee alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorrow: for I am sory vexed in my minde, and brought very low.

42 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 And she said vnto me, I chy seruant hath bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirty yeres.

44 And every houre, and euery day these thirty yeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeres God heard mee thine handmaid, and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband glad, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great travail.

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

But when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lightes, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: & I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fledde, and am come into this hill.

him from grief.

10 And as she purposed to returne into the churche to remaine here, and neither to care nor labour continually in mourne and fall, until I die.

11 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and went in her anger, and layd.

12 Thou foolish woman aboute al other, feele thou not our beautie, and what cometh vnto vs?

13 For how our mother is all weell and is her children, and mourne extremely.

14 Where we be all now in beautie, and make our moue (for we be all now) art thou for any some?

15 Demoune the earth, and she shall tell thee that it is the which ought to mourne for the fall of many that come vpon her.

16 For from the beginning all men are borne of women, and shall come, and behold, they were all in this destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

17 And should then rather mourne, she that had led to great a multitude, as thou which art not but the one?

18 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth, for I have lost the fruit of my wombe, which I brought forth with beautie, and bare with sorrow.

19 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth vnto her as it came.

20 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne many child, is the earth also from the beginning such as thou vnto man, even to him that laboureth her.

21 From therefore withhold thy sorrow in thy sinne, and beare continually that which cometh vnto thee.

22 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and mouest his counsell in time, thou shalt be comforted there.

23 Do thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

24 When she said vnto me, I will not, I will not go into the citie, but here will I be.

25 So I continued to speake more with her, and said.

26 Do not so, but be counselled: for how may father hath Zion? Be of good comfort, because of the feyde of Jerusalem.

27 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is layde waste, our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

28 Our Altarion fainteth, and the song of us, and our mirth is banished away, and the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the life of our Covenant is taken away, and our law things are defiled, and the flame that is taken vpon our vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Daughters weep, and our Leuites are carried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our houses are spoiled, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak.

29 And which is the greatest of all, Zion the which hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate her.

30 And therefore shake off thy great beautie, and put away the multitude of labour, that the thought may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most high may give thee rest and ease from thy labour.

31 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and wiled what it might be.

32 And beholde, immediately there came out a great voyce, vnto I said, so that the earth shook at the noise of the voyce.

33 And I looked, and beheld the woman appeared vnto mee as afore: but there was a citie builded, & a place was builded from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said.

34 Where is this? which came to mee at the first, for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

35 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

36 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he took me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feet, and said vnto me.

37 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding altered? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou say?

38 And I sayd, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I have done according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there have I sene things, and see that I am not able to expound.

39 Then sayd he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will give thee exhortation.

40 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through carelesse.

41 For I have sene that I knew not, and heare that I do not know.

42 O, is mine vnderstanding decreit, or dooth my minde, being haire, erre.

43 Now therefore, I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew the seruant of this wonder.

44 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most high hath reuelled many secret things vnto thee.

45 We hath sene thy good purpose, that thou art loyde continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Zion.

46 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litle while agoe.

47 Thou sawest a woman mourning, & thou beganst to comfort her:

48 But now seest thou the likeness of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

49 And whereas he told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution.

50 This woman which thou sawest, she is Zion: and whereas he told thee (even the which thou seest now as a citie builded).

51 And as touching that he sayd vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that there was euen thirtie yeeres where there was no offering offered in her.

52 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas he told thee, that he nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But whereas he told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when he came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which have chanced, these are to be opened unto thee.

50 For now the most high seeth, that thou art lay in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearnesse of her glory, and the fairnesse of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was build.

52 For I knew that the most high would shew thee things unto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to go into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place, where the Citie of the most high should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building, as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed above many, and art called with the most high among the few.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remain here.

59 And the most high shal shew thee visions of high things, which the most high wil do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last daies. So I slept the same night and another, as hee had commanded me.

CHAP. XL

1 The vision of an eagle coming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a Lyon coming out of the forest.

Then saw I a dreame, and beholds, there came vp from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I saw, & beholds, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became like feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subject vnto her, and no man spake against her, nor not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the eagle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last.

10 Remember this, I saw that the heads were not out of her heads, but from the mids of her body.

11 When I numbered her contrary feathers, and beholds, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholds, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood up, and reigned in continuance a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 When there came a dole vnto it, and hee,

16 Where thou shalt kepe the earth in long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the last thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 When I looked, and beholds, in power of time the feathers that followed, stood vpon the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set up, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, & beholds, the three feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the eagles body, but two heads that rested, and were winged.

24 Then saw I also, that two wings pulled themselves from the feet, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and beholds, the vnder wings thought to set by themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set by, but quickly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, & loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, beholds, they awaked ouer the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids: for that was greater then the two.

30 Then I saw that the two heads were vponed therewith.

31 And beholds, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eat by the vnder wings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in awe, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwell vpon earth with much labo, and it had the governance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and beholds, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which did rule likewise vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the

When I heard a voyce which said unto me, Rise up here, and consider the thing which is said.

Then I saw, and beholde, as it were a thron that roared, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that he sent out a many voyce unto the earth, and saye,

Heare thou, I will talke with thee, & the world shall say unto thee,

But not thou that, that of the four beasts thou wast, whom I made to reigne in my world, for by then the ende of times might come,

And know the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beastes that were past, and hath overcome the world with great fearfulness, and now the whole compaign of the earth with much oppression, and that dwellers in the world in all the world with deceit:

For thou hast not judged the world with truth: Seeing thou hast troubled the meek, thou hast not the peaceable, and thou hast taken down the dwellings of them that were stout, and hast cast downe the towers of them as was their name,

Therefore is thy tyrannous dealing come to the most High, and thy pride into the clouds:

The most High also hath looked upon the heavens, and beholde, they are ended, and their dominations are fulfilled.

Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, whose terrible wings, not thy wicked leas, nor thy malicious heade, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy native body,

For all the earth may be refreshed, and the world, alone delivered from thy violence, and thou mayest hope for thy judgement and punishment that made her.

CHAP. XIL

The declaration of the former visions: And when the Lion spake these wordes unto the Eagle, I saw,

And beholde, the head that had the upper wings appeared no more, neither did the four wings appeare any more, that came to it, and they themselves to reigne, whose kingdomes were small and full of voyces.

Then I saw, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was broken, and the earth was in great feare. Then I saw out of the trouble and raunce of my vision, from the great feare, and sayd unto me,

For this hast thou done unto me in that thou hast overcome the wayes of the most High: And I was in my mind, and very much in my heart, and little strength is there in me, for I know that I received this night.

Therefore now will I beseech the most High, that he will comfort me unto the end. And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I have found grace before thy sight, and if I am justified with thy blood many other, and if my prayer indeed come up before thy face,

Comfort me, and strengthen me by thy servant the interpretation and difference of this horrible vision: that thou mayest perfectly comfort me

9. Seeing thou hast judged mee worthy to shew me the last times.

10. Then he said unto me, This is the interpretation of this vision,

11. The Eagle whom thou sawest come by from the sea, is the kingdome which was seen in the vision of the prophet Daniel.

12. But it was not expounded unto him: therefore now I declare it unto thee.

13. Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise up a kingdome upon the earth, and it shall be feared above all kingdomes that were before it.

14. In it shall twelue things reigne one after another.

15. After that the second shall begin to reigne, and shall have more time then the first.

16. And this do y twelue wings signifie, which thou sawest.

17. As for the hope that thou hearest speak, and that thou sawest not go out from the beave, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation.

18. That after the time of that kingdome, there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19. Concerning the right underwings, which thou sawest hang unto her wings, this is the interpretation.

20. In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yerres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21. But when the mid time cometh, there shall arise some hope a time, to his time beginning to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept unto the end.

22. And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation.

23. In his last dayes shall the most High raise up three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall have the domination of the earth.

24. And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe: above all those that were before them: therefore they are called the heads of the Eagle.

25. For they shall accomplish his wickednes, and shall finish his last end.

26. And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifies that one of them shall die upon his bed, and yet with paine.

27. For the two that remaine, the sword shall devour them.

28. For the sword of the one shall devour the other: but at the last shall hee fall by the sword himselfe.

29. And whereas thou sawest two underwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation.

30. These are they whom the most High hath prepared for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31. And the Lion whom thou sawest rising up out of the wood and roaring, and speaking unto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her unrighteousness with all the wordes that thou hast heard,

32. This is the kinde which the most High hath hath kept for them, and for their wickednes an- to the end, and he shall equocate them, and call before them their fpoiles.

37 For he shall let them alone in the iudg- ment, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

38 For he will deliver the residue of any peo- ple by affliction, which are preferred upon any borders, and he shall make them to fall, until the coming of the day of iudgement, to which I have spoken unto thee from the beginning.

39 This is the dream that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

40 Thou onely hast bene merite to know this secret of the most high.

41 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene in a booke, and hide them.

42 And teach them the wile of the people, whose hearts thou knowest: may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

43 But wait thou here yet seven dayes more, that it may be shewed thee what former it plea- seth the most high to declare unto thee: and with that he went his way.

44 And when all the people perceived, that the seven dayes were past, and I not come a- gain into the citie, they gathered them all toge- ther, from the least unto the most, and came un- to me, and spake unto me, saying,

45 What have we offended thee: what out- have we done against thee, that thou forsakest us, and sittest in this place?

46 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, & as a candle in a darke place, and as an haire of thy beard from the temple.

47 Are not thy ends which are come unto us, sufficient?

48 If thou then forsake us, how much better had it bene for us, that we had ben burnt also as Sion was burnt?

49 For we are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a lowde voyce. Then answered I them, and sayd, 50 Be of good comfort. O Alas, am I be not heavy thou house of Ierob.

51 For the most high hath you in symen- diance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

52 As for me I have not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke merite for the lowe estate of your sanctuary.

53 And now goe your way home, every man, and after these dayes will I come unto you.

54 So the people went their way into the ci- tie, as I commanded them.

55 But I remained still in the field seven dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The vision of a winds coming forth of the sea, 2 Which became a man, 3 His properties and power against his enemies, 4 The declaration of this vision.

And after the seven dayes I dreamed a dream by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it moved all the houses thereof.

3 And I looked, and beheld, there was mightie man with the thousands of brethren, when he turned his countenance to look on all things trembled that were here under him.

4 And when y voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, as the sunn faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and beheld, there was gathered to gether a multitude of men out of number, fed the four winds of the sea to fight against the man that came out of the sea.

6 And I looked, and beheld, he graced him- self a great mountaine, and flew up upon it.

7 But I would have seene the country in place whereon the del was grauen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and beheld, all they which came to fight against him, were full afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Nevertheless, when he saw the fiercenes of the multitude that came, he lifted not up his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely, as I saw, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips, the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparks and flames.

11 And they were all met together, and this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, & fell with violence upon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them by all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust and smel of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 Afterward I sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling him him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many unto him, some with toyall countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bounde, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy servant these won- ders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to seeke my prayer.

15 Shewe me now therefore the interpreta- tion of this dream.

16 For thus, I consider in mine under- standing, shewe unto them that shall be left in those dayes, and much more woe unto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in woe-fulness.

18 And I understood, and the things that are layd up in the inner haies, which shall come in unto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great paine, and many necessities, as they themselves desire.

20 Yet is greater, that he that is in danger, should fall into chiefe, and further the things to come hereafter, than to passe away in a chace out of the world.

21 When I awaked, and saw, the interpretation of the vision, and I have shewed, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation.

23 For he that shall beare danger in this time, he shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as have neither shall touch the most mightie.

46 Shewe therefore, that they which be left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.
47 As hee are the meanings of the vision,
48 whereas thou sawest a man coming by from the mouth of the sea,

49 As hee is he whom the most high hath made a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliver his creature, and he shall order them that are left behind.

50 And whereas thou sawest, that out of the mouth there came as a blast with fire and flame,

51 And that hee neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him,

52 Beholde, the dayes come that the most high will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth.

53 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell upon the earth;

54 And one shall prepare to fight against another, cite against cite, and place against place,
55 and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

56 When this cometh to passe, then shall the heavens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my son bee rewarded, whom thou sawest as by a man.

57 And when all the people heare his voyce, every man shall in their owne land leave the battle, that they have one against another.

58 And an innumerable multitude shalbe gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, to fight against him.

59 But he shall stand upon the top of mount Zion.

60 And when shall come, and shall be shewed to all being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the wall grauen touch without any hands.

61 And thus my sonne shall rebuke the wicked meanings of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempell,

62 And into elements like to flame, whereby they shal be consumed: and without any labour will he destroy them euen by the Law, which is written unto the fire.

63 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people unto him,

64 *Those are the ten tribes which were carried away captives out of their owne land * in the time of Othias the King, whom Solomonar the King of the Assyrians tooke captive, and carried them beyond the river: to were they brought into another land.*

65 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further country, where neuer mankind dwelt.

66 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

67 And they entered in at the narrow passages of the river Euphrates.

68 For the most high then shewed them the way, and stayed the springs of the flood till they were past oner.

69 For when the country there was a great wilderness of a pene and a half, and the same was called I Arareth.

46 Then dwelt they there untill the latter time: and when they come forth againe,

47 The most high shall hold still the springs of the river againe, that they may goe thowre: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behind of the people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Shewe when he destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remains,

50 And then hee shall shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man coming by from the mids of the sea?

52 And hee sayd vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man upon earth see any sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dream which thou sawest, and whereby thou only art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken chime otone lawe, and applyed thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wickedness, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most high: and after these other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying & paying the most high for the wonders which hee did in tyme,

58 Which he governeth, & such things as come in their seasons: and there I faste three dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The iniquity of Israel. 35 The resurrection and judgement.

1 Upon the thirde day I sate vnder an oke, and beholde, there came forth a voyce vnto mee out of the bush, and sayd, Elias, Elias.

2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lord, and stood by vpon my feet.

3 *Then said he vnto me, * In the bush I reuelled my selfe, and spake vnto Moses, when my people sinned in Egypt.*

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season,

5 And I told him many wonders, & shewed him the secrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay by in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, untill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times

Exod. 3. 2. 8.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore let thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee the mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature,

14 And let aside the most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hath the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Beholde, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded mee, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee boyme afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that thou hast done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into mee, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Lawe, that men may find the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seke thee not for fourtie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee their time, Sarcas, Dathia, Gelimia, Gramas, and Aziel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as hee commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, & said,

28 Heare these words, O Israel,

29 Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

30 And receiued the Law of life, which they kept not, which yee also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, even the land of Zion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vngodly, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most high commanded you.

32 And sojourn much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore it is to be that ye will submit your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept alive, and after death ye shall receiue mercy.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seke me these fourty dayes.

37 So I tooke the five men, as hee commanded me, and wee went into the deserts, and remained there.

38 The next day, beholde, a boyme called me, saying, Elias, open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached mee a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisdome grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most high gaue vnderstanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourtie dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure booke.

45 And when the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the most high spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the truth and vniuersity may read it.

46 But keep the secret last, that thou maist giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the beine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisdome, and the river of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

The prophesie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The multitude shall come on the world. 9 The Lord wil encrease thine innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sathan 20 and punishment vpon the kings of the earth. 24 Curst are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 33 God is the requenger of his elect.

Beholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord.

1 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithful and true.

2 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfairhulnes of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

3 For every vnfairfull shall die in his vnfairhulnesse.

4 Beholde, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction.

5 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked workes are full.

6 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will not my tongue no more for their wickednesse: (they are vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the time that they doe wickedly.

8 Beholde,

Gen. 47. 4.

Act. 7. 53.

Man

10 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood shall visit me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

11 I will surely avenge them, sayth the Lord, and requite vnto euery one all the innocent blood among them.

12 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not visite them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

13 But I will bring them out with a mighty power, and stretched out mine arme; and I will visit them as a flocke, and will destroy all the land wherein.

14 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

15 The plowmen shall till the ground, shall mowne: for their seedes shall falle through the winter and harte, and by an horrible starre.

16 Alas to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

17 For the sword, and their destruction nearer, and one people shall stand up against another with swordes in their hands.

18 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regard their king, and the princes shall measure their strength by their power.

19 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

20 Because of their pride the cities shall bee troubled, the houses shall be afraide, men shall flee.

21 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoiled for lacke of hand, and because of great trouble.

22 Behold, sayth God, I call together all the kinges of the earth to reuence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

23 As they do yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their bodies: thus sayth the Lord God.

24 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

25 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

26 Alas to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandmentes, sayth the Lord.

27 I will not spare them: depart, O children from the power: besee not my Sanctuary.

28 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth her them into death and destruction.

29 For now are the plagues come vpon the land, and ye shall remaine in them: for God will punish you, because yee haue sinned against him.

30 Behold, an horrible vision cometh from the East,

31 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charres, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the winde vpon the mount, that all they which heare them, may tremble.

32 Turn the Carmianians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the Boares of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

33 But after this shall the dragons haue the upper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

34 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall see.

35 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemy besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their house shall be feare & dread, and strite among their kinges.

36 Behold clouds from the East, and from the South vnto the South, and they are verie horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

37 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall be from the swoorde vnto the belly.

38 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

39 And there shall be great fearefulness & trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall be afraide, and trembling shall come vpon
them.

40 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

41 And from the East shall windes arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which he called vp in wrath, and the starre, raised so feare the East and West winde, shall be destroyed.

42 And the great and mighty clouds shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starre that they may make all the earth afraide, and them that dwell therein, and that they may poyse out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation.

43 As fire and harte, and firing swordes, and many waters, that all fieldes may be full, and all riners with the abundance of great waters.

44 And they shall breake down the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hills, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadowes, and their corne.

45 And they shall goe with a straight course
vnto Babylon, and make it afraide.

46 They shall come to her & besiege her, and shall poyse forth the constellation, & all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

47 And they that remaine vnder her, shall do seruice vnto them that haue put her in feare.

48 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person.

49 Alas vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

50 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentiones: therefore saith God,

49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widow-hood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and penitence, to wastethine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glorie of thy power shall be hid vp, as a stone when the heat riseth, that is hid vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be like as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty and the haughty that not be able to receive thee.

52 Aloud I thus hate thee, sayeth the Lord.

53 If thou hadst not alway slain me, chosen, raising the stroke of thine hands, and laid ouer their death, when thou wast drunken.

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance;

55 The reward of thy wickedness shall be in thy bosom: therefore shalt thou rectifie a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, sayeth the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that bee in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, & drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappy, shalt come thowow the sea, and receive plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the staine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carry away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the world with admonition how to gouerne themselves in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their finnes, and to commit themselves to the Lord, 55 whose mightie providence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WDe to thee, Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with lacke and hate-fulness, and inuaine your children, and be foyr: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, & who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can diuine them away?

5 Woe any man diuine away an hungry Lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begunne to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can diuine them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not be angry? he shall lighten in pieces at his pleasure the earth quakerly, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth by such waves from the deep, and the waves thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glorie of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that breaketh the bow: his arrows that he shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrowe which is shot of a mighty archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Alas is me, woe is me: who will deliue me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the people shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I do in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickedness, nor be alway mindful of the scourges.

17 Behold, vitallies shall be so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to be in good case: but then shall the euils which I send vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perishe with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall be call out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that no man shall desire to see another, or to hear his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shall be ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselves in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine there of foure olives in the place where olives growe, among other trees,

24 As when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses and the sword.

26 And the earth shall be left wast, and the fields thereof shall waite old, and her wayes, and all her pastures shall grow full of thornes, so that no man shall trauaile therethrough.

17 The daughters shall mourne, hauing no husband: the women shall make lamentation hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne hauing no helper.

18 In the waters shall their bedegromes be hid, and their husbands shall perishe with them.

19 But ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

20 Beholde the word of the Lord, receive it: heare not the gods of whom the Lande speaketh: beholde, the plagues that were neere, and are now neere.

21 As a trauielling woman which in the many moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the hour of birth is come, two or three houres after the paines come vpon her body, and when the child commeth to the birth, they tary not a while.

22 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and the lawes shall come vpon it on euery side.

23 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles bee euen as strangers vpon earth.

24 He that selleth, let him bee as he that selleth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will sell.

25 Woe to occupieth merchandise, as he that buyeth not: and hee that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein.

26 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes.

27 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

28 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

29 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in extremitie and famine shall they get their children.

30 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, they haile great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

31 So much more will I bee angry against them, for their finnes, sayth the Lord.

32 As a widow crueth an honest and vertuous woman:

33 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when hee rebuketh her sife, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall hidde the author of all sinne vpon earth.

34 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor in the works thereof: for as euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

35 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: the coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which he hath not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

36 Beholde, the Lord knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughtes and their hearts.

37 For as soone as he sayd, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

38 By his word were the starres established, and he knoweth the number of them.

39 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

40 Hee hath shut the sea in the middest of the waters, and with his word hath hee hangd the earth vpon the waters.

41 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vail: vpon the waters hath hee founded it.

42 In the desert hath he made springes of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to poure out floods from the high rockes to water the earth.

43 Hee made man, and put his heart in the middest of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and understanding.

44 And the spirit of the almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hidde things in the secretes of the earth.

45 He knoweth your intentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne and would hide your finnes.

46 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

47 And when your finnes are brought forth before men, yee shall bee confounded, and your owne finnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

48 What will yee doe, or how will yee hide your finnes before God and his Angles?

49 Beholde, God himselfe is the Iudge: feare him: cease from your finnes; and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

50 For beholde, the heat of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idoles.

51 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

52 For in every place & cities that are neere, there shalbe great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

53 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

54 For they then shal waste and spoyle their goods, and call them out of their houses.

55 Then shall the trial of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

56 Heare, O ye my beloues, saith the Lord, Behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not yet afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

57 Also so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your finnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselves vp.

58 Close vnto them that are bound with their finnes, and covered with their iniquities, as a fildoe is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof covered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobias's parentage. 3 His godliness. 6 His equity. 8 His charity and prosperity. 10 His flesh, and his goods are confiscated.

The booke of the words of Tobit the sonne of Amiel, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gabael, the sonne of Gafael, and of the tribe of Sefephthalim.

2 And in the time of Enemessar king of the Assyrians was led away captive out of Assur, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Sefephthalim, in Galilee above Assur.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with mee to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne country in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Sefephthalim my father sell from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most high was consecrated, and built up for all ages.

5 Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Sefephthalim's house offered to the heifer called Baal.

6 But I (as it was ordained to all Israel by an everlasting decree) went alone often to Jerusalem, at the feasts, bringing the first fruits, and the tenth of beasts, with that which was first borne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gave to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministered in Jerusalem: the other tenth part I sold, and came and bestowed it euery yeere at Jerusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gave vnto them to whom it was meet, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupil.

9 Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 But when I was led captive to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eat of the bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating.

12 Because I remembered God with all mine heart.

13 Therefore the most high gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purveyor.

14 And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of silver to Gabael, the brother of Gabrias in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not go into Media.

16 But in the time of Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saue any of my kindred dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had slain any, when he was come and fled from Media, I buried them privately (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

19 Therefore when a certaine floure was accented mee to the King, because I did such things, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe by feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoiled, neither was there any thing left me but mine wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Sennacherib's within five or six dayes from his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountains of Ararat, and Sarchedon his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts, and ouer all his domesticall affaires, Achabacharus my brother Amels sonne.

22 And when Achabacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to Nineue: now Achabacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersaw the accounts: so Sarchedon appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

1 Tobit calleth the faithful to his table. 3 He layeth the feast to bury the dead. 10 How he became blinde. 13 His wife laboureth for her lining. 16 He reprocheth him bitterly.

Now when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the feast of the leuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I ate downe to eate.

2 And when I saw abundance of meate, I said to my sonne, Doe, and bring what people thou canst: for thou shalt finde of our brethren, which doth remember God, and loe, I will take my feare.

3 But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house till the going downe of the Sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heaviness.

6 Remembering that prophesie of Amos which had sayd, Your solemn feastes shall be turned into mourning, and your ioyes into weeping.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the Sunne I went and made a grave and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and sayd, Dost thou not feare to die for this cause, who stied away, and yet loe, hee drieth the dead againe?

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and sleepe at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face uncourted, Tobias being captive among the Assyrians, did not leave the way of truth.

10 And I knew not that sparrows were in the world, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrows came to mine eyes, and I went to the physicians, but they helped me not. Wherefore Zacharias did nourish me, until I went into Samaria.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens work to doe.

12 And when they had sent them home to the weavers, they payed the wages, and gave a halfe.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to deate, I sayde unto her, From whence is this kinde of it is not solden? tender it to the weavers: for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is solden.

14 And she said, It was given for a gift more than the wages: but I did not desire, and have sent to render it to the weavers, and I did bring it unto thee. Furthermore she sayd, Caldest thou thine almes, and thy righteousness? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

1 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguel's daughter, & the things that came unto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I being sorrowfull, did weepe, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercie and trueth, and thou iudgeth truly and iustly for ever.

3 Remember me, and looke on mee, neither punish me according to my sinnes, or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandments: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a spoile, and into captiuitie, & to death, and for a sinners reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now thou hast many and bad causes.

5 To doe with mee according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy commandments, neither haue walked in truth before thee.

6 Nowe therefore deale with mee as seemeth best unto thee, and commaund my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and deuiant earth: for it is better for mee to die then to live, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: commaund therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and go into the resting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 It came to passe the same day that in Mediana a cite of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers kinsmen.

8 Because shee had bene married to seuen husbands, whom Aminodeus the euill spirit had taken, before that they had lien with her. Wherefore shee knew, sayd they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands: thou hast had none seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou beat vs for them? if they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these sayings, shee was very sorrowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she said, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I do this, I shall slander him, and shal bring his age to the graue with sorrow.

11 Then she prayed toward the window, and sayd, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious name is blessed, and honourable for ever: let all thy workes praise thee for ever.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee.

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the only daughter of my father, neither hath he any man childe to bee his heire, neither any kinsman, or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, and why should I live? But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on me, and to pittie mee, that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Aminodeus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entered into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

1 In that day Tobit remembered * the sinnes, which hee had deliuered to Gabrael in Ragas a cite of Media.

2 And sayd with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when he had called him, he sayd, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie me, and deposite not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which I shall please her, and anger her not.

4 Remember my sonne, how many dangers the sinners, when they was in her womb.

5 And when she dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, let our Lord God alwayes be before thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandments of God. Doe uprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of unrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truly, thy dolings shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all men which live iustly.

7 Give * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Give almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a little, be not afraide to giue a little almes.

10 Because that almes doeth deliver from death, and suffereth not to come into darkness.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which use it.

Adulterie. 1. The. 4. 3. 12 Beware of all whoseverome, my sonne, and chastyt take a wife of the seede of thy fathers; and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke; for wee are the children of the Prophets: for, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wives of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.

Pride. 13 Howe therefore my sonne, love thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in mercenelle is scarcitie and great pouertie: for mercenelle is the mother of famine.

Or, unprofitable. 1. The. 4. 3. 14 Let not the wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tarry with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conversation.

Or, be liberal to the poor, even to the death. 17 Putt out thy head on the buriall of the dead, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Aske counsel alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Bless the Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made straight, and that all thy purposes and counsells may prosper: for every nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humblyeth whom he will, as he will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

Chap. 3. 14. 20 Furthermore I signifie this to thee, that I delivered tenne talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

Pouerty with the feare of God. 21 And feare not, my sonne, forasmuch as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages. 4. Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael which had conducted him.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages, see. heath a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom he bringeth to his father. Tobias then answered, and sayd, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the handwriting, and sayd vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may go with thee, whyles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seek a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and sayd vnto him, Why I goe with thee into the land of Media, and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel sayd, I will go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias sayd to him, Tarry thou, till I tell my father.

8 Then he sayd vnto him, So, and say not so he went in, and sayd to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will go with me. And he sayd, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithful to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doe thou like a kind of familie, or an hired man to go with thy master. Then Tobit said vnto him, I would know whether, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then hee sayd, I am of the kindred of Ananias and Ananias the great, and of thy tribe.

13 Then Tobit sayd, Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with mee, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kindred and thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I know Ananias and Ananias, sonnes of that great Samaias: in whom went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenthes of the fruits, and they were not deceiued with the sorow of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell mee, what wages shall I giue thee: wilt thou a great a day, and things necessary, as to mine owne house?

15 Then, moreover, if yee returne safe, I will adde something to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then sayd he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and go on Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, So thou wilt this man, a God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dog of the pong man with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and sayd to Tobias, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? hee is the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs.

18 Would to God wee had not layde money vpon money, but that it had bene call vnto respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then say Tobias, Be not carefull, my sister: he shall ree me in safety, and thou shalt see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then shee made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias drieth away the enill spirit. 3 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a grave for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesteth the Lord.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell, as Chap. 6. 7.

Gen. 2. 7. 18. 22.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a grave for him.

Raguel prayeth God for Tobias.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liver of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the enill spirit had smelled, he fled into the yermoost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, & sayd, Rise, arise, and let vs pray, that God would haue pittie on vs.

5 Then beganne Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious name for ever: let the heavens bleste thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gavest him Eua his wife for an helpe, and sayd: of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but wythly: therefore graunt me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And he sayd with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a grave.

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 Hee sayd to his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them see whether hee be alive: if not, that I may burie him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe.

14 And came forth, and tolde them that hee was alive.

15 Then Raguel praised God, & sayd, O God, thou art worthy to be prayed with all pure and holy people: therefore let thy Saintes praye thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect people thee for ever.

16 Thou art to be prayed, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be prayed, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health with toy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the grave.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had sayd vnto him by an oth, that he should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired.

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods, and returne in safety to his father, and should haue the rest, when hee and his wife were dead.

Raphael healeth Gabails Tobit's marrow. Then Tobias called Raphael, and sayd vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee camels, and two camels, and go to Rages of the Syrians to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be sorry.

5 So Raphael went out, and came to Gabael, and gaue him the handwritting, who brought forth bagges which were staled up, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobias and his wife thinke long for their sonne. Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOWE Tobias his father counted every day, and when the dayes of the towney were expired, they came not.

2 Tobias sayd, Are they not mocked? for I sent Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue me the money?

3 Therefore he was very sorry.

4 Then his wife sayde to him, Why art thou dead, seeing hee tarried: and she beganne to waile him, and sayd,

5 How I care for nothing, my sonne, if I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobias sayd, Woe is me, if I be not careful, for he is safe.

7 But she sayd, Woe is the prayer, that I praye me not, my sonne is dead: and she went out every day, by the way which they went, making of the eate meate on the day time, and in the whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn, that he should tary there. Then Tobias sayd to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, and he shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias sayd, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him downe his wife, and halfe his gods, as seruants, and all cattell, and money.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he sayd to his daughter, Remember thy father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents: that I may haue good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also sayd to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my sonne, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may know to see the Lord. Beholde now I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreatie enill.

CHAP. XI.

The returne of Tobias to his father. Raguel was reuerend. 10 His father had his sight restored by Raguel the Lord.

For this: Gladius Tobias went his way, saying God that hee had giuen him a prosperous journey, and blessed Raguel and Sanna his wife, and went on his way till hee were nere to Sennacherib.

Then Raphael said to Tobias, When thou shalt see thy father, doe thou wilt leave thy father.

Let us haste before thy wife, and prepare her house.

And take in thine hand the gail of the fish. And they went their way, and the dog followed them.

And Sanna sat in the way looking for her son.

When when she saw coming, she saide to her sister, Behold, thy sonne cometh, and with him that were with him.

Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receive his sight.

Therefore anoynt his eyes with the gail, and being washed therewith, he shall see and shall be able to fall away, and shall see his sonne.

Then Sanna ranne forth, and fel on the necke of her sonne, and saide vnto him, Seeing thou hast come, my sonne, from hence forth I will come to die, and they wept both.

Tobit also went forth toward the house, and stumbled but his sonne ranne vnto him,

And tooke hold of his father, and thynking of the gail on his fathers eyes, saying, See of mine eyes, my father.

And when his eyes beganne to picke, hee saw his sonne.

And the wickednesse pulled away from the corners of his eyes, and when hee sawe his sonne, hee fel vpon his necke.

And he wept, and sayd, Blessed art thou Lord, and blessed be thy name for ever, and thou be all thine holy Angels.

For thou hast comforted mee, and hast had me to me: for holinesse, I see my sonne Tobias: my sonne, being glad, went in, and told his father the great things that had come to passe in the way.

Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in lawe, reioycing and playning God to the glory of his name: and they which sawe him got, wondered because he had received his sight.

But Tobit testified before them all, that God had pitie on him. And when hee came vnto Sarra his daughter in lawe, hee blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome daughter: God be praised, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and hath restored thee: and there was great ioy among all his brethren, which were at Sennacherib.

And Sarra and Sanna had his brothers with them.

And Tobias marriage was kept seven dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

Then Tobit declared to his father the pleasure that God had done him. 5 The which he would recompense to him: Raphael declared that hee was an Angel of God.

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and saide vnto him, Behold, my sonne wages thee a man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

And he saide vnto him, Father, I shall not grieue mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

For he hath brought me againe to thee in safety, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath himselfe healed thee.

Then the olde man sayde, It is due vnto him.

So he called the Angel, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and goe away in safety.

But heooke them both apart, and sayde vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue: It is good to praise God, and to craie his name, and to bein forth by his clemencie workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reuel the workes of God: doe that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

Prayer is good with fasting, and almes and righteousness. A little with righteousness is better then much with unrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes, then to lay by golde.

For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousness, shall be filled with life.

But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuerthelesse, I sayd it was good to keepe close the secret of a King, but that it was honourable to reuel the workes of God.

Nowe therefore when thou wilt pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to me: make your prayer before the holy One: And when thou wilt bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hidde from mee: but I was with thee.

And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.

I am Raphael one of the seven holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saintes, and which goe forth before his holy Pastric.

Then they were both troubled, and fel vpon their face: for they feared.

But hee sayde vnto them, Feare not, for it shall go well with you: praise God therefore.

For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherfore praye him in all ages.

All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eat nor drinke, but you sawe it in vision.

Nowe therefore giue God thanks: for I got vp to him that sent me: but wrote all things which are done, in a booke.

And when they rose, they sawe him no more.

Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and howe the Angel of the Lord hath appeared to them.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with temptation.

2 For her doch scourge and doch pity: her leaveth to hell, and bringeth up, neither is there any that can annoy his hand.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for her hath scattered you among them.

4 Where declare his greatness, and extoll him before all the living: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for ever.

5 Her hath scourged us for our iniquities, and will have mercy again, and will gather us out of all nations, among whom we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale humbly before him, then will hee turne unto you, and will not hide his face from you, but yet shall hee what hee will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the everlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captivity, and will declare his power, and greatness to a sinful nation. O ye sinners turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receive you to mercie, and have pitie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the King of heaven, and shall reioyce in his greatness.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousness.

3 Lesson of Tobit to his sonne, 4 He prayeth for the destruction of Canaan, 5 And the restoration of Ierusalem and the Temple, 6 The death of Tobit, and his wife, 7 Tobias age and death.

So Tobias made an end of saying thus. 2 And he was eight and fiftie yere old, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and he gave almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and five of his finnes sonnes, and said unto them, My sonnes, take the children (say Tobias, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.)

4 Goe into Media my sonne: for I have beleene those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather bee in Media, and that our brethren shall bee scattered in the east from that good land, and Ierusalem shall be solitary, and the house of God in it shall be burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God will have pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, untill the times of that age be fulfilled, when being finished, they shall receive from every place out of captivity, and build up Ierusalem joyfully, and the house of God shall be builded in it for ever with a glorious building, as the Prophets have spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shall bring their doles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which love the Lord in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and shall be which shall merry in our brethren.

8 And now my sonne depart out of Senn, because that those things which the Prophet Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But heepe thou the Lawe, and the commandements, and these thy faithfull seruants, that it may go well with thee.

10 And bury me honestly, and thy mother with mee: but say no longer at Senn, remember, my sonne, howe Aman hath persecuted thee that brought him up, howe hee brought her brought him into darkness, and howe hee rewarded him againe: yet Achab was slaine, but the other had his reward: he went downe into darkness. Remember also almes, & escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare which he perished.

11 Therefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and howe righteousnesse doeth thee prosper. When he had said these things, he gave up the ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fiftie yere old, and he buried himselfe honourably.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went to his wife and children to Ecbatane in Media.

10r, Souphir 10r, praise ye
the Lord.

7 And thou shalt declare unto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath against them, and will conquer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will give them as a spoile unto them.

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their rivers, and their floods shall overflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captivitie to the utmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take up for me all their country: and if they peele unto thee, thou shalt reserve them for me untill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wheresoever thou goest.

12 For as I live, and the power of my kingdom, whosoever I have spoken, that will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgress not any of the commandments of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I have commanded thee, and deferre not to do them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the governors, and captaines, and officers of the army of Assur.

15 And hee mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, unto an hundred & twenty thousand, and twelve thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great army in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their provision.

18 And vitall for every man of the army, and very much golde and silver out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to cover all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sortes came with them like grasshoppers, and like the gruel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineve three dayes journey toward the country of Beethleth, and pitched from Beethleth, nere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the upper Chelicia.

22 Then he tooke all his army, his footmen and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines.

23 And he destroyed Hinn & Lab, and spoiled all the children of Ralles, and the children of Hinnai, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went over Euphrates, and went toward Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the cities that were upon the river of Ardonai, until one came to the sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resided him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South, and over against Arabia.

26 Hee massacred also all the children of Gadadian, and burnt up their tabernacles, and spoy-led their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the country of Damalus, in the time of wheat harvest, and burnt up all their fields, & destroyed their flocks, and the herds: he robbed their cities, and spoiled their country, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell upon the inhabitants of the Sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyris, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemman: and they that dwelt in Azonus and Hicion feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 Hee destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might easily be worshipped.

¶ So they sent ambassadors to him with stages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, wee are the servants of Nabuchodonosor: the great King: we be desiring thee: ble us as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flocks and our herds, and all our lodges and tabernacles before thy face: ble them as please thee.

4 Behold, even our cities and the mountains thereof are thy servants: come, and take them as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared unto them after this manner.

6 Then came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his army, and let garisons in the cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the country round about received them with crownes, with banners, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woodes: for it was intended him to destroy all the gods of the lands, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, and that all tongues and tribes should call him as God.

9 Also he came against Chusaelon, nere the Iudea, over against the great strait of Iudea.

10 And he pitched betwene Geba, and a cite of the Assyrians, and there he taried a month, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their country. 6 Ioachim the Priest prayeth in Bethulia that they should forsake themselves. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

¶ Now the children of Israel that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the great captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how he had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his power, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captivity, and of late all the people was which in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoza, and Bethan, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Chobai, and to the valley of Galem,

And took all the tops of the hie mountaynes, and walked in the villages that were in them, and put in vicatiles for the moultion of warre; for their felos were of late reaped.

Also Joacin the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomeltham, which is over against Chobai, toward the open country nere to Dothan.

Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaynes; for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come in, because the passage was straite in those men as the moat.

And the children of Israel did as Joacin the hie Priest had commanded them with the advice of all the people of Israel which dwelt in Jerusalem.

Then cryed every man of Israel to God with great fervency, and their soules with great affliction.

Both they and their wives, and their children, and their catrell, and every stranger, and hebrew, and their bought servants put sackcloth upon their loynes.

Then every man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and quinkled ashes upon their heads, and tyed out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar.

And cryed unto the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not put their children for a prey, and their wives for a prey, and the cities of their inheritance in destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and unto derision unto the heathen.

So God heard their prayers, and looked upon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

And Joacin the hie Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred unto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people.

And had ashes on their mitres, and cryed unto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that hee would looke upon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

After the Ammonites doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaynes, and had walked all the tops of the hie hills, and had layde ambushments in the champion country.

Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And hee sayd unto them, Shew me, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, what is this people that dwelleth in the mountaynes: and what are the cities that they inhabit: and what is the multitude of their armie: and wherein is their strength, and their power: and what King or captaine is rayled among them over their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meet me, more then all the inhabitants of the desert?

5 Then said Achio: the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the worde of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare unto thee the trauers concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaynes, where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come out of the stocke of the Caldeans.

7 And they dwell before in Mesopotamia, because they woulde not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldeea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of beaurin, the God whom they knewe: so they call them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much catrell.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwell there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their innage.

11 Therefore the king of Egypt rase by against them, and vied decreit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricks, and made them slaves.

12 Then they cryed unto their God, and hee smote all the lande of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

13 And God dyed the redde sea in their presence,

14 And brought them into mount Sina and Cadis Barnea, and cast forth all that dwell in the wilderness.

15 So they dwell in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esdon, and passing ouer Jordan, they inherited all the mountaynes.

16 And they cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Hethites, and the Jebulites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwell in that country many dayes.

17 And whyles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them.

18 But when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, and were ledde captiues into a lande that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come up from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and have possessed Jerusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and governour, if there be any fault in this people, in that they have sinned against their God, let us consider that this shall be their ruine, and let us go by, and we shall overcome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, least their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 And when Achioz had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, & all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that have no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let us therefore go by, O lord Olofernes, and they shall meete for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achioz confessed
14 Achioz is delivered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry unto the Lord.

As when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceased, Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayd unto Achioz before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among us to day, and hast sayd that the people of Jerusalem is able to fight, because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He will lend his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our hostes.

4 For we will treade them vnder feet with them, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, and their felles shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footstepps shall not be able to stand before us: but they shall utterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor lord of all the earth hath sayd, even he hath sayd, None of my wordes shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achioz an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes, in the day of thine iniquity, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yon of mine army, and the multitude of the that serue me passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their flaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leave thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shall be in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Olofernes them concerning Achioz, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the midst of the plaine, men the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the cite sawe them from the top of the mountaine, they took their armour, and went forth of the cite vnto the top of the mountaine, even all the rhytowers with slings, and kept them from coming up, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achioz, and left him lying as the foot of the hill, and returned to their camp.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their city, and stood about him, and looked him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of the city.

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Bichai, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabais the sonne of Geroni, and Chasius the sonne of Belchiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the city, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly, and they sat downe in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the middes of the primers of Assur, and whatsoever Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe, and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, because their pride, and haue merced on the wickednes of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achioz, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, & they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 13 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

The next day Olofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoune their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streets of the hill, and to make waies against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their camps in that day, and the army of them of warre was an hundred thousande and fawenty footmen, and twelue thousande bowmen, beside the baggage and other men that were

was about among them, a very great multitude: and they camped in the plain northward of Bethulia, and they pitched a way toward Dothan and Bethaim, and in the south toward Bethulia into Elmon, which is against Chobam.

Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and they were not in their wits, for neither the hills nor the mountains, nor the valleys, nor the hills nor the valleys were able to abide their burden.

Then every one took his weapons of war, and butting fires in their towers, they armed and watched all that night.

But in the fourth day Dioternes thought that all his soldiers in the night of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia.

And he sent his soldiers up to the city, and came to the fountains of their waters, and sent them and let gardens of men of war to them, and renewed toward his people.

Then came unto him all the chiefs of the children of Israel, and all the governors of the city of Bethulia, and all the captains of the city, and said.

Let our captain now hear a word, lest an incontinence come in this army.

For the people of the children of Israel do not trust in their spears, but in the height of the mountains, wherein they dwell, because it is not easy to come by to the tops of their mountains.

Now therefore my lord, fight not against them in barell arms, and there shall not so much of our men as the people's action.

Remaine in thy camp, and keepe all the men of thine army, and let thy men keepe still the waters of the country, that commonly run at the foot of the mountain.

For all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their water there: so shall thirst kill them, and the thirst shall take thy city: and we and our people shall go by in the toppes of the mountains that are nere, and will campe upon them, and watch that none goe out of the city.

So they and their wives, and their children shall bee consumed with famine, and when the famine come against them, they shall be unworshipen in the streets where they dwell.

Thus shall thou render them an evil reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy voice peaceably.

So their wives pleased Dioternes and all his soldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them five thousande of the soldiers, and they pitched in the valley, and toward the waters, and the fountains of the waters of the children of Israel.

Then the children of Elam went by with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountains over against Dothan, and they sent some of themselves toward the South, and toward the East, over against Rebel, which is nere unto Chobai, that is upon the river Dothmur: and the rest of the army of the Assyrians camped in the felds, and encamped the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderful great place.

Then the children of Israel cried unto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their contemners, chariots and footmen, horse and thery dayes: so that even all the pieces of their waters, fallen all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

And the cisternes were empty, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gave them to drinke by measure.

Therefore their children swooned, and their wives and yong men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streets of the city, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

Then all the people attended to Othas, and to the chiefs of the city, both yong men and women, and children, and cried with a loud voice, and sayd before all the Elders.

The Lord be judge betwene us and you: for you have done vs great iniquitie, in that ye have not required peace of the children of Israel.

For now we have no helper: but God hath sold us into their hands, that we should be shewen downe because them with thirst & great destruction.

Now therefore call them together, and deliver the whole land to a stone to the people of Bethulians, and to all the army.

For is it better for us to be made a spoyle unto them, they to die for thirst: for we will be his servants, that we may live, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wives, nor our children to die.

Thus take to witness against you, the heaven and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers which punisheth us according to our finnes, and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

Then there was a great crie of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cryed unto the Lord God with a loud voice.

Then said Othas to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let us waite yet five dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie towardes us: for he will not forsake us in the end.

And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe unto vs, I will doe according to your word.

So he separated the people, every one by to their charge, and they went unto the walles and towers of their city, and sent their wives and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the city.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life and conversion of Iudith. 1. She rebuketh the faintnesse of the gouernour. 2. She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but wait upon him for succour. 3. Her enterprise against the enemies.

Now

NOwe at that time, Judeth heard thereof, which was the slaughter of Herai, the sonne of Dr, the sonne of Joseph; the sonne of Drisel, the sonne of Esai, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedon, the sonne of Reppaim, the sonne of Aicio, the sonne of Cida, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Barabaniel, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salababai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasse was her husband, of her stocke and kindred, who died in the barres barrest.

3 For as hee was diligent over them that bound beanes in the feld, the beate came upon his head, and hee fell upon his bed, and died in the cite of Bethulia, and they buried him with his father in the felds betweene Dothaim and Galaudo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widowe three yeeres and foure monthes.

5 And hee made her a tent upon her house, and put on sackcloth on her lynes, and wairt her widowes apparel.

6 And he fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, save the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbath, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemn dayes of the house of Israel.

7 Shee was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to beholde: and her husband Manasse had left her golde and silver, and men servants, and made servants, and carrell, and possessions where he remained.

8 And there was none that came to her an evil report of her: for hee kept her a secret.

9 Nowe when hee heard that the king was at the people against the towne, because they fainted for lacke of victuals: for Judeth had heard all the wordes that Othias had spoken to them, and that he had sworne unto them to delivrer the cite unto the Assyrians within five dayes.)

10 Then shee sent her maide that had the government of all things that shee had, to call Othias and Tobias and Chelchis the ancients of the city.

11 And they came unto her, and shee sayde unto them, Heare mee. O ye governers of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that yee have spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching the othe which yee made and pronounced beforeme. God and you, and have promised to delivrer the cite to the enemies, but hee within fiftie dayes the Lord will to helpe you.

12 And nowe who are you that have tempted God this day, and let your selves in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now yee seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall never know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of men, neither can ye perceive the things that he thinketh; how then can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Day my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe us within these five dayes, he hath power to defend us when hee will, even every day, or to destroy us before our enemies.

16 Do not you therefore binde the counsaile of the Lord our God: for God is not as a man, for he may be tharant, neither as the sonne of man, for hee is above all things.

17 Therefore let us wait the salvation of the Lord, and call upon him to helpe us, and he will helpe our need, if it please him.

18 For there appeared none in our day, whether is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe nor family, nor people, nor cite among us, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforetime.

19 For the which cause our fathers were given to the sword, and for a people: and a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that hee will not deliv us, nor any of our kinne.

21 Neither wene we shall be saved, neither be we in favour: for our Sanctuary shall be spoiled, and hee will requite the punishment thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the confidence of the country, and the delivrance of our inheritance will be turned upon our heads among the Gentiles, wherefore we shalbe in bondage, and wee shalbe an offence, and a reproch to all them that possesse us.

23 For our servitude shall not be directly in favour; but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Nowe therefore, O brethren, let us hold an example to our brethren, because they have depend upon us, and the Sanctuary, and the house, and the altar, and upon us.

25 Wherefore, let us give thanks to the Lord our God, which tryeth us even as hee doth us.

26 Remember what things shee did to Jacob, and howe hee tryed Isaac, and all that hee did to Jacob in Beelpotania, and howe hee kept the sheepe of Laban his moother brother.

27 For hee hath not tryed us as hee did them in the examination of their hearts, neither shall hee take vengeance on us, but the Lord will punish for instruction them that come neere him.

28 ¶ Then sayd Othias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is knownen, but from the beginning of the world the people have knownen the wisdom: for the deuce of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thicke, and compelled us to doe unto them as we have spoken, and have brought us to an othe, which we may not transgresse.

31 Therefore nowe pray for us, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send us raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may have no more.

32 Then sayd Judeth unto them, Hear me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stande this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaiden: and within the dayes that yee have promised and was crucified unto the cross of Christ unto the glory of the Father.

But when the Assyrians saw them, they took their captivities, which went to the common and spent captivities, and to all their

Then went in Bagdas, and knocked at the door of the tent; for he thought that he had been with Tuberk.

But because none answered he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast from the floor, & his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

Then, he went into the tent of Judah, where he said to remain, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people, and cried,

These figures haue committed wickednes:
a woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for her sake, doctores lieh vpon the ground without a head.

When the captains of the Assyrians heard their words, they rent their coats, and their hearts were wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry and a very great noise throughout the camp.

1 The Affirmans are afraid & flee. 3 The Israelites persecute them. 3 Joacim the high Priest cometh to Be-thulia to see Judith and to pray for God for her.

And when they that were in the tents, saw, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

And feare & trembling fell vpon them, so there was no man that durst abide in the city of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they stood by every way of the plaine and of the 3 They also that had camped in the mountain round about Bethulia, were put to flight: for the children of Israel, every one that was a man among them rushed out upon them.

Then sent Elias to Bethomasthem, and to Bethan, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the cities that were round about, such as should declare unto them the things that were done, and that all should be converted to the Lord, and that they should be circumcised, and that they should be baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ.

And when the children of Israel heard that he had told upon them together unto God:

the mountains: for men had told them that he had done these things in the court of their

6 And the reivers that dwelt at Bethulia, fell upon the campe of Ahas, and spoiled them, and were greatly incensed.

And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the streams the villages and the cities that were in the mountains and in the plains, had a great boost, for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Joachim the big Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to confirm the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to the Priests, and to the people.

9 And when they came unto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said unto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great rejoycing of 12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she took boughs in her hands, and gave allelu to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olives, and her hair was with her: & she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with trumpets, and with songs in their mouths.

Jerusalem hath Iechonias.

And thus was his dream, Behold a people of comfort with thunders & earthquakes, and in the land.

Behold two great Diadems came forth to fight one against another.

Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

And the same day was full of darkness, and confusion, and trouble, and anguish: yea, darkness, and great affliction was upon the land.

For then the righteous fearing the affliction, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried out.

And while they were crying, the little wheel came into a great cart, and showed our way with their wheels.

The light & the sunne rose up, and the lowly were exalted, and denoured the glorious.

Now when Bardocheus had seene this vision, he arose & rose up, and thought in his heart until the night, what God would do, and how he should to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

At the same time dwelt Bardocheus in the Kings Court with Bagarbas and Thara, the kings eunuchs and keepers of the palace.

But when he heard their purpose, & their imaginations, he perceived that they went about to lay their hands upon the king Artaxerxes, and to be crucified the king thereof.

Then caused the king to examine the two eunuchs with torment, & when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles. Bardocheus also wrote the same thing.

So the king commanded that Bardocheus should remaine in the Court, and for the advertisement he gave him a reward.

But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Eunuque, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Bardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuchs of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Jews. & The prayer of Mardocheus.

The copie of the Letters was this, The great King Artaxerxes wryteth these things to the king and governors that are under him from the river Euphrates in an hundredth and seven and thirtie provinces.

When I was made lorde over many people, and had subdued the whole earth unto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the power of my power, but purposed with equitie and gentleness, to governe my subjects, and to see them in a peaceable life, and to bring my kingdome unto tranquillity, that men might safely go throught on every side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

Now when I asked my counsellors howe

these things might be brought to passe, one that was conversant with us, of excellent wisdom, and constant in good wil, and spied himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, even Aman

Declared unto us, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and have alway despised the commandements of kings, and so that this general Empire, that we have begunne, cannot be governed without offence.

Seeing nowe howe perillous that this people alone are altogether contrary unto every man, being strange and other maner of lawes, and having an evill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablishe wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

Therefore have we commanded that all they that are appointed in waiting unto you by Aman (which is ordeined over the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wives and children be destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without all mercie, and that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Abar of this yeere,

That they which of old, and now also have ever bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles and well governed in all poynts.

Then Bardocheus thought upon all the wordes of the Lord, and made his prayer unto him, Saying, O Lord, Lord, the king almighty (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appoynted to save Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

For thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things under the heaven.

Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, O Lord, that it was neither of malice nor presumption, nor of any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bowe downe to poynde Aman.

For I would have bene content with good will for the salvation of Israel to have killed the sole of his feete.

But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man above the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this have I done not of pride.

And therefore O Lord God and King, have mercy upon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring us to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

Despite not the portion which thou hast delivered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

Hearc my prayer, and bee mercifull unto thy portion: turne our sorrowe into joy, that we may live, O Lord, and praye thy name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

All Israel in like manner cryed most earnestly unto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliverance of her, & her people.

Queen Esther also being in danger of death, resorted unto the Lord,

2 And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the head of precious oymment, shee scattered ashes and dung vpon her head: and shee humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her joy filled shee with the haire that shee plucked off.

3 And shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou onely art our king: helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand. From my youth vp I haue heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Titani from among all people, and our fathers from their predeceissours for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou didst promise them.

5 Now Lord, wee haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the handes of our enemies,

6 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

7 Nevertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captivity, but they haue broken hands with their idoles,

8 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praye thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

9 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may playe the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly king for ever,

10 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, least they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuile vpon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

11 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O king of gods, and Lord of all power.

12 Shew mee an eloquent speech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemies, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

13 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am solitary, which haue no defence but onely thee.

14 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrightheous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

15 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

16 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,

17 And that I thine handmaide haue no joy since the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Israel. 18 O thou mighty God aboue all, heare the prayer of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

Mardocheus moueth Esther to go in to the king, and make intercession for her people, & thus performeth his request.

Mardocheus also bade Esther to go in vnto the king, and pray for her people, and for her country.

2 Remember, saith he, the dapes of thy loue estate, howe thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 What thou therefore vpon the Lord, I praye for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, shee layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell.

5 And decked her selfe goodly, after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Sautour of all things, & tooke two handmaides with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leanned her selfe, as on that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her bestire.

8 The shine of her beauty made her face red coloured: and her face was cheerefull & amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in therto all the doores, and stood before the king, and the king layd vpon his royal throne, & was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold & precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked directly vpon her: therfore the Quene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leanned her selfe vpon the head of the maide that went with her.

11 Nevertheless, God turned the kings mind that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our countinment toucheth the Commonweale, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and layde it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and sayd, Tasse with me.

16 Then said she, I saw thee, O Lord, as an angell of God, and mine heart was troubled by feare of thy maiesty.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as shee was thus speaking vnto him, shee fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee remitteth those which be his Iewes seruants.

The great King Artaxerxes, which reigned in India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and threen and twenty prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

There be many that through the goodnes of princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud.

And endeavour not onely to hurt our subjects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good.

And take not onely all thankfulness away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they haue been vniuersall of benefites, they thinke to escape vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

And oft times many, which bee set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by badde intlements doe wrappe them in calamities, that cannot bee remedied:
so they make them partakers of innocent blood.

And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

This may bee proued not onely by olde examples, but also by those things that were be-lieued our eyes, and are wickedly committed after penitences as are not worthy to beare it.

Therefore wee must take heede hereafter that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, whar change laener shall come.

And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.

To Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus being inuade a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was received of vs.

And hath proued the friendship that wee bore toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as first person vnto the king.

But hee could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

Which manifeste deceit also hath he desired to destroy Dardochens our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent either the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

For his minde was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonie.

But we finde that the Idumes (which were accused of this most wicked ma that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes.

And that they bee the children of the most High and Almighty and euerlasting God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitours in very good order.

Wherefore ye shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters that Aman the son of Amadathus did write vnto you.

For hee that inuented them, hangeth at Gibbs before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deseruing.

Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Idumes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth Adar, they may bee amerced of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed
them.

For Almighty God hath turned to toy the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

Whereouer, among other solenne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse.

This doth now and in time to come, this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

Therefore all cities and countreyes that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but bee abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

The Wisedome of Salomon.

CHAP. I.

How we ought to search and enquire after God.

Who be those that finde him. 5 The holy Ghost.

We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring.

Whereof death cometh. 15 Righteousnesse and compassion.

Due righteousness, ye that bee Iudges of the earth: thinke reue-rence of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

For he will be found of them that reuerence him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

For wicked thoughts separate from God:
and his power when it is tryed, repproueth the vngodly.

Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is substantially vnto him.

For the holy Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withholdeth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse cometh.

For the spirit of wisdom is lowly, and will not abhorre him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witness of his rinites, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: and the same that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot be heard: neither shall the iudgment of reproch let him escape.

For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughtes of the vngodly, and the sounde of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

Wisedome of Salomon.

10 For the tarr of ielouſie: heareth all things, and the noyſe of the grudginges ſhall not be hid.

11 Therefore becauſe of murmuring, which poſſeth nothing, and reſtraine your tongues from ſlander: for there is no word ſo ſecret, that ſhall goe for nought, and the mouth that ſpeaketh lies, flayeth the ſoule.

12 Deut. 4. 23. Seeke not death in the error of your life: * deſtroy not your ſelues throughe the workes of your owne hands.

13 Ezek. 18. 23. and 33. 11. For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleaſure in the deſtruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, that they might haue their being: and the generations of the world are preferred, and there is no poiſon of deſtruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteouſnes is immortal, but vnrigh- teouſneſſe bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call it vnto them both with hands and words: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are conſecrate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

C H A P. II.

The imaginations and deſires of the wicked, and their counſell againſt the faithfull.

Iob 7. 1. and 14. 1. mat. 23. 23. 1. cor. 13. 3. For the vngodly ſay, as they faſtly imagine with themſelues, * Our life is ſhorte and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no re- couerie, neither was any knownen that hath retur- ned from the graue.

2 For wee are borne at all aduenture, and we ſhall be hereafter, as though we had neuer beene: for the breath is a ſmoke in our noſtrils, and the voydes as a ſmoke rayſed out of our heart.

3 Which being extinguiſhed, the body is tur- ned into aſhes, and the ſpirit vaniſheth as the ſoft aire.

4 Our life ſhall paſſe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the miſt that is diſſeued away with the beames of the ſunne, and caſt downe with the heat thereof. Our name alſo ſhall be forgotten in time, and no man ſhall haue our workes in remembrance.

5 1. Chr. 29. 15 ſhap. 9. For our time is as a ſhadow that paſſeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is faſt ſealed, ſo that no man commeth a- gaine.

6 Come therefore, and let vs enjoy the plea- ſures that are preſent, and let vs cheerefully uſe the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our felues with coſtly wine and oymments, and let not the floure of life paſſe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our ſelues with roſe buds a- ſore they be withered.

9 Let vs all bee partakers of our wanton- neſſe: let vs leaue ſome token of our pleaſure in euery place: for that is our poſſion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppreſſe the poore that is righte- ouſe: let vs not spare the widowe, nor reſpice the white haire of the aged, that haue liued ma- ny yeeres.

11 Let our ſtrength be the lawe of vnrigh- teouſneſſe: for the thing that is ſeeble, is reſpoynd as vnpromitable.

12 Therefore let vs deſtaurde the righteous, for he is not for our proſperie, and he is contrarye to our doing: he checketh vs for offending againſt the Lawe, and blaunteth vs as tranſgreſſours of diſcipline.

13 Wee maketh his doakt to haue the know- ledge of God: and he calleth himſelfe the ſonne of the Lord.

14 He is made to reprove our thoughts: 15 It grieueth vs alſo to looke vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another faſhion.

16 He counteth vs as baſtards, and he with- draweth himſelfe from our wayes as from filthi- neſſe: he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the iuſt, and blaunteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs ſee then if his wordes be true: let vs proue what end he ſhall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the ſonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs examine him with rebukes and toyments, that we may know his meekneſſe, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs conſume him vnto a ſhamefull death: for he ſhall be perſecuted as he himſelfe ſaith.

21 Such things doe they imagine, and yet aſtray: for their owne wickedneſſe hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderſtand the myſte- ries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteouſneſſe, nor can diſcerne the honour of the ſoules that are faultleſſe.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the image of his owne li- neſſe.

24 Neuertheleſſe, through enuy of the deuil came death into the world: and they that hold of his ſide, proue it.

C H A P. III.

The conſolation and aſſurance of the righteous.

7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miſerable.

At the * ſoules of the righteous are in the hande of God, and no torment ſhall touch them.

2 In the ſight of the vniuerſe they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous.

3 And their departing from vs deſtruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they ſuffer paine beſore men, yet is their hope full of immortallitie.

5 They are puniſhed but in few things, yet in many things ſhall they be well rewarded: for God pmooueth them, and ſineth them meet by himſelfe.

6 Wee trieth them as the gold in the furnace, and receleueth them as a perfect fraile offering.

7 And in the time of their viſion they ſhall ſhine, and runne throughe as the ſparkes among the Rubble.

8 They ſhall indge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Royde ſhall reigne for euer.

9 They that truſt in him ſhall vnderſtand the truth, and the faithfull ſhall continue with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among ſaints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 But the vngodly ſhall be puniſhed ac- cording to their imaginations: for they haue deſpiſed which the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11. Man is desirous of wisdom and discipline, profitable, and their hope is vain, and their labours are foolish, & their works unprofitable.

12. Their wives are unchaste, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13. Therefore the barren is blessed which is barren, and knoweth not the labour of the field: she shall have fruit in the visitation of the souls.

14. And the Eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for unto him shall be given the special gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15. For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the root of wisdom shall never fade away.

16. But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seeds of the wicked seed shall be rooted out.

17. And though they live long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall be without honour.

18. If they die hastily, they have no hope, neither comfort in the day of travail.

19. For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. III.

Of virtue and the commodities thereof. 10 The death of the righteous and the condemnation of the unfaithful.

1. Barrenness is barrenness with vertue: for the meditation thereof is immortall: for it is known unto God and with men.

2. When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is always crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the undesired rewards.

3. But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is impossible: and the barren plants shall take no deepe roots, nor lay a good foundation.

4. For though they budde forth in the bracken in a time, yet shall they be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.

5. For the imperfect branches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be unprofitable and looke to cany an increase for nothing.

6. For all the children that are borne of the wicked seed, shall be witnesses of the wickedness against their parents when they be asked.

7. But though the righteous bee persecuted with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8. For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9. But wisdom is the gray haire, and an undivided life is the old age.

10. He pleased God, and was beloved of him, from whither he liued among sinners, he translated him.

11. He was taken away, lest wickedness should alter his understanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12. For wickedness by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, and the undivided faithfulness of conscience persecuteth the simple minde.

13. Though he was soone dead, yet satisfied he was with him.

14. For his soule pleased God: therefore hastened he to take him away from wickedness.

15. Yet the people see and understand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is upon his saints, and his providence over the elect.

16. Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: & the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the unrighteous.

17. For they see the end of the wise, but they understand not what God hath devised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preferred him in safety.

18. They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne.

19. So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall have a shame among the dead for evermore: for without any hope shall he bury them, and cast them down, and make them from the foundations, so that they shall be utterly wasted, and they that be in sorrow, and their memory all shall perish.

20. So they being afraid, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickedness shall come before them to consume them.

CHAP. IV.

1. The constancie of the righteous before their persecutors. 14 The hope of the unfaithful is vain.

15. The blessedness of the Saints and godly.

1. Then shall the righteous stand in great boldness before the face of such as have commended him, and taken away his labours.

2. When they see him, they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderful deliverance.

3. And shall change their minds, and sigh for griefe of mind, and say within themselves, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4. All fooles thought his life madness, and his end without honour.

5. How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6. Therefore we have erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the summe of understanding role not vpon vs.

7. We have wearied our selves in the way of wickedness, and destruction, and we have gone through dangerous wayes: but we have not knowne the way of the Lord.

8. What hath pride profited vs: for what profit hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9. All those things are passed away like a shadow, and as a poise that passeth by.

10. As a shipper that passeth over the waves of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11. As a bird that flieth cleave in the ayre, & no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, hearing the light wind, parting the ayre through the vehemencie of her going, and then on making her wings, where as afterward no token of her way can be found.

12. As when an arrow is shot as a mark, it parteth the ayre, which immediately cometh together againe, so that a man cannot know know where it went thow.

13 Euen so we, altho as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednesse.

Iob. 8. 9. psal. 14. 4. 143. 4. pro. 10. 25. 11. 7. ier. 1. 10. 11.

14 For the hope of the vngodly is like the dnd that is blown away with the winde, and like a thimbe some that is scatered abroad with the storme, and as the smoke which is disperseed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that carrieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, and the most high hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receive a glorious kingdome, and a beautiful crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand he coner them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his seruise for armour, and shall arme the creatures to bee reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousness for a breastplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holmes for an invincible shield.

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the vniuers.

21 Then shall the thunderboles goe straight out of the lightnings, and shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bowe of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, & the water of y sea shall be wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily overflow.

22 And a mighty wind shall stand up against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquity shall bring all the earth to a wilderness, and wickednesse shall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Judges, which are also exhorted to searh wisedome.

Hear therefore, O ye Kings, and vnderstand: learne ye that be Judges of the endes of the earth.

2 Give care, ye that rule the multitudes and gloie in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule is given you of the Lord, and power by the most high, which will trie your works, and searchout your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being officers of the kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God.

5 Horribly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most low, is worthy mercy, but the mighty shall be mightily tormented.

Deut. 10. 17. 2 chro. 19. 7. iob. 34. 19. ecel. 35. 12. 16 al. 10. 34. rom. 2. 11 gal. 2. 6. eph. 6. 9. coloff. 3. 25. 1. pet. 1. 17.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no person, neither shall he feare any greatnesse: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8 But for the mighty abideth the sore trial.

9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, do I speake, that ye may learne wisedome, and not go awry.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holys shall be holy, and they that are learned there, shall find a defence.

11 Caltherfore let you delight vpon my words and desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

12 Wisedome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily scene of them that loue her, & found of such as seeke her.

13 She presenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Altho so awaeth vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trouble: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To himke vpon her then is perfite vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall be soone without care.

16 For the goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth her selfe cheerfully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline to her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue.

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the Lawes is the assurance of immortalitye.

19 And immortality maketh vs meete vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeu to the kingdome.

21 If your delight be then in thrones & scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tel you what wisedome is, and whence it cometh, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her nativity, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with continuing enuy: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of the wijs is the preservation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I received the common aye, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other do.

4 I was nourished in swaddling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and alike going out.

7 Caltherfore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirit of wisedome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters & thrones, and counted riches noshing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a little granel in respect of her, and silver shall bee counted

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

but day before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beauty, and purposed to take for her my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches thorow her hand.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the author thereof, and I knewe not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuy; and I doe not hide her secrets.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so use, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my mind, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hande are both wee and our wisdom, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the world was made, and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning and the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the change of the seasons.

19 The course of the yere, the situation of the starres.

20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiuities at beastes, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knownen do I know: for wisdom is the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, sublimable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, nor hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot bee litle, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, having all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuell, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimble then all nimble things: shee goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For shee is the brightnesse of the euermouing light, the vndefiled mirrour of the Fairie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being ouer, shee can do all things, and reuincing in her selfe, reuinceth all, and according to the ages the entrench into the holy soules and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisdom.

29 For shee is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the world is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For might cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot overcome wisdom.

Shee also teacheth from one end to another thoughtfully, and comely doeth shee order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In that shee is conuerlant with God, it commeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the Schoolemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the schoole out of his workes.

5 If riches bee a possession to bee desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?

6 For if prouidence worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then shee?

7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are vertuous; for shee teacheth sobernesse and prouidence, righteousness, and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: shee knoweth the subtilities of wordes & the solutions of darke sentences: shee foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that shee would counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, & honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, & that I shall bee marvellous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my lecture: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortalitye, and leaue an euermouing memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 For the tyrants shall be afrayd when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and toy.

17 Nowe when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to bee toynd vnto wisdom is immortalitye.

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her handes are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prouidence, and glory by communicating with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie child, and was of a good spirit.

20 Pea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Purified, when I perceived that I could not enjoy her, except God gave her (and that was a point of wisdom also, to knowe whole gift it was) I went vnto the Lorde, and beought him, and with my whole heart I saye,

C H A P. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisdom.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

Gen. 1. 1, 28. 2. And ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should haue dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

3. And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnesse, and execute iudgement with an upright heart:

1. King 3. 9. 4. Give me * that wisdom, which lieth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

Psa. 116. 16. 5. For I * thy seruant, and sonne of thine handmaid, am a feeble person, and of a short time, yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes.

6. And though a man bee neuer so perfit among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shalbe nothing regarded.

1. Cor. 28. 5. 7. * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

8. Thou hast commaunded mee to builde a Temple vpon thine holy mount, and an altar in the citie, wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

Pro. 8. 32. 9. And thy wisdom with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knoweth what was acceptable in the sight, and right in thy commaundments.

Solom. 1. 1, 2, 3, 10. 10. Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Majesty, that she may bee with me, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11. For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and shee shall leade mee soberly in my workes, and preserve me by her glory.

12. So shall my workes bee acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meere for my fathers throne.

1. Sa. 40. 13. 13. For * what man is he that can knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?

rom. 11. 34. 14. For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecalle is vncertaine.

1. cor. 2. 16. 15. Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, & the earthly manfion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16. And hardly can wee discerne the things that are vpon the earth, & with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?

17. Who can knowe thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdom: and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18. For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed; and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserved through wisdom.

C H A P. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and the destruction of the wicked, commonly through wisdom.

She preserved the first father of the world, Sheat was fouled, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of bondage,

2. And * gave him power to rule all things,

3. * But the vnrightheous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his teacher in his fure.

4. For whose cause the * earth was overflowen, but wisdome preserved it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood.

5. Moreover, * when the nations were ioyed in their malicious confederacies, she knewe the righteous, and preserved him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.

6. She preserved the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the five cities.

7. Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer ceaseth to ripen: and for a remembrance of the vnfairfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8. For all such as regarded not wisdom, had not onely this hurt, that they knewe not things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9. But wisdom deliuered them * from her.

10. * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, he led him the right way, showed him the kingdom of God, gave him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11. Against the couetousnesse of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12. She saved him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in wait, and she gaue him the pice in a mighty battell, that he might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13. * When the righteous was solde, shee looke him not, but deliuered him from vnto: he went downe with him into the dungeon.

14. And failed him not in the bands, till shee had brought him the scepter of the Realm, and power against those that oppressed him, & them that had accused him: shee declared to be true, and gaue him perpetual glory.

15. * She deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

16. She entered into the soule of the servant of the Lorde, and stood * by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

17. She gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marvellous way: on the day time there was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18. * She brought them through the red sea, and caried them through the great water.

19. But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottom of the deep.

20. So the righteous tooke the shoules of the vngodly, * and prayed thine holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand vnto one accord.

21. For wisdom opened the mouth of the dumbe, & maketh the tongue of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 23 The great power and mercy of God.

God prospered their works in the hands of some holy Prophet.

1 They went through the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

2 They stood against their enemies, and were augmented of their adversaries.

3 When they were thirsty they called upon thee, and water was given them out of the rock, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

4 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

5 For in stead of a fountain of running water, the enemies were troubled at y corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandment of the killing of the children, but thou gauest unto thine own abundance of water unlooked for.

6 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, how thou hadst punished thine adversaries.

7 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knew how the ungodly were judged and punished in wrath.

8 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proved them: but thou hast condemned the others as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.

9 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their grief was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

10 For when they perceived that through their counsels good came unto them, they felt the Lord.

11 And seeing the things that came to pass, at the last they wondered at him whom afore they had cast out, denied and decided: for they had another thirst then the first.

12 Because of the foolish devices of their wickedness, wherewith they were deceived, and wherewith serpents, that had not the use of reason, and vile beasts, thou sendest a multitude of unreasonable beasts upon them for a vengeance, that they might know, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

13 For unto thine almighty hands, that made the world of nought, it was not impossible to send among them a multitude of Beares, or fierce Lions.

14 Of furious beasts newly created and unknown, which could breathe out blasts of fire, and cast out smoke as a trumpet, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

15 Which might not onely destroy them with burning, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

16 For without these might they have bene cast downe with one hande, being persecuted by the vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

17 For thou hast neuer had great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme.

18 For as the small thing that the balance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dew in that fallen downe upon the earth.

19 But thou hast mercy upon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou lawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

20 For thou lovest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest have created nothing that thou hadst hated.

21 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will: or how could anything be preserved, except it were called of thee?

22 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which are the lower of souls.

CHAP. XII.

The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The works of God are unreprouable. 19 God giueth leave to repent.

For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

1 Therefore thou chastenest them measureably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things where in they haue offended, that leaving wickedness, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

2 As for those old inhabitants of the holy land, thou didst hate them.

3 For they committed abominable workes, as sacrifices and wicked sacrifices,

4 And slaying of their owne children without mercy, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging pitiless shed abominable blood,

5 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

6 That the land which thou lovest above all other, might be a meet dwelling for the children of God.

7 Nevertheless, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendest the fore-runners of thine holste, even hornets to destroy them by little and little,

8 Not that thou was unable to subdue the ungodly unto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

9 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an unrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

10 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

11 For who dare say, As hath thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement: or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, who thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

12 For there is none other God but thou, that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vniuersally

Wisdom of Salomon.

14 There bare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight, require accounts of them whom thou hast punished.

15 For so much thee as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemn him, that hath not deserved to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it cometh thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and reprovest the boldnes of the wile.

18 But thou ruling the power, judgest with equitie, and governeest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be lust and loving, and hast made thy children to be of good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had defenced death with to great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednes.

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast giuene and made covenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodness, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap. 11. 23.
rom. 1. 23.

24 For they went astray very farre in the wayes of error, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should bee in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not be reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they counted gods, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God, whom afore they had denied to knowe: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine except the knowledge of God
10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

Rom. 1. 19.

Surely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes the workemaster.

Deut. 4. 19.
and 17. 3.

2 For they thought the fire of the wind, or the swift aile, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lightes of heauen to be gouernours of the world and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasures in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knownen how much more excellent he is that made them: for the first arches of heauen hath created these things.

4 If they marvelled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceived thereby, how much he that made these things is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator bring comparatiue with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet pericurenture doe erre.

7 For they goe about by his workes to finde him, and are periuaded by the sight, because the things are beautiful that are seene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be reuelled.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discern the world, why doe they not rather find out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold, and silver, and the thing that is inuented by art, and the multitude of beasts, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquity.

11 As when a carpenter curieth downe a tree ineste for the worke, and pareth off all the bark thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, hee bestoweth to dyellie his meane to kill himselfe.

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a cracked piece of wood and full of knots) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, hee giueth it a proposition, and fashioneth it after the limittude of a man.

14 He maketh it like some wilde beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron.

16 Bounding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his mariage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weak, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead, for life: he requirerth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, hee requirerth furtherance of him that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The detestation and abominacion of images. 8 A curse of them and of him that maketh them. 18 Whereof idolatry proceeded. 23 What evils come of idolatry.

A Saine, another man purposing to falle, and intending to passe thowso the raging waues, called vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carrieth him.

2 For as for it, countenances of some hath found it out, and the craftsman made it by mounting.

But thy providence, O father, governeth
 1. For thou hast made a way, even in the sea, and a path among the waves.

Declaring thereby that thou hast power to
 2. Do all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without means.

Nevertheless thou wouldest not, that the
 3. Wickedly wise should be wiser, & therefore doe men commit their lives to a small piece of wood, and passe over the frowne sea in a ship and are saved.

For in the olde time also when the proud
 4. Giants perished, the hope of the world went into ship that was governed by thine hand, and in that shede of generation unto the world.

For blessed is the tree whereby righteous
 5. Men cometh.

But that is cursed that is made with hands,
 6. And it is he that made it: he, because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

For the ungodly and his ungodliness are
 7. As the faced of God: so truly the worke and labour made it, shall be punished together.

Therefore shall there be a visitation for the
 8. Sins of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, and stumbling blocks unto the soules of men, and a snare for the feet of the brutish.

For the inventing of idoles was the 9. Beginning of wickedness, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

For they were not from the beginning, nei-
 10. Ther shall they continue for ever.

The vaine glory of men brought them in-
 11. To the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

When a father mourned grievously for his 12. Son that was taken away suddenly, yet made an image for him that was once dead, whom he worshipped as a god, and offered to his servants ceremonies and sacrifices.

Thus by procelle of time this wicked cu-
 13. stom prevailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandment of devils.

As for those that were so farre off that men
 14. Could not worship them presently, they did commit the vilage that was sacred, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all means flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

Again the ambition of the craftsmen
 15. Did forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

For the peradventure willing to please a 16. Noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make an image of the best fashion.

And so through the beauty of his worke,
 17. The multitude was seduced, and soooke him for a god, which a little above was but honoured as a man.

And this was the deceiving of mans life,
 18. When men being in servitude through calamitie and misery, attributed unto stones and stocks the name which ought not to be communicate unto an.

Wherefore, this was not enough for them
 19. That they erred in the knowledge of God: but because they lived in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

For either they flew their own children
 20. In sacrifice, or used lecher ceremonies, or raging dissoluteness by strange rites.

And so kept neither life, nor marriage
 21. Cleane: but either one slew another by reason, or else beget him by adultery.

So were all mixt together, blood and
 22. Slaughtre, theft and deceipt, corruption, unfaithfulnesse, rancours, perjuries.

Disquieting of good men, unthankfulness,
 23. Dealing of foules, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adulterie and uncleanness.

For the worshipping of idoles, that ought 24. Not to be named in the beginning and the cause, and the end of all evil.

For either they be mad when they be mer-25. ric, or prophetic lies, or live ungodly, or els they ly forswear themselves.

For in so much as their trust is in the i-
 26. dols, which have no life, though they sweare faithfully, yet they thinke to have no hurt.

Therefore for two causes shall they justly
 27. bee punished, because they have an euill opinion of God, addicting themselves unto idoles, and because they sweare untruly to deceive, and despise holiness.

For it is not the power of them by whom
 28. they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the ungodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praising the mercies of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

O thou, O our God, art gracious and true,
 1. Long suffering, and governest all things by mercy.

Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we
 2. Know thy power: but we liue not, knowing that we are counted thine.

For to know thee, is perfect righteous-
 3. nesse, and to know thy power, is the roote of im-mortalitie.

For neither hath the wicked invention of
 4. men deceived us, nor the unprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

Wholly sight stricth by the desire of the ig-
 5. norant: so that he couereth the forme that hath no life of a dead image.

They that loue such wicked things, are
 6. worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

The potter also tempereth soft earth, and
 7. fashioneth euery vessel with labour to our vie:
 but of the same clay hee maketh both the vessels that serue to cleane uses, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessel serueth, the pot-
 8. ter is the iudge.

So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine
 9. god of the same clay: euen he which a little afore was made of earth, himselfe, and within a little while after goeth further againe whence he was taken: when hee shall make accompt for the lone of his life.

Notwithstanding he careth not for the la-10. bour.

do, & hee taketh, not that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluer-smithes; and counterfeiteth the copper-smithes, and taketh it for an honour to make detestable things.

10 His heart is ashen, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is less worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gave him his to be; that had power and breasted in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gain: for they say we ought to be getting on every day, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now hee that of earth maketh fragile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend a-boue all other.

14 All the enemies of the people, that holde them in subiection, are most pitiable, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they loue all the doles of the nations to be gods; which neither haue eye, sight to see, nor noles to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers or hands to gripe, and their feet are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them; but no man can make a god like to himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vniuersal hands: he himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth; for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired in respect of other beasts: for they are belittled of Gods playes, and of his blessing.

2 In steade of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfy their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen * quailles.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed & sent among them, might turne away these necessarie desires, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

Numb 21. 6

4 For it was requisite, that they which dyed tyrannically, should fall into extreme pouertie, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were conuicted.

5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruel serpents,

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by the * remembrance of all.

8 So in this thou shewest our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 * For the biting of grasshoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venomous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not be called back by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor playster healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which breake all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

14 A man indeed by his wickednesse may lay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it cannot rise againe, neither can hee rise againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodly that would not knowe thee, were punished by the strenght of thine arm, with strange raine & with haile, and were punished with tempest, that they could not auoid, and were consumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that the might doe more then water, which quencherth all things: but the wordes is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the sides of the water, about the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vnjust land.

20 * In the straw whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes.

21 For the sentence declared thy iustitie vnto thy children, which turned to the appetite of him that took it, and was meet to that that euery man would.

22 Wherefore, the snow and ice above the fire, and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the baile, and warckling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, but the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that crutcheth vnto the maker, is better in punishing the wicked: but it is easie to do good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time, vnto all fashions to lenie thy grace, which nourished all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof.

26 That thy children whom thou lovest, O Lord, might know, that it is not the increase of fruites that seduceth men, but that it is thy mercy.

which preserved them that trust in thee.

For that which could not be destroyed by fire, being early warmed a little with flames brames, melted.

That it might be known that we ought to commend the same thing to give thanks unto thee, and so praise thee before the day spring.

For the hope of the unthankfull shall melt away like wax, and flow away as impossibility.

CHAP. XVII.

The judgments of God against the wicked. Of thy judgments are great, and cannot be reckoned: therefore men do erre, that will not be reformed.

For when the unrighteous thought to have escaped people in affliction, they were bound by the bands of darkness, and long night, and being shut by under the roofe, did he there fasten the continuing punishments.

And while they thought to be hid in their beds, they were scattered abroad in the dark covering of fogges, and fearing horribly and troubled many billings.

For the house that hid them, kept them from rescue: but the bands that were about them troubled them, and terrible visions and dolefull sights did appeare.

The power of the flame might give light, nevertheless the cleare flames of the flames light on the horrible night.

For they appeared unto them onely a shadow, which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw to be nothing.

And the millions of the Magical artes were brought downe, and it was a most shameful reproche for the boasting of their knowledge.

For they that promised to drive away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for him, and worthy to be laughed at.

And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beastes which paled by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and sayd they saw not the eye, which by no meanes can be asayed.

For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a confession that is touched, doeth ever forecast cruell things.

For feare is nothing else, but a betraying whisper, which reason offereth.

And the less that the hope is within, the more they esteeme the ignorance of the things that tormenteth him, great.

But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the dunghill of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleep.

And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometimes they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: so a sudden feare not looked for, came upon them.

And thus whosoever fell downe, hee was kept, and shut in prison, but without chaines.

For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepherd, or one that was set to worke alone, hee were taken, hee must suffer this necessity, that he could not stand:

For with one chain of darkness were they all bound: whether it were an hissing wind, or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hissing running water.

And a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of shipping beastes, that could not be lesse, or the noise of cruell beastes, that roared, or the sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them swoone.

For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

Only upon them there fell an heavy night, and image of that darkness that was to come upon them: yea, they were into themselves more grievous then darkness.

CHAP. XVIII.

The fiery pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. The delivrance of the faithful. The Lord smote the Egyptians. The fume of the people in the wilderness. Aaron stood betweene the living and the dead with his staffe.

But the saints had a very great light, whose doore because they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the unknown way, and smasted the flame that it burnt not them in their honourable journey.

But they were worthy to be deprived of the light, and to be kept in darkness, which had kept thy children shut up, by whom the corrupt light of the law should be given to the world.

Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saines, by one child that was cast out, and persecuted to reproove them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them altogether in the mighty water.

Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they, knowing to what saethes they had given credite, might be of good cheere.

Thus thy people received the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified us whom thou hast called.

For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a law of righteousness by one consent, that the Saines should receive good and evil in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

For the master and the servant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king.

So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were the living sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

So they that could believe nothing, because cause of the enchantments, confided to this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first booke.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course, 15 Thine almighty word leapt downe from heauen out of the royal throne, as a fencer man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed.

16 And brought thine unfained commandment, as a sharp sword, and stood up, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached unto the heauens.

17 Then the light of the fleshly beames veyed them suddenly, and fearfully he came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the villous that veyed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

Num. 16. 46.

20 How renten of death touched the righteous also, and among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, bnt the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made hark, and defended them; and took the weapons of his ministracion, cun prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath and so brought the misery to an end, declaring that he was thy servant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word hee subdued him that punished, alleging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee stood in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing.

Exod. 28. 6, 34.

24 For in the long garment was all the ornament, in the faire comes of the flames was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiesty in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraide of them, for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

C H A P. XIX.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for hee knowt what should come vnto them,

2 That they when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) should repent and pursue them.

a That is, the children of Israel whom they before had desired to goe their way.

2 For while yet sorrow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had call out afore with prayer.

4 For the desire wherof they were woorthy, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by the iudgements. <sup>11</sup> That the people might see a marvelous passage, and that they might find a strange death.

6 For every creature in his kinde was fashioned of new, and serued in their vniuersities enioyned them, that the children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the clouds mirrored their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a Greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, doing thy wondrous manacles.

9 For they were like fishes, and leaped like lambs, passing the Red Sea, which had not watered them.

10 For they were not without of the things which were done in the land wher they dwelt, but the ground brought forth them in stead of cattell, and the mire (which was) the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 But as the sea they sawe a new creature, and as the birds, when they were in the water, and as the beasts, when they were in the land.

12 For the quails came forth of the sea, to them for comite, but punishments came vpon the sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundings: for they were punished according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one sort would not be content when they were present, because they had known not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things (some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them) by they handled the strangers desperately.

15 Others that had received them with great banquetting, admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darkenesse, sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one time is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melody still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that was swumme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne nature, and the water began to owne kind to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked thereon, wher melted they that which seemed to be fire, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast manifested and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

The wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

His Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirach's father was also called Iesus, & he lived in the latter times after the people had bene led away captive, & brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who diligently gather the good sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many things of great knowledge and wisdom. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach was left: so heur his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it Wisdom, calling it so by his own name, his fathers name, and his grandfather's: thinking by this title of Wisdom, whether the Reader so reads this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke conteineth wise sayings, and shrewd sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, such of men that were approved of God, and certaine prayers: And long of the author himselfe: moreover, what benefits the Lord hath bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues hee had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Whereas many and great things haue bene giuen by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by reason of mortallitie and wisdom, whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable vnto strangers, both by teaching and learning:) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much in learning according to the Law. And therefore, I exhort you to receive it lovingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good mouth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attain to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expounded: for y things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another sense in the Greeke then when they are translated into another tongue: and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue some small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the right and better sort, when I came into Egypt vnder king Ceregetes, I continued there, I wrote a copy full of great learning, and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and travail to increase this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & study I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and desire to learne, might apply themselves vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

Wisdom commeth of God. 11 A praise of the law of God. 22 The manner to come by wisdom.

1 All wisdom commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] &
is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea; and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? Who can measure [the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth]

Who can finde the wisdom [of God that hath bene before all things:]

Who hath bene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prouidence from beginning.

The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisdom, and the excellant commandments are the entrance vnto her.

Unto whom hath the root of wisdom been declared? or who hath known her wise-dom?

Unto whom hath the doctrine of wisdom been discovered? or who hath known the manifold difference vnto her?

There is one will, which the most high knoweth of all things, the thought, the kingdom of power, and very terrible, which stretcheth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her [thorough the holy Ghost:] he hath sene her, numbered her, [and measured her]

10 He hath powred her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue
him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and glad-nesse, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merry heart, & giueth gladnesse, and ioy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last, and he shall find fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great works thereof.]

15 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [the goodly with the chosen women, and is known with the righteous and faithfull.]

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge.

17 Holynesse shall preserve, and iustitie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end, he shall be blessed.

19 Shee hath built her dwelling foundation on wisdom, & is given to be with their seed.

20 To feare God is the fulness of wisdom, and filleth men with her fruits.

21 She filleth their whole house with [all] things desirable, & the garners with the things, that they bringeth forth; and her treasures are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisdom, and giveth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her and numberd her.

23 She raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisdom, and hath brought vnto honour them that possesse her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the root of wisdom, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisdom is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisdom is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord drieth out sinne: and when he is present, he drieth away anger.

27 For wicked anger cannot be justified: for his righteousness in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of joy.

29 Hee will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lipps shall speake of his wisdom.

30 In the treasures of wisdom are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, keepe the commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, & will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdom & discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meekenes.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 Be not an hypocrite, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the mids of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receive the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousness, love, vnderstanding, and patience. 2 To trust in the Lord. 3 A curse vpon them that are faine hearted and impatient.

Manne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God & stande fast in righteousness & feare, and prepare thy selfe to temptation.

2 Be still thine heart, and be patient: [bow downe thine eare, & receive the wordes of vnderstanding] and thine ke not away when thou art assailed, [but wait vpon God patiently.]

3 Joyne thy selfe vnto him, & depart not away, that thou mayst be increased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoeuer cometh vnto thee, receive it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 For as golde [and silver are] tried in the fire, even so are men acceptable in the furnace of affliction.

6 Believe in God, and hee will helpe thee: obey his word, and thou shalt be blessed: [wait till his feare, and grow old therein.]

7 See that feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: & shalme not away from him that yet thou hast not.

8 See that feare the Lord, beleue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 Yet that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the comforting word and mercie.

10 For that feare the Lord, low him, your hearts shall be lightened.

11 Consider the old generations [of men, & children,] make them well: [know therefore any countenances that put his trust in the Lord, or who hath continued in his feare, and how he is blessed:] of whom did hee euer deuide, that called vpon him?

12 For God is gracious and merciful, & sheweth himselfe, and saucth in the time of trouble, & is a defender for all them that seek him in the truth.]

13 Alloe vnto them that haue a faine heart, & to the wicked lips: & to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two maner of wayes.

14 Alloe vnto him that is faint hearted: he be breuery; not: therefore shall he not be beloved.

15 Alloe vnto you that haue lost patience, and haue forsaken the right wayes, and are turned backe into froward wayes: for what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not hide his word; and they that love him, will keepe his lawes.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that love him, shall be fulfilled with his law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will purge their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandements, and will be patient till hee see them.

20 Saying, if we do not repent, we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, & not into the hands of men.

21 For as his greatness is, so is his mercie.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother ought we to giue due honour. 3 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 4 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

The children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, & their obsequie is obedient and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honour of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his father shall be forgotten him, [and hee shall abide from them, and shall haue his dayes belated.]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue joy of his owne children, and when hee maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, shall haue and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, honoureth his mother.

10 For that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as the Lord commandeth.

11 Honour thy father and mother in deede and in word, [and in all patience,] that thou mayest haue [Gods blessing,] [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

12 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse destroyeth the foundations.

13 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father:
for he is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

14 Seeing that mans glory cometh by his fathers honour, and the reproach of the mother is dishonour to the children.

15 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and when thou art no longer as he liueth.

16 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue paternity with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

17 For the good intreacy of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a forrester for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be rewarded for thee in righteousness.]

18 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be reminded: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the snow in the faire weather.

19 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to ruine, and he that angereth his mother, is cursed of God.

20 My sonne, performe thy doings with workmanlike, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are thy enemies.

21 The greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe in all things, [and thou shalt finde fa-uour before the Lord.]

22 Many are excellent and of renoume: but few are reueiled vnto the meek.

23 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

24 Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things casily which are too mighty for thee.

25 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and bee not curious in many of his works:] for it is not meet for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

26 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacity of men.

27 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceived their iudgement.

28 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

29 A stubborn heart shall fare euill at the last:
and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

30 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not power: and hee that is forward of heart, shall fumble therein.

31 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrow: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

32 The perswasion of the proude is without strength, and his steps shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and hee shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an atten-tine eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abide firme from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousness.]

33 A later quencher burning fire, * and sinnes taketh away sinnes.

34 And hee that rewardeth good deedes, will remember it afterward, and in the time of the fall, he shall finde a stay.

M Y sonne, defraud not the * pooze of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to waite long.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorrowfull, neither bere a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the pooze.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the pooze, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made
him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company of pooze, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder, [and bow downe thy head to a man of worship.]

8 Let it not grieve thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the pooze, [but pay thy debt:] and giue him a friendly answer.

9 Deliver him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressor, and be not faint hearted when thou iudgest.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husbando vnto their mother: so shalt thou bee as the sonne of the most high: and hee shall loue thee more then thy mother doth.

11 Misdeedome exalteth her children, and receiveth them that seeke her, [and will go before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 Hee that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great joy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherit glory:
for vnto whom shee entreth, him the Lord will bless.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the holy One, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 Hee that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possess her.

17 For first she will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him into feare and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill shee haue tryed his soule, and haue spoyled him by her iudgements.

18 Then will shee returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shewe him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures

20 [C]onfesse, I make much of time, and * eichew the thing that is euill,

21 And be not ashamed [to say the truth] for thy life: for there is a * shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knowne, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of truerh, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy finnes, and resist not the course of the river.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Strive for the truerh vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hasty in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a lyon in thine owne house, neither deate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppresseth them that are vnder thee.]

31 * Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and shut when thou shouldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

Trust not vnto thy * riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shal not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Followe not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [I haue haue I had strength:] or who will bring me vnder for my workes? For God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euil hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee unpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not witch, out feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercy of God is great: he will forgive my manifold finnes: for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no taryng to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy security thou shalt bee destroyed, and thou shalt perishe in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with every winde, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the finner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in the sure vnderstanding, and in the way and knowledge of the Lord, and beare but one manner of word, [and follow the way of peace and righteousness.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.

12 * Bee swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [lest thou bee trapped in an vnadvised word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a * calcheauer, and be not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] followe the chiefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backebiter shal be hated, enuied and confounded.]

16 Do not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the property of a finner to be euill tongued, 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] * enemies: for such shall haue an euil name, shame and reproch, and he shall be an infame as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proud in the Venice of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull.

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy the fruit, and so thou bee left as a drie tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorn of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends: and pacifieth them that be at variance, [and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.]

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend, procure him first, and be not hasty to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, & will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to emmitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Again, some * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperity he will be as thou thy selfe, and will be libergier over thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithful friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithful friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of golde and silver] is not to be compared to the goodness [of his faith.]

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, least thy kindred be dishonoured.

5 * Despise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth withall, but remember that wee are all worthy blame.

6 * Dishonour not a man in his old age: for they were as we which are not old.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember that we must die all, [and so enter into ioy.]

8 * Despise not the exhortation of the [Elders] that be wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them shalt thou learne wisdom, [and the doctrine of vnderstanding,] and howe to serue great men [without complaint.]

9 Doe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answer in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coales of sinners, [when thou rebukest them,] least thou be burnt in the fierie flames [of their sinnes.]

11 Rise not vp against him that doth wrong, that he lay not waite as a spie for thy mouth.

12 * Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

13 Be not surerly aboue thy power: for if thou be surerly, thinke to pay it.

14 Doe not to laue with the iudge: for they will giue sentence according to his owne honour.

15 * Trauaille not by the way with him that is rash, least hee see the injury: for hee will see his owne willfullnesse, and so shall thou perish through his folly.

16 * Serue not with him that is angry, and goe not with him into the wilderness: for hee is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe, he will overthrow thee.

17 Take no counsell at a foole: for he cannot keepe a thing close.

18 Do no secret thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto every man, lest hee bee vnthankfull to thee, [and put thee to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of ieioune. 12 An old friend is to be preferred before a newe. 18 Righteous men should be hidden in thy table.

Be not ielous ouer the wife of thy bosome, neither teach her by thy meanes an euill lesson.

2 Giue not thy selfe vnto a woman, least she overcome thy strength, [and so thou be confounded.]

3 Be not an harlot, least thou fall into her shares.

4 Use not the company of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer,] neither heare her, least thou be taken by her craftinesse.

5 Saye not on a * maid, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.

6 * Cast not thy mind vpon harlots [in any manner of thing,] least thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thine heritage.

7 Doe not about gazing in the streets of the cite, neither wander thou in the secret places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beauty: for many * haue perished by the beauty of women: for through it loue is kindled as a fire.

9 [Every woman that is an harlot, shall be troden vnder foote as dung, of every one that goeth by the way.]

10 Many wondering at the beauty of a strange woman, haue ben cast out: for her waies burne as a fire.]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, neither lie with her vpon the bed, nor banquet with her: least thine heart incline vnto her, and so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 * Forsake not an old friend: for the newe shall not bee like him: a newe friend is as new wine: when it is olde, thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall bee his ende.

14 Delight not in the thing that the wicked haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, lest he take away thy life: remember that thou shalt be in the middes of sinners, and that thou shalt walke vpon the towers of the cite.

16 Try thy neighbour as reere as thou canst, * and alke counsell of the wife.

17 * Let thy talke be with the wise, and all thy counsell in the Law of the most high.

10 Let not man eat and drink with thee, and be in the fear of the Lord.

11 In the hands of the transgression shall the wicked be committed, and the wise prince of the world by his words, and the word by the buildings of the towers.

12 A man full of words is dangerous in his mouth, and he that is rash in talking, shall be perish.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Judges. 7 Pride and caution are to be avoided. 18 Labour is praised.

A wise Judge will instruct his people with admonition: the governance of a prudent man is well ordered.

1 As the Judge of the people is himselfe, so is his officers, and what manner of man the ruler of the city is, such are all they that dwell
therein.

2 An unwise King despoyleth his people, whither they that be in authority, are men of understanding, there the city prospereth.

3 The government of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquity of the nation is to be abolished.] and when time is, he will set up a profitable ruler over it.

4 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and upon the Scribes will he lay his honour.

5 Be not angry for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and do nothing by injurious practices.

6 Pride is hateful before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

7 Because of unrighteous dealing, and sins, and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is translated from one people to another.

8 There is nothing worse than a covetous man: why art thou proud, O earth and ashes:
there is not a more wicked thing, then to love money: for such one would even sell his soule, and for his life every one is compelled to pull out his stone bowels.

9 Altymanie is of small indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale is grievous to the Physician.

10 The Physician cutteth off the leze disease, and he that is to dye a King, to morrow is dead.

11 Why is earth and ashes proud, seeing that when a man dyeth, hee is the heire of serpents, beasts, and worms?

12 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

13 For pride is the originall of sinne, and he that is so, shall poyse out abomination till all that be be overthrown: therefore the Lord humblyeth the persuasions [of the wicked] to disho-nour, and despoyleth them in the end.

14 The Lord hath cast downe the thornes of the proud [princes], and set up the meekes in their stead.

15 The Lord plucketh up the rootes of the proud [nations], and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

16 The Lord overthroweth the lands of the high, and despoyleth them unto the founda-ment of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and despoyleth them, and maketh their me-moriall to cease out of the earth.

18 God despoyleth the memoriall of the proud, and leaveth the remembrance of the humble.

19 Pride was not created in men, neither in wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man, which is an honourable seed: the honourable seed are they that fear the Lord: there is a seed of man, which is without honour: the seed without honour, are they that transgress the commandments of the Lord: it is a seede that remaineth, which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seed without honour, that despise the law, and a decciuable seed that breaks the commandments.

21 He that is the chief among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord caused that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by cruelty and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath understanding, neither is it convenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge, and the man of authority are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then hee that feareth the Lord.

26 Unto the servant that is wise, shall they that are free, do service: hee that hath knowledge, will not grudge when hee is reclaimed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour].

27 Seeke not riches when thou shouldst do thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof though paine in the time of adversity.

28 Better is hee that laboureth, and hath plenteousnesse of all things, then he that is go-gons, and wanteth bread.

29 My soune, get thy selfe prayse by meekenesse, and extreme thy selfe as thou deservest.

30 Who will count him him that sinneth against himselfe: or honour him that dishonoureth his own soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in poverty, howe much more shall hee be when hee is rich: and hee that is dishonest being rich, how much more will he be so when hee is in poverty?

CHAP. XI.

1 The prayse of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudge-ment. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into these houses.

W Heedone [lister] by the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beauty, neither despise a man in his better appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the foules:
yet doth her fruit passe in sweetness.

4 Be not proud of clothing and rayment, and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull [and glorious,] secret, [and unknowne] are his works.

troops among men.

5 Many tyrants haue sette thome vpon the earth, and the unlikely hath waime the crowne.
6 Many mighty men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands.

7 * Blame [no man] before thou hast inquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then resume righteously.]

8 * Giue no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Strive not for a matter that thou hast not to do with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 * By somme, meddle not with any matters; * for if thou gaue much, thou shalt not be blamelesse, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

11 * There is some man that labourerth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

12 * Againe there is some that is slouthful, and hath neede of helpe: for hee wanteth strength, and hath great pouerty, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his lowe estate.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men marueile at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

14 * Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouerty and riches, come of the Lord.

15 * Wisdom and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good works come of him.

16 * Error and darkenesse are appoynted for sinners, and they that exalte themselves in euill, were old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 * Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages.

19 In that he saith, * I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee considereth not that the time draweth neere, that hee must leave all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 * Barneile not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour, for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 * Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?

24 Again, say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euil can come to me hereafter?

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discouered.

28 Judge none blessed before his death: for man shall be knowne by his children.

29 * Being not euerie man into thine hands, in the desertfull haue many traites, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a bush, [and the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a thorneth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euil, and in things worthy playe he will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one desertfull man is blood increased:] for a sinful man sayeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetual shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and diuie thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

2 * Into no hom mee ought to doe good. 10 * Enemie ought not to be trusted.

When thou wilt doe good, knowe to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefites.

2 * Do good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most high.

3 * We cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most high hateth the sinners, and hateth mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 * Giue vnto such as feare God, and receive not a sinner.

5 Do well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy hand, and giue it not vnto him, lest hee overcome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue trouble as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most high hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and berpeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 * Giue vnto the good, and receive not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot be knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be unknownen in aduersitie.

9 * When a man is in wealth, he grimesth his enemies, but in beauesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 * Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an piron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aboult thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt bee to him, as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 * Get him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 * Neither let him at thy right hand, lest he seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and bee picked with my sayings.

14 * Bind not two sinnes together: for they shall not one be unpunished.

for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

good men, and shall set his children vnder his couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.
27 By her he shall be couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnesse that followeth him which feareth
God. 2 God respecteth and casteth off a sinner. 3 God is not the author of euill.

He that feareth the Lord will do good : and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.
2 As an [honourable] mother shall she nurse him, and hee, as his wife married of a virgin, shall receive him.
3 Catch the deare [of life] and vnderstanding shall shee feede him, and giue him the water of wholesome wisdom to drinke.
4 Hee shall adorne himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.
5 Shee shall teach him about his iniquities, and in the inuolues of the congregation shall hee open his mouth : with the fruit of wisdom, and vnderstanding shall hee fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.
6 Shee shall cause him to inherit life, and the crown of gladnesse, and an euertlasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take heed hereto : (for such as haue vnderstanding will not forget) : the sinner shall not see her.
8 For she is farr from pride [and deceit], and men that lie, cannot remember her : the men of cruelty shall haue her, and shall precise vnto the deboshing of God.
9 Prayer is not [seemly] in the mouth of the sinner : for that is not feare of the Lord.
10 But if prayer come of wisdom, [and be pleasur in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will prosper it.
11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe : for thou oughtest not to do the things that he detesteth.
12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to sinne for he hath not neede of the sinfull man.
13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of se-rour] and they that feare God, looke it not.
14 Hee made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell, [I gave him his commandments and precepts].
15 If thou wilt, thou shalt observe the com-mandements, and continue thy good will.
16 Hee hath set water and fire before thee :
stretch out thy hand vnto which thou wilt.
17 Before man is life and death, [good and euill] : what him likey shall be giuen him.
18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and he is mighty in power, and depotheth all things continually.
19 And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the works of man.
20 He hath commanded no man to bee in-godly, neither hath hee giuen any man likey to sinne : [for hee desireth not a multitude of labours, and vniuersall children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of unhappy and wicked children. 27 How can hee hide himselfe from God. 24 An admonition to the receiving of instruction.

Delire not the multitude of vniuersall children, neither delight in vniuersall children :
though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.
2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.
3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behind him vniuersall children.
4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited : but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.
5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.
6 In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vniuersall people shall the wrath be set on fire.
7 Hee feared not the old grante which were rebellious, tending to their owne strength.
8 Hee feared not the whorers [and such] as those whom hee reioyced for their youth.
9 Hee had no pitié vpon the people that were destroyed, and iustified in their times.
10 And so hee persecuted the free hundred thousand footmen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in affliction them

CHAP. VII.

The creation of man, and the greatness of God high above all creatures, 10. Of sinners, 20. and repentance.

The Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him into it again.

He gave him the number of days, and certaine times; and gave him power of the things that are upon earth.

Hee clothed them with strength, as they had neede; and made them according to his image.

Hee made all flesh to feare him, in that hee had the dominion over the beasts, and fowles.

Hee created out of him an aspey like unto himselfe; and gave them discretion, and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to understand, and thereby hee gave them a spirit, and innumerable hee gave them strength to declare his works.

And he filled them with knowledge of understanding, and shewed them good and euill.

He set his eye upon their backs, declaring vnto them his noble works.

And gave them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should suddenly declare his wonders, & that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

Whereby this, hee gave them knowledge, and gave them the Lawe of life for an heritage, that they might neuer knowe that they were mortal.

Hee made an everlasting continuance vnto them, and shewed them his iudgements.

Their eyes saw the maiestie of his glory,
and their eares heard his glorious voice.

And hee sayde vnto them; Beware of all unrighteous things. Hee gave every man also a commandement concerning his neighbour.

Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

Every man from his youth is giuen to enill, and their hearts can not become fleshy.

Hee appointed a ruler vpon euery people; when hee diuided the nations of the whole earth.

And hee did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom hee nourished with butter and hony, and dwelt vpon him most lovingly, and doth not forsake him.

All their wayes are as the sunne before him; and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

None of their unrighteousnesse is hidde from him; but all their finnes are before the Lord.

And as hee is mercifull, and knoweth his wages, hee doeth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

The sinnes of a man is as a thing scaled vp before him, and hee keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their finnes and daughters.

At the last shall he arise, and reward them; and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

But vnto them that will repent, hee giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth such.

man in sinning them and healing them with words and with chastiment.

There is there be one sinneched among the people, in the multitude of his leaue sinners that hee maye and toward are with him; he is wiser to forgive, and to poune our displeasure.

His mercie is great, so is his punishment; and hee rebudget a man according to his sinne.

The wrath shall not escape vnto his sonne, and the patience of the good shall not be broken.

Hee will giue place to all good workers, and every one shall finde according to his works.
And thus the understanding of his pilgrimage shall be made manifest vnto all.

The Lord hardened Pharaoh, that hee should not knowe him, and that his wayes should be knowne vpon the earth vnder the heaven.

His mercie is knowne to all creatures; he did separate the light from the darkness with his command.

Hee saith thou, I will hide my selfe from thee; for who will thinke vpon me from away? I shall not be knowne in to great an heap of people; what is my fault among such an infinite multitude of creatures?

Beholde, the heauen, and the heaven of heavens, which are for God, the depth, and the height, and all that therein is, shall be moued when hee shall visite.

All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaine also, and the founda-ment of the earth shall quake for feare, when the Lord visiteth vpon them.

These things doeth hee not heare vnder-stand worthily, but hee understandeth every heart.

And who understandeth his wayes? and the frame that no man can see; for the most part of his wayes are hid.

Who can declare the wayes of his righteousnesse? or who can abide them? for his counsaile is far off, and the trying out of all things is hidden.

He that is humble of heart, will confesse these things; but an diuill and exorbitant man will be wroth vpon foolish things.

Hee heare, hearken wholnes, and heare knowledge; and thus hee maye knowe with thine heart.

Will hee decide these weighty doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

The Lord hath set his wayes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath been named from the other when hee first made the world.

Hee hath giuen them his wayes for euer, and hee will keep them so long as they shall endure, for hee is not hungry nor thirsted in their labour, nor cease from their offices.

Some of them hindered another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his lawe.

After this the Lord looked vpon the earth;
and thus it was his good things.

Which all manner of living beasts hath hee created, and they returne into it.

and through not thy wisdom shall become not a begger by mingling banquets with them that have wisdom, and in leave of thy party: for thou shouldst stand out in waste for their want life.

CHAP. IX.

Wine and whoredoms bring men to poverty. 2
The murder of the defenceless. 3 The difference of the wisdom of God and man. 4 Whereby thou mayest know what is true.

A flourishing man that is given to drunkenness, shall not be rich: and he that contendeth about small things, shall fall by little and little.
Covetous and women shall lead wise men out of the way. And put men of understanding to reproof.

And he that companioneth adulterers, shall become impudent: cotteness and women shall lead him to perdition, and he that is too bold, he shall be taken away, and be made a publique example.

He that is hasty to give credits, is light minded, and he that errerh, sinneth against his own soul.

Who is rejoyceth in wickedness, shall be punished: For that bareth to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling words, quencheth wickedness: but he that seeketh pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

Hee that refrainerh his tongue, may live with a trouble some man, and he that bareth babbling, shall have lesse euill.

Heare not to another that which is told unto thee: for thou shalt not be hindered.

Declare not other mens manners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not unto thee, reueale it not.

For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunity, hee will sneere thee.

If thou hast heard a word against thy neighbour, let it die with thee, and be sure, it will not hurt thee.

A foole troubleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

As an arrow that sticketh in ones thigh,
so is a word in a fooles heart.

Reprooue a friend, lest hee doe euill, and if he haue done it, that hee doe it no more.

Reprooue a friend, that hee may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that hee may say it no more.

Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a blame is raised, and giue no credence to euery
man.

A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue?

Reprooue thy neighbour before thou threamen him, and bring without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most high.

The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be received of him, and wisdom obtaineth his loue.

The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receive the fruits of immortality.

The feare of the Lord is all wisdom, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisdom, and the knowledge of his almighty power.

If a servant say vnto his master, I will not do as is pleased thee, though afterward hee do it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

The knowledge of wickedness is not wi-dome, neither is there penitencie whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is such execrable malice: and the foole is boye of wisdom.

Hee that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the Law of the most high.

There is a certaine subtilty that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that misseth the open and manifest lawe: yet there is that is well, and iudgeth righteously.

There is some, that being among wicked purposes, doe bowe downe themselves, and are lad, whose inward parts burne altogether with desire: he looketh downe with his face, and sa-uerh himselfe deare: yet before thou perceiue, hee will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

And though he be so weak, that hee can do thee no harme, yet when hee may finde opportunitie, hee will do euill.

A man may be known by his look, and one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

A mans garment, & his excellent language, and going, declare what person he is.

Chap. 12.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 27 The fall of the wicked. 23
Of lying. 24 The thief and the murderer. 28 Giftest blinde the eyes of the wise.

There is some rebuke that is not comely: against some man holdeth his tongue, and hee is wise.

It is much better to reprove, then to beare euill will, and he that acknowlegeth his fault, shall be preserved from hurt.

As when a gelded man through lust would desire a mayde, so is hee that useth violence in iudgement.

Chap. 30. 24.

Knowe good a thing is it, when thou art reprooued, to shew repentance: for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

Some man keepeeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answer: and some keepe silence, waiting a convenient time.

Ecclesi. 3. 7.
Chap. 32. 4.

A wise man will hold his tongue till hee see opportunity: but a trifler and a foole will regard no time.

He that useth many words, shall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authority to himselfe, shall be hated.

Some man hath oft times prospered in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is found, bringeth losse.

There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is double.

himselfe, and some by humbleness lifteth up the head.

12 Some man biterh much for a little speere for the which he payeth many times more.

13 A wise man turn his words inward himselfe to be taught, but the many tales of foolles shall be pointed out.

14 The gift receiveth of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the envious for his impotunity: for hee looketh to receive many things for one: he giveth little and unprofitably much:
he openeth his mouth like a chaine, yet he to say he leaveth, no more, altho he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayth, I have no friend: I have no thanke for all my good dooers: and they that eat my bread speake evil of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall hee be laughed to scorne: for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he saith: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pavement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft tolde by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence teacheth grace when it commeth out of a foolles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pover-tie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because hee is ashamed, and for the regard of perious lozeth it.

22 Some man promiseth unto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for nought.

23 A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the unwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accused to lie: but they both shall have destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of years are dishonest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shal bring himselfe to honour with his words, and he that hath understanding, shall please great men.

27 He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: he that worketh righteously, shall be exalted, and hee that pleareth great men, shall have pardon of his iniquitie.

28 Rewards and gifts blinde the eyes of the wise, and make them dumbe, that they cannot reprove faultes.

29 Calldome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded up, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is he that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdom.

31 The necessary patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then he that governeth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne, 2 The prayer of the afflicted, 3 To hate to be reproved, 4 The mouth of the wicked man, 5 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, but pray for the foresinnes that they may be forgiven thee.]

1 As from sinne, as from a serpent, but thou comest too neere it: it will bite thee, and the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion: so say the fables of men.

2 All iniquitie is as a thorn against the wounds wherof cannot be healed.

3 Strife and injuries make enmities: is the house of the proud shall be desolate.

4 The prayer of the pious going out of the mouth, cometh unto the eares of the Lord, and justice is done him incontinently.

5 Altho he biterh to bee reclaimed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord, converteth in heart.

6 An eloquent talker is knowne above of all: but he that is wise, perceiveth when he talketh.

7 Altho he buildeth his house with silver and money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his grave.

8 The congregation of the wicked is like some images together: their end is as a flame of fire to destroy them.

9 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, Torment and paines.]

10 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, resisteth his own affections thereby: and the increase of wisdom is the end of the feare of God.

11 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternesse.

12 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth over, and his counsel is like a pure fountaine of life.

13 The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessel: he can keepe no knowledge within he liveth.

14 When a man of understanding heareth a wise word, he will commend it, and increase it:
but if an ignorant man hear it, he will disallow
it, and call it behind his backe.

15 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comeliness in the talke of a wise man.

16 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the Congregation, and they shall praise his words in their heart.

17 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wis-dome unto a foole, and the knowledge of the wis-dome is as words without order.

18 Doctrine unto foolles is as fetters on the feet, and like manacles upon the right hand.

19 A foole listeth up his voice with loud utter, but a wise man doth scarce make himselfe heard.

20 Learning is unto a wise man a sword of gold, and like a bracelet upon his right arm.

21 A foolish mans foot is loose in his neighbour's house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

22 A foole will peep in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nurtured, will stand without.

23 It is the point of a foolish man to bracken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will be grieved with such dishonour.

24 The lippes of talkers will be telling such things as pertaine not unto them, but the words of such as have understanding, are weighed in the ballance.

25 The hearts of foolles is in their mouth, but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When

17 When the vngodly curseth Sathan, he curseth his owne soule.

18 A backbiter defileth his owne soule, and wheresoever he is: But he that keepeth his tongue, is discrete, shall come to honour.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a fool. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

A slothfull man is like a filthy stone, which every man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slothfull man is to bee compared to the dung of men, and every one that taketh it up, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nourished sonne is the dishonor of his father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wife daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that turneth dishonestly, is her fathers shame.

5 Shee that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, and is not inferiour to the vngodly, but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musike in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that throweth a portleard together, and as he that maketh one that sleepest, from a sound sleeper.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with haughtinesse and foolishnesse they deile the nobilitie of their fathers.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisdom, is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 Sleepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make inuall weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seven dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their liues.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not with him that hath no vnderstanding, beware of him lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou bee shame when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not reuile thyselfe by his foolishnesse.

14 What is better then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 Wand and salt, and a lump of yron is better to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man].

16 As a frame of wood loyned together in a building cannot bee loosled with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall shewe no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire platttering on a plaine wall.

18 Needes that are set by on high, cannot be the winde, to the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 See that hurteth the eye bringeth sorrow teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vnderstandeth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou distrust a sworde at thy friends, yet despayre not: for there may be a returne to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpholding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a traitorous wound doe not let: for by these things every friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pueritie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide steadfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee better with him in his heritage: for pueritie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words creake and threarnings, goe before blood shedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should do me harme: whosoever heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shall set a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not? Psal. 141. 3.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 12 Of the blasphemie and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kinds of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceede of aduery. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by them.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let their faults passe?

Or, my lips.

3 Least mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer mee, whose hope is farre from thy mercy.

That is, of the tongue and lips.

4 O Lord, father and God of my life, cleane me not in their imagination: neither giue me a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout mind.

5 Take from me vaine hope, and conspience, and retaine him in obedience, that desiereth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue me not thy seruants ouer into an impudent wind.

7 Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, nor be hurt by wicked workers.

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

9 Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: for in it there are many falles, neither take thou for a custome the naming of the Lord our:

Exod. 20. 7. chap. 27. 15. matth. 5. 33. 34.

one: For thou shalt not bee unpunished for such things.

10 For as a servant which is oft punished, cannot be without some shame, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not bee faultlesse.

11 A man that useth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, and the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledg not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapp'd in sinne.

13 Use not thy mouth to ignominious rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, least thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and with that thou hadst not bene boye, and curse the day of thy naturie.

15 The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There be two sorts of men that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath and destruction: I a minde hote as fire that cannot be quenched, till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 All bread is sweete to a whomonger: he will not leaue off till he perish.

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, Who seeth mee? I am compassed about with darkness: the wallies couer me: no body seeth mee: whom neede I to feare? the most high will not remember my finnes.

19 Such a man only feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lorde are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding al the waies of men, and the ground, of the deepe, I and considereth the most secreete parts.

20 Hee knoweth all things: or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, hee looketh vpon them all.

21 The same man shall bee punished in the streets of the citie, and shall bee chased like a venge hoyle foale, I and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: I thus shall hee bee put to shame of euery man, because hee would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife that leaueh her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 For first they hath disobeyed the Law of the most high, and secondly they hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 Shee shall be brought out into the Congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull repoyt shall shee leaue, and her repoyt shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then y feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to keepe vnto the commandments of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to followe the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisdom proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her works and place where she dwelleth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

Wisdom shall praise her selfe, and be honoured in God, I and reioyce in the mind of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most high shall shee open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 In the midst of her people shall shee be exalted, and wondered at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen she shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be praised, and shall say, I

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most high, I first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, I and couered the earth as a clobe.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloudes.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compass of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and al people, and nations, and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of al, both high and low.

10 In all these things I fought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me appointed me a tabernacle, and sayd, Let thy dwelling bee in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among the chosen.

12 We created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: In the holy habitation I haue serued before him, and so was I stablished in Zion.

13 In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, vpon the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vpon as high as a cedar in Libanus, and as a Cypress tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree I about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire olive tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinnamon, and as a barge of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the bell myrrhe, as Galbanum, and onix, and sweete storax, and perfume of Incense in an house.

18 As the Cerebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour, and grace.

19 As the vine haue I brought forth fruit of sweete fauour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull sons, and of love, and of knowledge, and of holy hope, I have eternal things to all my children to whom I have thus commanded.

11 In me is all grace of life and truth: in me is all hope of life and virtue.

12 Come unto mee all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selves with my fruites.

13 For the remembrance of mee is sweeter then honey, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the honey combe: [the remembrance of me indur-eth for evermore.]

14 They that eat mee, shall have the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

15 Who hearkeneth unto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they that make me to be known, shall have everlasting life.]

16 All these things are the booke of life, and the Covenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the truth], and the Lawe that Moses [in the preceptes of righteousness] commanded for an heritage unto the house of Jacob, [and the promises pertaining to Israel.]

17 Be not weary to behaue your selves ball-antly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleave unto him: for the Lord Almighty is our God, and beside him there is none other Saviour.

18 [Out of David his servant hee ordayned usale by a most mightie King that should sitte in the throne of honour for evermore.]

19 He filleth all things with his wisdom, as Babylon, and as Egypt in the time of his visitations.

20 He maketh the understanding to abound like Cupheates, and as Jordan in the time of the harvest.

21 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to aspire as the light, and encrease as Orion in the time of the vintage.

22 The first man hath not known her person: no more shall the last seeke her out.

23 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

24 I wisdom [have cast out floods:] I am an arme of the river: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

25 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my rich became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

26 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

27 I will pearce [I shalwe all the lower partes of the earth:] I will looke upon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in me [the Lord.]

28 I will yet poynt out doctrine, as proph-etie, and leave it unto all ages for euer.

29 Beholde that I have not laboured for nothing only, but for all them that seeke wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

Of three things which please God, and of three which hee punisheth. 7 Of nine things that hee not to bee blissed. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioyce mee, and by them am I dehaunted before God and men: the unity of brethren, the love of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

2 Three sortes of men my soule hateth, and I utterly abhorre the life of them: a poodle man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doeth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 Wh how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister indgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell!

5 Wh, how comely a thing is wisdom unto aged men, and understanding and penderne to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men, is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath loy of his childe, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 It well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are unworthy of him.

9 It well is him that findeth prudence, and that speaketh in yeares of them that will heare.

10 Wh, how great is he that findeth wis-dome! yet is there none about him that feareth
the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearnesse.

12 Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God. [Unto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it:]

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his love, and faith is the beginning to be ioynt unto him.

14 The greatest deauinelle is the deauin-elle of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.

15 Give me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Do any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath above the wrath of an enemy.

18 I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as a sacke.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours, because of her hee fighteth like of her beware.

21 All wickednesse is but litle to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinners fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing up of a sandy way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.

23 Scumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, yet is angry and impudent, and full of repproh.

25 A wicked wife maketh a froward heart, an be-

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the zealous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and shee shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be given for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they that are at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: creation in a city, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 But the sorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is zealous ouer another: and shee that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An enuill wife is as a yoke of oren that draw diuers wapes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman, and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be known in the pride of her eyes, and eye lids.

Cl. 4. 42. 11.

10 If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, least she abuse her selfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marcke her not if she trespass against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirsty, so shall he open her mouth, & drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall shee let downe, and open her quiver against euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman, and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithful woman is a double grace, and there is no waight to bee compared vnto her continient minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of silver: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that he layde vpon a strong rocke: so are the commendements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 By sunne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitful portion, on thow all the fields, looke it with thine own eyes, trusting in thy nobility.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberality of thine nobility.

23 An harlot is compared to a stone; but the wife that is married, is counted as a tower against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a goodly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneeth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuereneth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wife of all: but she that despiseth him, shall be blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman is a babbler, let her bee sought out to drive away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuerted among the troubles of dooure.

29 There be two things that grieve mine heart, and the third maketh mee angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouerty: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousness vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 There be two things which me thinke to bee hard and perillous: a merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a victualer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantie of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be uttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

Because of pouertie haue many sinned: and he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

2 As a nail in the wall sticketh fast betwene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne stick betwene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall come downe withowen.

4 As when one stirreth, the slippereth remaineth in the flue, so the filth of a man remaineth in his thought.

5 The foynace proueth the potters vessel: so doth temptation trie men thoughts.

6 The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word declareth what man hath in his heart.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the trial of men.

and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall upon them as a lyon, and devour them as a leopard.

24. Edge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25. Bind by thy silver and gold, and weigh thy words in a ballance, and make a booke and a barre, (and a sure byde) for thy mouth.

26. Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in wait, (and thy fall be incurable, even unto death.)

CHAP. XXIX.

1. Do lend money, and do almes. 15. Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24. The poore mans life.

+ Of wel-doing.

Deut 15. 7, 8
Mat. 5. 42.
Luke 6. 35.

He that will shewe mercy, + lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power over him selfe, keepeth the commandements.

2. Lende to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3. Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4. Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5. Till they receive, they kisse his handes, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and give a carelesse answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6. And though he be able, yet grieveth he scarce the halfe againe, & reckoneth the other as a thing founde: else he deceiveth him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without a cause: he payeth him with curling and rebuke, and grieveth him euill words for his good deed.

7. There be many which refuse to lend because of this incommenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8. Yet haue thou patience with him that humblyeth himselfe, and deferre not mercy from him.

9. Helpe the poore for the Commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his poverty.

10. Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, & let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11. Bestow the treasure after the commandement of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12. Lay by thine * almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13. (A mans almes is as a purse with him, and that keepe a mans fauour as the aple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.

14. It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mighty.

15. An honest man is + surety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.

16. Forget not the friendship of the surety: for he hath layd his life for thee.

17. The * wicked helpeth the good deed of his surety.

18. The * wicked will not become surety: and he that is of an vnbankfull mind, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19. (Some men promise to) be his surety, and when he hath told his honesty, he will forsake him.)

20. Suretyship hath destroyed many a good man, and remoued them as the waies of the sea: mighty men haue it driuen away from their belies, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21. I indeed man transgressing the commandements of the Lord, that fall into licentiousness, and he that meddeth much with other mens business, is intangled in controuerxies.

22. Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23. * The chiefe thing of life is wisdom, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to cover thy shame.

24. + The poore mans life in his own house, is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25. Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26. For it is a miserable life to go from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou dost not open thy mouth.

27. Thou shalt lodge and feede vnbankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter words in thy same, saying,

28. Come, thou stranger, and prepare thy table, and feed me of that thou hast ready.

29. Give place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother cometh to be lodged, and I haue need of mine house.

30. These things are heauy to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpholding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1. Of the correction of children. 14. Of the commodities of health. 17. Death is better then a sorrowfull life. 23. Of the ioy and sorrow of this heart.

He that loveth his sonne, * causeth him off to forsake the rod, that he may haue ioy of him in the end.

2. Hee that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3. He that * teacheth his sonne, grieveth the enemy, and before his friends hee shall reioyce of him.

4. Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behind him that is like him.

5. In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sorry in his death, (neither was he shamed before his enemies.)

6. He left behind him an avenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour unto his friends.

7. He that correcteth his sonne, banneth by his wounds, and his heart is refreshed at euery ay.

8. An untamed horse will be stubborn, and a wanton child will be wilfull.

9. If thou bing by thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee a scabbe: and if thou play with him, hee shall bing thee to heaviness.

10. Laugh not with him, least thou bee ioy with him, and least thou gnaish thy teeth in the end.

11. Give him no liberty in his youth, and hee will not at his folly.

+ Of suretyship.

a. As he is a foolle that is surety for euery man: so is he vngodly that in no wise will be surety for any man.

11. Do not dotine his mecke while he is young, nor beat him on the sides while he is a child, lest he waxe stubborn, and be disobedient unto thee, as he bring forth to thine heart.

12. Rebuke thy child, and be diligent there, lest his shame grieve thee.

13. It is better is the poore being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

14. Health and strength is above all gold, and a whole body above infinite treasure.

15. There is no riches above a sound body, nor man above the joy of the heart.

16. Death is better then a bitter life, [ & long and then continuall sicknesse.

17. The good things that are payed on a mouth shut up, are as measles of meate set upon a stone.

18. What good doeth the offering unto an i-dole: for he can neither eate, nor smell: so is hee that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the burden of iniquitie.]

19. Her lieth with his eyes, and groweth like a golden man, that lieth with a virgine and becometh rich.

20. Glory not ouer thy minde to beuinitie, and bece not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

21. The joy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his daies.

22. Love thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: mine knowe farre from thee: for I soure hath slaine mine, and there is no profit therein.

23. Envy and wrath shorten the life, and care-fulness bringeth age before the time.

24. A noble and good heart will haue confidence of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Of viciousnesse, 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches, 3 The praye of a rich man without a fault, 4 We ought to flee drunkennesse and follow sobriety.

VVhing after riches, pineth away the body, and the care thereof drunkenly away thee.

1. This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sicknesse breaketh the sleepe.

2. The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with griefes.

3. The poore laboureth in living poorely, and when he leaueth off he is still poore.

4. He that loveth gold, shall not be satisfied, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue much thereof.

5. Many are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

6. It is a stumbling blocke unto them that runne into it, and euery foole is taken there-with.

7. Blessed is the rich which is found without wealth, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

8. Gold is decey, and wee will commend him? for wordfull things hath he done among his people.

9. Who hath bene tried thereby, and found fault: let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11. Therefore shall his goods bee stablised, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

12. If thou sit at a costly table, open not thy mouth wide upon it, and say not, Behold much I meate.

13. Remember: that an euill eye is a serpent, and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14. Stretch not thine hande wherefoere it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15. Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and make eury thing.

16. Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not least thou be hated.

17. Leave thou off first for natures sake, and be not insatiable lest thou offend.

18. When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

19. How little is sufficient for a man well taught, and thereby be delchery not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.]

20. A whole some sleepe cometh of a temperate belly: hee riseth up in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diseases and pangos of the belly are with an insatiable man.

21. If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomite, and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sicknesse vnto thy body.]

22. Oh Sonne, heare me, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes bee quicke, io shall there no sicknesse come vnto thee.

23. Who so is liberal in his meate, men shall blesse him: and the testimony of his honestie shall be beleueu.

24. But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole curie shall murmur: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shall be lute.

25. Shewe not thy valiantnesse in wine: for wine hath destroyed many.

26. The foynard pouerth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proude by drunkennesse.

27. Who soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is overcome with wine?

28. Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [ & not for drunkennesse. Wine measurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cheerefulness of the minde.

29. But wine drunken with excess, maketh bitterness of munde with brawlings & scoldings.

30. Drunkennesse increaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31. Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull words, and presse not vpon him with contrary words.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modestie, 2 Let the ancient speake, 3 To giue thanks after the repast, 4 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

If thou be made the master of the feast, lift not thy selfe up, but bee among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so sit downe.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeh out cruell according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a leud and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 Who sonne doe nothing without aduilement: so shall it not repent thee after the dedde.

21 See not in the way where thou mayest fall, nor where thou mayest stumble among y stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heed of them, that be thine owne householde.]

23 In every good worke bee of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commandements.

Or, the law. 24 Who so beleueth in the Lorde, keepeth the commandements: and hee that trusteth in the Lord shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God, 2 The answer of the wife, 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter, 23 Of euil servants.

† The feare of God, There shall no euil come vnto him that feareth the Lord: but when he is in temptation he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a stone in a stone.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithful vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shall thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answer.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cart wheele: and his thoughts are like a roling aspletree.

6 As a wild horse nepeh vnder every man that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornfull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, being that the light of the dayes of the yere come at the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lorde hath purged them alouder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath be chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath bee put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and I dam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath be blessed and exalted, and some of them hath be sanctified, and appropiate to himselfe: but some of them hath bee cursed, and brought them low, and put them out of their state.

12 As the clay is in the potters hand, so is he that is at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that he may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euil is good, and against death is life: so is the goodly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the works of the most high thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 I am awaked by last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage, In the blissing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my winepress, like a grape gatherer.

16 Behold, how I haue not laboured ouer for my selfe, but for all them that seek knowledge.

17 Heare me, O yet great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yet rulers of the congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friende, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreat for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldst looke by to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thy honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 The fodder, the whip, and the burden beloug vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou let thy seruant to labour, thou shalt shall not rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shall curse thee.

25 The poole and the whippe both do tone the backe: so to same thing euill seruant with the whippe and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he go not idly: for idleness bringeth much euill.

27 Send him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, † put on more beatings.

28 But be not excessive toward any, & with- out discretion do nothing.

29 If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him be with thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreat him as thy brother: for thou hast need of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreat him euill, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXIII.

Of dreames. 13 The prayes of them that feare God. 14 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the widow. 27 God doeth not allow the workes of an vn- faithfull man.

The hope of a foolish man is vaine and false: and daymes make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth daymes, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it in the appearings of dreames, as the likeness of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cleansed by the vncleane: or what truth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Good sayings, witchcraft, and dayming, is but vaine, and a mind that is occupie'd with trifles, is as a woman that traualleth.

6 Whereas such visions come not of the most high to trie thee, let not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames hath deceiued many, and they haue fallen that put their trust therein.

8 The law shall be fulfilled without lies, and knowledge hath he that is not tried: 7

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and he that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandred to and fro, I sawe many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust: who is his strength:

16 For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them that loue him: hee is their mighty protection, and strong ground, a defence from the snare, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from humbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giueth health, life, and blessing.

18 He that giueth an offering of vnrighteous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gifts of the vnrigheteous, please not him.

19 But the Lord is theirs ouerly, that patiently abide him in the way of truth and righte- ounesse.

20 The most high doeth not allow the offer- ings of the wicked, neither is hee pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth in the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a rur- therer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbors liuing, slayeth him, and he that defraudeth the labour- er of his hire, is a bloodshedder.

24 When one buildeth, & another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voyce will the Lord heare?

26 Hee that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what avail- eth his washing?

27 So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who will heare his prayer: or what doth his fasting be- lieve him?

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherles, and of the widow, and how that humbleth himselfe.

Who so keepeth the Law, bringeth offer- ings enow: hee that holdeth fast the com- mandements, toffereth an offering of saluation.

2 Hee that is thankfull to them that haue well deserued, offereth fine floure: and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth payle.

3 To depart from euill is a thankfull thing to the Lord, and to forsake vnrigheteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 Thou shalt not appeare empty before the Lord.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement.

6 The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweete before the most high.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is accepta- ble, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer be forgotten.

8 Give the Lord his honour with a good and liberall eye, and diminish not the first fruits of thine handes.

9 In all thy gifts setwe a ioyfull counte- nance, and dedicate thy riches with gladnesse.

10 Give vnto the most high according as he hath enriched thee, and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheerefull eye.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will giue thee seven times as much.

12 Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receive it, and abstaine from wrong- full sacrifices: for the Lord is the Iudge and re- gardeth no mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 Hee despiseth not the desire of the father- lesse nor the widow, when the powereth out thy prayer.

4 There is some companion which in physueritie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

Chap. 37.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his ler against the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

the unmercifull touching kindness, (nor of an unprofitable man of benefite) nor of the flourishing labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle servant for much bu-sines: hearken not vnto these in any manner of countell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whome thou knowest to keepe the commandements of the Lorde, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is loyde for thee when thou dumbdest.

13 Take countell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometimes more accounted to them more then sent watchmen that be aboue in an hie tower.

15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason go before every enterprise, and countell before every action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the government ouer
them.

18 ¶ Some man is witty, and hath instruction many, and yet is unprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and as hath, yea, he is desirous of all goodes.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lorde: for he is desirous of all wisdom.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruits of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruits of his wisdom faile not.

23 A wise man shall be plentifully blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obtaine credit among his people, and his name shall be perpetual.

26 ¶ Some, proue thy soule in thy life, and in what is euill for it, and permit it not to do it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath every soule pleasure in every thing.

28 Be not greedy in all delights, and be not too hasty vpon all meates:

29 ¶ For excess of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttony commeth into choleticke diseases.

30 By surfeit haue many perished: but he that meth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To burie the dead. 24 The wisdom of him that is learned.

¶ Honour the Physician with the honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lorde hath created him.

1 For of the most hie commeth healing, and he shall receive gifts of the king.

2 The knowledge of the Physician lieth by his dead, and in the sight of great men hee shall be in adoration.

4 The Lorde hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not aduorse
them.

5 ¶ Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might knowe the vertue thereof? Exod. 15. 25

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wondrous workes.

7 With such word he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the apothecarie make a confection, & yet he cannot finish his owne workes:
for of the Lorde commeth prosperitie and wealth
ouer all the earth.

9 ¶ My sonne, faile not in thy sicknesse, but pray vnto the Lorde, and hee will make thee whole. 1 Sa. 38. 2, 5,

10 Leave off from sinne, & order thine handes aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flour for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the Lord thy God.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lorde hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterpises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lorde, that hee woulde prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their phisicke for the prolonging of life.

15 ¶ See that sinne before his maker, let him fall into the handes of the physician.

16 ¶ My sonne, ¶ powre forth teares ouer the dead, & begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

17 Make a grievous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vnto lamentation as hee is worthy, and that a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 ¶ For of heauinesse commeth death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 ¶ If the affliction of the heart commeth for rowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: dye it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not, for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shall be likewise, vnto mee yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 ¶ Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdom of a learned man commeth by bling well his vacant time: and he that cealeth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdom.

25 How can he get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driving oren, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullocks?

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and woymailer that labourerh night and day: and they that cut and graue leales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselves to counterfeite imagery, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anuill: and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire dryeth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the foynate: the noyle of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee maketh: hee letteth his minde to make vp his woorkes: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feete: hee is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth howe to couer it with lead, and his diligence is to clemse the oren.

31 All these hope in their handes, and euery one beistoweth his wisdom in his worke.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they he in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The works of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euill good things are euill.

HE onely that applyeth his minde to the Law of the most high, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisdom of all the ancient, and exerciseth himself in the prophesies.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and enireth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mystery of graue sentences, and exerciseth himself in darke parables.

4 He shall serue among great men, and appear before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countries: for he hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most high, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may poure out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 Hee shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 He shall knowe touch his science and learning, and reioyce in the Lawe and covenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 The congregation shall declare his wisdom, and shew it.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the fame.

12 Yet will I speake of more things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto me, ye holy children, and bring forth fruit as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field.

14 And giue ye a sweet smell as lincens, and bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of praise: bleste the Lord in all his works.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shew forth his praise with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and yet shall sing after this maner.

16 All the works of the Lord are erecting good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that: for at time conuenient they shall all be fought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which hee will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euertlasting to euertlasting, and there is nothing wonderful vnto him.

21 A man neede not say, What is this? wherefore is that: for hee hath made all things for his owne vse.

22 His blessing shall run ouer as the streame, and moweth the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feeble his war.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 The principall things for the whole life of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned into euill.

28 There be spirits that are created by vengeance, which in their rigour lay on fire broken in the time of destruction: they shew forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 Fire, and haille, and famine, and death: these are created for vengeance.

30 The trees of wild beasts, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sworde erreunt vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall bee glad to doe his commandments: and when neede is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of righteous, and prerogative of the feare of God.

Man's trouble is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers womb, till the day that they returne to the mother of all things.

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they will do, and the day of death.

3 From him that stretcheth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and dust.

4 From him that is clothed in blessed like, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linen.

5 Warre and enmie, trouble, and vnquietnes, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest, the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A life or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch towne in the day:
he is troubled with the wilsons of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, and mar-uelleth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but lesen folo to the vngodlye.

9 Spoile, * death and blood, and strife, and sound, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for them that came the * flood also.

11 All things that are of the earth, shall turne earth againe: and they that are of the * water, shall returne into the sea.

12 All houses and vntighteousnes shall be put away: but faithfullnes shall endure for ever.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall be dried like a rier, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When hee openeth his hand, he reioyseth:
but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not optunemany branches: for the vncleane roots are as vpon the ble rocks.

16 Their tender stalks by what water soer it be water hanks, it shall be pulled by before all other herbes.

17 A friendlines is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for ever.

18 To labour and to be content with that a man hath is a sweeter life: but hee that findeth a treasure, is above them both.

19 Children and the building of the city make a perpetual name: but an honest woman is counted above them both.

20 Silence and mulke * shalpe the heart: but the loue of wisdom is about them both.

21 The pipe and the plectrum make a sweete noyle: but a pleasant tongue is about them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour, and braune:
but a greene fied time, rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunity: but about them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift by the mind: but the feare of the Lord is about them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it nee-deth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 A by sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to beg.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he commenteth himselfe after other mens meate:
but a wile man and well nourished will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweet in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 13 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to give heede vnto wisdom. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

Of Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto a man that hath nothing to deceit him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to recieue meate!

2 O death, how acceptaible is thy ingement vnto the needfull, vnto him whose strength fail-eth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death, remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after, this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most high: whether it be reme, as an hundred, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posterity shall haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reprobated for his sake.

8 Alas be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the most high God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing:
if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth again,

† Of death.

Chap. 40. 32.

again: so the ungodly see from the curse to destruction.

11. Though men wrong in their body, yet the blessed name of the ungodly shall be put out.

12. I have regarded to thy name: for that shall continue with thee above a thousand treasures of gold.

13. A good life with thy name is numbered: but a good name endureth for ever.

14. Thy children keep thee in peace: for to whom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seen, what profit is in their both?

15. A man that hideth his foolishness, is better then a man that hideth his wickedness.

16. Therefore beare reverence unto my words: for it is not good in all things to be a gladder: neither are all things allowed as faithful in all men.

17. Be ashamed of thy wrongs before father and mother: be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authority.

18. Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vngirtousness before a companion and friend.

19. And of thee before the place where thou dwellest, and before the truth of God and his Covenant, and to leave with thine shoules up on the // head, or to be reprooved for sinning or taking.

20. And of silence unto them that salute thee, and to looke upon an harlot.

21. And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife.

22. Or to sollicite any mans mayd, or to stand by her bed, or to reprove thy friends with words.

23. Or to hyndre when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reuel secret words.

24. Thus thyself thou wilt be shameful, and that find fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

2. The Law of God must be taught, 9. A daughter. 14. A woman. 18. God knoweth all things, yet, even the secrets of thine heart.

Of these things be not thou ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person.

2. Of the Law of the most high and his covenant, and of iudgement to fulfill the good.

3. Of the cause of thy companion, & of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends.

4. To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little.

5. To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euill servant to the blood.

6. To let a good Locke where an euill Wolfe is, and to Locke where many hands are:

7. If thou give any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8. To teach the vnklearned, and the vniwise, and the aged, that contend against the young: thus shalt thou be wel instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

9. The daughter // maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the night, lest she should passe the flower of her age, and when she hath an husband, lest she should be hated.

10. In her virginities, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with child in her fathers house, and when she is with her husband, lest she misbehave herselfe, and when she is married, lest she continue vniuersitall.

11. If thy daughter be unshamefast, keep her vntill she can keepe thine enemies to laugh thee to scorn, and make thee a common taile in the city, and disgrace thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

12. Beholde not euery bodys beautes, and company not among women.

13. For as the wech commeth out of garments: so forth wickednes of the woman.

14. The wickednes of a man is better then the good increase of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15. I will remember the works of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seen: by the word of the Lord are his works.

16. The Sunne that shineth looketh vpon all things, and all the works thereof in full of the glory of the Lord.

17. Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saints should declare all his wondrous works, which the Almighty God hath establish to confirme all things by his Sanctity?

18. Keepe their out the deuyll, and the heart, and kee knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholde the signs of the world.

19. He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the parties of things that are secret.

20. No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

21. He hath giuen the excellent works of his wisdom, and he is from euertasting to euertasting, and for ever: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be misified: he hath no need of any counsellor.

22. Oh, how delectable are all his works, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23. They line all and endure for euer: and whensoever need is, they are all obedient.

24. They are all vnto one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25. The one commendeth the goodness of the other, and who can be satisfied with beholding Gods glory?

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the works of God.

1. His high ornament: the cleare firmament, the beautes of the heauen so glorious to behold.

2. The Sunne also, a marvellous instrument when it appeareth, declarerth at his going out, the works of the most high.

3. At noone it burneth the country, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4. The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then he that keepeth a furnace with continuall heat: it catcheth out the very stones, and with the shining beames blindeth the eye.

5. Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandment he causeth it to runne daily.

6 * The moone also hath he made to appeere according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

7 * The feathers are appointed by the moone;
the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moone is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious flacres, and the ornament that lineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the Lord one continueth in their order, and faile not in their watch.

11 * Looke vpon the raine-bow, and prayse him that made it: very beautifull is it in the highnest thereof.

12 * He compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the bands of the most high haue bended it.

13 * Through his commandement hee ma-keth the snow to haile, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his indgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and sheweth his strength as the fowles.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailstones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him:
the south winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beareth the earth:
in both the storme of the North: the whole winde also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof is as the grasshoppers that light downe.

18 The eye maruellet at the beautie of the miracles thereof, and the heart is astonished at the sight of it.

19 Hee also powteth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the colde Northwinde bloweth, an ice is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gathered together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a breest place.

21 He denoteth the mountaines, and burn-eth the wilderness, and discovereth that that is green, like fire.

22 The remedie of all thes is when a cloude cometh hastily, and when a dew cometh vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 By his word he stilleth the wind: by his counsell hee appeareth the deepe, and planteth flauds therein.

24 They that saile ouer the Sea, tell of the pauls thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we maruell thereat.

25 For these be strange, and wonderous works, diuers manners of beasts, and the creation of whales.

26 Though him are all things directed to a good end, and are established by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we can not attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all that he is all.

28 What power haue we to prayse him: for we shew all his works.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very * great, and unsearchable is his power.

30 Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as we can: yet doth he farre exceed: exalt him with all your power, and be not weary, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 * Who hath seene him, that hee might tell of: and who can magnifie him as he is?

32 For there are his, yet greater things then these be, & we haue seene but a few of his works.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and gi-uen wisdome to such as feare God.

C H A P. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

1 It is now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declare prophelies.

4 They governed the people by counsell, and by the knowledge of learning were for the people, in whole doctrine were wise sentences.

5 They inuented the melody of mullicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mighty in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall be spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no me-moriall, * and are perished as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

10 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousnes hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose posterity a good inheritance is referred, and their seed is contained in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the couenant, and their posterity after them.

13 Their seed shal remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 The people speake of their wisdom, and the congregation talke of their praise.

16 * Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an ensample of repentance to the generations.

17 * Noe was found perfect, and in the time of wrath hee had a regard: therefore was hee left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

18 An euertlasting couenant was made with him, that all flesh should * perish no more by the flood.

19 * Abraham was a * great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him.

20 He kept the Lawe of the most high, and was in couenant with him, and he let the couenant in his flesh, and in temptation he was found faithfull.

21 Therefore hee assured him by an * othe, that hee would blisse the nations in his seed,
and that hee would multiply him as the dust

12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble woorks garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Whose might were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but only his children and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed euery day twise continually.

15 Whose filled * his hands, * and annointed him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euertlasting covenant, and to his seed, so long as the heauens should remaine, that he should minister before him, and also to reuerse the office of the Priesthood, and bless his people in his name.

16 Before all men living the Lord charged him that he should present offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 He gaue him also his commandments and aurthority according to the Lawe appointed, that he should teach Jacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Lawe.

18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and smited him in the wilderness, euen the men that rooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the company of Coze in fury and rage.

19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and committed them with the fiery flame.

20 * But he made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed head in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seed.

22 * Els had hee none heritage in the land of his people, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lorde is the portion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glory is † Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because hee had zeale in the feare of the Lord, & stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a covenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the covenant made with David, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his soune of the tribe of Iuda: the heritage of Aaron should be to the only sonne of his sonne, and to his seed. God giue wisdom in our heart to iudge his people in righteousness, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posterity.

CHAP. XLVI.

The prayse of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuell.

IOSUE † was the sonne of Naue was valiant in the wars, and was the successeur of Moses in prophesies, who according vnto his name was a great sauour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, and to set Israel in their inheritance.

2 * What glory gate he, when hee lift vp his hand, and drew out his sword against the enemies.

3 Altho was there before him, like to him: for hee fought the battels of the Lord.

4 * Good not the Sun kill by his meanes, and one day was as long as two.

5 Hee called vnto the most high God, when the enemies yeasted vpon him on euery side, and the mightie Lord heard him with his hailes stones, and with mightie power.

6 Hee rushed in vpon the nations in battell, and in the * going downe of Bechoron hee be-the adversaries, that they might knowe the meaning, and that he fought in the sight of the Lord, for he followed him in the way.

At the time of the dayes also he had a good name, for with a lance the sonne of Benjamin fought against the enemy and witheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murdering.

And of five hundred thousand people of Israel, they two were preferred to bring them into their heritage, even into the land that floweth with milke and honey.

The Lord gave strength also unto Caleb, which remained with him unto his old age, so that hee went up into the hig places of the land, and his name obtained it for an heritage.

That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

Concerning the Judges, every one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, their names bee written.

Let their bones flourish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them for ever, as most famous of their children.

¶ Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, because of the Lord, obtained kings, and anointed the princes over his people.

By the Lawe of the Lord hee judged the congregation, and the Lord had respect unto
him.

This Prophet was approued for his faithfulness, he was knowne faithfull in his wordes and visions.

¶ He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies preailed vpon him on every side, wht he offered the sucking lambe.

And the Lord thundered from heauen, and his voice was heard with a great noyle.

So hee discomfited the princes of the Ty-rians, and all the rulers of the Philistines.

¶ And before his long sleepe he made promises in the sight of the Lord, and his animated, that hee tooke no substance of any man, nor yet in much as a thoor, and no man could accuse him.

¶ After his sleepe also hee told of the kings heart, and from the earth lift he by his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednesse of the people should perishe.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, Dauid, and Solomon.

¶ Hee rose up + Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

For as the fat is taken away from the peace offering, so was + Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

¶ Hee played with the Lyons, as with kids, and with beeres, as with lambes.

¶ When hee was yet but young, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when hee lift by his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliath.

For hee called vpon the most High Lord, which gave him strength in his right hand, to looke his mighty warriour, and that he might be in the home of his people againe.

¶ So hee gave him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with great prayles.

and gave him a crowne of glory.

¶ For hee destroyed the enemies on every side, and routed out the Philistines, his aduer-saries, and brake their home in slender with this day.

¶ In all his workes hee was the only one, and the most High wiled honorable wordes, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

¶ Wee set fingers also before the altar, and according to their time hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs.

¶ Hee ordeined to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appointed the times perfectly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

¶ The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and erected his house for ever: hee gave him the command of the kingdom, and the throne of glory in Israel.

¶ After him rose up a wife sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

¶ Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made at quiet round about, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare the Sanctuary for ever.

¶ How wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with understanding as with a flood!

¶ Thy mind covered the whole earth, and hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

¶ Thy name went abroad in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloued.

¶ The countreys marvelled at thee for thy songs, and proverbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

¶ By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast gathered golde as sinne, and hast had sinch siner as lead.

¶ Thou diddest bome thy loynes to women, and wast overcome by thy body.

¶ Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posterity, & hast brought wrath downe vpon thy children, and hast felt sorowe for thy folly.

¶ So the kingdom was diuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdom.

¶ Wherefore the Lord left not off his mercy, neither was he destroyed for his workes:
neither did hee abolish the posterity of his elect,
nor take away the seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Jacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid.

¶ Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede hee left behinde him + Roboam, euen the foolishnesse of the people, and one that had no understanding, who turned away the people through his counsell, and + Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne,

¶ So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were diuine out of the land.

¶ For they sought out all wickednesse, till the vengeance came vpon them.

C H A P. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Hezekiah, Dauid, Ieremie, Ezekiel, Zephaniah, Iesai, Nehemiah, Ezechiel, Iosiah, Sennacherib, and others.

1 The remembrance of † Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made of the arte of the Apothecarie: it is sweeter than in all mouthes, and as musike at a banquet wine.

2 Wee behaued himselte brightly in the reformation of the people, and took away all dominations of iniquitie.

3 Wee directed his heart vnto the Lord, in the time of the vngodly he established religion.

4 All except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednesse: for euen the Kings of Iuda forsooke the Law of the most high, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue thei home vnto others, to and their honour to a strange nation.

6 He burnt the elect citie of the Sanctuary, and destroyed the streets thereof according to the prophesie of † Ieremias.

7 For they inuaded him euill, which need-theles was a Prophet, * sanctified from his mothers wombe, that he might root out and afflict, and destroy, and that he might alie build vp, and plant.

8 † Ezekiel saw the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the charres of the Chaldeans.

9 * For he made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.

10 * And let the bones of the twelve Prophets flourish out of their place, and let them might be blessed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 * How shall we praise † Zephaniah, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was † Ieremias also the sonne of Iudec: these men in their time builded the house, set vp the Sanctuary of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euermlasting tabernacle.

13 * And among the elect was † Ieremias whose renowne is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, and set vp the gates and the bars, and laid the foundations of our houses.

14 * But vpon the earth was no man raised like † Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto † Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the up-holder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 * Sennacherib and † Sennacherib were in great honour among men: and so was a Adam about euer living thing in the creation.

6 Simon the sonne of Onias the big Bible, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the Temple.

1. Then I saw the foundation of the new temple, and the high wall that compassed the temple.

2. In his eyes the places to receive water, that were ditches, were restored, and the brass was about to measure as the sea.

3. They make care for his people, that they should not fall, and fastened the side against the side.

4. Again honourable was his conversation among the people, and when he came out of the temple covered with the dust.

5. He was as the morning star in the midst of a cloud, and as the moon when it is full.

6. And as the flame shining upon the temple of the most high, and as the rainbow that is high in the fair clouds.

7. And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the pear, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense in the time of summer.

8. As a fire and incense in the center, and as a vessel of costly gold, set with all manner of precious stones.

9. And as a faire olive tree that is fruitful, and as a cypress tree, which groweth by the clouds.

10. When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beauty, he went up to the holy altar, and made the garment of holiness venerable.

11. When he took the portions out of the priests hands, he himself stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches of the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palm trees.

12. So were all the fountes of Saron in their place, and the oblations of the Loyde in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

13. And that he might accomplish his intention upon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most high and I brought it.

14. He stretched out his hand to the distance of furlongs, and poured of the blood of the grape, and he poured at the foot of the altar a perfume of good odour unto the most high King of all.

15. Then sounded the fountes of Saron, and blown with brass trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most high.

16. When all the people together halted, and he bowed to the earth upon their faces to worship the Lord God Almighty, and most high.

17. His fingers also sang with their voices, for the kingdom was great and the melody sweet.

18. And the people praised unto the Lord most high, with never before him that is merciful, in the language of the Lord most performed, and he was accomplished to his desire.

19. Then went beginning, and stretched out his hands unto the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should give praise with their lips unto the Lord, and rejoice in his name.

20. He began again to worship, that he might praise the blessing of the most high.

21. From therefore give praise aye unto God, that hather great things every where, which hath increased our days from the wombe, and hath wrought according to his mercy.

22. That he would give us to studies of heart, and peace in our days in Israel, as in old time.

23. That he would confirm his mercy with us, and deliver us at his time.

24. There is true manner of people, that pray heartily, and the spirit is in no people.

25. They that sit upon the mountain of Sion, the highlands, and the south people that dwell in a city.

26. Calling the fountes of Saron, the fountes of Jerusalem, hath written the doctrine of understanding and knowledge in this book, and hath poured out the wisdom of his heart.

27. Blessed is he that exalted himself there, in such as that might in his heart shall be with him.

28. For if he doeth things, he shall strong in all things: for he stretch his steps in the light of the Lord, which hath wisdom to the glory. The Lord be praised for evermore. So be it, to be it.

CHAP. 11.

A prayer of Iesus for the fountes of Saron.

1. I will confesse thee, O Lord & King, and praise thee, O God my Saviour: I will give thanks unto thy Name.

2. For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast broken me against mine adversaries.

3. And hast delivered mee according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy Name sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to devour me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had.

4. And from the fire that charred me round about, and from the nets of the deceits I burned in.

5. And from the bondage of the belly of hell, from an unclean tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the King, and from the slander of an unrighteous tongue.

6. [My soul that praise & Lord unto death:] for my soul drew unto death: my life was nere to the hell beneath.

7. They compassed me on every side, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8. Then thought I upon thy mercy, O Lord, and upon thine acts of old, how thou deliverest such as wait for thee, and savest them out of the hands of the enemies.

9. Thou lifted I up my prayer for the earth, and prayed for deliverance from death.

10. I called upon the Lord the father of my Lord, that he would not leave me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the youth, without helpe.

11. I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing praise with thanksgiving, and my prayer was heard.

12. Thou savedst me from destruction, and deliveredst me from the snare: therefore will I give thanks, and praise thee, and blesse the name of the Lord.

13. When I was yet young, or ever I went abroad,

[Or, Sion]

[Or, salvation]

my shame, shall be hid from their backs, and from their cruel works: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

24 And I will bring them again into the land, which I promised with an oath unto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

25 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more bring my people of Israel out of the land, that I have given them.

CHAP. III.

The people are in their prayer, beginning for their deliverance. 9 He praiseth in faith with the people, showing that it grows advantage came unto them for the despoiling thereof. 36 Only God was the funder of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the God that is in trouble, and the Spirit that is beloved, which thou art merciful, and have pity upon us, because we have sinned before thee.

2 Hear, O Lord, and have mercy: for thou art merciful, and have pity upon us, because we have sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for ever, and we utterly perish.

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, hear now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which have sinned before thee, and not hearkened unto the voice of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang upon us.

5 Remember not the wickedness of our fathers, but think upon thy power and thy name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for thou canst hast thou put thy fear in our hearts, that we should call upon thy name, and praise thee in our captivity, for we have considered in our mindes all the wickedness of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captivity, where thou hast scattered us, to be a reproach and a curse, and subject to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, hear the commandments of life: hearken unto them, that thou mayest learn wisdom.

10 That is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in this enemies land, and art wakened in a strange country.

11 And art defiled with the dead, and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graves.

12 Thou hast forgotten the fountaine of wisdom.

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldst have remained safe for ever.

14 Learn where is wisdom, where is strength, where is understanding, that thou mayest know also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes and peace is.

15 Altho' hath found out her places, and come into her treasures.

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, as such as ruled the beasts upon the earth?

17 They that had their pasture with the fowles of the heauen, that boarded upon gold, wherein men trust, and make no use of their gathering?

18 For they that trusted therein, are now as carefull of their waikes, and whose salvation is none end, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come up in their steads.

20 When they were young, they have the light, and dwell upon the earth, but they have desired not the way of knowledge.

21 Neither perceived the paths thereof, neither have their children received it: for they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the land of Chanaan; neither hath it bene seen in the man.

23 For the Agacines that sought after wisdom upon the earth, nor the merchants of Suezan, and of Eheman: nor the Egyptians, which the searchers out of wisdom have known the way of wisdom, neither do they think upon the paths thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the book of God, and how large is the place of his position.

25 It is great, and hath no end: it is high, and unmeasurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from their beginnings: that were of the great stature, and expert in warres.

27 Thou didst not the Lord call, neither gave he the way of knowledge unto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their owne foolishness.

29 Altho' hath gone by into heaven, wide she, and brought her downe from the cloudes.

30 Altho' hath gone out the sea to fowles, and hath brought her rather then the gold.

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither doth we see her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out, and he hath standing: this have we to report, and we have the way of wisdom, and have found the fountaine of wisdom.

33 Altho' hee searched out the light, and when hee called at againe, it opened him with fear.

34 And the fowles shine in their nests, and rejoice: when hee calleth them, they heare him, and so with them, which they thought were dead, that made them alive.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared unto him, neither shall any be like unto him.

36 We have found out all the way of knowledge, and have given it unto Jacob his son, and to Israel his beloved.

37 Afterwards he was scene upon earth, and dwelt among men, and he was seen of all.

CHAP. III.

The word of the Lord, which he spake unto the people.

Complaining of the Lord's love to the Church
Complaining of the Lord's love to the Church
Complaining of the Lord's love to the Church

It is the book of the commandments of the Lord, and the Law that endureth for ever:
 which that keeps it, shall come to life: but such as do not, shall die.

Come thou, O Harod, and take holde of the Law by the highlines before the light ther-of: thou shalt not shine honour to another, nor the Law that are profitable unto thee, to a strange nation.

O Harod, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable unto God, are declared unto thee.

Be of good comfort, O my people, which are the remnant of Israel.

Ye are sold to the nations, not for your demerits: because ye provoked God to wrath, he hath delivered you into the enemies.

For ye have displeased him that made you,
 and have despised him that created you,
 and have despised him that created you,
 and have despised him that created you.

When the Lord the Lord counteth upon you, he shall say, hearken ye that dwell around about: for God hath brought me into great tribulation.

For the captivity of my sonnes & daughters, which the everlasting Lord hath brought upon you.

For the captivity of my sonnes & daughters, which the everlasting Lord hath brought upon you.

For the captivity of my sonnes & daughters, which the everlasting Lord hath brought upon you.

For the captivity of my sonnes & daughters, which the everlasting Lord hath brought upon you.

from the holy One, because of the mercy which shall quicken you unto you from our surviving Saviour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with joy and perpetual gladness will God bring you againe unto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captivity, so shall they also see shortly your salvation from God, which shall come unto you with great glory, and highlines from the Everlasting.

25 O ye children, suffer patiently the wrath that is to come upon you from God: for thine ene-mie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread upon his necke.

26 O ye darlings have gone by rough wayes, and we are led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry unto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God: so endeavour your returne some times more, to turne againe and to seeke
 him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues upon you, will bring you exceeding joy againe, with your salvation.

30 Take a good heart, O Hierusalem: for he which gave thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as rejoyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable: whose the children serve: miserable is he that hath taken thy countie.

33 For as thee prospered at thy decay, and wast glad of thy fall, so shall thee be joy for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the rejoycing of her great multitude, and her joy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For after shall come upon her from the Everlasting long to endure, and she shall be tribled of weile for a long season.

36 O Hierusalem looke toward the East, and beholde the joy that cometh unto thee from thy God.

37 For thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East unto the West, crying in the word of the holy One unto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Jerusalem is turned unto gladness for the returne of her people and under the figure thereof the Church.

Put on the mourning clothes, O Hierusalem, and thine affliction, and deck thee with the mourning and honour, that cometh unto thee from God, for evermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and let a crown upon thine head: of the glory of the Everlasting.

3 For God will declare thy highlines to everlasting under the heaven.

4 And God will name thee by this name thy ever. The peace of righteousness, and the glory.

glory of the worship of God.

4 And, O Jerusalem, and Sam on an hill, and look about thee toward the East, and behold the children gathered from the East unto the altar by the word of the holy one, rejoicing in the remembrance of God.

5 For they departed from thee on foot, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them again unto thee, scattered in glory, as children of the living one.

6 For God hath determined to bring down every high mountain, and the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valleys: to make the ground plain, that Israel may walk safely unto the house of God.

7 The woods and all sweet smelling trees shall overshadow Israel at the commandment of God.

8 For God shall bring Israel with joy in the light of his majesty, with the mercy and righteousness that cometh of him.

CHAP. VII.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent unto them that were led away captives into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certify them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

Because of the sinnes, that ye have committed against God, ye shall be led away captives unto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, even seven generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now shall ye sit in Babylon gods of silver, and of gold, and of wood borne upon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare:

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them.

5 But say yet in your hearts, O Lord, we will worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shall be with you, and shall care for your souls.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselves are gilded, and laye over with silver: yet they are but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take gold for a mayd that loveth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priestes themselves comie away the gold and silver from their gods, and bestow it upon themselves.

10 Yea, they give of the same unto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke their gods of silver, and gods of gold, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Per cannot they be protected from rust and wormes.

12 Though they have covered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, wherof there is much upon them.

13 None holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine Judge of the country: yet can he not say they are wicked men.

14 An other hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is he not able to defend himselfe from battle, nor from speere: so shall it be with them, that they do no good.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a man that a man dieth, is nothing more than he is broken, 16 Such are their gods: when they be led by in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feet of those that come in.

17 And as the gates are shut in round about upon him that hath offended the King, so are they that should be led to be put to death, and they keepe their temples with doores, & with lockes, and with barres, lest their gods should be spoiled by robbers.

18 They light by candles before them, and make then for themselves, wherof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the pictures of the temple.

19 They confesse, that even their hearts are gnawen upon; but when the things that come out of the earth, eat their and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke though they wash that is in the temple.

21 The owles, thistles, & birds sit upon their bodies, and upon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this ye may be sure, that they are no gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Forwithstanding the gods, that should them to make them beautiful, except on wise of the sun, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherof is no living, are brought for a most high price.

25 They are borne upon mens shoulders, to come they have no feet, wherby they make themselves, that they be something worthy: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise up againe of themselves, as the stones do: yea, if they fall, can they come of themselves, neither if they be broken down, can they make themselves straight, but they lie flat before them, as unto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered unto them, their Priestes sit there, and eat them: likewise also the women lay up of the same into the house, and like they give nothing.

28 The menstruall women, and they that are in childbed, touch these pictures: by such things ye may know that these are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gold to the gods of silver, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priestes sit in their Temples, selling their clothes rent, white beards and white are shaven, and being bare become.

31 They roare and cry before their gods, as men be in the feast of one that is dead.

32 The Priestes also take away of their garments, and clothe their wives and children.

33 Whether it be still that one doeth unto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither see by a King, nor put him downe.

34 In like manner they can neither give right, nor money: though a man make a vow unto them, and heepe it not, they will not requite it.

1 The same year wherein the two of the ancients of the people to be Judges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the prophetic came from Babylon, and from the ancient Judges, which seemed to rule the people.

2 A certain man named Susanna, and a such as had any thing to do in the Law, came to her house.

3 And when the people began to grow old, and Susanna went into her husband's garden to make.

4 And the men which saw her that she went in day and night, to that they had made men to make her.

 for her:

14 She said to her maids, Bring me oil

may weep in peace.

26 ¶ So when the servants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at the back door to see what had been done with her.

27 But when the Elders had declared the matter, the Examiners were greatly affrighted; for there was never such a violent mob of the people.

28 DWYER immediately after, gave the names of Joacim her husband, and the two children, a girl, also, full of intelligence. She then turned again to the door and told her to wait.

22 And said before the people, Stand up now

So he put him aside, and commanded the other, and layd vnto him, I thou shalt be a witness, and not of Iuba. Because thou hast seen this, and hast heard Iubarted thine

How therefore tell mee, Under what tree thou take them companying together? he answered, Under a fig-tree.

Then said Daniel vnto him, Wherby thou hast seen against thine head, for the Angel of God hath sent the sword to cut thee in two, and so to be free from thee.

60 And he said that all the whole assembly cried with a loud voice, and praised God, which taught them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had convicted them of false witness by their own mouth.)

62 And according to the Law of Moyles they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was shed the same day.

63 Therefore Helias and his wife praised God for their daughter Salmata, which had bin her husband, and all the kindred, that there was no dishonour found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

Prov. 19. 5.

The historie of Bel and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine,

NOW when King Abasarus was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian received his kingdom.

2 And Daniel was set at the kings table, and was honoured as one above all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had in those, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him every day thine great measures of fine flour, and fourty shepe, and sixe great pots of wine.

4 And the King worshipped him, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his true God. And the King layd vnto him, Why hast not thou worshiped Bel?

5 Who answered, and sayd, Because I may not worship looles made with hands, but the living God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then sayd the king vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a living God? For thou art here many dayes eating and drinking every day.

7 Then Daniel smiled and sayd, O King, be not deceived: for this is but clay with gold and silver, and hee cannot eat any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his officers, and sayd vnto them, If ye tell mee not this to be true, by these reasons, ye shall be put to death.

9 Then if we can certifye you that Bel eateth, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken words against Bel. And Daniel answered the king, Let it be according to thy and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and shall it be knowne whether hee will.

13 And to morrow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten up all, thou wilt see his death, as the Daniel that hath been upon us.

14 Now they thought themselves sure enough: for they had made a privie entrance, and there went they in euer, and took away the things.

15 And when they were gone forth, the king commanded his servants to bring ashes, and these they shewed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the kings signet, and so departed.

16 Now in the night came the Devils with their wines and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eat and drinke up all.

17 In the morning betimes, the king arose and Daniel with him.

18 And the king sayd, Daniel, at the tables whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

19 And when he had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and heard such a loud voice, as hee had never heard before, and hee was amazed.

20 Then looked Daniel, and saw the king that he should not see in any daye. Daniel saw the pavements, and made his voice heard from thence.

21 And the king sayd, I see the pavements of men, women, and children: therefore the king was angry, and said, I will see the king.

22 And took the Devils, with their wines and children, and they shewed them the privie doores, where they came in, and continued there vpon the table.

And hee said, I see now the pavements and children

And hee
said, I see now the pavements
and children

22 Therefore the King slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 Whereover in that same place there was a great dragon; which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King sayd unto Daniel, Sayest thou that this is of himselfe alive? for heeleweeth, and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say that he is nothinge God: therefore worship him.

25 Then sayd Daniel unto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for hee is the living God.

26 But give mee leave, O King, and I will slay this dragon without sword or staffe. And the King sayd, I give thee leave.

27 Then Daniel took pitch, and fatte, and haire, and did leete them together, and made stumps thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunders. And Daniel sayd, Behold, whom ye worshipped.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying: The King is become a Jewe: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Devils to death.

29 So they came to the King, and sayd, Deliver us Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Nowe when the King sawe, that they pressed sore upon him, and that necessarie constrained him, hee delivered Daniel unto them.

31 Then cast him into the Lions den, where he was six dayes.

32 In the denne there were seven Lions, and they had given them every day three measures of sheepe, which then were not given them, to the intent that they might hunger.

33 Nowe there was in Ierusalem a Jewe called Abacuc, which had made postage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord laid unto Abacuc, See, carie the meate that thou hast into Babylon unto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abacuc sayde, Lord, I never sawe Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mighty wind he came in Babylon upon the denne.

37 And Abacuc crept, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then sayde Daniel, O God, thou hast thought upon mee, and thou never failest him that leaseth thee and loueth thee.

39 So Daniel aroose, and did eat, and the Angel of the Lord for Abacuc in his owne place a great thanksgiving.

40 Upon the seventh day the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when hee came to the den, he looked in, and beheld, Daniel sat in the mouth of the Lions.

41 Then cryed the King with a loud voice, saying, Great actions, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And hee durst him out of the den, and call them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia.
11 Antiochus taketh the kingdom.
12 Many of the children of Israel make covenant with the Gentiles.
13 Antiochus subverteth Egypt and Ierusalem with his dominion.
14 Antiochus seareth up idols.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went south of the land of Chetitim, and slew Darius King of the Persians and of the Greeks, he reigned in him as he had before in Grecia. Hee tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holdes, and slew the Kings of the earth. So went hee thownde to the endes of the worldes, and tooke troopes of many nations, in so much that the worldes stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed up, and was haughtie. Nowe when hee had gathered a mighty strong hoste, And had reigned over regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries unto him.

6 After these things hee fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his servants, which had bene brought up with him of children, and parted his kingdom among them, while hee was yet alive.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when hee died.

9 And his servants reigned every one in his owne.

10 And they all caused themselves to be crowned after his death, and so had their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednes was created in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked king Antiochus I Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundred and thirtieth yeere of the kingdom of the Persians.

12 In those dayes went there out of Ierusalem wicked men, which enticed many of the people, Let us goe, and make a covenant with the children that are round about us : for since we departed from them, we have had much sorrow.

20 And this device pleased them well.

21 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the king, which gave them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

22 Then set they by a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen.

23 And made themselves : uncircumcised, and shooke the holy Covenant, and toyed sometimes to the heathen, and were ready to doe anything.

24 So when Antiochus kingdome was set on fire, hee went about to reigne over Egypt, that he might have the dominion of the world.

25 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mighty company, with Chariots, and Elephants, and many horsemen, and with a great train.

26 And wounded many against Ptolemus king of Egypt : but Ptolemus was afraid of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

27 Thus Antiochus wanted many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and took away the bodies of the land of Egypt.

28 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, hee turned againe in the hundred fourth day of the year.

29 And went by towards Israel and Jerusalem with a mighty people.

30 And entred privately into the Sanctuary, and took away the golden Altar, and the Candlestick for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the pouring vessels, and the bowls, and the golden basins, and the vails, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

31 Hee took also the silver and golde, and the precious iewels, and hee took the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land.

32 After hee had murdered many men, and taken very much.

33 Therefore there was a great lamentation in every place of Israel.

34 For the princes and the Elders mourned, the young women, and the young men were sorrowfull, and the beauty of the women was changed.

35 Every highcrombe took him to mourne, and hee that late in the marriage chamber was sorrowfull.

36 The land also was mourning for the inhabitants thereof : for all the house of Jacob was covered with confusion.

37 After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe officers into the cities of Iuda, which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude.

38 They spake peaceable wordes to them in the name of the king, and they gave credit unto him.

39 When hee fell suddenly upon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, he destroyed much of the people.

33 And when hee had spoiled the citie, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and wallies thereof on every side.

34 The women and their children took the captives, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the city of David with a great & thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreover, they set wicked people there, and ungodly persons, and fortified themselves therein.

37 And they stoned it with weapons and darts, and gathered the spoile of Jerusalem, and laid it by there.

38 Thus became the Sanctuary a free share, and were in ambushment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies evermore unto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on every side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary.

40 Inasmuch that the citizens of Jerusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers : being desolate of them whom they had borne : for her owne children did leave her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness : her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honor brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into scorn.

43 Also the king wrote unto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that every man should leave his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering unto idoles, and desisting the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers unto Jerusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countries.

47 And that they should forgoe the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the offerings in the Sanctuary.

48 And that they should desile the Sabbaths and the feastes.

49 And pollute the Sanctuary and the holy men.

50 And to set up altars and grones, and chapels of idoles, and offer by unclean flesh, and unclean beasts.

51 And that they should leave their children uncircumcised, and desile their wives with uncleanness, and pollute themselves, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances.

52 And that whosoever would not doe according to the commandment of the king, should suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set overseers over all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And hee commanded the cities of Iuda to do as hee said, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people unto them by dayes, every one that forsake the Law, and so they committed evil in the land.

56 And they drove the Israelites into secret places, such as hid themselves they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Cossen, in the hundred and four hundred years, they set up the abomination of desolation upon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Juda on every side.

58 And before the doors of the houses, and in the streets they burnt incense.

59 And the books of the Law, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoever had a book of the Testament found by him, or whosoever consented unto the Law, the kings commandment was, that they should put him to death by their authority.

61 And they executed these things every month upon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the five and twentieth day of the month, they did sacrifice upon the altar, which was in the head of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandment, they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged up the children at their necks, and they worked their bodies, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselves, that they would not eate unclean things.

66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to bee defiled with those meates: so because they would not breake the holy covenant, they were put to death.

67 And this tyrannie was very sore upon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy cite. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice unto idols. 24 The scale of Mattathias for the law of God. 31 They are slain, and will not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying commandeth his sonnes to fight by the words of God, after the example of the fathers.

1 In those dayes stood by Mattathias the priest the sonne of Iohannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Iosiah of Jerusalem, and dwelt in Bethan.

2 And hee had five sonnes, Iosiah called Sadoch,

3 Simon called Thabai,

4 Judas which was called Maccabius,

5 Eleazar called Jaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Now he saw the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Jerusalem;

7 And he sayd, Cursed is he: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy cite, and thus to sit still: it is delivered into the hands of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuary is in the hands of strangers: the Temple is as a man that hath no renowme.

9 Her glorious vessels are carried away into captivity: her infants are slaine in the streets, and her young men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not compassion in her kingdome, or hath not gotten the spoiles?

11 All her glory is taken away: a stranger man, she is become an highway.

12 Beholde, our sanctuary, and our house, and honour is desolate, and the Gentiles have defiled it.

13 What helpeth it us then to live any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he knit his loome, and put sackcloth upon him, and mourned very sore.

15 When came men from the king in the city of Bethan, to compell them to sacrifice, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consorted with them, but Mattathias and his sonnes withdrew together.

17 When he saw the commissioners of the king, and said unto Mattathias, How art thou, and an houseman, and great in thy citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, thou shalt see the kings commandment; as all the people have done, and also the men of Iuda; and then we will be in the kings favour, and thou and the children shalt be enriched with silver and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered a word with a loud voice, I though all nations that are under the kings dominion, obey him, and follow every man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandments.

20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull unto us, that we should not the law and the ordinances.

22 Suffer will not hearken unto the kings words to transgreesse our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these words, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all, to sacrifice upon the altar which was in Bethan according to the kings commandment.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, he was inflamed with zeale, that his crimes should, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the lawe: therefore he came unto him, and killed him by the altar.

25 And after the same man had slain the kings commissioner, that compell him to doe this, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Law of God, doing as Simeon did unto Samoth the king of Salom.

27 When cried Mattathias with a loud voice in the cite, saying, Whosoever is of the Law, and will stand by the covenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So he, and his sonnes then knit the covenant, and left all that they had in the citie.

29 When many that sought after justice and judgement,

30 consented unto the boldnes to stand there, both they, and their children, and their wives and their carrell: for the afflictions increased like upon them.

31 When then it was told unto the king

CHAP. V.

Judas vanquisheth the heathen that got about to destroy Israel, and he holpen his brethren Simon and Jonathan. 50 He overthrew the citie of Beth-beron, because they had caused him passage thence thither. 51 And when the nations round about heard that the altar was builded, and the sanctuary reared up againe, they were very glad. 52 Therefore they thought to deliver the generation of Israel, that were coming then, and began to sing and praise the Lord. 53 Then Judas fought against the Syrians, and he overthrew them at Beth-beron, and he smote them with a great plague, and he smote them to death. 54 And he thought also upon the matter of the children of Beniamin, which had been a heavy burden unto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the high way. 55 Therefore he sent them by a high way, and he smote them to death.

17 And if thou dost not pay them quickly, I will be angry with thee, and I will sell them into bondage, and thou shalt not be able to redeem them.

1. All the following are true of the 1970s except:
a. The economy was in a recession.
b. The country was in a state of economic crisis.
c. The country was in a state of political crisis.
d. The country was in a state of social crisis.

...and the Russian that made him

...to River, Tenn., and to Lake, Tenn.

and came back as a tower of fire.

they marched footsore, weary, and in pain.

the rattling of the harpoon, were all around the scene was very great and intense.

42. When James and his wife entered the the hotel, and they flew into his arms, and be king's army.

1 Iudas considering the power and policie of the Romans, maketh peace with them. 2 The condicions of most unll friendship sent to the Iewes.

1 Iudas heard also the fame of the Romans, that they were mighty and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came unto them.

Ios. ph. Ant.
12. chap. 13.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthy acts, which they did among the Iudaians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute.

Or, Frenchmen.

3 And what they had done in the country of Iudaea: how that they had won there the wives of Iewes and gold.

4 And that by their counsell and gentle debaunt they were rulers in many place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited and given great overthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the remotest part of the earth: and that others gave them tribute every yere.

5 Now they had also discomfited by battell Elybi and Iudeus kings of the Iudaeonians, and others, that rose against them, and how they overcame them.

Or, Chinoys

6 And how great Antiochus king of Asia that came against them in battell, having an hundred and twenty Elephants, with hostmen and chariots, and a very great army, was discomfited by them.

7 And how they took him alive, and ordered him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to give hostages, and a separate portion.

8 Even the country of India, and Arabia, and Lybia, and of his best countreys, which they took of him and gave them to King Eumenes.

9 Again when it was tolde them that the Grecians were coming to destroy them.

10 They sent against them a captain, which gave them battell, and slew many of them, and took many prisoners with their wives, and children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holdes, and subdued them to bee their bondmen unto this day.

11 Moreover, how they destroyed & brought into subiection other kingdomes and Iles, whose power had withstood them.

12 But that they kept amity with their owne friends, and those that layd upon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, inasmuch that whosoever heard of their renowne, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whom they would, they put to downe: thus were they in most high authority.

14 Yet so all this that none of them ware a crown, neither was clothed in purple, to bee magnified thereby.

15 But that they had ordeined themselves a counsell, wherof three hundred and twentie

So he came unto Iudas, and they saluted him with peaceably: but the enemies were gathered to take away Iudas.

1 Therefore, it was told Iudas, that he was in Iuda under secret: therefore he feared, and would not let his face be knowne.

2 When Iudas perceived that his counsell was betrayed, he went out to fight against Iudas at Carphalalama.

3 Where there were Iudaeans host, and there thousand men: so they fled unto the citie of Iudas.

4 Now this came Iudas by unto mount Iuda, and some of the Iudaeans with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuary to Iudas, and peaceably, and to shew him the duty that was offered for the king.

5 But he laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and shaks his head at them.

6 And thus in his wrath, saying, If Iudas had not beene delivered now into mine hands: I come againe in safety, I will smite this house. Alas that went he out in anger.

7 Then the priests came in, and stood before him in the Temple, weeping, and saying, Remember us, O Lord, that thou hast chosen Iudas, and that he should be an house of prayer, and of prayer for the people.

8 He answered of this man, and his host, saying, I have slain him by the sword: remember his blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

9 And Iudas was gone from Ierusalem, to pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there he had men out of Syria.

10 And Iudas pitched, in Iudaea, with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying,

11 O Lord, because the messengers of king Antiochus blasphemed thee, thine Angel was sent, and slew an hundred, fourscore, and threescore of them.

12 And he prayd, that this hoste he should be to thee, that thou may know that hee hath spoken truth against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

13 So the armies layned together in battell, on the thirtieth day of the month Adar: but Iudas hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was slain in the battell.

14 When the army saw that Iudas hoste was slain, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

15 But they pursued after them a dayes four, and came unto Gasa, blowing an alarm, and the trumpets after them.

16 So they came forth of all the towncs of Iudaea, and rushed upon them, and slew them from one to another, for that they all had forsaken Iudas.

17 And when they were come to the place, where Iudas was slain, they found his body, and they buried him, and they set a monument over his grave, and they called it the monument of Iudas.

18 So the people recovered Gasa, and kept it, and they fortified it, and they dwelt there.

19 And they fortified it, and they dwelt there.

men consulted daily, and provided for the common affairs, to govern them well.

16 And that they committed their government to one man every yeere, who did rule over all their countrey, to whom every man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enmity among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas choise Epiphanes the son of John, the sonne of Antioch, and Alston the sonne of Seleus, and sent them into Rome, to make friendship and mutual fellowship with them.

18 That they might take from him the pike (for they saw that the kingdoms of the Syrians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went into Rome, which was a very great journey, and came into the Senate where they spake, and shew, 20 Andas Macabaeus with his brethren, and the people of the Jewes, that he was into you, to make a bond of friendship and peace with you, and yet to register us as your parakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brass, and sent to Jerusalem, that they might have by them a memoriall of the peace, and mutual fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Jewes, by sea, and by land forever, and the Jewes, and enemies be from them.

24 If there come first any warre upon the Romanes, or any of their friends throughout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Jewes shall helpe them, as the time shall be: appointed with all their heart,

¶ Or, the Romanes,

26 Also if they shall give nothing to them that come to fight for them: nor issue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor ships: as it pleaseth the Romanes, but they shall keepe their covenants without taking any thing of them.

¶ Or, the Jewes,

27 Likewise also, if warre come first against the nation of the Jewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheate be given unto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe these covenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Jewes.

30 If after these points the one party, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures: and whatsoever they shall adde or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the enill that Demetrius hath done unto the Jewes, we have written unto him, saying, Whitherfore I pray thou chine heauy pike upon our friends, and confederates the Jewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

in the city of Babilon.

And when the Babylonians wept for him, and lamented many days, they buried him, and lamented many days.

And when the Babylonians were fallen, which destroyed Jerusalem, they were very many.

And when the death of Judas was known, all the children of Israel, and there arose all such as gave themselves to iniquity.

And when they were there a very great famine in the land, and all the country gave over themselves to iniquity.

And Bacchides, who came to the land, and made them lords in the land.

And he sought out, and made search for Judas and his friends, and brought them unto Bacchides, who smote them upon them, and mocked them.

And there came to great trouble in Israel, because he was the time that no Babylonian was there.

And when all Judas' friends were together, they were very many.

And when Judas' brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to go forth against our enemies, even against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies unto us.

And when this day was come, that they were to be our judges, and to be in his place over our people.

And when Jonathan took the governance upon him at that time, and ruled in stead of his brother Judas.

But when Bacchides knew it, he sought to slay him.

And when Jonathan and Simon his brother were there, they went into the wilderness of Bethaniam, and pitched their tents by the water pool of Ephraim.

And when Bacchides understood, he came over Jordan with all his host upon the Jordan day.

And when Jonathan sent his brother John to the king of the people, to pray his friends, the Babylonians, that they would keep their baggage which was much.

But the children of Ambai came out of Babylon, and took John, and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

After this came words unto Jonathan, that Simon his brother, that the children of Judas made a great marriage, and brought the king's daughter with great pomp; for she was betrothed to one of the noblest princes of Babylon.

And when they remembered John their brother, and went up, and hid themselves under the shadow of the mountain.

And when they lay up their eyes, and looked, and there was a great noise, and much preparation, then the king's daughter came forth, and with her many men, and with them with them, and with them of much, and many.

And when Jonathan's men that lay in ambush against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountains, so that they took all their spoils.

And when the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noise of their melody into lamentation.

And so when they had avenged the blood of their brother, they turned again unto Jordan.

And when Bacchides heard this, he came unto the borders of Jordan with a great power upon the Sabbath day.

And when Jonathan said unto his company, Let us rise now, and fight against our enemies; for it is not to day as in times past.

And Bacchides the battell is before us, and be- hind us, and the water of Jordan on this side and that side, and the marble and forest, so that there is no place for us to turn aside.

And Bacchides cryed unto heaven, that he may be delivered from the power of your enemies: so they fought battell.

And when Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and recoiled.

And when Jonathan, and they that were with him, went into Jordan, and swam over unto the further bank, but the other would not pass through Jordan after them.

So in that day were slain of Bacchides above about a thousand men.

And when he turned again to Jerusalem, and built up the strong cities in Juda, as the castle of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethshon, and Bethel, and Thannath, and Pharaon, and Cepho, with his walls, with gates, and with battles.

And let garisons in them, that they might be their malice upon Israel.

And he fortified also the city Beth-lura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with provision of victuals.

And he took also the chiefest mens' sonnes in the country for hostages, and put them in the castle at Jerusalem to be kept.

And afterward in the hundred, fiftie and three years, in the second month, Alcimus commanded that the wall of the inner court of the Sanctuary should be destroyed, and he pulled down the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterples were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsy, and could no more speake, nor give order concerning his house.

Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king, and to the lands of Juda was in rest two yeeres.

And when all the bugbly men held a counsel, saying, Beholde, Jonathan and his companie dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let us bring Bacchides hither, and he will take them all in one night.

So they went and conspired with him.

And when they arose and came with a great host, and sent letters privily to his adherents, which were in Juda, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they could not, for 61 And 1 they tooke fifty men of the countey, which were the chiefe warriours of this vickednes, and slew them.

62 Then Jonathan and Simon with the company departed unto Beth-bassin which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, and sent word to them that wote of Judea.

64 Then came he and layd siege to Beth basin, and fought against it a long season, & made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the coun-trei, and came with a certaine number.

10r, Odareis.

66 And slew 1 Domerius and his brethren, and the children of Phasison in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the citie, and burnt by the instruments of warre.

68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and bereft him loze, so that his counsell and counrey was in daime.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadours vnto him, to intreat of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, & did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he would neuer do him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So he restor'd vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforesaid out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne lande,
neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the tworde ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Dabchas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngod-ly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan.
5 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48
Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 De-

Ioseph. Ant.
13. chap. 3.

1 In the hundredth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes and tooke Ptolemis, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan with louing wordes, as though he would p'ferre him.

4 For hee sayd, We will first make peace with him, before wee toyne with Alexander against vs.

5 As he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so he gaue Jonathan leave to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to bee confederate with him, and commanded the hollages that were in the citie, to bee deliuered

unto him.

7 Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem and read the letters in the audience of all the elders, and of them that were in the citie.

8 Therefore they were like straws, when they heard that the king had giuen him letters gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the citie, with the holagges vnto Jonathan, who refused them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Beth-bassin, and gan to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commanded the women to build the walles and the mount Sion round about with heauen ston, to fortifie it, and they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the cities which Bacchides had made, fled.

13 So that every man left his place, & went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certain which had forsaken the Lawe and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 Now when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was told him of the battles and noble acts, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the gallies that hee had endured,

16 He sayd, Might we find such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it to him, with these wordes saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother
Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordaine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to be called the Kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of gold,) that thou mayest consider what is for our profit, and be our friendship toward vs.

21 So in the seventh month of the hundred and threescore yeere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 Whereupon when Demetrius heard, he was maruelous sory, and said,

23 Wherefore we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Per will I write and exhort them, & promise them dignities and rewards, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them wordes, KING DEMETRIUS sendeth salution of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your covenant toward vs, and continued in our friend-shippe, and haue not toyed with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and we will shewet toward vs, and we will recompense for the good that ye haue done for vs.

28 And we will release you of many charges, and giue your rewards.

29 And now I dist charge you with the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes

of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the rest part of the land.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne dueitie, I haue releast them, from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the three governments, which are added thereto, as of Samaria, and of Galilee, from this day forth for ever.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall bee holy and free from the renthes and tributes.

32 Also I releast the power of the castel which is in Jerusalem, and give it unto the high Priest, that he may let in to the city, as he shall thinke to keepe it.

33 Moreover I freely deliver every one of the Jewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my Realme, and every one of them shall be free from tributes, yea, and their cattell.

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbathes, and new moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedom and liberty to all the Jewes in my Realme.

35 So that in them no man shall have power to doe any thing, or to bere any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Jewes shall be written up in the Kings booke, and have their wages payed them as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shall be ordained certaine to keepe the Kings strong holdes.

37 And some of them shall bee set over the Kings most secret affaires, and their governours and their places shall be of themselves, and they shall live after their own lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three governments that are added unto Iuda from the countrey of Samaria, shall be layed unto Iuda, and they shall bee as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the high Priest.

39 And I give Ptolemas and the borders thereto into the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will give every yere fiftene thousand sicles of silver of the Kings revenues out of the places appertaining unto me.

41 And all the other places which they have not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeres, from henceforth they shall give it to the works of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the five thousand sicles of silver which they received yere of the account appointed for the intendment of the Sanctuary, these yeres passed, when these things shall be releast, because they appertaine to the works of the Sanctuary.

43 Item, whosoever they bee that flee unto the Temple at Jerusalem, within the liberties thereof, and are indebted to the king for any manner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they owe him in my Realme, shall be forgiven.

44 Furthermore, the building up and repairing of the Sanctuary, as yeasles shall be given of the Kings revenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holde in Iuda may bee built by: shall also the costs be given out of the Kings revenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these wordes, they gave no credite unto them, neither received them, for they remembered the great wickednesse that hee had done in Israel, and how sore hee had bereed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed unto Alexander: for hee was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great hoste, and camped over against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings layned battell, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and slewed against them.

50 So that soe battell continued til the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadors unto Ptolemas the king of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

Ios. ph. An. 13. chap. 6.

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my father, and have gotten the dominion, and have destroyed Demetrius, and enjoy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I have even given him the battell, and hee and his armie is discomited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdom,

54 Let vs now make friendship together, and give me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in law, and give thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignity.

55 Then Ptolemas the king gave answer, saying, Happy bee the day, wherein thou art come againe unto the land of the fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdom.

56 Nowe therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemas that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemas went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came unto Ptolemas in the hundredth threescore and two yere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and hee gave unto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemas with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander unto Jonathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 So he went honourably unto Ptolemas, and there he met the two kings, and gave them great presents of silver and gold, and to their friends, and found favour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine perversed felowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him.

63 And layd unto his Princes, Doe with him into the midst of the cite, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his enemies saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they did all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honoure, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him him a duke and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladness.

67 ¶ In the hundredth, threescore and five yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 After that when king Alexander heard, he was very sore, and returned unto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Jamnia, and sent unto Jonathan the high Priest, saying,

70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why dost thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountains?

71 Nowe then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine fields, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foot is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twice chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his mind: wherefore he chose ten thousand men, & went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And hee pitched his tents at Joppa: but they shut him out of the city: for Apollonius garrison was in Joppa.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the city, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan was Joppa.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediately into the plaine field, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, & the army diminished with his arriereband.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behind him in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behind him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot darts at the people from morning to the evening,

81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their hostes were weary.

82 Then Jonathan smote forth his hoste, and set them against the bandes: but the hostes were weary, and he distressed them, and they slew the horsemen were scattered in the field.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselves.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities rounde about it, and tooke their hostes: and burnt with fire the Temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the wall of the city came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great joyous.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to do Jonathan more honour.

89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the law is to bee giuen vnto such as are of the kings blood: he gave him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

C H A P. XI.

1 The distinction betweene Ptolemus and Alexander his sonne, in leu. 17 The death of Alexander. 2 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemus. 3 Sira is besieged of Jonathan. 4 Demetrius seeing his hope man refused him, sendeth his army against him. 5 Jonathan mounteth Iamnia, as a garrison Demetrius.

¶ At the King of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the land that leueth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about though deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne Realme.

2 Upon this he went into Syria with many woods, and was let into the cities, and he came forth to meet him: for King Alexander had commanded them to meet him, because he was his father in law.

3 Nowe when hee entred into the cite of Ptolemais, he left bands and garrisons in euery city.

4 And when he came neerer to Azotus, they shewed him the Temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the barrel: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he should passe.

5 And they tolde the King what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him kill: but the King held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the King with great honour at Joppa, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the King vnto the water that was called Cleudorus, he returned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So King Ptolemus gate the women of the cities by the sea vnto Pelousia vpon the sea coast, imagining to wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 ¶ And sent ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reign in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gave Alexander my daughter: for hee hath sought to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gave her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that hee hated him sorely.

13 Then Ptolemus went to Antiochia, where he set his crowne vpon his head, and of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwell in those places had rebelled against him.

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to batter against him, and Ptolemy brought out his host, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there he defended a fo. Ptolemy was exalted.

17 And Jaddab the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it unto Ptolemy.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemy died, & they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundredth thousand and twentieth yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan men that were in Judea, to lay siege unto the castle, which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine ungodly persons (which hated their owne people) unto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came unto Ptolemy, and wrote unto Jonathan, that he should lay no more siege unto it, but that he should meete him, and speake with him at Ptolemyes in his hall.

23 Nevertheless, when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: hee chose also certain of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put himselfe in danger.

24 And took with him silver and golde, and spices, and divers presents, and went to Ptolemy unto the King, and found fauour in his eye.

25 And though certaine ungodly men of his nation had made complaints upon him,

26 Yet the King increased him as his predecessor had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends.

27 And confirmed him in the his Priesthood with all the honourable things, that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the King, that hee would make Judea free with the three governments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Ionathans promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gave Jonathan writing of the same, containing the same.

30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his dyother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes thus greeting.

31 I have sent you heere a copie of the letter, which we did write vnto our cousin Laodiceus concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Laodiceus his father, thus greeting.

33 For the fatherlytie that our friends the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto us, and for their good will towards vs, we are determined to do them good.

34 Therefore we were assene to them the coast of Judea, with the three governments, Iudaea with Samaria, and Galilee (which are added unto Judea, from the countrey of Samaria) and all the appertinents to all them, that belonne to Iudaea: both concerning the payntment which the King took yearly of them, both for the countrey of Judea, and for the countrey of the three governments.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenthes and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing herof shall be touched from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copie of these things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his lands was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his hostes, euey man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whome hee brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hostes hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part before, which when he saw that all the holles murmured against Demetrius, he went to I Samaria the Arabian, that broughte up Antiochus the sonne of Alexander.

40 And lay sieg vpon him, to deliuer him this young Antiochus, that hee might reigne in his fathers stead: hee told him also what great enill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan fled vnto King Demetrius to haue them out whither where in the castle at Jerusalem, and those that were in the castles:
for they sought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not onely do these things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will ha-nour thee and thy nation.

43 I would therefore that thou doe me a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was very glad at their coming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the city, euen an hundred and thientie thousand men, gathered them together in the midw of the city, and would haue slaine the King.

46 But the King fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the city, and began to fight.

47 Then the King called to the Jewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went aboard the city.

48 And flew the same day an hundred thousand, and let flee vpon the city, and took many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the King.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Jewes had gotten the upper hand of the city, and that they themselves were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 Forasmuch as we, and let the Jewes craft from being vs and the city.

51 So they came vnto the king, and made peace, and the Jewes were greatly honoured before the King, and before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Jerusalem with great pray.

52 Then King Demetrius fled in the chace of his kingdom, and had peace in his land.

53 Nevertheless, hee defended in all that time cuch.

he spake, and withdrew himselfe from Jonathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 After this returned Tryphon with the young ruler Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered unto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the I beasts, and went into Antiochia.

57 And young Antiochus wrote unto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to bee the chiefe Priest, & make thee ruler over the four governments, that thou mayest be a friend of the kings.

58 Upon this he sent him golden vessels to be served in, and gave him leave to drinke in golde, and to weare purple, & to have a collar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon and captaine from the coasts of Syria unto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed thowgh the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered unto him for to helpe him: so he came unto Acalon, and they of the citie received him honourably.

61 And from thence went he unto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out, wherefore he laid siege unto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the tonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thowgh the country unto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to discomfite him out of the country, 64 He came against them, and left Simon his brother in the country.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, & fought against it a long season, and shut it up.

66 So they desired to have peace with him, which he granted them, and afterwards put them out from thence, and tooke the city, and set a garrison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste, came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the place of Azor.

68 And besides, the hostes of the I strangers met him in the place, & had layd ambushments for him in the mountains.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Jonathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Patraias the sonne of Abialonius, and Judas the sonne of Gadi, the Captaine of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth upon his head and wept.

72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after all those that were at Cades, and then their number.

74 So there was slaue of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadors to Rome, and to the people of Sparta, to renew their covenant of friendship. 24 Jonathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

1 Jonathan now seeing that the time was meet for him, chose certaine men, and sent them on to Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.

2 He sent letters also vnto the Spartians, and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and came in to the Senate, and said, Jonathan the high priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, to renew friendship with you, and the bond of love, as in times past.

4 So the Romans gave them free passage, that men should lead them home into the land of Iudea peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians.

6 Jonathan the high Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the priests, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore these letters sent vnto vnto the high Priest, from Arius, which then reigned among you, that you would be our brethren, as the copy hereunder written specifies.

8 And Onias increased the Ambassador honourably, and received the letters, wherein there was mention made of the bond of love and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we need no such comfort, for we have the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Nevertheless, we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest we should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that we had to do with vs.

11 Therefore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other days appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meet and convenient to thinke upon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we have bene troubled with great troubles and warres, so that the world about vs have fought against vs.

14 Yet would we not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other our considerate and friends in this warres.

15 For we have had helpe from God, and hath encouraged vs, and we are delivered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet have we chosen to remember the former friendship with them, and to renew the former friendship with them, and to love you, and to salute you, and to direct you by letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

For Elephanis.

For heathen.

For Abissinians.

17 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to give us some word of these things.

18 Then shew him the copy of the letters, which came the King of Sparta sent unto David.

19 And a King of the Spartians unto David the King of Iudah greeting.

20 It is known in Iudaea that the Spartians and Iudae are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

21 And now for so much as this is come to us knowledge, we shall doe well to write unto the King of Iudaea.

22 And he to him have written unto you, that you shall and goods are ours, and ours are your things have we commanded to bee sent unto you.

23 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come to fight against him, he wrote from Jerusalem, and met them in the land of Iudaea: for he gave them not leave to come into his own country.

24 And he sent them unto their tents, which were againe and told him, that they were appointed to come upon him that night.

25 Wherefore, when the Prince was gone home, Jonathan commanded his men to be ready, and so he in armour ready to fight all that night, and sent watchmen round about the camp.

26 And when the adventures heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and were first in their tents, and fled away.

27 Wherefore Jonathan and his companies were not all the morning: for they saw the armies of Iudaea and Iudaea.

28 Then Jonathan followed upon them, but would not undertake them: for they were gone and the flesh of Iudaea.

29 The Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Sabeites, and slew them, and took their spoils.

30 And he proceeded further also, and came unto Jerusalem, and went thence all the country.

31 And when his brother heard thereof, and was in affliction and to the next better, departed into Egypt, and dwelt there.

32 And he heard that they would deliver the land to them that took Demetrius party: wherefore he sent a garrison there to keepe it.

33 And when he came Jonathan home, and gathered together all the people together, and delivered them to build up the strong hold.

34 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

35 And he came together to build up the wall of the wall upon the books of the law, and the people were gathered together.

36 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

37 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

38 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

39 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

40 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

41 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

42 And he made the wall of Jerusalem high,
and made a great tower between the castle
and the city, so to separate it from the city, that they might be able, and the men should neither
be able to go in, nor out.

43 But he was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Jonathan, and to kill him:
so he departed and came unto Bethan.

44 And when Jonathan heard against him to the battell with four hundred chosen men, and came unto Bethan.

45 But when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with great an host, he durst not lay hand upon him.

46 But received him honourably, and commended him unto all his friends, and gave him rewardes, and commanded his men of warre to be obedient unto him, as to himselfe.

47 And said unto Jonathan, saying had thou caused this people to take such trouble, seeing there is no warre betwixt us.

48 Therefore said then some home againe, and shew became men to him upon thee, and came thou with mee to Berothaim: for I will give it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garrison, and all them that have the charge of the common affaires: so will I remaine, and depart: for it is the cause of thy coming.

49 Jonathan delivered him, and led as hee said, and first stayed his host, which went into the land of Iuda.

50 And retained but three thousand with him, whereas he sent two thousand into Geder, and one thousand went with himselfe.

51 Now also as Jonathan entered into Berothaim, they of Berothaim shew the gates, and took him, and slew all them with the sword that came in with him.

52 And he sent Tryphon an host of footmen and bowmen into Bethan, and into the great plaine, to destroy all Jonathan's company.

53 But when they knew that Jonathan was taken, and slain, and that his men were but him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

54 But when they which followed upon them, saw that it was a matter of life: they turned back againe.

55 By this means as they came into the land of Iuda presently and he called Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Iudaea began lamentation.

56 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

57 For they said, when have they no captain, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let us now fight against them, and wipe out their memory from among men.

58 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

59 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

60 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

61 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

62 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

63 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

64 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

65 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

66 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

67 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

68 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

69 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

70 And when Simon heard that Tryphon was dead, he gathered together all his men, and went to Bethan, and fought with him, and
slew him.

13. chap. 2.

I. Maccabees.

know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house have done for the Law, and the Sanctuary, and the battle, and troubles that we have borne.

4 ¶ We reason: whereof all my brethren are faine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 ¶ Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine own life in any time of trouble: for I am not better than my brethren.

6 ¶ But I will avenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our houses and our children for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy us of very malice.

7 ¶ In hearing these wordes the heartes of the people were kindled,

8 ¶ So that they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captain in stead of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 ¶ Fight thou our battles, and whatsoever thou commandest us, we will do it.

10 ¶ ¶ So he gathered all the men of power, making hast to smiteth the walls of Jerusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 ¶ Then sent he Jonathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great hoste unto Joppa, which house then out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 ¶ Tryphon also remooved from Ptolemais with a great arme, to come into the land of Judea, and Jonathan was with him as his lieutenant.

13 ¶ And Simon pitched his tents at Jadda upon the open plaine.

14 ¶ But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood by in feare of his brother Jonathan, and that he would fight against him, he sent messengers unto him, saying,

15 ¶ Let us as we have kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that he is staying in the kings account concerning the businesse that he had in hand.

16 ¶ Wherefore send now an hundred talents of silver, and hee will come for hostages, that when he is letten forth hee will not turne from us, and we will send him againe.

17 ¶ Wherefore Simon knew that he was deceived in his wordes, yet commanded he the money and children to be delivered unto him, least he should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel.

18 ¶ Altho might have said, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 ¶ So he sent the children and an hundred talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth unto Adma: but whersoever they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 ¶ And when they were in the castle sent messengers unto Tryphon, that hee should make haste to come by the wilderness, and to smite them by dailes.

22 ¶ ¶ So Tryphon made ready all his countenance, but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not, because of the snow: but he journeyed and went into the country of Galad.

23 ¶ And when he came nere to Balaia, he slew Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 ¶ ¶ So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him within his fathers grave.

26 ¶ And all Israel bewailed him very lamentation, and mourned for him very.

27 ¶ And Simon made upon the hillside of his father and his brethren, a building which looketh unto of between Bethaida and Bethan.

28 ¶ And set up seven pillars upon it, against another: by his father, his mother, and four brethren.

29 ¶ And set great pillars round about them, and set arround upon the pillars for a perpetual memory, and caused ships to be cast, that they might see them of men sailing in the Sea.

30 ¶ ¶ The temple which he made at Joppa, standeth yet unto this day.

31 ¶ ¶ Now when Tryphon went forth into the kingdome of Antioch, hee drew his army roundly.

32 ¶ And when he was in his army, and was about the kingdome of Asia, he thought a great signe upon the land.

33 ¶ Simon also built by the castles of Judea, and compassed them about with high walls, and great wailes, such which towers, and gates, and barres, and layes by dailes in the holes.

34 ¶ Moreover Simon chose certaine men, and sent them to King Demetrius, that he would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 ¶ Whereupon Demetrius the king called him and wrote unto him as followeth.

36 ¶ DEMETRIUS the king unto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of kings, who is the dearest, and to the nation of the Jews, his death greeting.

37 ¶ The golden crowne, and purples how that ye sent unto us, have we received, and are ready to make a steadfast peace with you, and to write unto the officers, to release you of all things wherewith we have bound you.

38 ¶ For the things that we have granted you shall be stable: the strong holdes which ye have builded, shall be your strong.

39 ¶ Also we forgive the oversight, and fault committed unto this day: and the crownage that ye owe us, and likewise any other tribute in Jerusalem, it shall be none to tribute.

40 ¶ And they that are strict among you, we have written with our men, let them desist, so that there may be peace betweene us.

41 ¶ Thus the yoke of the hearden was taken from Israel in the hundred and thretye year.

42 ¶ And the people of Israel began to write in their letters and publique instruments, in this manner.

43 ¶ ¶ Simon, the hie Priest, and chief Priest, gouernour and Prince of Judea.

44 ¶ ¶ In this day Simon hath taken the city, and he hath taken the castle, and he hath taken the engine of warre, and appointed men to sitte, and bear weapons, and come in.

45 ¶ ¶ So they that were in the engine, and the city, and there was great trouble in the city.

46 ¶ ¶ In it was that the people of the city, their clothes and shames by upon the

28. In I Jerusale in the great congregation of the priests, and of the people, and of the governors of the nation, and of the elders of the country, we should have said unto you, that many battles have been fought in our country.

29. Therefore Simon the sonne of Jatharias (being of the children of Zach) and his brethren put themselves in danger, and refused the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30. For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their hie Priest, and to layde with his people.

31. After that would their enemies have invaded their country and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary.

32. When Simon refused them, and fought for his nation, & spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gave them wages.

33. Yet fortified and the cities of Judea, and Bethsura that lieth upon the borders of Judea, (under the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garrison of the Jewes.

34. And he fortified Beze, which lieth upon the sea, and Baysura was fortified upon a rock, under the enemies dwell above, and there he placed Jewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reputation thereof.

35. Some when the people sawe the faithfullness of Simon, and to what glory he thought en hying his nation unto, they made him their governor, and the chiefe Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the holiness, and fidelity that he had kept to his nation, and that fought by all means to save his people.

36. For in his time they spoiled him not, but he that the heathen were taken out of their country, and they also which were of the cite of Ouid of Jerusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and did all things that were about the Sanctuary, and did great hurt unto Religion.

37. And he set Jewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land and cite, and rayed up the walls of Jerusalem.

38. And King Demetrius chastised him in his hie Priesthood for these causes.

39. And made him one of his friends, and gave him great honour.

40. For it was reported that the Romans raised the Jewes their friends and confederates, and that they honourably received Simons ambassadors.

41. And that the Jewes and Priests conspired that Simon should be their prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God called up the true Prophet.

42. And that he should be their captain, and have the charge of the Sanctuary, and to sit over the people, and over the Country, and over the weapons, and over the fortresses, and that should make provision for the holy things.

43. And that he should be elected of every man, and that all the meetings in the country should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple and wear a crown.

44. And that it should not be lawful for any of the people, or Priests to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to stand against his congregation in the country, which he was clothed in purple, or wear a collar of gold.

45. And if any did contrary to these things, he should be punished.

46. And it seemed all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according to these words.

47. Simon also accepted it, and was sworn to be the hie Priest, and the captain, and the Prince of the Jewes and of the Sanctuary, and to be the chiefe of all.

48. And they commanded to set up the writing in tables of brass, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuary in the place.

49. And that a copy of the same should be layd up in the creature, that Simon and his sons might have it.

1. Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Rome. 2. Tryphon is purified. 3. The common men of the King and nation in the fortress of Beze. 4. Antiochus refusing the right hand from him, finished his covenant.

Demetrius King Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus sent letters from the king of Rome unto Simon the high, and prince of the Jewes, and to all the nation.

2. Concerning their words, ANTIOCHUS the King of Simon the great Priest, and the nation of the Jewes, sendeth greeting.

3. For in much as certaine persons have plotted the kingdom of our nation, and purposed to chalenge the realm, and to resist it with old estate, where we have gathered a great host, and have wonne of water.

4. That I may go thence, the country may be avenged of them, which have destroyed the country, and wasted many cities in the land.

5. Now therefore I do confirme unto you the liberties, wherof all the things we have done have discharged thee, and all the persons wherof they have released thee.

6. And I give thee leave to come whither thou wilt, and to dwell in thy country.

7. And that Jerusalem with the Temple be free, and that all the weapons that were prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and kept in thine houses, shall remaine.

8. And all that is due unto the King, and all that shall be due unto the King, I have forgiven thee, and thou shalt be free from all thy debts.

9. And when thou shalt have received our letters, we will offer thee and the nation, and the great honour, so that your houses shall flourish throughout the world.

10. ¶ In the hundredth, Seleucus a king went Antiochus into his fathers house, and the bandes came together unto him, and he was made king.

The second booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Jewes that dwell at Jerusalem, from unto them that dwell in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to give thanks for the death of Antiochus, 2 Of the fire that was kind in the pt. 24 The prayer of Nemo.

2 To the brethren the Jewes which dwell at Jerusalem, & they that are in the country of Judea, unto the brethren the Jewes that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

3 God be gracious unto you, and remember his covenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob his faithfull servants.

4 And give you all an heart to worship him, and to do his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde.

5 And open your hearts in his Law & commandments, and send you peace.

6 And hear your prayers, and be reconciled with you, & never forsake you in time of trouble.

7 And now we pray here for you.

8 When Demetrius reigned in the hundred, threescore and nint yeere, we Jewes were brought into the trouble & violence that came unto us in those yeeres, after that Isalm and his company departed out of the holy land, and kingdom.

9 And burnt the porch, & shed innocent blood. Then we prayed unto the Lord, & were heard: we offered sacrifices and sing praises, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

10 And therefore keep ye the dayes of the feast of the tabernacles in the month Cheshvan.

11 In the hundred, threescore, and eight yeere, the people that was at Jerusalem, & in Judea, and the counsell, and Judas, with Antiochus king, Ptolemies murther, which is in the house of the anointed Highpriests, and to the Jewes that are in Egypt, brethren greeting and peace.

12 Inasmuch as God hath delivered us from great perils, we thank him highly, as though he had overcome the King.

13 For he brought them into Persia by beasts that fought against the holy citie.

14 For about the captivitie, and the army that was with him, seemed trustful, yet they were slain in the Temple of Hama, by the death of Hamae priests.

15 For Antiochus as though he would have won her, came thither, he and his friends, but he was overcome by the strength of a woman.

16 But when the priests of Hama had been slain, and he was entered with a small company within the temple, they shut the temple, and Antiochus was come in.

17 And by appointing a prison house of the Jews, they call Hama, as it were thither, upon the captivitie and his, and having bound them in prison, they cut off their heads, and threw them in the river that were with him.

18 God be blessed in all things, which hath delivered us by the wisdom.

19 Therefore we are now purposed to keep

Then the women, first with sackcloth vpon their heads, filled the streets, and the blessing multitude kept in, came some to the gates, and some to the wall, and others looked out of the wall.

And all held up their hands toward heaven, and made prayer.

It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude full of sorrow of all sorts, and the expectation of his Christ being in such anguish.

Therefore they called vpon the mightie Lord, that he would keepe safe & sure the things, which were layd by for those that had deliuered him.

Nevertheless, the thing that Heliodorus had determined to do, that he should perseuer.

And as he and his soldiers were, none was content by the treasure, he that is the Lord of all riches, and of all power, showed a great token, in that all they which presumed to come into him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

For there appeared vnto them an host with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly habited, and he ran fiercely and smote at Heliodorus with his footes, and it seemed that hee had layd vpon the hoste had bene of gold.

Moreover, there appeared two yong men, made in strength, excellent in beauty, & come in apparell, which stood by him on euery side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many stripes.

And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkness: so that hee that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

Thus he that came with so great company, many soldiers into the sayd treasury, was hurt, so he could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

And after wards the Lord that had honoured his owne place, for the Temple which a litle while was full of feare and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and glorie.

Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends, prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most high to grant him his life, which he might to give, by the ghost.

And the high Priest considering that the king might suspect that the Jewes had bene his enemies: euen, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

Now when the high Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, O Onias, the high Priest great thanks:

In his life had the Lord granted thee thy prayer.

And saying that thou hast bene scourged of heaven, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

And Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him which hee granted him his life, and thanked Onias, who went againe with his hoste to the king.

Then testified hee vnto every man of the great myshes of God that he had sent with his spirit.

And when the king after Heliodorus, who were meete to be sent yet once againe to Jerusalem, he layd,

38. If thou hast any enemy, or traitour, send him thither, & thou shalt receive him well scourged: if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39. For he that dwelleth in heaven hath his eye on that place, and descenderth it, and he bea- teth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40. This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

C H A P. IIIL

1. Simon reported euill of Onias. 7. Jason obtained the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the king. 27. and was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing 34. Onias is slaine traitorously by Andronicus.

THIS Simon now, of whom we spake afore, being a betrayer of the money, and of his owne naturall country, reported euill of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the innerer of the euill.

2. Thus was he bolde to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3. But when his malice increased so far, that through one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4. Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as hee was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Iphenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5. Hee went to the king, not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealch both priuately and publicly.

6. For he saw it was not possible, except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7. But after the death of Seleucus when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Jason the brother of Onias laboured by unlawfull means to be hie Priest.

8. For he came vnto the king, and promised him three hundred and threescore talents of silver, and of another rent fourescore talents.

9. Besides this he promised him an hundred and fiftie, if hee might haue licence to sit by a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would name them of Jerusalem, Antiochians.

10. The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the superiortie, he began immediately to draw his kindred to the castles of the Gentiles.

11. And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the kings, that the Jewes had set by John the father of Capolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes and policies, and brought by new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12. For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chief yong men vnder his subiection, and made them wear hats.

Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Jerusalem, among them,

Or, but kind in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

II. Maccabees.

13 So there beganne a great desire to follow the manners of the Gentiles, and they took up the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickedness of Jason, not the hie Priest, but the ungodly person.

14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the service of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to bee partakers of the wicked expences at the play, after the talking of the stone.

15 For they did not see by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came upon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 How when the 4 games that were used every fift yeere, were played at Tyus, the King being present.

19 This wicked Jason sent from Jerusalem, men to looke upon them; as though they had bene Antiochiens, which brought three hundred drachmes of silver for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that carried them, desired they might not bee bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed to other expences.

20 So hee that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were given to the making of gallees.

21 How Apollonius the sonne of Menelaus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was enuill affected toward his affaires, he sought his own assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Jerusalem.

22 Where hee was honourably received of Jason, and of the cite, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so hee went with his hoste unto Phenicie.

23 Three yeere afterward Jason sent Menelaus, the forslapd Simons brother, to heare the money unto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, whereof hee had given him a memorieall.

24 But hee, being condemned to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood unto himselfe: for he gave three hundred talents of silver more then Jason.

25 So hee gate the Kings letters patents albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthy of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomache of a coveytant, and the wrath of a wild beast.

26 Then Jason which had deceived his owne brother, being deceived by another, was compelled to see into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money, that hee had promised unto the King, hee took no order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For unto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were long time before the King.

29 How Menelaus left his brother Menelaus in his stead in the Priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates which was the gouernour of the Christians.

30 How whiles these things were in doing, the Chaldeans, and they of Balot made insurrection, because they were given to the Kings tribute called Antiochia.

31 Then came the King in all haste, to suppress the businesse, leaving Antiochus a man of authority to be his lieutenant.

32 How Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certaine vntes of golde out of the Temple, and gave certaine of them to Antiochus: and some hee sold at Tyus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, hee reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Dayne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Antiochus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when hee came to Onias, hee counselled him crying, giuing him his right hand with an othe: (where hee hee suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so hee slew him presently without any regard of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not onely the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and tooke it heauily for the unrighteous death of this man.

36 And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the cite, and certaine of the Greeks that abhorred the fact also, conspired against Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorry in his minde, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be laid throughout the cite, and in the same place where hee had committed the wickedness against Onias, hee was slaine as a murderer. Thus hee Lord rewarded him his punishment, as hee had deserved.

39 How when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the cite through the counsel of Menelaus, and the Iewes was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for hee had carried out with him a vessel of golde.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to shew himselfe powerful, and tame tyant being their captaine, who was a little decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they understood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some cast clubs, and some cast handfulls of dust vnto him by upon Lysimachus men, and those that wounded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine: and all the other things done but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe, hee led besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was laid against

And when the king came to Tyre, there was a great tumult among the people, because they knew that the king was come to Tyre.

But Heliodorus being now convinced, was in doubt whether the loss of Dositheus might not be a great punishment to the king.

So Heliodorus went to the king into a chamber, where he was to lodge himself, and there he began to speak.

Heliodorus then began to say, Heliodorus was the name of the king's son, and he was the chief of all his children, and he was now dead, which of them had told thee this, Heliodorus, they should have been heard as innocent.

Thus were they some punished bodily, and followed upon the matter for the time, and some for the holy vessels.

And thus they of Tyre hated Heliodorus, and ministered all things liberally for
him.

shows country, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedaemonians, thinking there to have gotten succour by reason of kinred.

And he that had call many out under-ried, was himself our himself, no man inviting him, nor putting him in his grace:
neither was he partaker of his father's sepulchre.

And when these things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Judas would have fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious mind out of Egypt, and took the city by violence.

He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kill and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their tent.

Thus was there a slaughter of young men, and olde men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and bischins and infants were much.

And that within three dayes were slaine fourscore thousand, and fourtie thousand taken prisoners, and there was as many sold as were slaine.

But was he not content with this, but he went into the most holy Temple of all the world, having Heliodorus that traitor to the Lacedaemonians, and to his own country to be his guide.

And with his wicked hands took the holy vessels, which other kings had given to the garnishing glory, and honour of that place, and handed them with his wicked hands.

So haue in his mind was Antiochus, that he considered not that God was not a lie, wothy for the sinners of them that dwell in the ci-tie, for the which such contempt came upon that place.

For if they had not bene whipped in many sinnes, yet, altho as he had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put back from his presumption, as yelousous was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasure.

But God had not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of the benefits of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall be set up in great glory againe.

And when Antiochus had taken eight-teene hundred talents out of the Temple, he gave him to Antiochus in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men fall upon the dry land, and to walke upon the sea: such an high minde had he.

But he left deputies to keep the people at Jerusalem, while a Phylarchus, in nu-mers more called than he, was there.

And as Seleucus and Antiochus, and with them Heliodorus, which was more cruell to the citizens then the other, and was desperate against the Jewes his citizens.

Yet sent also Apollonius a cruel prince, with an army of two and threentie thousand, whom he commanded to slay those that were coweene mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.

And when he came to Jerusalem, he found peace,

peace, and kept him still until the holy day of Sabbath; and then finding the Jews keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the feast, and running through the city with his men armed, he murdered a great number.

27 But Judas Maccabeus being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, and lived there in the mountains with his company among the beasts, and dwelling there, and eating grass, lest they should be partakers of the filthiness.

CHAP. V.

1 The Jews are compelled to leave the Law of God: 2 The Temple is defiled. 3 The women cruelly punished. 4 The great pain of Eleazar.

Not long after this, sent the king an old man of Athens, to compel the Jews to transgress the Law of the fathers, and not to be governed by the Law of God.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Jerusalem, and to call it the Temple of Jupiter Olympius, and that of Garisim, according as they bid that dwelt at that place, Jupiter that keepeth hospitality.

3 This wicked government was sore and grievous unto the people.

4 For the temple was full of dissolution, and glutonies of the Gentiles, which dalked with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawful.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawful to keep the Sabbath, nor to observe their ancient feasts, nor plainly to confesse themselves to be Jews.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grievously compelled to give money to the banquet, when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to go in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of Iuic.

8 Wherever through the counsell of Prolemus, there went out a commandment unto the next cities of the heathen against the Jews, that the like customs, and banquetting should be kept.

9 And who so would not conform themselves to the manners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: when night a man sawe some of the priests milere.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had led round about the city, the babes hanging at their breasts, they cast them down headlong over the walles.

11 When that more rising together into dinner, to keep the Sabbath day: lecherly, were discovered unto the king, and were burnt together, because that for the reverence of the honourable day they were afraid to helpe themselves.

12 And now I beseech those which read this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they judge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodness, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightways to punish them.

14 For the Lord doth not long wait for sinners, for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fullness of their sinnes.

15 But that he dealth with us, that sinners should not be heaped up to the full, so that afterward he should punish us.

16 And therefore he sent forth his mercie from us: and though he punish us with affliction, yet hath he mercie for his people.

17 As he said in his spoken word for a warning unto us: and now will we come to the declaring of the manner in this world.

18 Eleazar, then one of y principal persons, an aged man, & of a well favoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to curse himselfe.

19 But he desiring rather to die than to live with heathens, offered himself willingly to the torment, and spit it out.

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawful to take of for the desire to live.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that old friendship of the man, tooke him aside privately, and prayed him, that he would taste such flesh, as was lawful for him to use, and as he would prepare for himselfe, and dissimble as though he had eaten of the things appointed by the king, to cure the flesh of the affliction.

22 That in so doing hee might be delivered from death, and that for the old friendship of the man, among them, he would receive this favour.

23 But he began to answer discreetly, and as became his age, and the experience of his ancient peeres, and the honour of his gray haire, wherunto hee was come, and his much time of conversation from his childhood. But chiefly the holy Law made and given by God: therefore answered consequently, & tolled them straightwayes to send him to the grave.

24 For it became not his age, said hee, dissimble, whereby many young persons might thinke that Eleazar beinge of such peeres old, and ten, were now gone to another religion.

25 And in through mine hypocritie (for a little time of a transitory life) they might be deceived by me, and I should procure malodour, and to reach to mine old age.

26 For though I were now delivered from torments of men, yet could I not shake the hand of the King, & resist what my king should command.

27 Therefore I will now change this my manfully, and will shewe my faith as mine age requireth.

28 And so will leave a notable example to such as be young to die willingly, and courageously for the honourable and holy Law. And when he had sayd these wordes, he willingly went to his death, and gave up his spirit.

29 Now they that led him, changed their mind, which they had before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spoken: they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was ready to give the glory to the Lord, hee said thus and said: O Lord that hath the holy Law made, manifestly, that whereas I might have been delivered from death, I am thought, and suffer the persons of our body: but in my mind I love them gladly for his religion.

Now after this manner ended he his testimony his death for an example of a noble man, and a summary of all of vertue, not only in young men, but unto all his nation.

C H A P. VI.

The punishment of the seven brethren and of their

I come to passe also that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by being against the Lawe to take Unnes flesh;
and were tormented with scourges and whips.

First out of them which spoke first, sayde thus: I desire rather than what woulddest thou knowe of us? we are ready to die rather than to transgresse the lawe of our fathers.

Then was the king angry, and commanded to have paine and caudons, which were instantly made hote.

Then he commanded the tongue of him that spoke first, to be cut out, and to lay him, and to cutt the utmost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

Now when hee was thus mangled, in all members, he commanded him to be brought unto the fire, and lay him in the panne: and while the smoke for a long time smoken out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother exhort one another to die courageously, laying in the same manner.

The Lord God doeth regard vs, & in deede manifesteth his love to vs, as Abdys declared in the song wherein he testified openly, saying, that God will take pleasure in his servants.

Now when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stock: and when they had pulled the skull with the haire over his head, they asked him if he would ease, or hee were punished in al
the members of the body.

But he answered in his alone language, sayde thus: Whither hee was tormented like the first.

And when hee was at the last breath, hee sayde: Thou whitherest takest this present life of mine, but the King of the world will raise vs up, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of the living life.

After him was the third dead in verity, and when they demanded his tongue, he said hee incontinently, and stretched forth his tongue to them.

Then spoke manfully, These haire I had from heaven, but now for the Lawe of God
I forsake them; and trust that I shall receive them againe.

After that the King and they which were with him marvelled at the young mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paine of death.

Now when he was dead also, they verily and tormented the fourth in like manner.

And when hee was now ready to die, hee sayde thus: It is better that we should change our bodies, which we might hope for often, and waite for our resurrection, than that we may be raised up againe by him as the three, thou shalt have no part in life.

Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him.

16. After he looked upon the King, and sayde, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortal man, thou dost what thou wilt: but thinke not that God hath forsaken our nation.

17. But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and the rest.

18. After him also they brought the sixt, who being at the point of death, said, I desire not thy selfe mortally: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondered at for our owne sakes, because we have offended our God.

19. But thinke not thou, which undertaketh to fight against God, that thou shalt bee unpun-ished.

20. But the mother was marvellous about al other, and worthy of honorable memoire: for when shee lay her seven linnen haire within the space of one day, shee suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that hee had in the Lord.

21. Then, she exhorted every one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisdom, stirred up her womanly affections with a manly stomack, and sayd unto them,

22. I cannot tell howe yet came into my wombe: for I neither gave you breath nor life:
it is not I that set in order the members of your body.

23. But doubtlesse the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and founde out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercie give you breath, and life againe, as ye now regard not your owne selues, for his lawes sake.

24. Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the injurious wordes, while the youngest was yet alive, hee did exhort him not only with wordes, but with all unto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the lawes of his fathers, and that hee would take him as a friend, & give him offices.

25. But when the young man would in no case hearken unto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that shee would counsell the young man to save his life.

26. And when he had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that shee would counsell her sonne.

27. So shee turned her unto him, laughing the cruel othe to scorn, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, have patience upon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gave thee sucke three yeres, and nourished thee, and took care for thee unto this age, I brought thee up.

28. The deede thee, my sonne, looke upon the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankinde made likewise.

29. Feare not this hangman, but knowe thy selfe worthy such bechery by suffering deede:
that I may receive thee in mercie with my brethren.

30. While she was yet speaking these wordes, the young man layd, without waite or loze, I will not obey the Kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Lawe that was given unto our fathers by Abdys.

II. Maccabees.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischiefs against the Hebrews, shall not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer the things because of our sinnes.

33 But though the living Lord be angry with vs a little while for our chaitening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe up in vaine, which art puffed up with vncertaine hope, and liftest thine handes against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are now vnder the diuine Cōuenant of eternalizing life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer last punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, desiring God, that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the only God.

38 And thus in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, rag'd more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grievously that he was mocked.

40 So he also died boldly, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this be now enough spoken concerning the bankrupts, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes giue thank; after they haue put their enemies to flight, desending hart of the spores vnto the fatherlesse and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor sleeth vnto Antiochus.

Then Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went privately into the townes, and called their kindredes and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion; and assembled fere thousande men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was deere of every man, and haue pittie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men.

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the cite that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voyce of the blood that cryed vnto him.

4 And that he would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would reue his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withheld by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at Stratona, and thence by the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee did the night to make such assaults, as so much that the durst of his manlines was spread euery where.

8 So when Philip saw that this man increased by little and little, & that things prospered with him for the most part, hee wrote vnto Ptolemens the gouernour of Cæsarea, and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings business.

9 Then sent he speedily Alcimus the sonne of Batroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gave him of all nations of the heathen no less then twenty thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and to yoke with him Soterus a capitaine, which in matters of warre was great experiente.

10 Alcimus desired also a tributary king of two thousande talents, which the Romans should haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourtiens, and ten for one talent: but he considered the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Alcimus coming, hee told them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Nowe were there some of them fearful, which trusted not vnto the righteousnes of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other tolde all that they had seene, and besought the Lord together to deliuer them from that wicked Alcimus, which had sate them, or euer he came nere them.

15 And though he would not doe it in their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about six thousand, exhorting them to be afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrightheously, but to fight manfully.

17 Setting before their eyes the infinite that they had vnjustly done to the holy place, and the cruelty done to the cite by destruction, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, sayd hee, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a becke can both deliuer them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreover, hee admonished them of the helpe that God shewen vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundred and fourtiens, and fure thousande vnder Menemacher.

20 And of the battell that they had in Iudon against the Galatians, when they came in all to the battell eight thousand, with fure thousand Maccabians: and when the Maccabians were assisted, the eight thousand fere an hundred and twenty thousand though they that was giuen them from heauen, which they had receiued many benefits.

21 Thus when hee had made them bold with these wordes, and ready to die for the lawe into the country, he divided his army into four parts.

2 And made his owne brethren captaines over the army, to wit, Simon, and Joseph, and Judas, giving ech one fifteen hundred men.

3 And when Cleasarus had read the holy book, and given them a token of the helpe of God, from which led the forward, topped with

4 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew about nine thousand men, and wounded and captured the most part of Sicanos host, and put all to flight.

5 And took the money from those that came to buy them, and purchased them free: but lacking time, they returned.

6 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

7 So they took their weapons, and thanked the Lord wonderfully, which had delivered them that day, and powred upon them the goodness of his mercy.

8 And after the Sabbath, they distributed the spoils to the rich, and to the fatherless, and to the widows, and divided the rest among themselves and their children.

9 When this was done, and they all had made a general prayer, they besought the merciful Lord to bee reconciled at the length with his servants.

10 Afterward with one consent they fell upon Antiochus and Bacchides, and slew about twenty thousand, and took his and strong holds, and divided great spoils, and gave an equal portion unto the rich, and to the fatherless, and to the widows, and to aged persons also.

11 Moreover, they gathered their weapons together, and layd them up diligently in convenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoils to Jerusalem.

12 They slew also Phylarches a most wicked man which was with Timotheus, and had won the Jewes many wayes.

13 And when they kept the feast of Victorie in their country, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire upon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he received a reward meet to his wickedness.

14 And that most wicked Sicanos, which had bought a shoulard merchants to buy the Jews.

15 And was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, insomuch that he put off his glorious garments, and fled overthwart the country like a fugitive servant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his host.

16 And he that promised to pay tribute to the Romans, by means of the prisoners of Jerusalem, brought newes, that the Jewes had a conqueror, and for this cause none could hurt the Jews, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

1. Antiochus willing to spoyle Persopolis, is put to flight. 2. why he persecuted the Jewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 3. The feared repentance of Antiochus. 4. His death miserably.

At the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour, out of the country of Persia.

2 For when he came to Derbespolis, and went about to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the city, the people ran in rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Cebacane, he understood the things that had come unto Sicanos and Timotheus.

4 And then being chased in his shame, hee thought to impute to the Jewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charetmen to drive continually, and to dispatch the journey: for Gods judgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I will make Jerusalem a common burying place of the Jewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty, and God of Israel, smote him with an incurable and invincible plague: for as soon as he had spoken these wordes, a paine of the bowels that was remediless, came upon him, and laye torments of the inner parts.

6 And that most unky: for he had tormented other mens bowels with divers and strange torments.

7 Notwith he would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breaching out fire in his rage against the Jewes, and commanded to haste the journey: but it came to passe that he fell downe from the charet that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a litle afore thought he might commaunds the floods of the Sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the balance, was now cast on the ground, and cried in an hoarse voice, declaring unto all the manifest power of God.

9 So that the women came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: as wyles he was alive, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his carme was grieved at his himself.

10 Thus no man could beare because of his sinke, him that a litle afore thought he might reach to the starres of heaven.

11 Then he began to leave off his great pride, and selfwill when he was plagued, and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased every moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne sinke, he sayd these wordes, It is meet to be subiect unto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equal unto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also unto the Lord, who woulde now have no merche on him,

14 And sayd thus, that he wou'd see at liberty the holy city unto the which he made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Jewes (whom hee had judged not worthy to be buried), but woulde have cast them out with their children open to be denoured of the foules & wilde beastes her mouth make them all like the citizens of Achem.

16 And wherwas he had spoiled the holy Temple afore, hee would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Pea, and that he would also become a Jew himselfe, and goe thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health he wrote vnto the Jewes this letter vnder written, containing the forme of a supplication.

19 THE KING, and prince Antiochus vnto the Jewes his loving citizens, witheth much joy, health and prosperitie.

20 If yet and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I geue great thanks vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet am I mindfull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, I fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safety of all.

22 Not distrustting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickness.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the high countreys, he appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any thinges were thought that were grieuous, they in the land might knowe to whome the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Again, when I poulder how that the gouernours, that are borderers and neighbours vnto my kingdome, waite for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whome I oft commend and committed to many of you, when I went into the high mounteines, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that every man will be faithful vnto mee and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle and loving vnto you according vnto my mind.

28 Thus the murderer and blasphemer suffered most grievously, and as he had intreated other men, so hee died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him carried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemy Philometor.

2 And destroyed the altare, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open place.

3 And cleaned the Temple, and made another altare, and burned stoncs, and took the first of them, and offered sacrifices, & incense two yeeres, and fixe moneths after, and let forth the lawnes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe vpon the ground, and besought the Lord, that they might come no more into such temptation: but if they sinned any more against him, that he wold selte would challen their with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blaspheinous, and barbarous nations.

5 Howe vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the temple, on the very same day it was cleaned againe, euen the fixe and thirtieth day of the same moneth, which is: Chaban.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnes in the feast of the tabernacles, remembriug that not long afore they held the feast of the tabernacles when they liued in the mountaine, and demnes like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faice branches and palmes, & sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that every yere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Jewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus calis Epiphanes.

10 Howe will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering chiefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Lysias, which had bene captaine of the host in Phenice, and Coelofia, ruler ouer the affaires of the Realmes.

12 For Ptolemy that was called Apcon, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Jewes by the wrong that had bene done vnto them; and went about to behaue himselfe graciously wth them.

13 For the which cause, he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Egypt that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poisoned himself, and died.

14 But when Georgias was gouernour of the same place, he entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Jewes.

15 Moreover, the Idumeans that held strong holdes which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Jewes, and by receiving them that were driven from Ierusalem, took in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Spachus, made prayers and besought God that he wold be their helper, and to they fell vpon the holdes of the Idumeans.

17 And assailed them soe, that they wane the places, and slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met, and slew no lesse then twenty thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse the thousands) were fled into the strong bring the siege.

... those that were with Simon; being in such circumstances, were intrusted for a brief space to certain of those that were in the castle and took seventy thousand drachmes and let them all escape.

21 But when it was told Baccabens what

24 Now Timotheus whom the Jewes had of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of volunteers out of Asia, to winne Jewrie by force.

VERY shortly after this, Lysias the Kings Steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the governance of the affairs, took sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the hollemen, he came againe the Fowes, thinking to make the tithie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would be hane to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen; for he would sell the Priest's office every year.

4 And thus being pulled by in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his four score Elephants.

5 He came into Judea, and durde nere to Beth lura, which was a castle of defence; thue furlongs from Jerusalem, and layde fore Siege unto it.

6 But when Saccabens and his company knew that he besieged the holds, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, & tears before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliver Israel.

7 And Haccabens him the first of all rooke fully, and so escaped.

13. As he was a man of understanding, considering what loss he had had, and knowing that the hardships could not be overcome because the Almighty God helped them, sent unto them,

14. And promised that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, and persuade the king to be their friend.

15. Baccabenus agreed to Lysias requests, having respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoever Baccabenus wrote unto Lysias concerning the Jews, the king granted it.

16. For there were letters written unto the Jews from Lysias containing these words, LYSIAS unto the people of the Jews sendeth greeting.

17. John and Jaddai, which were sent from you, delivered me the things that you demand by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18. Therefore what things formerly were meet to be reported to the king himselfe, I have declared them, and hee granted that that was possible.

19. Therefore if ye behave your selves as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour my selfe to doe you good.

20. As concerning these things, I have given commandment to these men, and to those whom I sent unto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21. Fare ye well, the hundred and eight and forty yeere, the four and twentieth day of the month Dioscorithius.

22. From the kings letter contained these words, KING ANTIOCHVS unto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23. Since our father translated unto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, live quietly, that every man may apply his owne affaires.

24. We understand also that the Jews would not consent to our father, for to be brought unto the custome of the Gentiles; but would keepe their owne manner of living: for the which cause they require vs, that we would suffer them to live after their owne lawes.

25. Therefore our minde is that this nation shall bee in rest, and have determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be governed according to the custome of their fathers.

26. Thou shalt doe well therefore to send unto them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our mind, they may bee of good comfort, and cheerfully goe about their owne affaires.

27. And this was the Kings letter unto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS unto the Elders of the Jews, and to the rest of the Jews sendeth greeting.

28. If ye fare well, we have our desire: we are also in good health.

29. Helcias declared unto us that your desire was to returne home, & to apply your owne businesse.

30. Therefore, those that will depart, we give them free liberty, unto the thirti day of the month of Panhicus.

31. That the Jews may doe their owne maner of living and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any manner of wages to have wages for things done by ignorance.

32. I have sent also Helcias to comfort you. Fare ye well: the hundred and eight and forty yeere, the sixteenth day of the month of Panhicus.

34. The Romanes also sent a letter containing these words, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and CLIVS Ambassadors of the Romanes, unto the people of the Jews sendeth greeting.

35. The things that Lysias the king our man hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36. But concerning that which ye have written unto the king, send hither some with such letters as ye have considered the matter diligently, that we may confide thereupon, as shall be well to you: for we must goe unto Antiochia.

37. And therefore make haste, and send us men, that we may know your mind.

38. Farewell: this hundred and eight and forty yeere, the sixteenth day of the month of Panhicus.

CHAP. XII.

1. Timotheus troubleth the Jews. 2. The words of them of Ioppe against the Jews. 3. Judas avenged of them. 4. His seventh fore in the house of Iamnia. 5. The pursuit of the Jews against Timotheus. 6. Timotheus is taken and let goe againe. 7. Judas pursueth Gorgias.

When these counsailes were made, Lysias went unto the king, and the Jews also their ground.

2. But the governors of the place, Helmotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Demetrius, and Jeronymus, and also Demophon, and others them selfe: the government of Ioppe, would not let them live in rest and peace.

3. They of Ioppe also did such a manner they hated the Jews that dwelt among them, to goe with their wives and children unto the ships, which they had prepared as though they had sought them none could kill.

4. And so by the common advice of the city, they obeyed them, and suspected nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deeps, they drowned no lesse then two hundred of them.

5. Now when Judas knewe of this cruelty shewed against his nation, hee commanded that men that were with him, to make their way.

6. And having called upon God the righteous Judge, hee went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night, and burnt the ships, and that that hee thence, hee flew.

7. And when the citie was shut up, hee departed as though hee would come againe, and took out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8. But when hee perceived that the Iammites were minded to do in like manner unto the Jews, which dwelt among them,

9. He came upon the Iammites by night, and set fire in the haven with the navy, so that the light of the fire was seene at Jerusalem, upon two hundred and forty furlongs.

10. Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their journey toward Helmotheus, about five thousand men of the the hundred and threescore of the Samaritans for the harvest was scarce, but it prospered them through the help of God, the famine of Arabia, being overcome, brought Judas to make peace with them, and promised to give him certain cattle, and to help him in his things.

And Judas thinking that they should in time be profitable concerning many things, promised them peace: whereupon they departed, and so they departed to their tents.

Judas also inhabited a cite called Castor, which was strong by reason of a hedge, and was known about with walls, and had divers sorts of people dwelling therein.

So they that were within it put such trust in the strength of the walls, and in force of weapons, that they were the slacker in their doings, and thought that were with Judas, and regarding them: yea, they blasphemed and spoke such words as were not lawful.

But Hircanus his soldiers, calling upon the Prince of the Jews (which without appointments, or engines of warre, did cast down the walls of Jericho, in the time of Nehemiah) were fierce against the walls.

And took the cite by the will of God, and with an exceeding great slaughter, inasmuch that a lake of two furlongs dyade, which lay therein, seemed to flow with blood.

Then departed they from thence, seven hundred and fiftie furlongs, and came to Chacia unto the Jews, that are called Canaanites.

But they found not Timotheus there: he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garrison in a very strong place.

But Dositheus, & Sotipater, which were appointed with Hircanus, went forth, & slew that Timotheus had left in the fortress, more than thousand men.

And Hircanus prepared, & ranged his men by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundred and threescore thousand men of foot, and two thousand and five hundred horsemen.

When Timotheus had knowledge of Hircanus coming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afore unto a forreile called Garmion (for it was hard to besiege, and unable to come unto because of the straites on all sides).

But when Judas first band came in sight, the enemies were terrified with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of the Lord, so that they feared, inasmuch that they were all there, another there, were all times out by their own people, and wounded with weapons of their own weapons.

And Judas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew those wicked men: yea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dositheus, and Sotipater, whom he sought with much craft to let him go with his parents: but many of the Jews parents, who were taken of them, which, if they were not to death, should be despised.

So when he had assured them with many words, and promised that he would release them without hurt, they let him go for the health of their brethren.

Then went Hircanus toward Garmion, and Garmion, and sent five and twenty thousand persons.

And after that yet had chased away and slain them, Judas remounted the horse toward Ephron a strong cite, wherein was a peas and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walls, defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engines of warre, and darts.

But when they had called upon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they made the cite, and some five and threescore thousand of them that were within.

From thence went they to Bethanpolis, which lieth betwixt Jerusalem and Jerusalem.

But when the Jews which dwelt therein, refused that they should be taken by Hircanus, he with them, and increased them kindly in the time of their adversity.

They gave them thanks, desiring them to be friendly still unto them, and so they came to Jerusalem, as the feast of the weekes approached.

And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Iudaea.

Who came out with three thousand men of foot, and four hundred horsemen.

And when they were together, a few of the Jews were slain.

And Dositheus one of the Barcenas, which was on horsebacke and a mightie man, took Gorgias, and layd holde on his garment, and drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man alive: but an horseman of Chacia fell upon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Bethanpolis.

And when they that were with Gergin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Judas called upon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to bee their helper, and captaine of the field.

And then he began in his stone language, and sung Psalmes with a loud voyce, inasmuch that straightwayes he made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

So Judas gathered his horse, and came into the cite of Bethanpolis. And when the seventh day came, they cleansed themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

And upon the day following, as necessity required, Judas and his company came to take by the bodies of them that were slain, and to burye them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

Now under the coats of every one that was slain, they found leuels that had bene consecrate to the stones of the Iannites, which thing is forbidden the Jews by the Law. Then every man saw that this was the cause why they were slain.

And to every man that was taken into the Lord, the righteous Judas, which had opened the things that were hid.

Whereby that noble Judas exhorted the people to keep themselves from sin, saying that they have before their eyes the things which came to pass by the fault of them that were slain.

43 And having made a gathering towards the company, sent to Jerusalem about two thousand draughts of silver, to offer a silver offering, doing here and there devoutly, that he thought of the affliction.

44 For if he had not hoped that they which were slain, should rise again, it had bene superfluous, and vain, to pray for the dead.

a From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much less certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby. Also, it is evident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it differeth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the author of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmities, desireth pardon, if he have not attained to that he should. And it seemeth that this Iason the Cyrenian, out of whom he took this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben gonion, who hath written in Ebreish five booke of these matters, and in reading this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. chap. 9. For it is contrary to the custome of the Jewes, even to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might administer the Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25 or the example of Rasis, that one may kill himselfe, whom this author so much commendeth, Chap. 4. 41.

45 And therefore he perceived that there was great favour layed up for those that died godly. (It was an holy & good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be delivered from sin.

CHAP. XII.

1 The coming of Eupator into Iudaea. 4 The death of Menelaus, & Antiochus going to fight against Eupator, mooveth his soldiers unto prayer. 15 He kills four score thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Jewes is taken.

1 In the hundredth fourth and nine years, it was told Judas that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudaea.

2 And Elias the steward and ruler of his affairs with him having both in their armie an hundred and thre thousand men of foot of the Grecians, and five thousand horsemen, and two and twenty Elephants, and three hundred chariots set with bowes.

3 Menelaus also joyned himselfe with them, and with great desire encouraged Antiochus, not for the safeguard of the countrey, but because he thought to have bene made the governor.

4 But the King of kings moved Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Elias informed the King that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the King commanded to bring him to Betsa to put him unto death as the manner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a towet of fiftie cubits high, full of a fire, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on every side it could blowe into the fire.

6 And there whosoever was condemned of sacrilege, as of any other grievous crime, was cast of all sides into the death.

7 And so it came to pass, that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most cruel thing that Menelaus should have done.

8 For because he had committed many crimes by the altar, whither hee and other wicked men used to goe to offer sacrifices, hee was cast into the fire.

9 And when the King, ragged in his minde, came to see him himselfe made cruel unto the Jewes, then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceived, he comforted the people to call upon the Lord night and day, that if ever hee had helped them, he would now help them, when they were put from their Lawe, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple.

11 And that hee would not suffer the people, which a little afore began to recover, to be delivered into the blaspheinous nations.

12 So when they had done this prayer, and brought the Lord for their succour, they began to fight, and killing and slaying downe their enemies, they, Iudas exhorted them to make themselves ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, hee counselled to goe forth, after the King should have slain Iudas, and should take the city, and commit the matter to the hands of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord, the word he received his countrey to fight manfully, when they went to the Lawe, the Temple, the city, their countrey, and for common wealth, and camped by Bethan.

15 And so giving his soldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, he picked out his mightiest young men, and went by night into the Kings campe, and slew of the hoste four score thousand men, and the greatest Elephants with all that were upon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great fear, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the beate of the day, because the protection of the Lord did help them.

18 And when the King had taken the multitude of the Jewes, he went about to take the holies by force.

19 And marched toward Bets Sura, which was a strong hold of the Jewes: but hee was chased away hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent unto them that were in it, such things as were necessary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Jews holie, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the King commit with them that were in Bets Sura, and smote them with them, departed, and joyned battell with Iudas, who overcame him.

23 But when hee understood, that Menelaus (whom he had left to be overlord of the holies at Antiochia) did rebel against him, hee was astonished, so that hee yielded himselfe to the Jewes, and made them an oath to doe all things that were right, and was appeare unto them, and offered sacrifice and abode in the Temple, and shewed great gentleness in all place.

24 And embraced Baccabenus, a man of captaine and gouernour from Borseneus, and the Serrenians.

Demetrius when hee came to Stole-mon, the people of the citie were not content with that agreement: and because they were enemies, they would that he should breake the renewed.

Then went Lysias by into the iudgement hall, and excused the fact atwell as hee could, and persuaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe unto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings warre, and his returne.

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius moved by Alcimus, sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18. Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 19. which he yet breaketh through the motion of the King. 20. Nicanor commandeth Razai to be taken, who slayeth him selfe.

After three yeeres was Judas informed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come with a great power and many by the hauein of Cappadocia.

When he had won the country, and slaine
Antiochus and his lieutenant Lysias.

Now Alcimus, which had bene the high priest, and actually desired himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by any means he could save himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

Hee came to king Demetrius in the him-mich attire and one peece, presenting unto him a crown of gold, and a pailme, and of the boughes, which were taken solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

But when he had gotten opportunitie, and excused by his grace, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leant unto.

To the which he answered, The Iewes that he called Adreans, whose capitaine is Judas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make in-iurations, and will not let the realme be in peace.

Therefore I, being deprived of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come hither,

Partly because I was well affectioned unto the Kings affaires, and secondly because I thought the profit of mine owne citizens: for all our people, though their rashnes, are not a little troubled.

Wherefore, O king, seeing thou knowest all these things, make provision for the country, and our nation which is abused, according to some owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

For as long as Judas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

When he had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euill will at Judas, set Demetrius on fire.

Also immediately called for Alcimus the priest of the elephants, and made him capitaine ouer Iudas.

And sent him forth, commanding him to kill Judas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus his priest of the great Temple.

When the heathen which fled out of Iuda from Judas, came to Alcimus by flocks, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

Now when the Iewes heard of Alci-mus coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they spauiled themselves with fear, and prayed unto him which had appointed himselfe a people for euill, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

So at the commandment of the capitaine, they remoued straightwaies from thence, and came to the towne of Delfan.

Where Simon Iudas brother had lay-ned battell with Alcimus, and was somewhat astonied through the sudden silence of the enemies.

Alcimus hearing the manner of them that were with Judas, and the bolde stomaches that they had for their country, durst not proue the matter with bloodshed-ding.

Wherefore he sent Possidonius, Theodotus, and Pappas before to make peace.

So when they had taken long aduilement thereupon, and the capitaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and consented to the covenants.

And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his schoole.

Demetrius Iudas commanded certaine men of armes to waite in convenient places, least there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they continued together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

Alcimus, while he abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

He loved Iudas, and favoured him in his heart.

Hee prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so hee married, and they liued together.

But Alcimus perceiving the loue that was betwene them, & vnderstanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and told him, that Alcimus had taken strange matters in hand, & obtained Iudas a traitor to the realme, to be his successor.

Then the King was displeased, and by the reportes of this wicked man, hee wrote to Alcimus, saying, that hee was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that he should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

When these things came to Alcimus, hee was astonished and sore grieved, that he should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickedness.

But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the King, he sought craftily to accomplish it.

Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceived that Alcimus beganne to be rough vnto him, and that hee entreated him more rudely then he was wont, hee perceived that such rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrew himselfe from Alcimus.

But the other perceiving that hee was peruen-

II. Maccabees.

presented by Maccabees (now by policy) came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their usual sacrifices, to deliver him the man.

32 And when they saw that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought,

33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, & made an oath in this manner, If ye will not deliver me Judas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, & will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable temple unto Bacchus.

34 After these words he departed: then the Priests lift by their hands towards heaven, and besought him that was ever the defender of their nation, saying in this manner,

35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among us.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house ever inviolable, which lately was cleansed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the unrighteous.

37 Now was there accursed unto Sicanor, & his one of the Elders of Jerusalem, a lover of the citty, & a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Jewes.

38 For this man sometimes when the Jewes were minded to keepe themselves undefiled and pure, being accursed to bee of the Religion of the Jewes, did offer to spend his body, and life with all constancie for the Religion of the Jewes.

39 So Sicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Jewes, sent about five hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Jewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would have taken his castle, and would have broken the gates by violence, and commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on every side, he fell on his sword,

42 killing rather to die manfully, then to give himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproach unworthily for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betwene the doores, he ranne boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude:

44 Which conveyed themselves tightly away, and gave place, so that hee fell upon his bellie.

45 Nevertheless while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his mind, he cryed, and though his blood gushes out like a fountain, and he was very sore wounded, yet he ran thorow the mids of the people.

46 And gave him to the top of an hie rocke: so when his blood was utterly gone, heeooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, and threw them upon the people, calling upon the Lord of life and spirit, that he would restore them againe unto him, and thus he died.

CHAP. XV.

1 Sicanor goeth about to come upon Judas on the Sabbath day. 2 The blasphemy of Sicanor. 3 Maccabees expounding unto the Jewes the reason, encouraging them. 4 The prayer of Maccabees. 5 Maccabees commending Nicanor and his soldiers because they hangen to be crucified in the crosse. 6 The same excuseth himselfe.

1 Now when Sicanor knew that Judas and his company were in the country of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come upon them, upon the Sabbath day.

2 Nevertheless the Jewes that were compelled to goe with him, sayd, We will not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day that is approved by him that keep all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lord in heaven, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they sayd, There is a living Lord, which ruleth in the heaven, who commandeth the seventh day to be kept,

5 Then hee sayd, And I am mighty upon earth to command them so to arme themselves, and to performe the Kings business. Nevertheless he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Sicanor lifted up with great rage, purposed to let by a multitude of the vicars obtained of all them that were with Judas.

7 But Maccabees had ever sure confidence, and a perfect hope that the Lord would help him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be ashamed at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed unto them from heaven, and to trust now also that they should have the victory by the Almighty.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred up their hearts, and shewed them also the benefitfullnes of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus hee armed every one of them, not with the assurance of the shields and spears, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to bee believed, and rejoyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, He thought that hee saw Onias, (which had bene the high Priest, a serious and a good man, reverent in behaviour, and of sober conversation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child) holding by his hand toward heaven, and praying for the whole people of the Jewes.

13 After this there appeared unto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellency about him.

14 And Onias spake, and sayd, This is a lover of the verities, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citty, so was Jeremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Jeremias held out his right hand, & gave unto Judas a sword of gold, and as he gave it, he spake thus, a As this private example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the worde of God although the author seem here to approve it: so that place as touching praise, Chap. 13. 44 though Judas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to prove a doctrine because it is onely a particular example.

16 Take this holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wounde the adversaries.

27 Thus he being comforted by the wordes of those which were very sweete and able to stirre him up to valiantnesse to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined to pitch no more, but courageously to set upon them, and manfully to assault them, and to trie the matter to the death, because the cite and the sanctuary and the Temple were in danger.

28 As for their wives and children, and brethren and kindred, they let lesse by their danger, but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

29 Therefore they that were in the city, were grieved for the army that was abroad.

30 Thus whilst they all waited for the triall of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the host was set in array, the Iudaes were separated into convenient places, and the weapons were placed in the wings:

31 Saccaribus considering the cunning of his multitude, and the diverse preparations of weapons, and the fierceness of the beastes, held up his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord to shew wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victory cometh not by the multitude, but that he giveth the victory to them that are worthy, as himselfe good vnto him.

32 Therefore in his prayer hee said after this manner, O Lord, thou that didst send thine Angel at the time of Sennacherib king of Iudea, who was sent of Sennacherib to slowe an hundred thousand and nine thousand,

33 Send now also thy good Angel before me, O Lord of heauen, to a feare and dread vnto them.

34 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes hee ended.

35 Then Saccaribus and they that were with him, beinge weere with trumpets and shoutings began.

36 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies.

37 So that with their handes they fought,
 but with their heartes they prayed vnto God,
 and there no lesse then nine and thirty thousande men: for though the presence of God they were manfully comforted.

28 Thus when they left off, and were turning againe with joy, they understood that Saccaribus himselfe was slain for all his armour.

29 Then they made a shout and a crye praising the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas which was entred the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare with good affection towardes them of his nation, commanded to smite off Saccaribus head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Jerusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priests by the altar, and sent for them of the caule,

32 And shewed them which Saccaribus head, and the hand of that blasphemer, which hee had holden by against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud brag.

33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Saccaribus to be cut in little pieces, and to be cast vnto the foules, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged by before the Temple.

34 So every man prayed toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place undisturbed.

35 Hee hanged also Saccaribus head vpon the high castle, for an euidenc and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy.

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Iudas in the Syrians language, the day before Bardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Saccaribus matters, and from that time the Iudaes had the city in possession And here wil I also make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste:
 so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that read the story. And heere shall be the end.

The end of the Apocrypha.

Cum Privilegio

The summe of the whole Scripture of the Bookes of the Old and New Testament.

HE bookes of the Old Testament doe teach vs, that the same God, whom Adam, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, David, and the other fathers did worship, is the onely true God, and that hee is the same Almighty and Everlasting: who of his meere goodnesse hath created by his Word heauen and earth, and all that is in them: From whom all things doe come: without whom there is nothing at all: And that he is iust and mercifull: who also worketh all in all, after his owne will: To whom it is not lawfull to say, wherefore he doth thus or thus.

Moreouer, these Bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after he created all things, hope also Adam the first man, to the image and spiritual similitude of himselfe, and that he did constitute him Lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam by the enuie and fraud of the deuill, transgressing the precept of his Creator, by this his sinne brought in such and so great sinne into the world, that wee which be sprung from him by the flesh, be in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made subiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyranny of the deuill.

Furthermore, we are taught by these excellent bookes, that God promised to Adam, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, David, and to other Fathers of the old time, that hee would send that blessed Seed, his Sonne Iesus Christ our Saniour, which should deliuer all those from sinne, and from the tyranny of the deuill, which by a lively and working faith should beleue this promise, and put their trust in Iesus Christ, hoping that of him and by him, they should obtaine this deliuerance.

Also they giue vs to vnderstand, that in the meane season, while those Fathers the Israelites looked for the saluation, and deliuerance promised (for that the nature of man is such, so proud and so corrupt, that those would not willingly acknowledge themselves to be sinners, which had need of the Saniour promised) God the Creator gaue by Moyses his Lawe written in two Tables of stone: that by it, sinne and the malice of mans heart being known, men might more vehemently thirst for the comming of Iesus Christ, who should redeeme and deliuer them from sin: which thing, neither the Law, nor yet the sacrifices and oblations of the Lawe did performe. For they were shadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Christ: by which oblation all sinne should be blotted out, and quite put away.

By the Bookes of the New Testament we be taught, that Christ so afore promised ("which is God above all things most blessed for euer) when he, I say, was shadowed in the Bookes of the Old Testament, and in sacrifices figured, that hee was sent at the last from the Father, the selfe same time which the Father did constitute within himselfe: I say, at that time when all wickednes abounded in the world, then he was sent: And this Iesus our Saniour being borne in the flesh, suffered death, and rose againe from the dead. Which acts of his were not done by him in respect of the good works of any man (for we were all sinners) but that this God our Father should appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant riches of his grace which he promised, and that through his mercy hee might bring vs to saluation.

Whereupon it is evidently shewed in the Newe Testament, that Iesus Christ, being the true Lamb, the true sacrifice of the world, putting away the sinnes of men, came into this world to purchase grace and peace for vs with the Father, washing vs from our sinnes in his owne blood, and should deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuill, whom by sinne we did serue: And so we should be adopted by him to bee the sonnes of God, made heires with him of that most excellent and everlasting kingdome.

Now that we should acknowledge this singular & excellent benefit of God towards vs, Almighty God giue vs his holy Spirit: the fruit and effect of which, is faith in God, and in his Christ. For without the holy Ghost, by which we are instructed & sealed, nether can we beleue that God the Father sent Messias, nor yet that Iesus is Christ: For no man (saith Paul) can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost. The same Spirit witnesseth to our spirit, we are the children of God, and powreth into our bowels that charity which Paul describeth to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy Spirit altho giue vs hope, which is a sure looking for eternal life, whereof he himselfe is the certaine token and pledge. Also he giue vs other spiritual gifts, of the which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therefore the benefit of faith is not to be despised or litle to be set by. For by the means of this trust & faith in Christ, which worketh by charity, & sheweth it self forth by the works of charity, mouing man thereto, we are iustified & sanctified: that is to say, God & the Father of our Lord

The summe of the holy Scriptures.

Good workes.

Christ our Master and teacher.

Bishop.
Mediatour.
Advocate.

Judgement.

Eternall life.

Eternall fire.

To what intent the Scriptures were written.

Christ the onely foundation.

Iesus Christ (which is made our <sup>d</sup> Father also by him, being our <sup>e</sup> brother) doeth accompt vs to be iust and holy through his grace, and through the merite of his Sonne Iesus Christ, not <sup>f</sup> imputing our finnes to vs, & so farre forth, that we should suffer the paines of hell for them.

Finally, Christ himselfe <sup>g</sup> came into the world, to the intent that we through him being sanctified and cleansed from our finnes, following his will in good workes, should deny the things pertaining to the flesh, and freely <sup>h</sup> serue him in righteousness & holinesse all the dayes of our life: and that <sup>i</sup> by good workes (which God hath prepared for vs to walke in) we should <sup>k</sup> shew our selues to be called to his grace, and gift of faith: which good workes who so hath not, doeth shew himselfe not to haue such a faith in Christ as is required in vs.

To Christ must we come, and follow him with a cheereful minde, that he may teach vs: For he is our Master, <sup>l</sup> lowly and humble of heart: he is to vs an <sup>m</sup> example, whereby we must learne the rule to liue well.

Moreouer, he is our <sup>n</sup> Bishop, and our <sup>o</sup> high Priest, which did himselfe offer vp for vs his owne blood, being the onely <sup>p</sup> mediatour betweene God and men: Who now sitteth at the right hand of God the Father, being made our <sup>q</sup> Advocate, making prayer and intercession for vs: who doubtlesse shall obtaine for vs <sup>r</sup> whatsoever we shall desire, either of him, or else of his Father in his Name, if so be that we thus desiring, shall beleue that he will so do: for thus hath he promised. Therefore let vs not doubt, if we sinue at any time, to come with <sup>s</sup> repentance (to the which he doeth inuite and stirre vs at the very beginning of his preaching) and with sure trust to the <sup>t</sup> Throne of his grace, with this beleife, that we shall obtaine mercie. For therefore <sup>u</sup> hee came into the world, that hee might saue sinners by his grace.

This is verily Christ Iesus, which shall come at a <sup>v</sup> certaine time appointed by his Father, and shall sit in great maiestie to <sup>w</sup> iudge all men, and to render to euery man <sup>x</sup> the workes of his body according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill: And he shall say to them which shall be on the right side, which in this world did looke for the good things to come (that is to say, life euerlasting): <sup>y</sup> Come ye blessed of my Father, enioy the kingdome that hath bene prepared for you from the beginning of the world: But to them which shall be on the left side, hee shall say: Depart from me ye cursed into euerlasting fire prepared for the deuil and his Angels. And then <sup>z</sup> shall the ende be, when Christ hauing vtterly vanquished all maner of enemies, shall deliuer vp the kingdome to God the Father.

To the intent that we might vnderstand these things, the <sup>a</sup> sacred Books of the Bible were deliuered to vs by the goodnes of God through his holy Spirit, with the preaching of that doctrine which is contained in them, and with his Sacraments, by which the trueth of his doctrine is sealed vp to vs: that we <sup>b</sup> might vnderstand, I say, and beleue that there is one onely true God, and our Saviour Iesus Christ, whom (as he had promised) he hath sent: <sup>c</sup> and that we beleeuing might haue in his Name life euerlasting.

Besides this <sup>d</sup> foundation, no man can lay any other in the Church of Christ: and vpon this foundation the Church doeth stand sure and stedfast. And Paul willeth him to be <sup>e</sup> accursed which shall preach any other faith and saluation, then by Iesus Christ, yea, although he were an Angel from heauen.

For <sup>f</sup> of him, through him, and for him, are all things: To whom with the Father and the holy Ghost, be all honour and glory, world without end, Amen.

Certaine questions and answers touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods word and Sacraments.

Question.
Why doe men so much vary in matters of religion?

Answer.
 Because al haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither do all beleue the Gospel of Christ.

Question.
 What is the reason thereof?

Answer.
 Because they only beleue the Gospel and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.
 Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answer.
 Some are vessels of wrath ordained vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercie prepared to glory.

Question.
 How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto damnation?

Answer.
 Very well: because all men haue in themselves sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercie of God is wonderfull in that he vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinful race, and to bring them to the knowledg of the truthe.

Question.
 If Gods ordinance and determination must of necessity take effect, then what need any man to care for he that liueth well, must needs be damned, if he be thereunto ordained: and he that liueth ill must needs be saved, if he be thereunto appointed.

Answer.
 Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwayes be without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will thereunto. For to haue either good will, or good worke, is a testimony of the Spirit of God, which is giuen to the elect onely, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that being graft in Christ, they grow in holinesse to that glory, whereunto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as once to thinke that they may doe as they list themselves, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: but rather they endeavour to walke in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained them vnto, and prepared for them to be occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.
 But how shall I knowe my selfe to be one of those whom God hath ordained to life eternall?

Answer.
 By the motions of spirituall life, which belongeth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceiued, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense and motions thereof.

Question.
 What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answer.
 I meane remouel of conscience, toynd with the loathing of sinne, and loue of righteousness: the band of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and raised up to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirit: a thankfull remembrance of Gods benefits received, and the vsing of all aduerities as occasion of amendment sent from God.

Question.
 Cannot such perish as at some time or other feele these motions within themselves?

Answer.
 It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so he repenteth not the graces & gifts of his adoption: neither doth he call off those whom he hath once receiued.

Question.
 Why then should we pray by the example of Dauid, that he call vs not from his face, and that he take not his holy Spirit from vs?

Answer.
 In so praying we make protestation of the weaknesse of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not wee haue courage to aske, if we were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.
 Doe the children of God feele the motions of felicitie alwayes alike?

Answer.
 No truely: for God sometime to ydone his, seemeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh overmarcheth the spirit, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the time:

Questions and Answeres

yet the spirit of adoption is neuer taken from them, that haue once receiued it: els might they perish. But as in many diseases of the body, the powers of bodily life are letted: So in some assaults these motions of spirituall life are not perceived, because they lie hid den in our manifold infirmities, as the fire couered with ashes. Yet as after sickness commeth health, and after cloudes the Sunne shineth cleare: so the powers of spirituall life will more or lesse be felt and perceived in the children of God.

Question.

What if I neuer feele these motions in my selfe, shall I despair and thinke my selfe a castaway?

Answer.

God forbid: for God knoweth his at what time he seeth good: and the instrumentes whereby he usually calleth, haue not the like effect at all times. yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determined to worke the saluation of his. For as waie is not melted without heat, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: so God vserh meanes both to draw those vnto himselfe, whom he hath appointed vnto saluation, and also to bewaie the wickednes of them whom he iudly condemneth.

Question.

By what meanes vserh God to draw men to himselfe that they may be saued?

Answer.

By the preaching of his word and the ministering of his Sacraments thereunto answered.

Question.

What meane you by the word of God?

Answer.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles which they receiued of the spirit of God, and haue left written in that Booke which we commonly call the Old and New Testament.

Question.

How may I be assured that it is the word of God, which that Booke containeth?

Answer.

By the maiesty of God appearing in that plaine and simple doctrine: by the purenesse, brightness and holines thereof: by the certainty of every thing therein affirmed: by the successe of all things according to it: by perpetuall consent which is to be seene in euery part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters treated: But especially by the testimony of Gods spirit, whereby it was written, who moueth the hearts of those in whom it refresheth, to consent vnto the worde, and reverently to embrace it.

Question.

How doth this word of God serue to draw men vnto him?

Answer.

When it is so preached and heard, that men may vnderstand and learne what God teacheth: accept and receiue thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promised & assured: and be moued with desire and diligence to doe that which it commandeth.

Question.

Doe the Sacraments also serue to this ende?

Answer.

Yea verily: that by sight, taste and feeling, as well as by hearing, we might be instructed, assured, and brought to obedience.

Question.

How doth our Baptisme serue hereunto?

Answer.

It teacheth vs to put on Christ, that with his righteousness our sinfullnesse may be hid den: it assureth vs that we are so graft into Christ, that all our sinnes by him are washed away: it chargeth vs to die to sinne, to continue in the profession of Christ, and to loue each other.

Question.

Path the Lords Supper also this vnto?

Answer.

Yea doubtlesse: for it teacheth, that the body and blood of Christ crucified, is the only food of the new borne children of God: it assureth that Christ is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life spirituall and heauenly to body and soule, to nourish, strengthen, refresh, & to make cheerefull the hearts of the elect: it requirith thankfull remembrance of the death of Christ, vntill among those that doe profess him, with a free confession of his truely.

Question.

Why is not this vse of the Sacraments commonly known?

Answer.

Because they are abused for forme, for fashion, for custome and company, without regard vnto the worde, wherunto they are so annexed, that they ought not vpon any necessity by any person be feared fro it, which teacheth the right vse of euery thing.

Question.

I perceiue that nothing is more necessary then the word of God: therefore I pray you shew me how I may attaine to some knowledge and profit thereby.

Answer.

By diligent hearing of such as preach it, by continuall and orderly exercise of reading and praying.

Question.

What orderly exercise thinke you most conuenient to be vied herein?

Answer.

That as euery day, at the least, we most commonly receiue foode to the nourishment of this corporall life: so no day be let passe without some reading, in such sort that occasion # of Predestination, &c.

occasion thereby may be taken to speake againe unto God by prayer, as he in his wayn teacheth vnto vs: So that at the least two Chapters would be orderly and aduisedly read every day, all other businesse, impediments and lets set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done: what thinke you els requisite?

Answer.

That some especiall places of Scripture be so committed to memorye, that the minde may euer be furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which end I note these Scriptures vnto you, whereunto you may soyne other at your owne choyse:

Plalmes 139. 37. 50. Eia. 53. Job. 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard, and not easie to vnderstand.

Answer.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seeke him: and that hardness that you finde, seemeth to mooue you to the more diligence, and to make enquirie of such as haue knowledge, when any doubt ariseth. And which you perceiue not at one time, God shall reuel to another: So that you shall haue your growing in grace, knowledge and godlinesse, to Gods glory and your owne comfort in Christ, whose Name for euer be praised. Amen.

The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ, according to Mathew.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this historie written by Mathew, Marke, Luke, & Iohn, the Spirit of God so gouerned their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect and purpose they so consent, as though 1 whole had bene composed by any one of them. And albeit in stile and manner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one winneth more largely than which the other doth abridge: neuertheless in matter & argument, they all tend to one end, which is to publish to the world the favour of God toward mankind through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath given as a pledge of his mercy and love. And for this cause they make their story, Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed in deede that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the world, & the vanities thereof, and with most affectioned hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs. for there is no joy nor consolation, no peace, nor quietness, no felicity nor salvation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whom all the promises Yeas, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained the whole new Testament: but commonly we use this name for the historie, which the foure euangelists write, containing Christ coming in the flesh, his death, and resurrection, which is the perfect summe of our salvation. Mathew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and deede, but Iohn more labourous to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to knowe that Christ was borne, deale, and risen againe, should nothing profite vs. Of which thing notwithstanding that the three first touch partly, he also sometime interleth in the former narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a most learned interpreter maketh, they deuide, as we see, the body and Iohn teacheth before our eyes the soule. Wherefore the first fully setteth the Gospel written by Iohn, the key, which openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: (for whosoever doeth know the office, vertue & power of Christ, shall reade that which is written in the Gospels of God, as unto the Red-corne of the root, and not of the fruite. Now concerning the writers of this history, a tradition that Mathew was a publicane, or custome gatherer, and was brother of Iudas, to be as Apostle, Marke is thought to haue bene Petrus disciple, and brother of the first Church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a physician of Antiochia, and became Pauls disciple and fellow in all his travels: the third Evangelist, and Ioues vnder, and brother of James: he died three yere, yet after Christ, and was buried in the city of Apollonia.

 2. Saying, Behold, I am the King of the Jewes that is borne: for we have leave to sit in the East, and are come to

 3. When king Herode heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.
 4. And gathering together all the chief Priests, and Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.
 5. And they sayde unto him, At Bethlehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,
 6. And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the Ruler, which shall feede my people Israel.
 7. Then Herode, privily called the wise men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the birth that appeared.
 8. And sent them to Beth-lehem, saying,
 God, and search diligently for the babe:
 and when ye have found him, bring mee word againe, that I may come also, and worship
 him.
 9. And when they had heard the King, they departed: and lo, the starre which they had seen in the East, went before them, till it came, and stood over the place where the babe was.
 10. And when they sawe the starre, they rejoiced with an exceeding great joy.
 11. And went into the house, and found the babe with Marie his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him: and offered him gifts, and presented unto him gold, frankincense, and myrrour.
 12. And after they were warned of God in a dream, that they should not goe againe to Herode, they returned into their country another way.
 13. And when his departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared unto Ioseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word: for Herode will seek the babe, to destroy him.

19 And when Heron was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt.

20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the lande of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then he arose up, and took the babe and his mother, and came into the lande of Israel.

22 But when hee heard that Archelaus did reign in Iudaea in stead of his father Herode, hee was afrayde to goe thither: yet after hee was warned of God in a dream, hee turned aside into the partes of Galilee.

23 And went and dwelt in a cite called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, that he should be called Nazarene.

For that holiness which should be manifested in him, Joseph, &c.

1 The office, doctrine, and life of Iohn. 7 The Pharisees are reproved. 8 The fruites of repentance. 13 Christ is baptized in Iordan. 17 And anointed by God his Father.

And in those dayes, Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the wilderness of Iudaea.

2 And said, Repent ye: for the kingdome of heauen is at hand.

3 For this is he of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Esaias, saying, The voice of him that cryeth in the wilderness, is, prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

4 And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skin about his loynes: his meate was also, locustes and wilde honey.

5 Then went out to him Ierusalem and all Iudaea, and all the region round about Iordan.

6 And they were baptized of him in Iordan, confessing their sinnes.

7 Now when hee saw many of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees come to be baptized, he said vnto them, O generations of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the anger to come?

8 Bring forth therefore a fruites worthy amendment of life.

13 Then came Iesus from Galilee to Iordan vnto Iohn, to be baptized of him.

14 But Iohn put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?

15 Then Iesus answering, sayd to him, Let bee now: for thus it becometh vs to fulfill all righteousness. So hee suffered him.

16 And Iesus when hee was baptized came straight out of the water. And loe, the heauens were opened vnto him, and Iohn saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting vpon him.

17 And loe, a voice came from heauen, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

19 Against the devill thou shalt be able to resist.

20 And he said unto him, All these will I give thee, if thou wilt fall downe and worship me.

22 Then the devill left him: and be-

23 And when Jesus had heard that John was delivered up, he returned into Galilee.

24 And leaving Nazareth, went & dwelt in Capernaum, which is neere the sea, in the borders of Zabulon and Naphtali.

25 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the Prophet, saying,

26 The land of Zabulon, and the land of Naphtali, by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles.

27 The people which sat in darkness, saw great light: and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death, light is risen up.

28 From that time Jesus beganne to preach, and to say, Amend your lives: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.

29 And Jesus walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter,

30 and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers).

31 And he sayde unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

32 And they straightway leaving the nets, followed him.

33 And when hee was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the sonne of Zebedee, 34 and John his brother, in a ship with Zebedee their father, mending their nets, and he called them.

35 And they without tarrying, leaving the ship, and their father, followed him.

36 So Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness, and every disease among the people.

37 And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought unto him all sicke people, that were taken with divers diseases and gripings, and them that were possessed with devils, and those which were lunaticke, and those that had the palsey: and he healed them.

38 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and Judea, and from beyonde Jordan.

Herberts and Pharises, ye shal not enter in to the kingdome of heauen.

21 * Ye haue heard that it was said vnto them of olde time, * Thou shalt not kill: whosoever killeth, shall bee culpable of judgement.

22 But I say vnto you, whosoener is angry with his brother, without doubt, shall be culpable of judgement. And whosoener sayeth vnto his brother, * Raca, shall be worthy to be punished by the Councill. And whosoener shall say, Fools, shall be worthy to be punished with hell fire.

23 If then thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee,

24 Leave there thine offering before the altar, and goe thy way: first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 Agree with thine aduersarie quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him, lest thine aduersarie deliuer thee to the iudges, and the iudge deliuer thee to the sergant, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Certely I say vnto thee, thou shalt not come out thence, till thou hast payed the very last farthing.

27 * Ye haue heard that it was said to them of olde time, * Thou shalt not commit adultery.

28 But I say vnto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 Wherefore if thy right eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and call it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and call it from thee: for better it is for thee that one of thy members perish, then that the whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath bene said also, * Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him giue her a testimoniall of diuorcement.

32 But I say vnto you, whosoever shall put away his wife (except it be for fornication) causeth her to commit adultery: whosoever shall marrie her that is diuorced, committeth adultery.

33 Again, ye haue heard that it was said vnto them of olde time, * Thou shalt not forswear thy selfe, but shalt performe thine othes to the Lord.

34 But I say vnto you, * Swear not at all, neither by heauen, for it is the throne of God.

35 Nor yet by the earth: for it is his footstool: neither by Ierusalem: for it is the citie of the great King.

36 Neither shalt thou sweare by thine head, because thou canst not make one haire white or blacke.

37 * But let your communication be, Yea, yea: Nay, nay. For whosoever saith more then these, commeth of euill.

38 Ye haue heard that it hath bene said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.

39 But I say vnto you, * Resist not euill: but whosoever shall smite thee on the right cheeke, turne to him the other also.

40 And if any man will sue thee at the Law, and take away thy coat, let him haue thy cloke also.

41 And whosoever will compell thee to go a mile, goe with him twaine.

42 Giue to him that asketh, and from him that would boirow of thee, turne not away.

43 Ye haue heard that it hath bene said, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.

44 But I say vnto you, * Love your enemies: blesse them that curse you: doe good to them that hate you, and pray for them which hurt you, and persecute you,

45 * That ye may be the children of your Father that is in heauen: for he maketh his sunne to arise on the euill, and the good, and sendeth raine on the iust and vniust.

46 For if ye see loue them which loue you, what reward shall you haue? Doe not the Publicans euen the same?

47 And if ye be friendly to your brethren onely, what singular thing doe ye? doe not euen the Publicans likewise?

48 Ye shall therefore be perfect, as your Father which is in heauen, is perfect.

6 But when thou prayest, * enter into rayment:
thy chamber: and when thou hast shut thy dooze, pray vnto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

7 Also when ye pray, * list no vaine re-petitions as the heathen: for they thinke to be heard for their much babbling.

8 Be ye not like them therefore: for your Father knoweth wherof yee haue neede, before yee aske of him.

9 After this * manner therefore pray yee,
* Our Father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy Name.

10 Thy * kingdome come. Thy will bee done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Give vs this day our daily bread.

12 And forgive vs our debtes, as wee also forgiue our debtors.

13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs * from euill: for * thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glorie for euer. Amen.

14 * For if yee doe forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgiue you.

15 But if yee doe not forgive men their trespasses, nor more will your Father forgive you your trespasses.

16 Moreover, when yee fast, looke not sotise as the hypocrites: for they * disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Certly I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, * anoynt thine head, and wash thy face,

18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 * Lay not vp treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupt, and where theues dig through, and steale.

20 * But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor can-ker corrupteth, and where theues neither digge through, nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 * The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye bee * single, thy whole bodie shall be light.

23 But if thine eye bee * twofold, then all the body shall bee darke. Wherefore if the * light that is in thee, be darkened, how great is that darknesse!

24 * A man can serue two masters: for either hee shall hate the one, and loue the other, or else hee shall leaue to the one, and despise the other: Yee cannot serue God and riches.

25 * Therefore I say vnto you, Bee not carefull for your life, to what yee shall eate, or what yee shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what yee shall put on. Is not the life more worth than these things? and the bodie then more than the raiment? Behold the fowles of the ayre, for they sow not, neither do they reape, nor gather into barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?
Which of you by taking care, can add to his stature? And why care ye for raiment? Learn how the lilies of the field doe grow: they labour not, neither spin:
29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.
30 Wherefore if God do clothe the grass of the field, which is to day, and to morrow is cast into the ouen, shall he not doe much more vnto you? O yee of little faith!
31 Therefore take no thought, saying,
What shall we eat? or what shall we drinke?
or wherewith shall we be clothed?
32 For after all these things * seeke the Gentiles: for your heavenly Father knoweth that yee haue neede of all these things.
33 But seeke ye first the kingdom of God, and his * righteousnesse, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you.
34 Care not then for the morrow: for the morrow shall care for it: * suffice the day with enough with his owne griefe.

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they doe not, neither reape, nor gather into the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by taking care, is able to add one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learn how the lilies of the field doe grow: they
labour not, neither spin:

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God do clothe the grass of the field, which is to day, and to morrow is 13 * Enter in at the strait gate, for it is the wide gate, and broad : way that leadeth to destruction : and many there be which go in thitherat.

14 Because the gate is strait, and the way narrow that leadeth vnto life, and few there be that finde it.

15 * Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheepes clothing, but inwardly they are raueninging wolues.

16 Ye shall knowe them by their fruites. * Do men gather grapes of thornes : or figs of thistles ?

17 So eueri good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth euill fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 * Eueri tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

23 And then will I professe to them, * I neuer knewe you : * depart from mee, ye that worke iniquitie.

24 Whosoener then heareth of me these wordes, * and doeth the same, I will liken him to a wise man, which hath builded his house on a rocke :

25 And the raine fell, & the floods came, and the windes blew, and beat vpon that house, and it fell not : for it was grounded on a rocke.

26 But whosoener heareth these my wordes, and doeth them not, shall be likened vnto a foolish man, which hath builded his house vpon the sand :

27 And the raine fell, & the floods came, and the windes blew, and beat vpon that house, & it fell, and the fall thereof was great.

28 * And it came to passe, when Iesus had ended these wordes, the people were astonished at his doctrine.

29 For hee taught them as one hauing authority, and not as the Scribes.

9 For I am a man also vnder the authoritie of another, and haue souldiers vnder me : and I say to one, Go, and hee goeth : and to another, Come, and hee cometh : and to my seruant, Doe this, and hee doeth it.

Jonas. 3. 5.

q Who was a poore stranger, and yet these know not the Messiah which was promised to be their king.

1. King. 10. 1. 2. Chron. 10. 1. r It is meant as touching her fact in coming to see Salomon, and not her person: for the was not instructed in the Law of God.

28 But if I cast out devils by the spirit of God, then is the kingdom of God come upon you.

29 How can a man enter into a strong mans house and spoile his goods, except he first bind the strong man, and then will he spoile his house.

30 Ye that is not with mee, is against me: and he that gathereth mee with mee, scattereth.

31 Therefore I say unto you, every sin, and blasphemy shall be forgiven men: but the blasphemy against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men.

32 And whosoever shall speake a word against the Sonne of man, he will be forgiven him: but whosoever shall speake against the holy Ghost, he shall be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good: or else make the tree euill, and his fruit euill: for the tree is known by the fruit.

34 O generation of vipers, how can you speake good things, when ye are euill: for of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: and an euill man out of an euill treasure bringeth forth euill things.

36 But I say vnto you, that of every idle word that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy words thou shalt bee iustified, and by thy words thou shalt bee condemned.

38 Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharisees, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said to them, An euill and adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be giuen vnto it, save the signe of the Prophet Jonas.

40 For as Jonas was three dayes and three nightes in the whales belly: so shall the Sonne of man bee three dayes and three nightes in the heart of the earth.

41 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas: and behold, a greater then Jonas is here.

42 The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and condemne it: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to heare the wisdom of Salomon: and behold, a greater then Salomon is here.

43 How when the Suckeane spitteth is against a man, he walketh throughout all his places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 There bee saith, I will come into mine house, from whence I came: and when hee is come, he findeth empty, sweep, and garnished.

45 Therefore I saye, I will come into mine house, from whence I came: and when hee is come, he findeth empty, sweep, and garnished.

46 Therefore I saye, I will come into mine house, from whence I came: and when hee is come, he findeth empty, sweep, and garnished.

47 Then he goeth, and taketh vnto him his children, and sitteth vpon the childe, and they crieth out, and blesseth him: and the multitude of the people desired that he should do so with them.

48 Then he saith vnto them, Behold, I saye vnto you, that whosoever shall receive one of these children in my name, he receiue me.

49 And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, and said, Behold my Father and my brother.

50 For whosoever shall do my Father which is in heauen, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The state of the kingdom of God fit for the parable of the seed. 2 Of the tares. 3 Of the mustard seed. 33 Of the leaven. 44 Of the treasure hid in the field. 45 Of the pearler. 47 And of the net. 57 The Prophet is commended in his owne country.

1 The same day went Jesus out of the house, and saw by the sea side.

2 And a great multitude resorted vnto him, so that he went into a shippe, and sat downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold a sower went forth to sowe.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and the fowles came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they sprung up, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne rose up, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung up and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and brought forth fruit, one came and hundred fold, some fiftie fold, and another thirtie fold.

9 Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 Then the disciples came, and said vnto him, telle these things vnto them in parables.

11 And he answered and said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you to know the secrets of the kingdom of heauen, but to them it is not giuen.

12 For whosoever hath, to him shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance: but who doeth not haue, from him shall be taken away, even that he hath.

13 Therefore I speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, see not, nor hearing, they heare not, neither understand.

14. So in them is fulfilled the prophesie of Isaiah, which prophesie saith, * By hearing, ye shall hear, and shall not understand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceive.

15. For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they have winked, least they should see with their eyes, and hear with their eares, and should understand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16. But blessed are your eyes, for they see, and your eares, for they heare.

17. For verily I say vnto you, that many Prophets and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, and haue not see them, and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

18. ¶ Heare ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19. Whensoever a man heareth the word of the kingdome, and understandeth it not, the euill one cometh, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is he which hath receiued the seed in the way side.

20. And hee that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is hee which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy receiveth it.

21. Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution cometh because of the word, he and by he is offended.

22. And he that receiued the seed among thornes, is hee, that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and hee is made unfruitfull.

23. But hee that receiveth the seede in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, & understandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixty fold, and some thirty fold.

24. ¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his field.

25. But while men slept, there came his enemy, and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26. And when the blade was springing vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27. Then came the seruants of the householder, and sayd vnto him, Master, sowedst thou not good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28. And hee sayd vnto them, The euill one hath done this. Then the seruants sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29. But hee sayd, Nay, lest while ye goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also wheat with the wheat.

30. Let both growe together vntill the harvest, and in time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and binde them in sheaves to burne them:

but gather the wheat into my barn.

31. ¶ Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustarde seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32. Which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birdes of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33. ¶ Another parable spake he to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leaven, which a woman taketh and hideth in three peckes of meale, till all her leavened.

34. ¶ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not vnto them.

35. What it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables, and will utter the things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36. Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the field.

37. Then answered he, and sayd to them, He that soweth the good seed, is the Sonne of man.

38. And the seede is the worlde, and the good seede, they are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of the wicked.

39. And the enemy that soweth them, is the deuill, and the harvest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40. And then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire: so shall it be in the end of this world.

41. The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which do iniquity.

42. And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall bee weeping and gnashing of teeth.

43. Then shall the iust men shine as the Sonne in the kingdome of their Father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44. ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45. ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like to a merchant man that seeketh good pearles.

46. Who hauing found a peece of great price, went, and sold all that hee had, and bought it.

47. ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a drawer net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kinds of things.

48. Which when it is full, men draw to land, and sit & gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49. So shall it be at the end of the world.

Mark 4. 23. 24. Luke 8. 2.

This word signifieth graue and detestable prouery, to the end that the doctrine might haue the more mastery, and the wicked might thereby be confounded.

52 Then sayd hee unto them, Therefore there, for their unbeliefes sake.

Chap. 21.26.

d The promise was wicked: but yet it was more valie to be obliuious in the same, than he might seeme constant.

A ¶ That time Herod the Tetrarch heard of the fame of Jesus.

2 And sayd vnto his seruants, This is John Baptist: he is risen againe from the dead, & therefore great works are wrought by him.

3 ¶ For Herod had taken John & bound him, & put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philipps wife.

4 For John sayde vnto him, It is not lawfull for thee to haue her.

5 And when hee would haue put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a Prophet.

6 But when Herodias birth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before the,
and pleased Herod.

7 Wherefore he promised with an oath, that he would giue her whatsoeuer she would aske.

8 And she being before instructed of her mother, sayd, Giue me here John Baptists head in a platter.

9 And the king was sorry: nevertheless because of the oath, and that he had said vnto her, he commanded it to be gi-uen her.

10 And sent, and beheaded John in the prison.

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the mayd, and she brought it vnto her mother.

12 And his disciples came, and tooke by his body, and buried it, and went, and told Jesus.

13 ¶ And when Jesus heard it, hee departed thence by ship into a desert place apart.
And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him a foote out of the cities.

14 And Jesus went forth, and saw a great multitude, and was moued with compassion toward them, and hee healed their licks.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the houre is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and buy them victuals.

16 But Jesus sayde to them, They haue no need to goe away: giue ye them to eat.

17 Then sayde they vnto him, We haue here but five loaves, and two fishes.

18 And he sayd, Bring them hither to me.

19 And hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the five loaves and the two fishes, and looked vnto heauen, and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaves to his disciples: and the disciples gaue the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were satisfied, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men, besides women and little children.

22 ¶ And straightway Jesus compelled his disciples to enter into a ship, & to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And assoone as hee had sent the multitude away, hee went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and when the euening was come, he was there alone.

24 And the shippe was now in the midst of the sea, and was tossed with waves: for it was a contrary winde.

25 And in the fourth watch of the night, Jesus went vnto them, walking on the sea.

26 And when his disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying,
It is a spirit, and cried out for feare.

27 But straightway Jesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort. It is I:
be not afraid.

28 Then Peter answered him, and sayd, Wast thou, it be thou, bid mee come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he sayd, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ship, he walked on the water, to goe to Jesus.

30 But when he saw a mighty winde, he was afraid: and as he beganne to sinke, he cried, saying, Wast thou, I am sicke.

31 So immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and sayd to him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?

32 And assoone as they were come into the

the wind ceased.

33 Then they that were in the shippe, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the sonne of God.

34 And when they were come over, they came into the land of Gennesaret.

35 And when the men of that place knew him, they sent out into all that country round about, and brought vnto him all that were sicke,

36 And besought him, that they might touch the hemme of his garment onely: and as many as touched it, were made whole.

CHAP. XV.

Christ exhorteth his disciples, and rebuketh the Scribes and Pharisees, for transgressing Gods commandments by their owne traditions. 13 The plant that shall be rooted out. 18 What things defile a man. 22 He deliuereth the woman of Canaan daughter. 26 The bread of the children. 30 He healeth the sicke. 36 And feedeth foure thousand men, with foure women and children.

Then came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharisees, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

1 Why do thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.

2 But he answered and sayd vnto them, Why doe ye also transgresse the commandment of God by your tradition?

3 For God hath commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and hee that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

4 But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father or mother, A by the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profite.

5 Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus haue ye made the commandment of God of no auctoritie by your tradition.

7 Hypocrites, Eliahas prophesied well of you, saying,

8 This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth mee with the lippes, but their heart is farre off from mee.

9 But in vaine they worship mee, teaching for doctrines, mens precepts.

10 Then hee called the multitude vnto him, and sayd vnto them, Heare and vnderstand.

11 That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which cometh out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 Then came his disciples, and sayde vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharisees are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But he answered and sayd, Every plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted vp.

14 Let them alone: they be the blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade the blinde, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 Then answered Peter, and sayd to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then sayd Iesus, Acc ye yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoever entereth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast into the draught?

18 But those things which procede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart come euill thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slanders.

20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eate with vniuersen hands, defileth not the man.

21 And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coastes of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And behold, a woman a Canaanite came out of the same coastes, and cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercy on mee, O Lord, the sonne of David: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she cryeth after vs.

24 But he answered, and sayd, I am not sent, but vnto the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

25 Pet thee came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord helpe me.

26 And he answered, and sayd, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to the whelpes.

27 But shee sayd, Truth, Lord: yet in deed the whelpes eat of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 So Iesus went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galilee, and went vp into a mountaine and late downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, hauing with them halfe, blinde, dumbe, maimes, and many other, and cast them downe at Iesus feete, and hee healed them.

31 In so much that the multitude wondered, to see the dumbe speake, the maimed whole, the halfe go, and the blinde see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, and sayd, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with me already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples sayde vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wilderness, as should suffice so great a multitude?

34 And Iesus sayd vnto them, How many loaves haue ye? And they sayd, Seuen, and a fewe little fishes.

35 Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground.

36 And tooke the seuen loaves, and the fishes, and gaue thanks, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eate, and were satisfied:

The Pharisees require a token. 6 Iesus warneth his disciples of the Pharisees doctrine. 16 The confession of Peter. 19 The keys of heauen. 24 The faithfull must beate the crosse. 25 To winne or loofe the life. 27 Christ's coming.

Then came the Pharisees and Sadducees, and did tempt him, desiring him to shew them a signe from heauen.

2 But he answered, and said vnto them, When it is evening, ye say, Faire weather: for the skie is red.

3 And in the morning ye say, To day shall be a tempest: for the skie is redde and lowring. O hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the skie, and can ye not discerne the signes of the times?

4 The wicked generation, and adulterous seeketh a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen it, but the signe of the Prophet Ionas: for he left them, and departed.

5 And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Iesus sayde vnto them, Take heede and beware of the leauen of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

7 And they thought in themselves, saying, It is because wee haue brought no bread.

8 But Iesus knowing it, sayde vnto them, Of wee little faith, why thinke you thus in your heues, because ye haue brought no bread?

9 Doe yee not yet perceiue, neither remember the fise loaves, when there were fise thousand men, and how many baskets sooke ye vp?

10 Neither the seuen loaves when there were foure thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue yee not, that I sayd not vnto you concerning bread, that yee should beware of the leauen of the Pharisees and Sadducees?

12 Then understood they that hee had not said, that they should beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

13 Now when Iesus came into the coasts of Cesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom doe men say that I the Sonne of man am?

14 And they sayd, Some say, John Baptist: and some, Elias: and others, Jeremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter answered, and said, Thou art the Christ, the Sonne of the liuing God.

17 And Iesus answered, and said to him

Blessed art thou, Simon the sonne of Ionas: for a flesh and blood hath not reuelled it vnto thee, but my Father which is in heauen.

18 And I say also vnto thee, that thou art Peter, and vpon this rocke I will build my Church: and the gates of hell shall not overcome it.

19 And I will giue vnto thee the keyes of the kingdome of heauen, and whatsoever thou shalt binde vpon earth, shall be bound in heauen: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen.

20 Then hee charged his disciples, that they should tell no man that he was Iesus the Christ.

21 From that time forth Iesus began to shew vnto his disciples, that he must goe vnto Ierusalem, and suffer many things of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and rise againe the third day.

22 Then Peter tooke him aside, & began to rebuke him, saying, Master, vnto thee I say, this shall not be vnto thee.

23 Then he turned backe, and sayd vnto Peter, Get thee behind me, Satan: thou art an offence vnto me, because thou understandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 Iesus then sayde vnto his disciples, If any man will follow mee, let him forsake himselfe, and take vpon his crosse, and follow me.

25 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall finde it.

26 For what shall it profit a man, though he should win the whole world, if he lose his owne soule? or what shall a man giue for the price of his soule?

27 For the Sonne of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his Angels, and then shall he giue to every man according to his deeds.

28 Verily I say vnto you, there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the Sonne of man come in his kingdome.

2 And loas • transfigured before them : and his face did shine as the Sonne, and his clothes were as white as the light.

3 And beholde , there appeared • vnto them Moyses and Elias, talking with him.

4 Then answered Peter, and sayde to Iesus, Master, it is • good for vs to be here: if thou wilt, let vs make here three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moyses, and one for Elias.

5 While he yet spake, beholde, a bright cloud shadowed them : & beholde, there came a voyce out of the cloud, saying, • This is my beloued Sonne, • in whom I am well pleased • to heare him.

6 And when his disciples heard that, they fell on their faces, and were sore afraid.

7 Then Iesus came and touched them, and sayd, Arise, and be not afraid.

8 And when they lifted vp their eyes, they saw no man save Iesus only.

9 And as they came downe from the mountaine, Iesus charged them, saying, shewe the vision to no man, • vntill the Sonne of man rise againe from the dead.

10 • And his disciples asked him, saying, why then say the Scribes that • Elias must first come?

11 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Certainly Elias must first come, and reitor all things.

12 But I say vnto you , that Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would: likewise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them.

13 Then the disciples perceived that he spake vnto them of Iohn Baptist.

14 • And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man, and knelwed downe to him,

15 And sayde, Master, haue pittie on my sonne: for he is lunatique, and is sore vexed: for oft times he fallerh into the fire, and oft times into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not heale him.

17 Then Iesus answered, and sayd, • O generation faithlesse and crooked, how long now shall I be with you: how long now shall I suffer you: bring him hither to me.

18 And Iesus rebuked the deuill, and he went out of him: and the child was healed at that houre.

19 Then came his disciples to Iesus apart, and sayd, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Because of your unbelieve: for • verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith as much as a graine of mustard seede, ye shall say vnto this mountaine, Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove: and nothing shall be impossible vnto you.

sus sayd vnto them, The sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men, 23 And they shall kill him, but the third day shall he rise againe: and they were very loyle.

24 • And when they were come to Capernaum, they that receiued polle money, came to Peter, and sayde, Dost thou not pay tribute?

25 He sayd, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Iesus presented him, saying, What thinkest thou, Simon? Of whom do the kings of the earth take tribute, • of polle money: of their children, or of strangers?

26 Peter sayd vnto him, Of strangers. Then sayde Iesus vnto him, Then are the children free.

1 The greatest in the kingdom of heauen, 3 He teacheth his disciples to be humble and lowly, 6 To avoid occasions of euil, 10 Not to commend one the little ones, 11 Why Christ came, 15 Of brotherly correction, 17 Of the authoritie of the Church, 19 The commendation of prayer and godly assembly, 21 Of brotherly forgiveness.

1 He • came vnto the disciples came vnto Iesus, saying, • Which is the greatest in the kingdom of heauen?

2 And Iesus called a little child vnto him, and set him in the midst of them,

3 And sayd, Verely I say vnto you, except ye be • conuered, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heauen.

4 Who soeuer therefore shall humble himselfe as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heauen.

5 • And who soeuer shall receiue such a little child in my name, receiuerh me.

6 • But who soeuer shall offend one of these little ones which beleue in me, it were better for him, that a • millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 • Woe be vnto the world because of offences: for it must needs bee that offences shall come, but woe be to that man by whom the offence cometh.

8 • Wherefore, if thine hand or thy foote cause thee to offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maymed, then hauing two handes or two feete, to be cast into euertlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes, to be cast into hell fire.

10 ¶ See that ye despise not one of these little ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their * Angels alwayes behold the face of my Father which is in heauen.

11 For * the Sonne of man is come to * saue that which was lost.

12 Now thinke ye? * If a man haue an hundred sheepe, and one of them be gone astray, doeth he not leaue ninety and nine, and goe into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray?

13 And if so be that he find it, verely I say vnto you, hee reioyceth more of that sheepe, then of the ninety and nine which went not astray.

14 So is it not the will of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these little ones should perishe.

15 ¶ Whosoever, if thy brother trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault betwene thee and him alone: if he heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother.

16 But if he heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the * mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be confirmed.

17 And if he will not vouchsafe to heare them, telle vnto the * Church: and if hee refuse to heare the Church also, let him bee vnto thee as an heathen man, and a Publicane.

18 Verely I say vnto you, * Whatsoeuer ye binde on earth, shall be bound in heauen: and * Whatsoeuer ye loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen.

19 Again, Verely I say vnto you, that if two of you shall agree in earth vpon any thing, whatsoever they shall desire, it shall bee given them of my Father which is in heauen.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the midst of them.

21 Then came Peter to him, and sayde, Master, how oft shall my brother sinne against me, and I shall forgive him? * vnto seven times?

22 Iesus sayd vnto him, I say not to thee, vnto seven times, but vnto * seventy times seven times.

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which would take a count of his seruants.

24 And when hee had begun to reckon, one was brought vnto him, which owght him ten thousand * talents.

25 And because he had nothing to pay, his master commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and his children, and al that he had, and the debt to be payd.

26 The seruant therefore fell downe, and besought him, saying, Master, appeale thine anger toward mee, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then that seruants master had compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.

¶ Then that seruants master had compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.

28 But when the seruant was departed, he found one of his fellowes, which ought him an hundred * pence, and he layd hands on him, andooke him by the throte, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 Then his fellow fel down at his feet, and besought him, saying, Appaist thine anger towards me, and I will pay thee al.

30 Yet he would not, but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 And when his other fellowes saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came, and declared vnto their master all that was done.

32 Then his master called him, and sayd to him, I enill seruant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou paydest me.

33 Dugrest thou not also to haue had pittie on thy fellowe, euen as I had pittie on thee?

34 So his master was wroth, and delivered him to the iesters, till he should pay all that was due vnto him.

35 So likewise shall mine heauenly Father do vnto you, except ye forgive: from your hearts, each one to his brother their trespasses.

CHAP. XIX.

3 Christ sheweth for what cause a woman may be diuorced. 11 Commencement is a gift of God. 14 Hee receiveth little children. 16 To obtaine life everlasting. 24 That rich men can scarcely bee saved. 28 Hee promyseth them which haue left all to follow him, life everlasting.

¶ As it came to passe, that when Iesus had finished those sayings, he departed from Galilee, and came into the coasts of Iudaea beyond Iordan.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 ¶ Then came vnto him the Pharisees tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for euery fault?

4 And he answered and sayd vnto them, Haue yee not read, * that hee which made them at the beginning, made them male and female.

5 And said, * For this cause, shall a man leaue father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife, and they * twaine shall bee one flesh?

6 Therefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let not man therefore put asunder that, which God hath coupled together.

7 They said to him, Why did then * Moses commaund to give a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away?

8 He sayd vnto them, Moses, because of the * hardnesse of your heart, suffered you to put away your wives: but * from the beginning it was not so.

9 I say therefore vnto you, * that whosoever shall put away his wife, except it bee for whoredome, and marry another, * committeth adultery: and whosoever marryeth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adultery.

10 Then sayd his disciples to him, If the

man

matter bee is betweene man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 But he said vnto them, All men can not receiue this thing, vnto they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are some chaste, which were to boine of their mothers belly: and there be some chaste, which be made chaste by men: and there bee some chaste, which haue made themselues chaste for the kingdome of heauen. He that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it.

13 ¶ Then were broughte to him little children, that hee should put his handes on them, & pray: & the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus said, Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when hee had put his handes on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ And behold, one came, and sayde vnto him, Good master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And he sayd vnto him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the Commandements.

18 He sayd to him, Which? And Iesus said, These. ¶ Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness.

19 Honour thy father and mother: and thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 ¶ The yong man said vnto him, I haue obserued all these things from my youth: what lacke I yet?

21 Iesus sayd vnto him, If thou wilt be perfect, goe, sell that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come and follow me.

22 And when the yong man heard that saying, hee went away sorrowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 ¶ Then Iesus sayd vnto his disciples, Verily I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is easier for a camel to goe thorow the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, How then can be saved?

26 And Iesus beheld them, and said vnto them, Verily men this is vnpossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ Then answered Peter, and said to him, Behold, wee haue forsaken all, and folowed thee: what shall we haue?

28 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Verily I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his Maieste, yee which folowed mee in the regeneration, * shall sit also vpon twelve thrones, and iudge the twelve tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoever shall forsake his father, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or landes, for my names sake, hee shall receiue an hundredfold more, and shall inherite euermolting life.

30 ¶ But many that are first, shall be last, and the last shall be first.

CHAP. XX.

1 Christ teacheth by a similitude, that God is debter vnto no man, & how he alway calleth men to his labour. 18 He admonisheth them of his passion. 20 He teacheth his to flee ambition. 28 Christ payeth our ransom. 33 He giueth two blind men their sight.

¶ The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine householder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And hee agreed with the labourers for a penie a day, and sent them into his vineyard.

3 And hee went out about the thirde houre, and saw other standing idle in the market place,

4 And sayd vnto them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, I wil giue you: and they went their way.

5 Againe he went out about the first and ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And hee went about the eleuenth houre, and found other standing idle, and sayd vnto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They sayd vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. He said to them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the Master of the vineyard saide vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleuenth houre came and receiued every man a penie.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued every man a peny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house,

12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equal vnto vs, which haue borne the burthen, and heate of the day.

13 And he answered one of them, saying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: diddest thou not agree with me for a peny?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto this last as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawfull for me to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye euill because I am good?

16 ¶ So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many are called, but few chosen.

17 ¶ And Iesus went up to Ierusalem, and tooke the twelve disciples apart in the way, and sayd vnto them, but the third day he shall rise againe.

20 * Then came to him the mother of Zebedees children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.

21 And he sayd vnto her, What wilt thou?
Shee said to him, Graunt that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayde, Pee dinke of the * cup that I shall drinke of, and to be baptised with the baptisme that I shal

24 * And when the other ten heard this, they disdained at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and sayde, Pee knowe that the lords of the Gentiles haue domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authoritie ouer them.

26 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your seruant,

27 And whosoever will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruant,

30 And beholde, two blinde men sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cryed, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holde their peace: but they cryed the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne
of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

32 Then Iesus stoode still, and called them, and sayd, What wilt ye that I should doe to you?

33 They sayd to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus mooued with compassion, toucheth their eyes, and immediately their eyes receiued sight, and they followed him.

CHAPTER XXI.

7 Christ rideth into Ierusalem on an asse. 12
The buyers and sellers are chased out of the Temple. 15 The children with prophesie vnto Christ.

19 The figtree withereth. 22 Faith requisite in prayer. 25 Iohns baptisme. 28 The two sonnes.

33 The parable of the husbandmen. 42 The corner stone reiected. 43 The Iewes reiected, and the Gentiles receiued.

And * when they drew neere to Ierusalem, and were come to Bethpazze, vnto the mount of the Olues, then sent Iesus two disciples,

2 Saying to them, Goe into the towne that is ouer against you, and anon yee shall finde an * asse bound, and a colte with loose teeth, and bring them vnto me.

3 And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath neede of them, and straightway he will let them goe.

4 All this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet,
saying,

5 * Tell ye the * daughter of Sion, Be-holde, thy King cometh vnto thee, meek, and sitting vpon an asse, & a colt, the foale of an asse bled to the yoke.

6 So the disciples went, and did as Jesus had commanded them,

7 And brought the asse & the colt, and put on * them their clothes, and set him thereon.

8 And a great multitude layd their garments in the way: & other cut downe branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 Howouer, the people that went before, and they also that followed, cryed, saying, * Hosanna the sonne of Dauid: blessed bee hee that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Hosanna thou which art in the * highest heauens.

10 * And when he was come into Ierusalem, all the citie was moued, saying, What is this?

11 And the people said, This is Iesus the Prophet of Nazareth in Galilee.

12 * And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and callt out all them that solde and bought in the * Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that solde doves.

13 And said to them, It is written, * When hoult shalbe called the house of prayer: * but ye haue made it a denne of thieues.

14 Then the blinde and the balt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15 But when the * chiefe Priests and Scribes saw the marvelles that he did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Hosanna the sonne of Dauid, they disdained.

16 And said vnto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Iesus said vnto them, Yea:
read ye neuer, * By the * mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast * made perfit the people?

17 * So he left them, and went out of the citie into Bethania, and lodged there.

18 And * in the morning as hee returned into the Citie, he was hungry.

19 And seeing a figge tree in the way, he god doubt not, yee shall not onely doe that which I haue done to the figge tree, but also if ye lay vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, it shall be done.

22 And whatsoeuer ye shall aske in prayer, if ye beleue, ye shall receiue it.

23 ¶ And when hee was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as he was teaching, and sayd, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie?

24 Then Iesus answered and sayd vnto them, I will also aske of you a certaine thing, which if ye tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

25 The Baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? from heauen, or of men? Then they reasoned among themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say vnto vs, Why did ye not then beleue him?

26 And if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all hold Iohn as a Prophet.

27 Then they answered Iesus, and sayd, We cannot tell. And hee sayd vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authoritie I doe these things.

28 But what thinke ye? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the Elder, and sayd, Sonne, goe, and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But he answered and said, I will not: yet afterward hee repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and sayd likewise. And he answered, and sayd, I will, sir: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They sayde vnto him, The first. Iesus sayd vnto them, Clerely I say vnto you, that the Publicans and the harlots shall goe before you into the kingdom of god.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the way of righteousnesse, and ye beleueed him not: but the Publicans, and the harlots beleueed him, and ye though ye saw it, were not moued with repentance afterward, that yee might beleue him.

33 ¶ Heare another parable, There was a certaine householder, whoch planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a winepresse therein, and built a towre, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit dyetwe nere, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruites thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his seruants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Again he sent other seruants, more then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all hee sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen sawe the sonne, they sayd among themselves, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and let vs take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will hee do to those husbandmen?

41 They said vnto him, He will cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruites in their seasons.

42 Iesus said vnto them, Read ye neuer in the Scriptures, The stone which the builders refused, the same is made the head of the corner: This was the Lordes doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

43 (Therefore say I vnto you, the kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and shall be giuen to a nation, which shall bring forth the fruites thereof.)

44 And whosoever shall fall on this stone, he shall be broken: but on whomsoeuer it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.

45 And when the chiefe Priests and Pharisees had heard his parables, they perceived that he spake of them.

46 And they seeking to lay handes on him, feared the people, because they tooke him as a Prophet.

1 The parable of the marriage. 9 The vocation of the Gentiles. 11 The marriage garment. 17 Of paying of tribute. 25 Of the resurrection. 36 The Scribes question. 44 Christs diuinity.

Then Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables, saying,

1 The kingdom of heauen is like vnto a certaine King which married his sonne,

2 And sent forth his seruants, to call them that were bidden to the wedding, but they would not come.

3 And againe he sent forth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine open and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the marriage.

4 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

5 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

6 But when the King heard it, he was wroth, and sent forth his warriers, and destroyed those murderers, and burnt by their city.

7 Then sayd he to his seruants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

8 Goe ye therefore out into the hie waies, and as many as ye finde, bid them to the marriage.

9 So those seruants went out into the hie waies and gathered together all that euer they found, both good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with guests.

10 Then the King came in, to see the guests, and saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

11 And he sayd vnto him, Friend, how camest camest thou in hither, and hast not on a wedding garment: and he was speechlesse.

13 Then sayd the King to the seruants, Binde him hand and foot: take him away, and cast him into utter darkenesse: there shall he weeping and gnashing of teeth,

14 * For many are called, but few chosen.

15 ¶ Then went y Pharisees & took counsell how they might tangle him in talke.

16 And they sent him into their disciples, with the y Herodians, saying, Master, wee know that thou art true, & teachest the way of God truly, neither carest thou for any man: for thou considerest not the person of men.

17 Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou: It is lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Iesus perceived their wickednes, and sayd, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew me the tribute money. And they brought him a penny.

20 And he sayd vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They said vnto him, Cessars. Then said he vnto them, Giue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cessars, and giue vnto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.

23 ¶ The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him,

24 Saying, Master, Moses sayd, If a man die, hauing 1 no children, let his brother marry his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother.

25 Nowe there were with vs seven brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise also the second, and the third, vnto the seventh.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seven? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Ye are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neither marry wiues, nor wiues are bestowed in marriage, but are as the Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying,

32 * I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob: God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.

33 And when the people heard it, they were astonied at his doctrine.

34 ¶ But when the Pharisees had heard that he had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled them together.

35 And one of them, which was an expounder of the Law, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,

36 Master, which is the great commandment in the Law?

37 Iesus sayd to him, * Thou shalt loue

the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soule, and with all the mind.

38 This is the first and the greater Commandment.

39 And the second is like vnto this: * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

40 On these two Commandments hangeth the whole Law and the Prophets.

41 ¶ While the Pharisees were gathered together, Iesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? whose sonne is hee? They sayd vnto him, Dauid.

43 He sayd vnto them, How then doest Dauid in spirit call him Lord, saying, 44 * The Lord sayd to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?

45 If Dauid then call him Lord, how is he his sonne?

3 Christ condemneth the ambition of scribes, Pharisees, and hypocrites of the Scribes & Pharisees: 31 Their persecutions against the seruants of God. 37 His propheticall the destruction of Ierusalem.

Then spake Iesus to the multitude, and to his disciples.

2 Saying, The Scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses seat.

3 All therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do: but after their works do not: for they say, and do not.

4 For they bind heauie burdens, and grievous to be done, and lay them on mens shoulders, but they themselves will not moue them with one of their fingers.

5 All their works they doe to be seen of men: for they make their phylacteries broad, and make long the fringes of their garments.

7 And greetings in the market, and to be called of men, I Rabbi, Rabbi.

8 But be not so called: Rabbi: for one is your y doctor, to wit, Christ, and all ye are brethren.

9 And call no man your father vpon the earth: for there is but one, your Father which is in heauen.

12 * For whosoever will exalt himself, shall be brought lowe: and whosoever will humble himself, shall be exalted.

13 ¶ Come therefore be unto you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because ye 1 shut up the kingdom of heauen before men: for ye your selues goe not in, neither suffer ye them that would enter, to come in.

14 * Also be unto you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye denounce widowers houses, euen under a colour of long prayers: wherefore ye shall receive the greater damnation.

15 ¶ Come be unto you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye compasse sea and land to make one of your profession: and when he is made, ye make him two fold more the child of hell, then your owne selues.

16 ¶ Come be unto you blind guides which say, whosoever sweareth by the Temple, it is nothing: but whosoever sweareth by the golde of the Temple, he is offendeth.

17 Ye fooles and blinde, whether is greater, the gold, or the Temple that sanctifieth the gold?

18 And whosoever sweareth by the altar, it is nothing: but whosoever sweareth by the offering that is upon it, offendeth.

19 Ye fooles and blinde, whether is greater, the offering, or the altar which sanctifieth the offering?

20 Whosoever therefore sweareth by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon.

21 * And whosoever sweareth by the Temple, sweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein.

22 * And hee that sweareth by heauen, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.

23 ¶ Also be to you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye tithe mint, and anise, and cummin, and leaue the weightier matters of the Law, as iudgement, and mercie, and fidelitie. These ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other.

24 Ye blind guides, which saye out a gnat, and swallow a camel.

25 ¶ Also be to you, Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye make cleane the utter side of the cup and of the platter: but within they are full of filthie, and if exceed.

26 * Thou blind Pharise, cleanse first the inside of the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be cleane also.

27 ¶ Also be to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye are like unto whitened tombes, which appeare beautifull outward, but are within full of dead mens bones, and of all filthinesse.

28 So are ye also: for outward ye appeare righteous vnto men, but within ye are full of hypocricie and iniquitie.

29 ¶ Come be unto you, Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye build the tombes of the Prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous.

30 And say, If we had bene in the dayes of our fathers, we woud not haue bene partners with them in the blood of the Prophets.

31 So then ye be witnesses vnto your selues, that ye are the children of them that murdered the Prophets.

32 Fillill ye also the measure of your fathers.

33 O serpents, the generation of vipers, how shouldest thou escape the damnation of hell?

34 Wherefore hebdole, I send unto you the Prophets, and wise men, and Scribes, and of them ye shall kill and crucifie: and of them shall ye scourge in your Synagogues, & persecute them from citie to citie.

35 That upon you may come all the righteous blood that was shed upon the earth, from the blood of Abel the righteous, vnto the blood of Zacharias, the sonne of Barachias, whom ye slew betwene the Temple and the altar.

36 Verily I say vnto you, All these things shall come vpon this generation.

37 * Ierusalem, Ierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them which are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings, and ye woud not!

n He meaneth

an horrible trem-

order of nature.

9 * Then shall they deliuer you vp to be afflicted, and shall kill you, and ye shall be hated of all nations for my names sake.

10 And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

11 And many false prophets shall arise, and shall deceive many.

12 And because iniquitie shall be increased, the loue of many shall be cold.

13 * But he that endureth to the ende, he shall be saved.

14 And this Gospel of the kingdome shall be preached through the whole world for a witness vnto all nations, and then shall the end come.

15 ¶ When ye * therefore shall see the * adomination of desolation spoken of by * Daniel the Prophet, standing in the holy place, (let him that readeth, consider it.)

16 ¶ Then let them which be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines.

17 Let him which is on the house top, not come downe to fetch any thing out of his house.

18 And he that is in the field, let not him returne backe to fetch his clothes.

19 And wee haile to them that are with child, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes:

20 But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the * Sabbath day.

21 For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the world to this time, nor shall be.

22 And except those dayes shoulde bee shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the * elects sake, those dayes shall bee shortened.

23 * ¶ Then if any shall say vnto you, Lo, here is Christ, or there, beleeue it not.

24 For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall shew great signes and wonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceiue the very elect.

25 Behold, I haue told you before.

26 ¶ Therefore if they shall say vnto you, Behold, he is in the * desert, goe not forth: Behold, he is in the * secret places, beleeue it not.

27 For as the lightning commeth out of the East, and shineth into the West, so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man bee.

28 * For where soeuer a dead * carkeis is, thither will the Eagles resort.

29 * And immediately after the * tribulations of those dayes, shall the Sonne * bee darkened, and the Moone shall not giue her light, and the starres shall fall from heauen, and the powers of heauen shall be shaken.

30 * And then shall appeare the signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the kindreds of the earth mourne, and they shall see the Sonne of man come in the cloudes of heauen with power and great glory.

31 * And he shall send his Angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from y<sup>e</sup> foure windes, and from the one end of the heauen to the other.

32 ¶ Now learne the parable of the figge tree: when her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, ye know that summer is nere.

33 So likewise ye, when ye see all these things, knowe that the kingdome of God is nere, even at the doores.

34 ¶ Certly I say vnto you, this * generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

35 Heauen and earth shall passe away: but my words shall not passe away.

36 But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heauen, but my Father onely.

37 But as the dayes of Noe were, so likewise shall the coming of the Sonne of man bee.

38 * For as in the dayes before the flood, they did eate and drinke, marry, and giue in marriage, vnto the day that Noe entred into the Arke, 39 And y<sup>e</sup> knewe nothing till the flood came, and tooke them all away: so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man bee.

40 * ¶ Then two men shall be in the field, the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

41 Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

42 * ¶ Make therefore: for ye know not what houre your master will come.

43 ¶ Of this be sure, that if the good man of the house knew at what watch the thief would come, he would surely watch, and not suffer his house to be digged thorow.

44 ¶ Therefore be ye also ready: for in the houre that ye thinke not, will the Sonne of man come.

45 * ¶ Who then is a faithfull seruant and wilt, whom his master hath made ruler ouer his household, to giue them meate in season?

46 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he commeth, shall find so doing.

47 ¶ Certly I say vnto you, he shall make him ruler ouer all his goods.

48 But if that euill seruant shall say in his heart, My master doth deferre his coming,

49 And begin to smite his fellowes, and to eat, and drinke with the drunken,

50 That seruants master will come in a day, when he looketh not for him, and in an houre that he will not ware of.

51 And he will scut him off, and giue him his portion with hypocrites: there shall bee weeping and gnashing of teeth.

CHAP. XXV.

1 By the similitude of the virgins Iesus teacheth euery man to watch. 14 And by the talens to be diligem. 31 The last iudgement. 32 The sheepe and the goats. 35 The workes of the faithfull.

¶ Then

Then the kingdome of heauen shall bee likened vnto ten virgins, which tooke their lampes, and went to meete the bridegrome.

2 And five of them were wise, and five foolish.

3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke none oyle with them.

4 But the wise tooke oile in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Nowe while the bridegrome taried long, all slumbered and slept.

6 And at midnight there was a crye made, Behold, the bridegrome cometh: go out to meete him.

7 Then all those virgins aroose, & trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish sayd to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Wee feare lest there will not be yppough for vs and you: but go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and sayd, Certly I say vnto you, I knowe you not.

13 * Admire therefore: for yee knowe neither the day nor the houre, when the Sonne of man will come.

14 * For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruants and deliuered to them his goodes.

15 And vnto one hee gaue five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to every man after his owne ability, & straightway went from home.

16 Then he that had receiued the five talents, went & occupied with them, and he gained other five talents.

17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

18 But hee that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came he that had receiued five talents, and brought other five talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me five talents: behold, I haue gained with them other five talents.

21 Then his master sayd vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters joy.

22 Also he that had receiued two talents, came and sayd, Master thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: beholde, I haue gained two other talents with them.

23 His master sayd vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters joy.

24 Then hee which had receiued the one talent, came and sayd, Master, I knowe that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawdest not:

25 I was therefore afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.

26 And his master answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou evil seruant and slothfull, thou knewest that I reape, where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming should I haue receiued mine owne with bantage.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.

29 * For vnto every man that hath, it shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance, and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken away.

30 Cast therefore that vnprofitable seruant into utter darknesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 ¶ And when the Sonne of man cometh in his glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the throne of his glory.

32 And before him shall be gathered all nations, and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepheard separateth his sheepe from the goats.

33 And he shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goats on the left.

34 Then shall the King say to them on his right hand, Come ye blessed of my Father: inherit ye the kingdome prepared for you from the foundations of the world.

35 * For I was an hungred, & ye gaue me meat: I thirsted, and ye gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and ye lodged me:

36 I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was in prison, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee: or athirst, and gaue thee drinke?

38 And when saw we thee a stranger, and lodged thee: or naked, and clothed thee?

39 And when saw we thee in prison, and came vnto thee?

40 And the King shall answer & say vnto them, Certly I say vnto you, in as much as yee haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.

41 Then shall hee say vnto them on the left hand, Depart from me ye cursed, into everlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

42 For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meat: I thirsted, and ye gaue me no drinke:

43 I was a stranger and ye lodged mee not: I was naked, and ye clothed me not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

44 Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee?

3 Conspiracy of the Priests against Christ. 13 He excuses Magdalene. 26 The institution of the Lords Supper. 31 The disciples weaken. 48 The treason of Iudas. 62 The sword. 64 Because Christ calleth himselfe the Sonne of God, hee is iudged worthy to die. 69 Peter denieth and repenteth.

Marke 14. 1. Luke 22. 1.

AND it came so passe, when Iesus had finished all these sayings, he said unto his disciples,

2 Ye know that within two dayes is the Passouer, and the Sonne of man shall be delivered to be crucified.

John 11. 47.

3 * Then assembled together the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of the people into the hall of the hie Priest, called Caiafas,

4 And consulted how they might take Iesus by subtiltie, and kill him.

5 But they said, Not on the feast day, lest any tumult be among the people.

Mar. 14. 3. John 11. 2. & 12. 3.

6 * And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper,

7 There came vnto him a woman, which had a boze of very costly oymnt, & powred it on his head, as he sat at the table.

a He sheweth what occasion Iudas tooke to commit his treason.

8 And when his disciples sawe it, they had indignation, saying, What needed this wastage?

9 For this oymnt might haue bene sold for much and bene given to the poore.

b This was through Iudas motion to whom they gaue credit.

10 And Iesus knowing it, sayd vnto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

Dene. 1. 5. 11.

11 * For ye haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall not haue alwayes.

12 For in that she powred this oymnt on my body, she did it to * bury me.

c This fact was extraordinary, neither was it left as an example to be followed: also Christ is not present with vs bodily or to be honoured with any outward pompe.

13 Clearly I say unto you, wheresoeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout all the world, there shall also this that shee hath done be spoken for a memoriall of her.

14 * Then one of the twelue called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests,

Marke 14. 10. Luke 22. 4.

15 And sayd, What wilt ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appointed vnto him thirtie * pieces of siluer.

e Every one in value was about foure pence half-penny of old sterling.

16 And from that time he sought opportunity to betray him.

Marke 14. 12. Luke 22. 7.

17 * Now on the first day of the feast of vniuersed bread, the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Wheres wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eate the Passouer?

f Hee maketh haste to a more worthy sacrifice, to wit, to that which the passerouer signified.

18 And he sayd, Go into the citie so such a man, and say to him, The master saith, I Wy time is at hand: I will keepe the Passouer at thine house with my disciples.

Mar. 14. 18. Luke 22. 14. ioh. 13. 21.

19 And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made ready the Passouer.

20 * So when the euen was come, he late downe with the twelue.

21 And as they did eat, he sayd, Clearly I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowfull, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And he answered, and sayd, * He that s diueth his hand with me in the dish, hee shall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

25 Then Iudas which betrayed him, answered, and said, Is it I, Master? He sayd vnto him, Thou hast sayd it.

26 * And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread: and when hee had giuen thanks, he brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and sayd, Take, eate: this is my body.

27 Also he tooke the cup, and when hee had giuen thanks, hee gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye all of it.

28 For this is my blood of the new testament, that is shed for many, for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruite of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdom.

30 And when they had sung a Psalm, they went out into the mount of Olives.

31 * Then sayd Iesus vnto them, All ye shall be * offended by me this night: for it is written, I will * smite the shepherds, and the sheepe of the flocke shall be scattered.

32 But after I am risen againe, I will go before you into Galilee.

33 But Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, * Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 Iesus sayd vnto him, Clearly I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should die with thee, yet will I not denie thee. I likewise also sayd all the disciples.

36 * Then went Iesus with them vnto a place which is called Gethsemane, and said vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe and pray yonder.

37 And he tooke Peter, & the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waite sorrowfull, & grievously troubled.

38 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, My soule is very drayn, euen vnto the death: can ye be here, and watch with me?

39 So he went a little further, & fel on his face, & prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup * passe from me: neuertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 After, he came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, & sayd to Peter, What could ye not watch with me one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit in deed is ready, but the flesh is * weak.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup cannot passe away from me, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done.

43 And he came, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heavy.

44 So he left them and went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came hee to his disciples, and sayd vnto them, Sleepe yem now, & take your rest: beholde, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the handes of sinners.

46 Kisse, let vs goe: behold, hee is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 And while he yet spake, loe, Judas, one of the twelue, came, & with him a great multitude with swordes and staves, from the hie Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him had giuen them a token, saying, Whomeuer I shall kisse, that is he, lay hand on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and said, God saue thee, Master, and kissed him.

50 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Friend, wherfore art thou come? Then came they, and layd hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand and drew his sword, and strooke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his place: for all that I take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 Either thinkest thou, that I cannot pray to my Father, and he will giue me more then twelue legions of Angels?

54 Now then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre said Iesus to the multitude, He be come out as it were against a chiefe with swordes and staves, to take me: I late dayly teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled.

57 Then all the disciples forsooke him, & fled.

58 And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

59 And Peter followed him afare off vnto the hie Priests hall, and went in, and late with the seruants to see the end.

60 Nowe the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Councill sought false witness against Iesus, to put him to death,

61 But they founde none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses,

62 And sayd, This man sayd, I can destroy the temple of God, and build it in thre dayes.

63 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayd to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

64 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I charge thee by the liuing God, that thou tel vs if thou be the Christ, the sonne of God.

64 Iesus said to him, Thou hast sayd it: neuertheless I say vnto you, hereafter shall yee see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.

65 When the hie Priest rent his clothes, saying, he hath blasphemed: what haue we any more neede of witnesses? behold, now ye haue heard his blasphemie.

66 What thinke yee? They answered, and sayd, He is worthy to die.

67 Then sayd they in his face, and buffeted him: and other smote him with their rods, 68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, who is he that smote thee?

69 A Peter late without in the hall, and a maid came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galilee.

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wot not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porch, another mayde saw him, and said vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an othe, saying, I knowe not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and sayd vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euery man thy speech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began hee to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I knowe not the man. And immediately the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembered the words of Iesus, which had sayd vnto him, Before the cocke crow, thou shalt deny me thrise. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

53 And came out of the graues after his resurrection, and went into the * holy Cite, and appeared vnto many.

54 When the Centurion, and they that were with him watching Iesus, sawe the earthquake, and the things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly * this was the Sonne of God.

55 And many women were there, beholding him afare off, which had followed Iesus from Galile, ministering vnto him.

56 Among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Ioseph, and the mother of Zebedeus sonnes.

57 And when the euen was come, there came a * rich man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus Disciple.

58 He went to Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body, and wayed it in a cleane linnen cloth.

60 And put it in his new * tombe, which hee had bene open in a rocke, and rolled a great stone to the doore of the sepulchre, and departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary sitting ouer against the sepulchre.

62 And the next day that followed the * Preparation of the Sabbath, the high Priestes and Pharisees assembled to Pilate.

63 And said, Sir, we remember that that deceiver said, while he was yet alive, * I will rise in three dayes. I will rise.

64 Command therefore that the sepulchre bee made sure vntill the third day, lest his Disciples come by night, and steale him away, and say vnto the people, * Hee is risen from the dead: so shall the last * error bee worse then the first.

65 Then Pilate said vnto them, He haue * a watch: go, and make it sure as ye knowe.

66 And they went, and made the sepulchre * sure with the watch, & sealed the stone.

CHAP. XXVIII.

8 The resurrection of Christ. 10 The brethren of Christ. 12 The high Priest bribes the souldiers. 17 Christ appeareth to his disciples, and sendeth them forth to preach and to baptize. 20 Promising to them * continual assistance.

1 And when the first day of the week beganne to dawning, Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary came to see the sepulchre.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the * Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sat upon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and sayd to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 Hee is not here, for hee is risen, as he sayd: Come, see the place where the Lord was layd.

7 And goe quickly, and tel his Disciples that he is risen from the dead: and behold, hee goeth before you into Galilee: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great * ioy, and did run to bring his Disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his Disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and rayed him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid. Go, and tell my brethren, that they go into Galile, and there shall they see me.

11 And when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the cite, and shewed vnto the high Priestes all the things that were done.

12 And they * gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, & gaue large money vnto the souldiers.

13 Saying, Say, His Disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if the gouernour heare of this, we will perfwade him, and saue you harmlesse.

15 So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this * saying is noted among the Iewes vnto this day.

16 And when the cleuen Disciples went into Galile, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appointed them.

17 And when they sawe him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Iesus came, & spake vnto them, saying, * All power is giuen vnto me in heauen, and in earth.

19 * Goe therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghost.

In the beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of 2 As it is written in the Prophecie, * Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 The voice of him that cryeth in the wildernes, * Prepare the way of the Lord, make his pathes straight.

4 * Iohn did baptize in the wildernes, and preach the baptisme of amendment of life, for remission of finnes.

5 And all the country of Iudea, & they of Ierusalem went out unto him, and were all baptized of him in the river Iordan, confessing their finnes.

6 Nowe Iohn was clothed with camels hair, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: and he did eate * Locustes and wilde honey.

7 * And preached, saying, I stronger then I cometh after me, whose shoes I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and unloose.

8 Truly it is, I haue * baptized you with water: but hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazaret a city of Galilee, and was baptized of Iohn in Jordani.

10 And alsoone as hee was come out of the water, Iohn sawe the heavens clouen in twaine, and the * holy Ghost descending vpon him like a dove.

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloved * Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

12 * And immediately the * Spirit drereth him into the wildernes.

13 And hee was there in the wildernes fourtie dayes, and was * tempted of Satan:
he was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministered vnto him.

14 * * Nowe after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God,

15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

16 The Father beareth witness that Christ is the very Sonne of God, Math. 4. 1. Luke 4. 1. || Or, the 16 * And as he walked by the Sea of Galilee, hee sawe Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the Sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Follow me, & I will make you to be * fishers of men.
18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 And when he had gone a little further thence, he saw Iames the sonne of Zebedee, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedee in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 * So * they entred into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entered into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonished at his doctrine: * for hee taught them as one that had authoritie, and * not as the scribes.

23 * And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an unclean spirit, and he cried,

24 Saying, Ah, what haue wee to doe with thee, O Iesus of Nazaret? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, even that holy one of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, * Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the unclean spirit tare him, and cried with a loud voice, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what * new doctrine is this:
for hee commandeth the foule spirits with au-thoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galilee.

29 * And alsoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wifes mother lay sicke of a fever, and anon they told him of her.

31 And hee came & tooke her by the hand, and lift her vp, and the fever forsooke her and by, and he ministered vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, and the Sunne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out many devils, and * suffered not the devils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early, * before day, Iesus arose and went out into a soli-tarie place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

37 And when they had found him, they layd vnto him, If men seeke for thee.

38 When he sayd vnto them, Let vs goe into the next towne, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And he preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the devils out.

40 ¶ And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and knelled downe vnto him, and said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and sayde to him, I will: be thou cleane.

42 And as soone as he had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after hee had given him a strait commandement, he sent him away without.

44 And sayd vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man; but get thee hence, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing, those thyngs, which Moses commanded for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, hee began to tell many thyngs, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the cite, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from every quarter.

CHAP. II.

3. He healeth the men of the palsy. 5 He forgiveth sinnes, 14 Hee calleth him the customer, 16 He eateth with sinners. 18 He excuseth his disciples, as touching fasting, and keeping the Sabbath day.

AFTER a few dayes, he entered into Capernaum againe, and it was noyed that he was in the house.

2 And anon many gathered together, in so much that the places about the doore could not receive any more: and he preached the word vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palsey, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vniuered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, whereon the sicke of the palsey lay.

5 Now when Iesus vnto their faith, hee sayd to the sicke of the palsey, Sonne, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certain of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

8 And immediately when Iesus perceived in his Spirit, that thus they thought with themselves, he sayd vnto them, Why reason ye these thyngs in your hearts?

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palsey, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee: or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 And that yee may knowe, that the Sonne of man hath authority on earth to forgive sinnes, (he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsey)

11 I say vnto thee, Arise and take vp thy bed, and get thee hence into thine owne house.

12 And by and by hee arose, andooke vp his bed, and went forth before them all, inasmuch that they were at amaze and glorified God, saying, We neuer sawe such a thing.

13 ¶ Then hee went againe toward the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them.

14 ¶ And as Iesus passed by, he saw Leui the sonne of Alphaeus sit at the receipt of custome, and sayd vnto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.

15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Iesus late at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners late at table also with Iesus, and his disciples: for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Pharisees saw him eat with the Publicanes and sinners, they sayd vnto his disciples, How is it, that hee eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners.

17 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayde vnto them, The whole have no neede of the Physician, but the sicke. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

18 ¶ And the disciples of Iohn, and the Pharisees did fast, and came and said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn and of the Pharisees fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, while the bridegrome is with them: as long as they have the bridegrome with them, they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast in those dayes.

21 Also no man putteth a piece of new cloth in an olde garment: for els the new piece taketh away the filling vp from the olde, and the breach is worse.

22 Likewise, no man putteth new wine into olde vessels: for els the new wine breacketh the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but new wine must be put into new vessels.

23 ¶ And it came to passe, as hee went throughe the come on the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, began to plucke the eares of corne.

24 And the Pharisees sayd vnto him, Behold, why doe they on the Sabbath day that which is not lawfull?

25 And hee sayd to them, Have ye neuer read what David did, when hee had need, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him?

26 Now hee went into the house of God, in the dayes of Auiathar the hye Priest, and did eat the shewbread, which were not lawfull to eat, but for the Priests, and gave also to them which were with him.

27 And hee sayd to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

28 Wherefore the Sonne of man is Lord even of the Sabbath.

Matt. 12. 9, 10. Luke 6. 6.

And he entered againe into the Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him whether hee would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

3 Then he said unto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: stand forth in the midst.

4 And he said to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good worke on the Sabbath day, or to doe euill to save the life, or to kill? But they held their peace.

5 Then he looked round about on them angrily, mourning also for the hardnesse of their hearts, and said to the man, stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored as whole as the other.

6 And the Pharisees departed, and straightway gathered a Councill with the Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

7 But Iesus answered with his disciples to the sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galilee, and from Iudea.

8 And from Ierusalem, and from Iudaea, and beyond Iordan: & they that dwelled about Tyris and Sidon, when they had heard what great things he did, came unto him in great number.

9 And he commanded his disciples, that a shippe should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For he had healed many, insomuch that they pressed upon him, to touch him, as many as had plagues.

11 And when the unclean spirits saw him, they fell downe before him, and cryed, saying, Thou art the sonne of God.

12 And he sharply rebuked them, to the end they should not vnder him.

13 And when he went up into a mountain, and called vnto him whom he would, & they came vnto him.

14 And hee appointed twelue, that they should be with him, and that hee might send them to preach,

15 And that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to cast out deuils.

16 And the first was Simon, and hee named Simon Peter.

17 Then James the sonne of Zebedee, and Iohn, James his brother, (and named them Boanerges, which is, the sonnes of thunder)

18 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the sonne of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, and Simon the Cananite.

19 And Iudas Iscariot who also betrayed him, and they came home.

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.

21 And when his kindest heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they thought he had bene beside himselfe.

22 And the multitude which came from Ierusalem, and, Iherosolym, Bethsaida, and through the prime of Iudea, hee carried out deuils.

23 But he called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satan drive out Satan?

24 For if a kingdome be diuided against itselfe, that kingdome cannot stand.

25 And if a house be diuided against itselfe, that house cannot continue.

26 So if Satan make indurction against himselfe, and be diuided, hee cannot endure, but is at an end.

27 No man can enter into a strong mans house, and take away his goods, except he first binde that strong man, and then will hee spoile him.

28 And I say vnto you, all finnes shall be forgiven vnto the children of men, and blasphemies, wherewith they blaspheme:

29 But he that blasphemeth against the holy Ghost shall neuer haue forgiveness, but is culpable of eternall damnation.

30 Because they say, he had an unclean spirit.

31 Then came his brethren and mother, and stood without, and sent vnto him, and called him.

32 And the people late about him, & they sayd vnto him, Beholde, thy mother and thy brethren seeke for thee without.

33 But he answered them, saying, Who is my mother, and my brethren?

34 And hee looked round about on them, which late in compasse about him, and sayd, Behold my mother and my brethren.

35 For whosoever doeth the will of God, he is my brother, and my sister, and mother.

CHAP. IIII.

2 By the parables of the seede, and the mustard corne, Christ sheweth the state of the kingdome of God. 11 A speciall gift of God to know the mysteries of his kingdome. 37 He stillet the tempest of the sea, which obeyed him.

And hee beganne againe to teach by the sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that hee entered into a ship, and sat in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and sayde vnto them in his doctrine,

3 Hearken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the fowles of the heauen came and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by springing vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soone as the sunne was up, it caught heate, and because it had no roote, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some againe fel in good ground, & did

10. And when they saw him, and cried, and said, What willest thou of us? he said unto them, Let the wind and sea obey thee.

11. And when they were come, they that were about him said unto him, Alas thou art so gentle, and so meek, that thou art not able to command these winds and sea.

12. And he said unto them, Ye have faith? then he said unto them, Know ye the mystery of the kingdom of God? but unto them that are without, all things are done in parables.

13. What they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may hear, and not understand, lest at any time they should turn, and their sinners should be forgiven them.

14. And he said unto them, Therefore see not this parable: both when should ye understand all other parables?

15. The sower sowed the seed.

16. And these are they that receive the seed by the way side, in whom the word is sown: but when they have heard it, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.

17. And likewise they that receive the seed in stony ground, are they, which when they have heard the word, straightway receive it with gladness.

18. But have they no root in themselves, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they are offended.

19. Also they that receive the seed among the thorns, are such as hear the word.

20. But the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is unfruitful.

21. But they that have received seed in good ground, are they that hear the word, and receive it, and bring forth fruit, one some thirty, another sixty, and some an hundred fold.

22. And he said unto them, Is the parable hard to be put under a bushell, or under a table, and not to be put on a cartwheel?

23. For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, that shall not come to light.

24. If any man have ears to hear, let him hear.

25. And he said unto them, Take heed what ye hear. For whosoever shall give a measure, it shall be measured unto him: and unto him that shall give, shall more be given.

26. For unto him that hath, shall it be given, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, even that he hath.

27. And he said unto them, The kingdom of God, as if a man should cast a seed in the ground.

28. And should sleep, and rise by night and day, and the seed should spring, and grow up, without knowing how.

29. For the earth beareth forth fruit of itself, first the blade, then the ear, after that full cometh in the ear.

30. And likewise, as the fruit beareth it itself, so shall he that receiveth the seed, so shall he that receiveth the seed, so shall he that receiveth the seed, so shall he that receiveth the seed.

31. And he said unto them, Let us liken the kingdom of God to a man that sowed seed.

32. As it is like a grain of mustard seed, which when it is sown in the earth, is the least of all seeds that be in the earth.

33. But when it is sown, it groweth up, and is greater of all herbs, and beareth great branches, so that the fowls of heaven may build under the shadow of it.

34. And with many such parables he preached the word unto them, as they were able to hear it.

35. And without parables he saith nothing unto them, but he expoundeth all things to his disciples.

36. And when the same day when even was come, he said unto them, Let us pass over unto the other side.

37. And they left the multitude, and took him as he was in the ship, and there were also with him other ships.

38. And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

39. And he was in the stern, asleep on a pillow: and they awoke him, and said to him, Master, carest thou not that we are perishing?

40. And he arose up, and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, and be still. And the wind ceased, and it was a great calm.

41. And he said unto them, Why are ye so fearful? I know ye that ye have no faith.

42. And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another, What a thing is this, that both the wind and the sea obey him?

43. And he said unto them, Let us go over to the other side.

44. And he said unto them, Let us go over to the other side.

9 And hee said vnto him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, Legion: for we are many.

10 And he prayed him instantly, that hee would not send them away out of the country.

11 Now there was there in the mountaines a great herd of swine feeding.

12 And all the devils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that wee may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gave them leave. When the vnlesse spirits went out, and entered into the swine, and the herd ran headlong from the high bankes into the sea, (and there were about four thousand swine) and they were drowned in the sea.

14 And the winchewers heebde, and tolde it in the citie, and in the country, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

20 So hee departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marvle.

21 And when Iesus was come nigh againe by shippe vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered to him, and hee was nere vnto the sea.

22 And beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Jairus: and when hee saw him, he fell downe at his feete.

25 And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood

26 And shee suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that shee had, and it availed her nothing: but shee became much worse.

27 When shee had heard of Iesus, she came in the press behind, and touched his garment.

28 For shee said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the source of his blood staid up, and shee felt in her body, that shee was healed of that plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus knew in himselfe the deute that went out of him, hee turned him round about in the press, and sayde, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude thronging thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched thee?

32 And hee looked round about, to see whoe that had done that.

33 And the women feared and trembled, for they knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole truth.

34 And hee said to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and be whole of thy plague.

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogue some certaine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why dost thou trouble the Master any further?

36 As soone as Iesus heard that word spoken, hee said vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleve.

37 And hee suffered no man to follow him, save Peter and James, and John the brother of James.

38 So hee came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And hee went in, and laid vnto them, saying make ye this trouble, and weep: for the child is not dead, but sleepest.

40 And they laughed him to scorn: but hee put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the child, and them that were with him, and entred in where the child lay.

41 And tooke the child by the hand, and sayde vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maiden, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straightway the maiden arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelve yeeres: and they were astonished out of measure.

43 And he charged them straitly that no man should knowe of it, and commaunded to giue her meate.

CHAP. VI.

How Christ and his are received in their own country. 7 The Apostles commission. 15 Several opinions of Christ. 25 Iohn a pre to death, and buriall. 31 Christ giueth rest to his disciples. 38 The four haues and two fishes. 48 Christ walketh on the water. 55 Hee healeth many.

A Freedward hee departed thence, and came into his owne country, and his disciples followed him.

2 And when the Sabbath was come, hee beganne to teach in the Synagogue, and many that heard him were amazed, and sayde, From whence hath hee these things: and what wisdom is this that

Stephen unto him, that even such I great make are made by his hands.

10. So they that are Carpenters, Carvers home, the father of James and John, and of Jude and Simon: and are not his sisters brethren by birth? And they were offended in him.

11. Then Jesus says unto them, A Banquet is not without honour, but in his own country, and among his own kindred, and in his own house.

12. And hee could there: nor no great wonders, save that hee layde his handes upon a few sick folk, and healed them.

13. And hee marvelled at their unbelief, and went about by the synagogues on every Sabbath teaching.

14. And hee called the twelve, and began to send them two and two, and gave them power over unclean spirits.

15. And hee commanded them, that they should take nothing for their journey, save a staffe onely: neither scrip, neither bread, neither money in their girdles.

16. But that they should be shodde with sandals, and that they should not put on two coats.

17. And hee sayd unto them, Whereso-ever ye shall enter into an house, there abide till ye depart thence.

18. And whosoever shall not receive you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence,
 shake off the dust that is under your feete, for a witness unto them. Clearly I say unto you, it shall be easier for Sodom, or Sodomay at the day of judgement, then for that city.

19. And they went out, and preached that men should amend their lives.

20. And they call out many devils: and they appointed many that were sick, with oyle, and healed them.

21. And when King Herod heard of him,
 (his name was Herodias) and said,
 John Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great wonders are wrought by
 him.

22. Other sayd, It is Elias: and some sayd, It is a Prophet, as one of the Prophets.

23. So when Herod heard it, hee sayd,
 It is John whom I beheaded: hee is risen from the dead.

24. For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken John and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philipps wife, because he had married her.

25. For John layde unto Herod, It is not lawful for thee to have thy brothers wife.

26. Therefore Herodias had a quarrell against him, and would have killed him, but hee could not.

27. For Herod feared John, knowing that hee was a just man and an holy, and reverenced him, and when hee heard him, hee did many things, and was wondrously amazed.

28. But the time bring commment, when Herod on his birth-day made a banquet to his princes and captains, and chief officers of Gallilee.

29. And the daughter of the same Herod-as came in and danced, and pleased the king and them that sat at table together, the king sayd unto the maide, What thou wilt, I will give thee.

30. And hee swore unto her, whatsoever thou shalt aske of me, I will give it thee, even unto the halfe of my kingdome.

31. And she went forth, and sayd to her mother, What shall I aske? And the sayd, John Baptistes head.

32. Then she came in straightway with her suite unto the king, and aske, saying, I would that thou shouldst give me hereunto in a charger the head of John Baptist.

33. When the king was very sorry, yet for his oaths sake, for their sakes which sat at table with him, he would not refuse her.

34. And immediately the king sent the hangman, and gave charge that hee should bring him the head.

35. And he brought his head in a charger, and gave it to the maide, and the maide gave it to her mother.

36. And when his disciples heard it, they came and took up his body, and put it in a tombe.

37. And the Apostles gathered themselves together to Bethany, and told him all things, both what they have done, and what they have caught.

38. And hee said unto them, Come ye apart into the wilderness, and rest a while:
 for there were many comen and went,
 that they had no leisure to eat.

39. And they went by ship out of the bay into a desert place.

40. But the people knew them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran afoot thither out of all cities, and came to the wilderness thence, and attended unto him.

41. When Jesus went out, and sawe a great multitude, hee had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe, which had no shepherd: then he began to teach them many things.

42. And when the day was come, three thousand, his disciples came unto him, saying, This is a desert place, and nowe the day is farre passed,

43. Let them depart that they may go into the villages and townes about, and buy them bread: for they have nothing to eat.

44. But hee answered, and sayde unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they sayd unto him, We have no goode, but two hundred penny worth of bread, and give them to eat?

45. Then hee said unto them, How many loaves have ye? goe and looke. And when they knewe it, they sayde, Five, and two fishes.

46. So hee commanded them to make them sit in multitudes.

Such is the nature of Gods word, that it compelleth the very tyrants to reverence it: as no doubt the king had some good motions,
 but the felle fell

41 And hee tooke the five loaves, and the gave thanks, and brake the loaves, and gave them to his Disciples to set before them, and the two fishes he divided among

42 So they did all eat, and were satisfied.
43 And they tooke up twelve baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

44 And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men.

45 And straightway he caused his disciples to goe into the ship, and to goe before unto the other side unto Bethsaida, while he sent the people away.

46 Then as soon as hee had sent them away, he departed into a mountaine to pray.

47 And when evening was come, the ship was in the midwes of the sea, and he alone on the land.

48 And he saw them troubled in rowing, (for the winde was contrary unto them) and about the fourth watch of the night, he came unto them, walking upon the sea, and would haue passed by them.

49 And when they saw him walking upon the sea, they supposed it had bene a spirit, and cryed out.

50 For they all saw him, and were sore afraid: but anon hee talked with them, and sayd unto them, Be ye of good comfort: it is I, be not afraid.

51 Then he went by unto them into the ship, and the winde ceased, and they were sore amazed in themselves beyond measure, and marvelled.

52 For they had not considered the mat-hardened.

53 And they came ouer, and went into from Ierusalem.

2 And when they sawe some of his disciples eat meate with vncommon handes, they thought that the common handling of things defiled them, so that they made holiness and religion to depend in hands washing.

(that is to say vnwashed) they complained.
3 For the Pharisees and all the Jews, except they wash their hands oft, eate not,
holding the tradition of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things ther de, which they have token upon them to observe, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brassen vessels, and of tables.)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Whye walsh not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate vnwashed hands?

6 Then he answered & sayd unto them,
Surely, I sayd hath prophesied well of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worshipped in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.

8 For ye lay the commandment of God apart, and observe the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye do.

9 And he sayd unto them, Tell ye what the commandment of God, that ye may observe your owne tradition.

10 For Moses sayd, Honour thy father and thy mother: and whosoever shall curse father or mother, let him die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Godan, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profit, he shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father, or his mother.

13 Making the word of God of none au-thoritie, by your tradition which ye have obtained: and ye doe many such like things.

14 Then he called the whole multitude unto him, and sayd vnto them, Hearden you all what he sayd vnderstand.

15 For he is worthy without a man, that can defile him: when it entred into him: but the things which proceede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when he came into a house away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he sayd vnto them, Whether are ye without vnderstanding also? Doe ye not knowe that whatsoeuer thing cometh without entred into a man, cannot defile him.

19 Because it entred not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, which is the purging of all meates.

20 Then he sayd, That which cometh out of man, that defileth man.

21 For from within, even out of the heart of men, proceede euill thoughts, adu-lteries, fornications, murders,

22 Theftes, couetousnes, wickednes, deceit, vnchastenes, a wicked eye, backbit-ting, spide, foolishnes.

23 All these euill things come from within, and defile a man.

24 And from thence he arose, & went into

into the borders of Tyre and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would that no man should have known: but he could not be hid.

29 For a certain woman, whose little daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came, and fell at his feet.

30 And the woman was a Greek, a Syrochanaan by nation, and the daughter of her father.

31 But Jesus said unto her, Let the children first be fed: for it is not good to take the children's bread, and to cast it unto the dogs.

32 Then she answered, and said unto him, Lord, yet inhere the whelpes eat under the table of the disciples' crummes.

33 Then he said unto her, For this saying go thy way: for the devill is gone out of thy daughter.

34 And when she was come home to her house, she found the devill departed, and her daughter lying on the bed.

35 And he departed againe from the coasts of Tyre and Sidon, and came unto the sea of Galilee, through the middest of the coasts of Decapolis.

36 And they brought unto him one that was deaf, and stampt in his speech, and prayed him to put his hand upon him.

37 Then he took him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers in his eares, and did spit, and touched his tongue.

38 And looking up to heauen, he sighed and said unto him, Epphatha, that is, Be opened.

39 And straightway his eares were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plaine.

40 And hee commanded them that they should tell no man: but how much sooner hee forbade them, the more a great deale they published it.

41 And were beyond measure astonished, saying, We haue done all things well: hee maketh both the deaf to heare, & the dumbe to speake.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The miracle of the seven loaves. 11 The Pharisees aske a signe. 13 The leaven of the Pharisees. 22 The blind receiveth his sight. 29 He was known of his disciples. 33 Here propheth Peter, 34 and sheweth how necessary persecution is.

1 And those dayes, when there was a verie great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Jesus called his disciples to him, and said unto them,

2 I haue compassion on the multitude, because they haue now continued with mee three dayes, and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I sende them away fasting to their owne houses, they would faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.

4 Then his disciples answered him, Howe can a man satiate these? with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, How many loaves haue ye? And they sayd, Seven.

6 Then he commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground: and he tooke the seven loaves, and gave thanks, brake them, and gave to his disciples to let before them, and they did let them before the people.

7 They had also a few small fishes: and when he had given thanks, hee commanded them also to be let before them.

8 So they did eat, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the brokenmeate that was left, seven baskets full.

9 And they that had eaten, were about foure thousand: so he sent them away.

10 And anon he entered in the shippe with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 And the Pharisees came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then he sighed deeply in his spirit, and sayd, Why doth this generation seeke a signe? verely I say unto you, I a signe shal not be giuen to this generation.

13 So he left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them, but one loaf.

15 And hee charged them, saying, Take heed, and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, and of the leaven of Herod.

16 And they thought among themselves, saying, It is, because we haue no bread.

17 And when Jesus knew it, he sayd vnto them, Why reason ye thus, because ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstand: haue yet your hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue yet eyes and see not? and haue yet eares and heare not? and doe yet not remember?

19 When I brake the fixe loaves among fixe thousand, how many baskets full of broken meate tooke ye vp? they sayd vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake seven among foure thousand, how many baskets of the leauings of broken meate tooke ye vp? and they sayd, Seven.

21 Then he sayd vnto them, How is it that ye vnderstand not?

22 And he came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touch him.

23 Then he tooke the blinde by the hand, and led him out of the towne, and spet in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him, if he saw ought.

24 And he looked vp, and said, I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

25 After that, he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And he was restored to his sight, and sawe every man a farre off cleerely.

26 And hee sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 And Jesus went out, and his disciples, into the townes of Cesarea Philippi. And by the way hee asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whom doe men say that I am?

And hee sayd vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdom of God come

2 And sixe daies after, Iesus tooke Pe-vp into an high mountaine out of the way a-

Iesus.
5 Then Peter answered, and sayd to Ie-sus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also these Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.
6 But he knew not what hee sayd: for they were afraid.

7 And there was a cloude that shadowed them, and a voyce came out of the cloude, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, & hear
him.
8 And suddenly they looked round about, and saw no more any man save Iesus onely with them.
9 And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them that they should tell no man what they had seene, (saue when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.)
10 So they kept that matter to themselves, and demanded one of another what the risling from the dead againe should meane.
11 Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, That Elias must first come?
12 And he answered, and said vnto them,
Elias verily shall first come and restore all things: and as it is written of the Sonne of man, he must suffer many things and be set at nought.
13 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whate-uer they would) as it is written of him.
14 ¶ And when hee came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude aboute them, and the Scribes disputing with them.
15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and came so him, and saluted him.
16 Then hee asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues?
17 And one of the companie answered, and sayd, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a dunce spirit:
18 And whosoever hee taketh him, hee reareth him, and hee someth, and gnasheth his teeth, and pincheth away: and I spake to thy disciples that they should cast him out, and they could not.
19 Then he answered him, and said, O faithlesse generation, how long now shall I be with you? how long now shall I suffer you? Bring him vnto me.
20 So they brought him vnto him: and as soon as the spirit sawe him, hee tare him, and he fell downe on the ground, wallowing and foaming.
21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since he hath bin thus? And he said, O fa child.
22 And oft times hee casteth him into the fire, and into the water, to destroy him: but if thou canst do any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs.
23 And Iesus sayd vnto him, If thou canst beleeuie it, all things are possible to him that beleueth.
24 And straightway the father of the child crying with teares, sayd, Lord, I beleuie: helpe my vnbeliefe.
25 ¶ When Iesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the vncleane spirit, saying vnto him, Thou dunce and dunce spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him.

that is contrary to his will, or that is not reuelled in my faith, is, the feeblednes, and imperfection of my faith.

26 Then the spirit cried, and rent him asunder, and came out, and he was as one dead, inasmuch that many sayd, he is dead.

27 But Jesus took his hand, and lift him up, and he rose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, why could not we cast him out?

29 And he sayd unto them, This kinde can be by no other means come forth, but by prayer, and fasting.

30 ¶ And they departed thence, and went through Galilee, and he would not that any should know him.

31 For he taught his disciples, and sayd unto them, The sonne of man shall be delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, hee shall rise againe the third day.

32 But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to aske him.

33 ¶ After he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the house, hee asked them, what was it that ye disputed among you by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselves, who should be the chiefest.

35 And hee sat downe, and called the twelve, and sayd to them, If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant unto all.

36 And he tooke a little child, and set him in the middes of them, and tooke him in his armes, and sayd unto them,

37 Whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my Name, receiveth mee: and whosoever receiveth me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me.

38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, we saw one casting out devils by thy Name, which followeth not vs, and wee forbade him, because hee followeth vs not.

39 But Iesus sayde, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake euill of me.

40 For whosoever is not against vs, is on our part.

41 ¶ And whosoever shall giue you a cup of water to drinke for my Names sake, because ye belong to Christ, verely I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward.

42 And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones, that beleue in me, it were better for him rather, that a millstone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were cast into the sea.

43 ¶ Wherefore, if thine hand cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, then hauing two hands, to go into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched.

44 ¶ Where their woome dieth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

45 Likewise, if thy foote cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to goe halt into life, then hauing two feete to be cast into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched.

46 Where their woome dieth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

47 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out: it is better for thee to goe into the kingdome of God with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

48 Where their woome dieth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

49 For every man shall bee salted with fire: and every sacrifice shall be salted with salt.

50 ¶ Salt is good: but if the salt be vn-sauerie, wherewith shall it be seasoned? haue salt in your ieiunes, and haue peace one with another.

CHAP. X.

1 Of diuorcement. 17 The rich man questioneth with Christ. 30 Their reward that are persecuted. 35 Of the founteyne of Zebedee. 46 Bar-timew hath his eyes opened.

And he arose from thence, and went into the coastes of Iudea by the farre side of Iordan, and the people resorted vnto him againe, and as he was wont, he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharisees came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempered him.

3 And he answered, and sayd vnto them, what did Moses command you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, For the hardness of your heart hee wrote this precept vnto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation, God made them male and female.

7 ¶ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall bee one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ¶ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And he said vnto them, ¶ Whosoever shall put away his wife and marrie another, committeth adultery against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adultery.

13 ¶ Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus said it, he was displeased, and sayd to them, Suffer the little children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, whosoever shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And hee tooke them by in his armes, and put his handes vpon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ And when he was gone out of the way, way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternal life?

18 Jesus sayde to him, why calledst thou me good? there is none good but one, even God.

19 Thou knowest the commandements, Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not deare false witness. Thou shalt hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and sayd to him, Master, all these things I have observed from my youth.

21 And Jesus behelde him, and loved him, and said unto him, One thing is lacking unto thee, Goe and sell all that thou hast, and give to the poore, and thou shalt have treasure in heauen, and come, followe me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But hee was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Jesus looked round about, and said unto his disciples, how hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were astonied at his wordes. But Jesus answered againe, and said unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to goe throught the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying within themselves, Altho then can be sauid?

27 But Jesus looked vpon them, and sayd, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ Then Peter beganne to say vnto him, Loe, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

29 Jesus answered, and sayde, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospells,

30 But he shall receive an hundredfold now at this present: houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands with persecutions, and in the world to come eternal life.

31 ¶ But many that are first, shall be last,
and the last first.

32 ¶ And they were in the way going vp to Ierusalem, and Jesus went before them; and they were amazed, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Jesus ooke the twelve againe, and beganne to tell them what things should come vnto
him,

33 Saying, Behold, wee go vp to Ierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deli-uered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliver him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ Then James and John the sonnes of Zebedee came vnto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldest doe for vs that that we desire.

36 And he sayd vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they sayd to him, Graunt vnto vs, that we may sit one at thy right hand, the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Jesus sayd vnto them, Ye know not what yeee aske. Can yee drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptism that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they sayd vnto him, Wee can. But Jesus sayd vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deed of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptism wherewith I shall be baptized.

40 But to sit at my right hand, and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shalbe giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaigne at James and John.

42 But Jesus called them vnto him, and sayd to them, ¶ Ye knowe that they which delight to deare rule among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that bee great among them, exercise authority ou-er them.

43 But it shall not be so among you; but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your servant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall bee the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ranfome of many.

46 ¶ ¶ Then they came to Iericho: and as he went out of Iericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, ¶ Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man, late by the way side begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry and to say, Jesus the sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because hee should hold his peace: but hee cryed much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

49 Then Jesus stood still, and commaunded him to bee called: and they called the blinde, saying vnto him, Bee of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his clothe, and rose, and came to Jesus.

51 And Jesus answered, and sayd vnto him, What wilt thou that I do vnto thee?
And the blinde sayd vnto him, Lord, that I may receive my sight.

52 Then Jesus layd vnto him, Go thy way: thy faith hath saued thee. And by that hee receiued his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.

1. Christ rideth to Ierusalem. 2. The fig tree drich vp. 3. The figgers and sellers are cast out of

of the Temple. 24. Hee declarerh the verities of faith, and how we should pray. 27. The Pharisees question with Christ.

And when they came neere to Ierusalem, to Bethpazze and Bethania vnto the mount of Olives, hee sent forth two of his disciples,

2. And sayd vnto them, So four wayes into that towne that is ouer against you, and aske as ye shall enter into it, yee shall finde a colt bound, wherupon neuer man late: loose him, and bring him.

3. And if any man say vnto you, Why do ye this? Say that the Lord hath neede of him, and straightway hee will send him hither.

4. And they went their way, and found a colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes mette, and they loosed him.

5. Then certain of them that stood there, sayd vnto them, What doe yee loosing the colt?

6. And they said vnto them as Iesus had commanded them. So they let them go.

7. And they brought the colt to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and hee sat vpon him.

8. And many spread their garments in the way: other cut downe branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9. And they that went before, and they that followed, cryed, saying, Hosanna, Blessed be hee that cometh in the name of the Lord.

10. Blessed be the kingdom that cometh in the name of the Lord of our father: David: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11. So Iesus entered into Ierusalem, and into the Temple: and when hee had looked about on all things, and now it was evening, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelve.

12. And on the morrow when they were come out from Bethania, hee was hungry.

13. And seeing a figge tree a farre off, that had leaues, he went to see if hee might finde any thing thereon: but when hee came vnto it, he found nothing but leaues: for the time of figs was not yet.

14. Then Iesus answered, and sayd to it, Fewer man eate fruit of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15. And they came to Ierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the stales of them that sold doves.

16. Neither would hee suffer that any man should carry a vessel through the Temple.

17. And hee taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written, Mine house shall be called the house of prayer vnto all nations? but you haue made it a den of theues.

18. And the scribes & the Pharisees heard it, and sought howe to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was attuned at his doctrine.

19. But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the city.

20. And in the morning as they passed by, they saw the figge tree dyed vnto the roots.

21. Then Peter rememberd, and said vnto him, Walker, behold, the figge tree which thou curstest is withered.

22. And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Haue I faith in God.

23. For verely I say vnto you, that whatsoever I shall say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, and shall not wauer in his heart, but shall beleeue that those things which hee saith shall come to passe, whatsoever hee saith, shall be done to him.

24. Therefore I say vnto you, whatsoever yee desire when ye pray, beleeuee that yee shall haue it, and it shall be done vnto you.

25. But when yee shall stand, and pray, forgive, if yee haue any thing against any man, that your father also which is in heauen, may forgive you your trespasses.

26. For if yee will not forgive, your father which is in heauen will not pardon your trespasses.

27. Then they came againe to Ierusalem: & as hee walked in the Temple, there came to him the chief Priests, & the Scribes, and the Elders.

28. And sayd vnto him, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldest doe these things?

29. Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, I will also aske of you a certaine thing, and answer ye me, and I will tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

30. The baptism of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men? and were me.

31. And they thought with themselves, saying, If wee shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then did ye not beleeue him?

32. But if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted Iohn, that hee had bene a very Prophet.

33. Then they answered & sayd vnto Iesus, We cannot tell. And Iesus answered and sayd vnto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

2. And at a time, he sent vnto the husbandmen a servant, that he might receiue of the husbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.

4 And againe he sent vnto them another seruauit, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And againe, he sent another, and him they kille, and many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 Yet had he one sonne, his deere beloved: him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

7 But the husbandmen sayde among themselves, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they took him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and giue the vineyard to others.

10 Haue yee not read so much as this scripture? The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharisees, and of the Herodians, that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they sayd vnto him, Walter, wee know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly. Is it lawful to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should we giue it, or should we not giue it? But he knew their hypocrisie, and sayd vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penny, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and he sayd vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? and they sayd vnto him, Celsars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Due to Cesar the things that are Celsars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marvelled at him.

18 Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Walter, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that e his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

20 There were seven brethren, & the first tooke a wife, and when he dyed, left no issue:

21 Then the second tooke her, and he died, neither did he yet leaue issue; & the third likewise.

22 So the sixth had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall shee bee of them? for the seven had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Are yee not therefore deceived, because yee know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marrie, nor wives are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue yee not read in the booke of Moses, how in y<sup>e</sup> bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly deceived.

28 Then came one of the Scribes, that had heard them disputing together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is the onely Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, & with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

31 And the second is, like that is, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandment greater then these.

32 Then the Scribe sayd vnto him, Walter, thou hast sayd the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he.

33 And to loue him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then, when Iesus saw that hee answered discretely, hee sayd vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 And Iesus answered and sayd teaching in the Temple, how say the Scribes that Christ is the Sonne of Dauid?

36 For Dauid himselfe sayd by the holy Ghost, The Lord sayd to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 Then Dauid himselfe called him Lord: by what meanes is he then his Son? and much people heard him gladly.

3 The destruction of Ierusalem. 10 The Gospel shall be preached to all. 32 The persecutions and false prophets which shall bee before the com-ming of Christ, whose howe is uncertaine. 33 He exhorteth every one to watch.

As he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples layd unto him, Master, see what stones, and what buildings are here.

2 When Jesus answered and layd unto him, Seekest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone upon a stone, that shall not be thrown downe.

3 And as he sat on the mount of olives, our againe of the Temple, Peter, and James,
and Iohn, and Andrew asked him secretly,

4 Tell vs, when shall these things be, and what shall be the signe when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Jesus answered them, & began to say, Take heed least any man decieve you.

6 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ, and shall decieve many.

7 Furthermore when yee shall heare of wars, and rumours of wars, be ye not troubled: for such things must needs be: but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, and there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters: & there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginninges of sorowes.

9 But take ye heed to your selues: for they shall deliuer you up to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: yee shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimoniall unto them.

10 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 But when they leade you, and deliuer you up, take ye no thought afore, neither penned: what yee shall say: but whatsoever is given you at the same time, that speak: for it is not ye that speak, but the holy Ghost.

22 Psa, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

13 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake: but whosoever shall endure unto the ende, he shall be saved.

14 Whosoever, when ye shall see the administration of desolation (spoken of by Daniel the Prophet) standing where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider it) then let them that be in Iudaea, flee into the moun-taines.

15 And let him that is upon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turne backe againe unto the things which he left behinde him, to take his clothes.

17 Then two shall be together that are with childe, and to them that give sucke in those dayes.

18 Pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

19 For there shall be in those dayes such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created unto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh could bee saved:
but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen,
he hath shortened those dayes.

21 Then if any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or Lo, he is there, beleene it not.

22 For false Christs shall arise, and false prophets, and shall shew signes and wonders, to decieve, if it were possible, the very elect.

23 But take ye heed: behold, I have shewed you all things before.

24 Wherefore in those dayes, after that tribulation, the Sonne of man shall come, and the Schoone shall not give her light.

25 And the hostes of heauen shall fall: &
the powers which are in heauen, shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Sonne of man comming in the cloudes, with great power and glory.

27 And hee shall then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, and from the utmost part of the earth to the utmost part of heauen.

28 Now learne a parable of the fig tree.
When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth soothie leaues, ye know that Summer is nere.

29 So in like manner, when yee see these things come to passe, know that the kingdome of God is nere, even at the doores.

30 Certly I say unto you, that this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

31 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my wordes shall not passe away.

32 But of that day & houre knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, save the Father.

33 Take heed: watch, and pray: for ye know not when the time is.

34 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange country, & leaueh his house, and giveth authority to his servants, and to every man his worke, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch therefore, (for yee knowe when the master of the house will come, even, or at midnight, at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning)

36 Lest if hee come suddenly, hee should find you sleeping.

37 And those things that I say unto you,
I say unto all men, Watch.

45 And as soon as he was come, he went straightway to him, and sayde, * Salute, * Salute, and kissed him.

46 Then they layd their hands on him, and tooke him.

47 And * one of them that stood by, drew out a sword, and smote a * seruante of the high Priest, and cut off his eare.

48 And Iesus answered and sayde vnto them, He be come out as vnto a thiefe with swords and staves to take me.

49 I was dayly with you teaching in the Temple, and yet * tooke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they * all forsooke him, and fled.

51 And there followed him a certaine young man, clothed in linnen upon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 * So they led Iesus away to the high Priest, and to him came all the * high Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him * a farre off, even into the hall of the high Priest, and sat with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.

55 And the * high Priests and all the Councill sought for witness against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witness against him, saying,

58 * Alce, heard him say, * I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witness yet agreed not together.

60 Then the high Priest stood by amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? * What is the matter that these beare witness against thee?

61 But hee held his peace, and answered nothing. * Againe the high Priest asked him, and sayde vnto him, Art thou * Christ the Sonne of the * Blessed?

62 And Iesus sayde, I am hee, * and yet shall sit at the * right hand of man, he at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heauen.

63 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, and sayde, * What haue wee any more need of witnesses?

64 He haue heard the blasphemie: what thinkest thou? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 And some began to smite him on the face, and to beat him with flails, and to say vnto him, * Prophesie. And the * seruaunts smote him with their rods.

66 And they should see appeare at the last day with muche light, this declaracione which hee and his disciples of the * Father, seeing their officers contrary to all iustice, and answered him that was innocent.

66 * And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maytes of the high Priest, 67 And when hee saw Peter warming himselfe, hee looked on him, & said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But hee denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither wote I what thou sayest. Then went he out into the * porch, and the cocke crew.

69 * Then a mayte came him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But hee denied it againe: and anon after they that stood by, sayd againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse and sweare, saying, I knowe not this man of whom ye speake.

72 * Then the second time the cocke crew, and Peter remembered the word that Iesus had sayd vnto him, Before the cocke crowe thrise, thou shalt denie me thrise, and he wept.

CHAP. XV.

1 Iesus is led to Pilate, 15. He is condemned, reuled, and put to death, 46. and is buried by Joseph.

2 Anon in the dawning, the high Priests held a council with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole councell, and bound Iesus, and led him away, and delivered him to Pilate.

3 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the king of the Iewes? And he answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou sayest it.

4 And the high Priests accused him of many things.

5 Therefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? beholde, how many things they witness against thee.

6 But Iesus answered * no more at all, so that Pilate marvelled.

7 Now at the feast, Pilate did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomsoever they would desire.

8 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his fellows, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

9 And the people cryed aloud, and began to desire that he would do as he had * euer done vnto them.

10 Then Pilate answered them, and said, * Will ye that I let loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

11 For he knew that the high Priests had delivered him of enuie.

12 But the high Priests had mooued the people to desire that he would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them.

13 And Pilate answered, and sayde againe vnto them, * What wilt ye then that I doe with him whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

14 Then Pilate sayde vnto them, But what wilt ye do? And they cried the more loudly, * Crucifie him.

16 When the soldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called for ether the whole hand.

17 And clad him with purple, and plated a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head.

18 And began to salute him, saying, Waile
King of the Jewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a steele, and spet upon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reverence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to cru-cifie him.

21 And they compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the country, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skulles.

23 And they gave him to drinke wine mingled with myrrour: but he received it not.

24 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what every man should have.

25 And it was the third houre when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was written above, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

27 They crucified also with him two thieves, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, And hee was counted among the wicked.

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Hee, thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes.

30 And they saide, and come downe from the crosse.

31 Likewise also ruen the high Priestes mocking, sayde among themselves with the Scribes, wee saued other men, himselfe hee cannot save.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel now come downe from the crosse, that wee may see, and beleue. They also that were crucified with him, railed him.

33 Now when the sixth houre was come, darknesse awoke over all the land until the ninth houre.

34 And at the ninth houre Iesus cryed with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama-sabachthani: which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, sayde, Beholde, hee calleth Elias.

36 And one ran, and filled a sponge full of vinegar, and put it on a reede, & gave him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come and take him downe.

37 And Iesus cryed with a loud voice, and gave up the ghost.

38 And the vail of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the botto-
me.

39 Nowe when the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, saw that he thus crying gaue up the ghost, he sayd, Truly this man was the sonne of God.

40 There were also women, which be-lieue a farre off, among whom was Marie Magdalen, and Marie the mother of James the lesse, and of Iohes, and Salome,

41 Which also when hee was in Galile, followed him, and ministered vnto him,
and many other women which came up with him vnto Ierusalem.

42 And now when night was come (because it was the day of the preparation, that is before the Sabbath)

43 Ioseph of Arimathea, an honourable Counsellour, which also looked for the kingdome of God, came, and went in boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus.

44 And Pilate marvelled if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Cen-turion, and asked of him whether hee had bene any while dead.

45 And when hee knew the truth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Ioseph.

46 Which bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and layed him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the sepulchre.

47 And Marie Magdalene, and Marie
Iohes mother beid where he should be laid.

CHAP. XVI.

The women went to the grave. Christ being risen againe, appears to Magdalene, & also to the eleven, and reprehends their unbelief. He committeth the preaching of the Gospel vnto the ministration of the baptisme vnto all men.

1 Now when the Sabbath day was past, Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of James, and Salome, bought spic-ceries, that they might come, and embaulme him.

2 Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came vnto the sepulchre, when the sunne was yet rising.

3 And they sayde one to another, With shall we goe vnto the stone from the doore of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one.)

5 So they went into the sepulchre, and saw a young man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were afraid.

6 But he said vnto them, Be not affrayd, ye seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen: he is not here: behold the place where they put him.

7 But goe your way, and tell his disciples, & Peter, that he will goe before you into Galile: there shall ye see him, as hee said vnto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre: for they trembled, and were amazed: neither said they any thing of any man: for they were afraid.

withstanding that Elisabet was married to one of the tribe of Levi, yet shee was Maries cousin, which was of the stocke of David. For the Lawe which forbade marriage out of their owne tribe, was onely that the tribeshould not be mixt and confounded, which could not bee in marrying with the Leuiters: for they had no portion assigned unto them.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that hee tarried so long in the Temple.

22 And when he came out, hee could not speake unto them: then they perceived that he had seen a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes unto them, and remained dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that hee departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabet conceived, and hid her selfe six moneths,
saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the dayes wherein hee looked on me, to take from me: my rebuke among men.

26 And in the first moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God, unto a cite of Galilee, named Nazareth.

27 To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the house of David, and the virgins name was Mary.

28 And the Angel went in unto her, and said, Haille thou that art freely beloved: the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women.

29 And when shee saw him, shee was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said unto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast found favour with God.

31 For loe, thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, and shalt call his name I. S. V. S.

32 Hee shall be great, and shall be called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David.

33 And he shall reigne over the house of Jacob for ever, and of his kingdome shall he be none ende.

34 Then sayde Marie unto the Angel, How shall this bee, seeing I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said unto her, The holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the most High shall overshadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be borne of thee, shall bee called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy cousin Elisabet, shee hath also conceived a sonne in her olde age:
and this is her first moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be impossible.

38 Then Marie said, Behold the servant of the Lord: be it unto mee according to thy word. So that Angel departed from her.

39 And Marie arose in those dayes and went into the hill country with haste to a citie of Iuda.
1. Notwithstanding that Elisabet was married to one of the tribe of Levi, yet shee was Maries cousin, which was of the stocke of David. For the

a. citie of Iuda.

40 And entered into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elisabet heard the salutation of Marie, the babe leaped in her belly. And Elisabet was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And shee cried with a loud voyce, and said, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to mee?

44 For loe, as soon as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe leaped in my belly for ioy.

45 And blessed is shee that beleeveth: for those things shall be performed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 Then Marie said, My soule magnified the Lord.

47 And my spirit reioyceth in God my Saviour.

48 For hee hath looked on the poore degree of his servant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed.

49 Because hee that is mightie, hath done for me great things, and holy is his name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them that feare him.

51 Wee hath shewed strength with his arme: he hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 Wee hath put downe the mighty from their seates, and exalted them of low degree.

53 Wee hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich empty.

54 Hee hath upholden Israel his servant, being mindful of his mercie.

55 (As hee hath spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham, and to his seed) for ever.

56 And Marie abode with her about three moneths: after, shee returned to her owne house.

57 And Elisabet thing was fulfilled, that she should be delivered, and she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbours, & cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie upon her, and they reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and said,
Noe, but hee shall be called Iohn.

61 And they said unto her, There is none of thy kindred, that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would have him called.

63 And hee asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn: and they margined all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue loosed, and he spake and praised God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dwelt in the country, and all their neighbours were notified abroad throughout all the hill country of Iuda.

66 And all they that heard them, marvelled at them.

them up in their hearts, saying, What manner child shall this be! and the hands of the Lord was with him.

67 Then his father Zacharias was filled with the holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying,

68 Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel, because he hath visited and redeemed his people,

69 And hath raised up the home of saluation unto vs, in the house of his seruant David,

70 As he spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets, which were since the world began, saying,

71 That he would send vs deliuerance from our enemies, and from the hands of all that hate vs,

72 That he would shew mercy towards our fathers, and remember his holy Ceuenant,

73 And the oath which hee sware to our father Abraham:

74 Which was, that he would grant unto vs, that we being deliuered out of the hands of our enemies, should serue him without feare

75 All the dayes of our life, in holiness and righteousness before him.

76 And thou babe, shalt bee called the Prophet of the most high: for thou shalt go before the face of the Lord, to prepare his wayes,

77 And to giue knowledge of saluation unto his people, by the remission of their finnes,

78 Through the tender mercie of our God, whereby the day spring from an high, hath visited vs,

79 To giue light to them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death, and to guide our feete into the way of peace.

80 And the child grew, & waxed strong in spirit, and was in the wilderness, till the day came, that he should shew himselfe unto Israel.

And it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a commandement from Augustus Cæsar, that all the world should be taxed.

2 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenus was gouernour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed, every man to his owne citie.

4 And Joseph also went by from Galilee out of a citie called Nazareth, into Iudea, unto the citie of David, which is called

5 To be taxed with Mary that was giuen him to wife, which was with child.

6 And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that she should be deliuered.

7 And she brought forth her first begotten Sonne, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and layde him in a cratch, because there was no roome for them in the Inn.

8 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night because of their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were laye asrayd.

10 Then the Angel sayd vnto them, Be not asrayd: for behold, I bring you tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people:

11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a signe to you, Ye shall finde the child swaddled, and layd in a cratch.

13 And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of heauenly souldiers, praysing God, and saying,

14 Glory bee to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men good will.

15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepherds sayde one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-lehem, and see this thing that is come to passe, which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.

16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the babe layd in the cratch.

17 And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing, which was tolde them of that child.

18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were tolde them of the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all those sayings, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praysing God, for all that they had heard and seen, as it was spoken vnto them.

21 And when the eight dayes were accomplished, that they should circumcise the child, his name was then called IESVS, which was named of the Angel, before hee was conceived in the wombe.

22 And when the dayes of her purification after the Lawe of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Ierusalem, to present him to the Lord.

23 (As it is written in the Lawe of the Lord, Every man child that shall openeth the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lord.)

24 And to giue an oblation, as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a paire of turtle doves, or two yong pigeons.

25 And behold, there was a man in Ierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the holy Ghost was vpon him.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Jerusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the middes of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions.

47 And all that heard him were astonied at his understanding, and answers.

48 So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother sayde vnto him, Thou, why hast thou thus dealt with vs?

behold, thy father and I haue sought thee

49 Then sayd he vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must

CHAP. III.

3 The preaching, baptisme, and prisonment of John. 19 He is thought to be Christ. 21 Christ is baptized. 23 His age, and genealogie.

Now in the sixtieth yeere of the reigne of Tiberius Celsar, Pontius Pilate being gouernour of Iudea, and Herode being Tetrarch of Galile, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iteurea, and of the countrey of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 ¶ When Annas and Cataphas were the hie Priests the word of God came vnto John, the sonne of Zacharias, in the wil-dernes.

3 And hee came into all the coastes about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes.

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Elias the Prophet, which sayth,
The voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernes is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled, and euery mountaine, and hill that be brought low and crooked things shall be made straight, & the rough wayes shall be made smooth.

6 And I all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

7 Then sayd he to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, ¶ I generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bying forth therefore frutes worthy amendment of life, and begiue not to say with your selues, Alce haue Abrahams able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

9 Now also is the are layde vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruite, shall be taken downe, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying,
What shall we doe then?

11 And he answered, and said, vnto them,
¶ He that hath two coats, let him part with him that hath none; and he that hath meate, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there some Publians also to be baptized, and said vnto him, What shall we doe?

13 And hee sayd vnto them, Require no more then that which is appointed vnto you.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iesus led into the wilderness to be tempted.

13 He overcometh the devil. 14 He goeth into Galilee. 16 Preacheth at Nazareth, and Capernaum. 22 The Jewes despise him. 38 He cometh into Peters house, and healeth his mother in law.

41 The Jewes acknowledge Christ. 43 He preacheth through the cities.

And Iesus full of the holy Ghost, returned from Iordan, and was led by the spirit into the wilderness.

2 * And was there foure dayes tempted of the devill, and in those dayes hee did eate nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.

3 Then the devil sayd unto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, commaund this stone that it be made bread.

4 * But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, * That man shall not live by bread onely, but by every word of God.

5 Then the devil tooke him up into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdoms of the world, & in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the devil sayd unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of those kingdoms: for that is delivered to me: and to whomsoever I will, I give it:

7 If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shall be all thine.

8 * But Iesus answered him, and sayde, * Hence from mee, Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone thou shalt serve.

9 Then he brought him to Ierusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, * That hee will give his Angels charge over thee to keepe thee,

11 And with their hands they shall lift thee up, lest at any time thou shouldst dash thy foote against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and sayde unto him, It is sayd, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed fro him for a season.

14 ¶ And Iesus returned by the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.

15 For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men.

16 * And he came to Nazaret, where hee had bene brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood vp to reade.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Elias: and when he had opened the booke, hee found the place, where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is vpon me, because he hath s anointed me, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: he hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recovering of sight to the blinde, that I should set at libertie them that are bound.

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yere of the Lord.

20 And hee closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and satte downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then he beganne to say vnto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious wordes, which proceeded out of his mouth, and sayd, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then he sayd vnto them, Ye wil surely say vnto mee this prouerbe, Physition, heale thy selfe: for as I as a physician, I haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine owne country.

24 And hee sayd, Verely I say vnto you, No: for Ioseph is accepted in his owne country.

25 But I tell you of a trueth, many widowes were in Israel in the dayes of Elias, when heauen was shut thre yeeres and sixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the land.

26 But vnto none of them was Elias sent, laue into Sarepta, a cite of Sidon, vnto a certaine widow.

27 Also many lepers were in Israel, in the time of Elieus the Prophet: yet none of them was made cleane, sauing Naaman the Syrian.

28 Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath.

29 And rose vp, and thrust him out of the cite, and led him vnto the edge of the hill, whereon their cite was built, to cast him downe headlong.

30 And hee passed through the mids of them, and went his way.

31 * And came downe into Capernaum a cite of Galilee, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 * And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an uncleane deuill, which cryed with a loud voyce, 34 Saying, What haue wee to doe with thee, thou Iesus of Nazaret: art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, euen the holy one of God.

35 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. Then the deuill throwing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him not.

36 So feare came on them all, and they spake among themselves, saying, What thing is this? for with authoritie and power he commandeth the foule spirites, and they come out.

37 And the fame of him spread abroad throughout all the places of the countrey round about.

38 * And hee rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simons house, and Simons wiues mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her.

39 Then he stood ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her: and immediately she rose, and ministered vnto them.

40 Now when the sunne was downe, all they that had sicke folkes of diuers diseases, brought them vnto him, and he layd his handes on euery one of them, and healed them.

41 * And deuils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art the Christ, the Sonne of God: but hee rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be the Christ.

42 And when it was day, hee departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him, that hee should not depart from them.

43 But hee sayde vnto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdom of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent.

44 And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galilee.

2 And saw two ships stand by the lake side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And hee entred into one of the ships which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a litle from the land: and hee late downe, and taught the people out of the ship.

4 * Now when hee had left speaking, hee layd vnto Simon, Launch out into the deepe, and let downe your nettes to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said vnto him, * Master, we haue traueiled all night, and haue taken nothing: neuertheless at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they inclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckened to their partners, which which were in the other shippe, that they should come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the shippes, that they did sink.

8 Nowe when Simon Peter sawe it, he fell downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, goe from me: for I am a sinful man.

9 For he was utterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they took.

10 And so was also James and John the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus sayd unto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the shipps to land, they forooke all and folloved him.

12 ¶ Nowe it came to passe, as he was in a certaine citie, beholde, there was a man full of leprosie: and when hee sawe Iesus, hee fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make mee cleane.

13 So hee stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, bee thou cleane. And immediately the leprosie departed from him.

14 And hee commaunded him that hee should tell it no man: but hee, sayd hee, and shew thy selfe to the chiefe, and offer for thy cleansing, as Moyses hath commaunded, for a witnesse unto them.

15 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to be healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himselfe apart in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 ¶ And it came to passe, on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharisees and doctors of the Lawe late by, which were come out of every countie of Galilee, and Iudea, and Ierusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him to heale them.

18 ¶ Then beholde, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsy, and they sought meanes to hye him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might hye him in, because of the people, they went up on the house, and let him downe through the tiling bed and all, in the middes before Iesus.

20 And when he sawe their faith, he sayd unto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees beganne to thinke, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceived their thoughts, he answered, and sayd unto them, What thinke ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise and walke?

24 But that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authority to forgive sinnes in earth, (he sayd unto the sick of the palsy) I say unto thee, Rise: take up thy bed, and go to thine house.

25 And immediately hee rose up before them, and tooke up his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his owne house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse we have seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after that he went forth, and saw a Publicane named Leui, sitting at the receite of custome, and sayd unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great company of Publicans, and of other that sat at table with him.

30 But they that were Scribes & Pharisees among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate ye and drinke ye with Publicans and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and sayd unto them, They that are whole, neede not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

32 I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ Then they said unto him, Why do the disciples of John fast often, and pray, and the disciples of the Pharisees also, but thine eate and drinke?

34 And he sayd unto them, Can ye make the children of the wedding chamber to fast, as long as the bridegrome is with them?

35 But the daies will come even when the bridegrome shall be taken away from them: then shall they fast in those daies.

36 Again he spake also unto them a parable. No man putteth a piece of a new garment into an old vesture: for then the new garment is rent out of the new, agreeeth not with the old.

37 ¶ Also no man putteth new wine into old vessels: for then the new wine will break the vessels, and it will runne out, and the vessels will perish.

38 But new wine must be put into new vessels: so both are preferred.

39 Also no man that drinketh old wine, straightway desireth new: for he saith, The old is better.

4 How he went into the house of God, and took, and ate the Bread, and gave also to them which were with him, which was not lawful to eat, but for the Priests only.

5 And he said unto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 ¶ It came to passe also on another Sabbath, that hee entered into the Synagogue and taught, and there was a man whose right hand was dyed up.

7 And the Scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether hee would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accusation against him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand up in the mids. And he arose and stood up.

9 Then sayde Iesus unto them, I will aske you a question, whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to do good, or to do euill: to saue, or to destroy it?

10 And he beheld them all in compasse, and sayd vnto the man, stretch forth thine hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madness, and communed one with another, what they might do to Iesus.

12 ¶ And it came to passe in those dayes, that hee went into a mountaine to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 ¶ And when it was day, hee called his disciples, and of them hee chose twelve, which hee also called Apostles.

14 (Simon whom he named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and Iohn, Philip, and Bartholomew:

15 Matthew, and Thomas: James the sonne of Alphaeus, and Simon called Ze- lous:

16 Judas James brother, and Judas Is- cariot, which also was the traitour.)

17 Then he came downe with them, and stood in a plaine place, with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of Iuda and Ierusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶ And he lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and sayd, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdome of God.

21 ¶ Blessed are ye that hunger now: for ye shall bee satisfied. Blessed are ye that weepe now: for ye shall laugh.

22 ¶ Blessed are ye when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, as put out your name as euill, for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce ye in that day, and be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets.

24 ¶ But woe be to you that are rich: for ye haue receiued your consolation.

25 ¶ Woe bee to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for ye shall weile and weepe.

26 ¶ Woe be to you when all men speake well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

27 ¶ But I say vnto you which heare, Love your enemies: doe well to them which hate you.

28 Bless them that curse you, and pray for them which hurt you,

29 ¶ And vnto him that smiteth thee on the one cheeke, offer also the other: and him that taketh away thy cloake, forbid not to take thy coat also.

30 ¶ Give to euery man that asketh of thee, and of him that taketh away thy goods, aske them not againe.

31 ¶ And as ye would that men should do to you, so do ye to them likewise.

32 ¶ For if ye loue them which loue you, what thanks shall ye haue? for euen the sinners loue those which loue them.

33 And if you do good for them which do good for you, what thanks shall ye haue? for euen the sinners do the same.

34 ¶ And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receiue, what thanks shall ye haue? for euen the sinners lend to sinners, so that they may receiue the like.

35 ¶ Wherefore loue ye your enemies, & doe good, and lend, looking for nothing againe: and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the most High: for hee is kinde vnto the vnkinde, and to the euill.

36 Be ye therefore mercifull, as your Father also is mercifull.

37 ¶ Judge not, and ye shall not be iudged: condemne not, and ye shall not be con- demned: forgiue, and ye shall be forgiven.

38 ¶ Give, and it shall be giuen vnto you: a good measure, pressed downe, shaken to- gether, running ouer that men giue into your bolome: for with what measure ye mete, with the same shall men mete to you againe.

39 And he spake a parable vnto them, ¶ Can the blinde leade the blinde? shall they not both fall into the ditch?

40 ¶ The disciple is not above his Master: but whosoever will bee a perfect disciple, shall be as his master.

41 ¶ And why? I tell thou a mote in thy brothers eye, and considerest not the beam that is in thine owne eye?

42 ¶ Either how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thyself hast not the beam that is in thine owne eye? Hypocrite, cast out the beam out of thine owne eye first, and then shalt thou see perfectly, to pull out the mote that is in thy brothers eye.

When she had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, hee entered into Capernaum.

2. And a certaine Centurions's servant was sick and ready to die, which was deare unto him.

3. And when hee heard of Jesus, hee sent unto him the Elders of the Jewes, desiring him that he would come and heale his servant.

4. So they came to Jesus, and besought him instantly, saying that hee was worthy that he should do this for him.

5. For he loved, said they, our nation, and he hath built us a Synagogue.

6. Then Jesus went with them: but when he was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldst enter under my roofe.

7. Wherefore, I thought not my selfe worthy to come unto thee: but say the word, and my servant shall be whole.

8. For I likewise am a man full under authority, and have under me soldiers, and I say unto one, Go, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

9. When Jesus heard these things, hee marvelled at him, and turned him, and said to the people that followed him, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no not in Israel.

10. And when they that were sent, turned backe to the house, they found the servant that was sick, whole.

11. And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a citie called Bethan, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12. And when hee came thence to the gate of the citie, behold, there was a dead man carried out, who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the citie was with her.

13. And when the Lord saw her, hee had compassion on her, and said unto her, Sleepe not.

14. And he went and touched the coffin, (and they that bare him, stood still) and hee layd, a Young man, I say unto thee, Arise.

15. And hee that was dead, arose up, and began to speak, and hee delivered him to his mother.

16. Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is raised up among vs, and God hath visited his people.

17. And this rumour of him went forth throughout all Iudea, and throughout all the region round about.

18. ¶ And the disciples of John shewed him of all these things.

19. So John called unto him two certain men of his disciples, and sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall we waite for another?

20. And when the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptists hath sent vs unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall we waite for another?

21. And at that time hee cured many of their sicknesses and plagues, and of euill spirits, and unto many blind men hee gaue sight.

22. And Jesus answered and sayde vnto them, For your way and Hew John's words: ye haue seene and heard: that ye blind see, the halt goe, the Lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead rise againe, & the poore receiue the Gospel.

23. And blessed is he, that shall not be offended in me.

24. And when the messengers of John were departed, hee began to speake vnto the people, of John, which went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken with the winde?

25. But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and fine delicate, are in kings courts.

26. But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say vnto you, and greater then a Prophet.

27. This is hee of whome it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28. For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then John, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, hee that is the least in the kingdom of God, is greater then hee.

30. Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? And he sayd, Legion, because many deuils were entred into him.

31. And they besought him, that he would not commaund them to go out into the deepe.

32. And there was there by, an herde of many swine, feeding on an hill, and the deuils brought him, that hee would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33. When went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the herd was caried with violence from the steepe downe place into the lake, and was chokyd.

34. ¶ When the herdemen sawe what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they tolde it in the citie and in the countrey.

35. ¶ Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whome the deuils were departed, sitting at the feete of Iesus, clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

36. ¶ They also which saw it, told them by what meanes he that was possessed with the deuill was healed.

37. ¶ Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarenes, besought him, that hee would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the ship, and returned.

38. ¶ Then the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, besought him that hee might be with him: but Iesus sent him away, saying,

39. ¶ Returne into thine owne house, and shewe what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached throughout all the citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40. ¶ And it came to passe when Iesus was come againe, that the people receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41. ¶ And beholde, there came a man named Iairus, and he was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feet, and besought him that hee would come into his house.

42. For hee had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and shee lay a dying. (And as hee went the people thronged him.)

43. And a woman hauing an issue of blood, twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon phylitians, and could not be healed of any:

44. ¶ When he came behinde him, she touched the hemme of his garment, and immediately her issue of blood stanchyd.

45. ¶ Then Iesus sayd, Alho is it that hath touched mee? ¶ When every man denied, Peter sayd and they that were with him, Walter, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and sayest thou, Alho hath touched mee?

46. And Iesus sayd, Some one hath touched me: for I perceiue that vertue is gone out of me.

47. ¶ When the woman sawe that she was not hidde, she came trembling, and fell downe before him, and told him before all the people, for what cause shee had touched him, and how he was healed immediatly.

48. And he sayd vnto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace.

49. ¶ While he yet spake, there came one from from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which sayd to him, Thy daughter is dead: diseale not the matter.

50 When Iesus heard it, hee answered him, saying, Feare not: beleue onely, and she shall be made whole.

51 And when he went into the house, hee suffered no man to goe in with him, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maide.

52 And all wept, and sobowled for her: but he sayd, Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth.

53 And they laugh him to scorne, knowing that she was dead.

54 So hee thrust them all out, & tooke her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maid, arise.

CHAP. IX.

2 He sendeth out the twelue Apostles to preach.

9 Herod beareth tell of him. 12 He feedeth five thousand men with five loaves, and two fishes. 19 Divers opinions of Christ. 28 Hee transfigureth himselfe upon the mount. 43 Hee deliuereth the possessed, and teacheth his disciples to be lowly.

54 They desired vengeance, but hee reproveth them.

Then called hee the twelue disciples together, and gaue them power and authority ouer all deuiis, and to heale diseases.

2 And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to cure the sicke.

3 And he sayd to them, Take nothing to your iourney, neither stauers, nor scrippes, neither bread, nor sliuer, neither haue two coats.

4 And whosoever house yee enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And whosoever will not receiue you, when yee goe out of that citie, shake off the very dust from your feete for a testimony against them.

6 And they went out, and went thorow euery towne preaching the Gospell, and healing euery where.

7 ¶ Now Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and hee doubted, because that it was sayd of some, that Iohn was risen againe from the dead.

8 And of some, that Elias had appeared: and of some, that one of the olde Prophets was risen againe.

9 Then Iherod sayd, I beheld: who then is this of whom I heare such things? and he desired to see him.

10 ¶ And when the Apostles returned, they tolde him what great things they had done. ¶ Then he tooke them, and went also into a solitary place, nere to the citie called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knew it, they followed him: and hee receiued them, and shoke vnto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need to be healed.

12 ¶ And when the day began to weare away, the twelue came, and sayd vnto him,

Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meat: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But hee sayd vnto them, ¶ Give ye them to eat. And they saye, Alas haue we more but five loaves and two fishes, except wee should goe and buy meate for all this people.

14 For they were about five thousand men.

¶ Then he sayd to his disciples, Cause them to sit downe by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit downe.

16 ¶ Then he tooke the five loaves, and the two fishes, & looked vp to heauen, and blessed them, and brake, & gaue to the disciples, to set before the people.

17 So they did all eate, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate.

18 ¶ And it came to passe as hee was alone praying, his disciples were with him, and hee asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and sayde, Iohn Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the olde Prophets is risen againe.

20 And he sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and sayd, The Christ of God.

21 And he warned, & commanded them, that they should tell that to no man,

22 Saying, The Sonne of man must suffer many things, and be reposed of the Elders, & of the hie Priests, & Scribes, and be slaine, and the third day rise againe.

23 ¶ And he said to them all, If any man will come after mee, let him denie himselfe, and take up his crosse a dayly, and follow mee.

24 ¶ For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 For what advantage it a man, if hee win the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 ¶ For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed when hee shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 ¶ I tell you of a surerrie, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdom of God.

28 ¶ And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that hee tooke Peter and Iohn, and James, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as hee prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias.

31 Which appeared in glory, and tolde of his departure, which he should accomplish at Ierusalem.

him, were heavy with sleepe, and when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe as they departed from him, Peter sayd vnto Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for thyselfe, and one for Elias, and will not what he sayd.

34 While hee thus spake, there came a cloud, and ouershadowed them, & they feared when they were entering into the cloud.

35 And there came a voyce out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Iesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and tolde no man in those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 And beholde, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, beholde my sonne: for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, & suddenly he cryeth, and he teareth him, that he cometh, and with much paine departeth from him, when he hath buried him.

40 Now I haue deliuered thy disciples to call him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered, and sayd, = O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long will I be with you, and suffer you! bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whyles he was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the vncleane spirit, & healed the child, and deliuered him to his father.

43 And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondered at all things, which Iesus did, he sayd vnto his disciples, 44 = Marke these wordes diligently: for it shall come to passe, that the sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they understood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceiue it: and they feared to aske him of that word.

46 And then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 When Iesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a little child, and set him by him.

48 And sayd vnto them, Whosoener receiue this little child in my name, receiue me: and whosoener shall receiue me, receiue him that sent me: for he that receiue me, shall be great.

49 And Iohn answered and sayde, Master, we saw one casting out deuils in thy name, and we forbid him, because he followeth thee not with vs.

50 Then Iesus sayde vnto him, Forbidde him not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that hee should be receiued vp, he sitted himselfe fully to go to Ierusalem,

52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entered into a towne of the Samaritanes, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receiue him, because his behauiour was, as though hee would go to Ierusalem.

54 And when his disciples, James and Iohn, saw it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that we commaund that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as Elias did?

55 But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and sayd, Ye knowe not of what spirit ye are.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another towne.

57 And it came to passe that as they went in the way, a certaine man sayd vnto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoener thou goest.

58 And Iesus sayd vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birds of the heauen haue nests, but the Sonne of man hath not where to lay his head.

59 But he said vnto another, Follow me. And the same sayd, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.

60 And Iesus sayd vnto him, = Let the dead bury their dead: but goe thou & preach the kingdome of God.

61 Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

62 And Iesus sayde vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe, is apt to the kingdome of God.

11 Euen the very dust, which cleauneth on vs of your city, we wipe off against you: notwithstanding know this, that the kingdome of God was come neere vnto you.

12 For I say to you, that it shall be easier in that day for them of Sodome, then for that city.

13 * Alloe be to thee, Chorazin: woe bee to thee, Bethsaida: for if the miracles had bene done in Tyus and Sidon, which haue bene done in you, they had a great while agoone repented, sitting <sup>a</sup> in sackcloth and ashes.

15 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heauen, shalt bee thrust downe to hell.

16 * He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: and hee that despiseth mee, despiseth him that sent me.

17 ¶ And the seuentie turned againe with joy, saying, Lord, euen the devils are subdued to vs through thy name.

18 And he sayd vnto them, I sawe Satan, like lightning, fall downe from heauen.

19 Beholde, I giue vnto you power to tread on serpents, and scorpions, and ouer all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you.

20 Howbeit, in this reioyce not, that the spirits are subdued vnto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in heauen.

21 ¶ That same houre reioyced Iesus in the spirit, and sayd, I confesse vnto thee, Father, Lord of heauen and earth, that thou hast hidde these things from the wise and learned, and hast reuealed them to babes: euen I, Father, because it so pleased thee.

22 Then he turned to his disciples, and sayd, All things are giuen me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the Sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, saue the Sonne, and hee to whome the Sonne will reueale him.

23 And he returned to his disciples, and sayd secretly, * Blessed are the eyes which see that ye see.

24 ¶ And he returned to his disciples, and sayd secretly, * Blessed are the eyes which see that ye see.

24 For I tell you that many Brothers and Kings haue desired to see those things which ye see, and haue not seen them: and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

25 ¶ Then beholde, a certaine expounder of the Law stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I doe to inherit eternall life?

26 And he sayd vnto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And he answered, & sayd, * Thou shalt loue thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, * and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

28 Then he sayd vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue.

29 But hee was willing to iustifie himselfe, sayde vnto Iesus, What is then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and sayd, A certaine man went downe from Ierusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieues, and they robbed him of his rayment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him halfe dead.

31 And by chance there came downe a certain: Iustif that same way, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when hee was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine Samaritan, as hee iournayed, came neere vnto him, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him,

34 And went to him, and bound vp his wounds, and poured in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made provision for him.

35 And on the morrow when he departed, hee tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the host, and sayd vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the thieues?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then sayd Iesus vnto him, So, and so thou likewise.

38 ¶ Now it came to passe as they went, that hee entered into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, retreined him into her house.

39 And hee had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Iesus feet, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was combred about much seruing, and came to him, and sayde, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? bid her therfore, that she helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needefull, Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

2 And he said vnto them, When ye pray, say, Our father, which art in heauen, hallowed be thy name: Thy kingdom come: Let thy will be done euen in earth as it is in heauen:

7 And he will within sheweth answer and say, Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot rise and giue them to thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though he would not arise, and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse, because of his importunitie, he would arise, and giue him as many as hee needed.

20 But if I by the finger of God cast out devils, doubtlesse the kingdom of God is come vnto you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, the things that he possideth are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then hee cometh vpon him, and ouercometh him, hee taketh from him all his armour wherein hee trusted, and diuiderh his spoiles.

23 Hee that is not with mee, is against mee: and hee that gathereth not with mee, scattereth.

24 When the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man, hee walketh through dry places, seeking a rest: and when hee findeth none, he saith, I will returne vnto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when hee cometh, hee findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth hee, and taketh to him seven other spirits more then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

27 And it came to passe, as hee sayde these things, a certaine woman of the company lifted up her voyce, and said vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he sayd, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keep it.

29 And as hee sayde these things, they gathered thicke together, hee began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them, but the signe of Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a signe to the Nininites, so shall also the sonne of man be to this generation.

31 The Quene of the South shall rise in iudgement with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for she came from the hinder part of the earth, to heare the wise sayings of Solomon, and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Samaria that sit in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they reuerence the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 No man lighteth a candle, and putteth it in a priuer place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is the whole body light: but if thine eye be euill, then thy body is dark.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkness.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, hauing no part dark, then shall all

p. Christ here requires two things first, that we come truly by our meat and drink: and next that we distribute part to the poor: for charity is the perfection of the Law.

Or, of that that you have.

Or, that which is just and right.

37. ¶ And as he spake, a certaine Pharise brought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat downe at table.

38. And when the Pharise saw it, he marvelled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39. ¶ And the Lord says to him, I leave thee Pharise make cleane the outside of the cup and of the platter: but the inward part be full of rancoring and wickednes.

40. ¶ See fooles, did not he say that which is without, make that which is within also?

41. Therefore I give almes of those things which are without, and behold, all things shall be cleane to you.

42. But wee bee to you Pharisees: for ye tithe the mint and the rue; and all manner herbes, and passe over judgement and the love of God: these ought ye to have done, and not to have left the other undone.

43. ¶ Also be to you Pharisees: for ye love the uppermost seats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44. ¶ Also be to you Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites: for ye are as graves which appear not, & the men that walke over them, perceive not.

45. ¶ Then answered one of the expounders of the Law, and said unto him Master, Thus saying thou puttast us to rebuke also.

46. And he said, ¶ Also be to you also, ye interpreters of the Law, for ye? I leave men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye your selves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47. ¶ Also be to you: for ye should the scriptures of the Prophets, and your fathers hidled them.

48. ¶ Truly ye hate Mosaicke, and allow the deeds of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye? build their sepulchres.

51. ¶ From the blood of Abel unto the blood of Zacharias, which was slaine betweene the Altar and the Temple: verily I say unto you, it shall be required of this generation.

52. ¶ Also be to you, interpreters of the Law: for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in your selves, and them that came in, ye forbad.

53. And as he said these things unto them, the Scribes and Pharisees began to rage him sore, and to piouske him to speake of many things.

21. ¶ For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed: neither hid, that shall not be known.

22. ¶ Therefore whatsoever ye have spoken in darkness, it shall be heard in the light: and that which ye have spoken in the ear, in secret places, shall be preached on the houses.

23. ¶ And I say unto you, my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that are not able to do any more.

24. ¶ But I will forewarne you, whom ye shall feare: feare him which after hee hath killed, hath power to cast into hell: yea, I say unto you, him feare.

25. ¶ Are not five sparowes bought for two farthings, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God?

26. ¶ Yea, and al the haire of your head are numbered: feare not therefore: ye are more of value then many sparowes.

27. ¶ Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confesse me before men, him shall the fomme of man confesse also before the Angels of God.

28. ¶ But he that shall denie me before men, shall be denied before the Angels of God.

29. ¶ And whosoever shall speake a worde against the Sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him, that shall blaspheme the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven.

30. ¶ And when they shall bring you unto the Synagogues, and unto the rulers & pharisees, take no thought how, or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall speake.

31. ¶ For the holy Ghost shall teach you in the same houre, what ye ought to say.

32. ¶ And one of the company sayde unto him, Master, bid my brother divide the inheritance with me.

33. ¶ And hee sayd unto him, Man, who made me a judge, or a divider over you?

34. ¶ Wherefore hee sayd unto them, Take heede and beware of covetousnesse: for though a man have abundance, yet his life standeth not in his riches.

35. ¶ And he put forth a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certaine rich man brought forth fruits plentifully.

36. ¶ Therefore he thought with himselfe, saying, What shall I do, because I have no roome where I may lay up my fruits?

37. ¶ And he sayd, This will I doe, I will pull downe my barnes, and build greater, and therein will I gather all my fruits, and my goods.

38. ¶ And I will say to my soule, Soule, thou hast much goods layed up for many yeares, lye at ease, eat, drinke, and thy pastime.

39. ¶ But God sayeth unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soule shall be required of thee: and that which thou hast layed up, shall be consumed.

40. ¶ Thus hee sayd, and hee laughed at him, and hee went on his way.

41. ¶ And the Lord sayeth, This man hath need of repentance, for hee hath chosen riches above God.

CHAP. XII.

1. Christ commandeth to avoid hypocrisie, 4. That we should not feare man but God, 5. That we should be 30 But God sayd vnto him, I shoulde this night be fetcht awaye from this place: then wholy shall those things be which thou hast promised?

31 So to be that gathereth riches to himselfe, and is not rich in God.

32 And he spake vnto his disciples, Therefore I say vnto you, * Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat: neither for your body, what ye shall put on.

33 The life is more then meate: and the body more then the rayment.

34 Consider the rauen: for they neither sowe nor reape: which neither haue storehouse nor barn, and yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better then fowles?

35 And which of you by taking thought, can add to his stature one cubite?

36 If ye then be not able to doe the least thing, why take ye thought for the rayment?

37 Consider the lilies how they grow: they labour not, neither spinne they: yet I say vnto you, that Salomon himselfe in all his royaltie was not clothed like one of these.

38 If then God do clothe the grass which is to day in the field, and to morrowe is cast into the oven, how much more will hee clothe you, O ye of little faith?

39 Therefore aske not what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke, neither what ye shall put on: for all these things the people of the world seek for: and your father knoweth that ye haue need of these things.

40 But rather seeke ye after the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be ministered vnto you.

41 Fear not, little flocks: for it is your fathers pleasure, to give you the kingdom.

42 * Sell ye haire, and giue almes: make you bagges, which waxe not olde, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no theefe cometh, neither moth corrupteth.

43 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

44 * Let your loynes be girted about, and your lightes burning.

45 And ye your selues like vnto men that waite for their master, when hee will returne from the wedding: that when hee cometh, and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

46 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when he cometh, shall finde making: verily I say vnto you, hee will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth and serue them.

47 And if hee come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall finde them so, blessed are those seruants.

48 Nowe vnderstand this, that if the good man of the house had knowen at what houre the thiefe would haue come, he would haue watched, and would not haue suffered his house to be digged through.

49 Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when ye thinke not.

50 Then Peter sayd vnto him, Master, tellest thou this parable vnto vs, or vnto all?

51 And the Lord said vnto him, a faithfull steward, and wise, whom the master shall make ruler over his household, to giue them their portion of meate in season.

52 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he cometh, shall finde so doing.

53 Of a truerh I say vnto you, that hee will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

54 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doeth deferre his coming, and shall begin to lute the seruants, and maydens, and to eat and drinke, & to be drunken.

55 The master of that seruant will come in a day when hee thinketh not, and at an houre when hee is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnderleuers.

56 And that seruant that knewe his masters will, and prepared not himselfe neither to do according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

57 But he that knowe it not, and yet doth commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with fewe stripes: for vnto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they aske.

58 I am come to put a fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it bee already kindled?

59 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with baptism, and how am I grieved, till it be ended?

60 * Thinke ye that I am come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

61 For from henceforth there shall be fire in one house diuided, three against two, and two against three.

62 The father shall be diuided against the sonne, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

63 * Then said he to the people, When you see a cloude rise one of the west, straightway ye say, A shower cometh: and so it is.

64 And when ye see the South winde blow, ye say, that it will be hote: and it cometh to passe.

65 Hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discern ye not this time?

66 * Pea, and why iudge ye not of your selues what is right?

67 * While thou goest with thine aduersarie to the ruler, as thou arran the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest bee deliuered from him, least hee bring thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the tayler, and the tayler cast thee into prison.

68 I tel thee thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast payed the utmost mite.

n The portion of seruants euery moneth was foure peckes of corne, as Donatus writeth in Phormio.

CHAP. XII.

1 The crucible of Pilate. 2 When ye go not to condemn all to be wicked men which suffer. 3 Christ exhorteth to repentance. 4 Hee healeth the crooked woman. 5 answereth the master of the Synagogue. 6 By divers similitudes he declareth what the kingdome of God is. 7 also that the number of them which shall be saved, is small. 8 Finally his strength that no worldly power or force can let the works and counsaile of God.

a He murdered them as they were sacrificing: & so their blood was mingled with the blood of the beastes which were sacrificed.

b For the Iewes took occasion hereby to condemn them as they were sacrificing, as most wicked men. c He warneth them, rather to consider their owne estate, then to reprove other mens.

d Which tower stood by the river Siloe or fish poole in Jerusalem.

e By this similitude is declared the great p sinne that God vseth towards sinners in looking for their amendment: but this delay auayleth them nothing, when they still remaine in their corruption.

f We see our state, if we bring not forth fruit. g For both it is vnfruitfull it selfe, and doth hurt to the ground where it groweth.

h Whom Satan had striken with a disease, as the disease, as the disease of coue rousnesse is that spirit, that maketh a man couetous.

i As they are, whose sinewes are shrunke. j Or, set at libertie out of Satans hands.

There were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their owne sacrifices,

2 And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Suppose yee, that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Hee thinke you that those eighteen, vpon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, were lesse sinners aboue all men that dwell in Jerusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye all shall likewise perish.

6 Hee spake also this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and hee came and sought fruite thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Beholde, this three yeeres haue I come and sought fruite of this fig tree, and finde none: cut it downe: why keepeth it so all the ground barren?

8 And he answered, and sayd vnto him, Lorde, let it alone this yeere also, till I dig round about it, and dung it.

9 And if it beare fruite, well: if not, then after that cut it downe.

10 And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And beholde, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmities eighteen yeeres, and was bowed together, and could not lift vp herselfe in any wise.

12 When Iesus saw her, hee called her to him, and sayd to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease.

13 And hee layde his handes on her, and immediately shee was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus had healed on the Sabbath day, and sayde vnto the people, There are sixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come & be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lorde, and sayde, Hypocrite, doth not eche one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham whom Satan had bound, loe, eighteen yeeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when hee said these things, all his audience were ashamed: but all the people reioiced at all the excellent things that were done by him.

18 Then said he, What is the kingdome of God like? of which shall I compare it?

19 It is like a graine of mustard seede which a man tooke, and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the fowles of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof.

20 And againe hee sayd, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke and hid in three peckes of flour, till all was leavened.

22 And he went through all cities and townes, teaching, and turningeping toward Jerusalem.

23 Then sayde one vnto him, Lorde, are there few that shall be saved? And hee sayde vnto them, 24 Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 Whether the good man of the house rise vp, and bath shut to the doore, and yee begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and he shall answer and say vnto you, I know you not whence ye are.

26 Then shall ye begin to say, Little haue eaten and drunke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets.

27 But hee shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquities.

28 There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shal come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at table in the kingdome of God.

30 And beholde, there are last, which shall be first: and there are first, which shall be last.

31 The same day there came certaine Pharisees, and sayd vnto him, Depart and goe hence: for Herode will kill thee.

32 Then sayde he vnto them, Go ye & tell that foze, Behold, I cast out devils, and will heale still to day, and to morrow, and the third day: I shall be perfected.

33 Wherefore I must walke to day, and to morrow, and the day following: for I cannot be, that a Prophet should perish out of Jerusalem.

34 O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the hen gathereth her chickens vnder her wings, and yet would not!

35 Beholde, your house is left vnto you: I leave it to you, because ye haue refused to receiue me, and ye haue despised my voice, which I haue sent forth, and ye haue killed them: therefore will I send and destroy your house, and will build it againe. I say vnto you, that if ye had knowne the meane of these things, ye should not have refused to receiue me, when I said, Destroy this temple, and I will build it againe. But ye knowe not what I say. The temple which I say, is your heart. But ye haue refused to receiue me, and ye haue despised my voice, which I haue sent forth, and ye haue killed them: therefore will I send and destroy your house, and will build it againe. I say vnto you, that if ye had knowne the meane of these things, ye should not have refused to receiue me, when I said, Destroy this temple, and I will build it againe. But ye knowe not what I say. The temple which I say, is your heart.

A entered into the house of one of the chiefe Pharises on the Sabbath day, to eat bread, they watched him.

2 And behold, there was a certaine man beside him, which had the droppe.

3 Then Iesus answering, spake vnto the expounders of the Lawe, and Pharises, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then hee tooke him, and healed him, and let him go.

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall have an asse, or an oxe fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they could not answer him again to those things.

7 He spake also a parable to the guests, when hee marked howe they chole out the chiefe roomes, and said vnto them,

8 * When thou shalt bee bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefe place, lest a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him,

9 And hee that hath both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Give this man room, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest room.

10 * But when thou art bidden, goe, and sit downe in the lowest room, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, hee may say vnto thee, Friend, sit by higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 * For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shal be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shalbe exalted.

12 * Then said he also to him that had bidden him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor thy riche neighbors, lest they also bid thee againe, and a recompence be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blind,

14 And thou shalt bee blessed, because they cannot recompence thee: for thou shalt bee recompensed at the resurrection of the dead.

15 * Now when one of them that sate at table heard these things, hee saide vnto him, Blessed is hee that eateth bread in the kingdome of God.

16 Then saide hee to him, * A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many.

17 And sent his seruants at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 But they all with one minde began to make excuse: The first sayde vnto him, I haue bought a farme, and I must needs goe out and see it: I pray thee haue me excused.

19 And another sayd, I haue bought five yoke of oxen, and I goe to plow them: I pray thee haue me excused.

20 And another sayd, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that seruant returned, and shewed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angry, and sayd to his seruant, * Goe out quickly into the places and streetes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

22 And the seruant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is roume.

23 Then the master sayd to the seruant,
Goe out into the * hie wayes, and hedges, and * compell them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

24 For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

25 Nowe there went great multitudes with him, and hee turned and sayde vnto
them,

26 * If any man come to mee, and * hate not his father, * and mother, * and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his owne life also, he cannot be my discipule.

27 * And whosoever beareth not his crosse, and commeth after me, cannot be my discipule.

28 For which of you minding to build a tower, sitteth not downe before, and * coun-teth the cost, whether hee haue sufficient to performe it,

29 Lest that after he hath layd the foundation, and is not able to performe it, al that behold it, begin to mocke him,

30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to make an end?

31 Or what king going to make warre against another king, sitteth not downe first and taketh counsell, whether he be able with tenne thousand, to meete him that commeth against him with twentie thousand?

32 Or els while he is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassage, and deliveth conditions of peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever he be of you that * forsaketh not all that he hath, hee can not be my discipule.

34 * Salt is good: * but if salt haue lost his salutarie, wherewith shall it be salted?

35 It is neither meete for the land, nor yet for the dung-hill, but men cast it out. We that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

|| Or, seasoned.

Then reioyced vnto him all the Publi-cans and sinners, to heare him.

2 Therefore the Pharisees and Scribes murmured, saying, He receaueth sinners, and eatech with them.

3 Then spake hee this parable to them,
saying,

Math. 18. 12.

4 What man of you hauing an hundred sheepe, if hee lost one of them, doeth not leauie ninetie and nine in the wilderness, and goe after that which is lost, vntill hee finde it?

5 And when hee hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when he commeth home, hee calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioyce with mee: for I haue found my sheepe, which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which neede none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing tenne pieces of silver, if shee lost one piece, doeth not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seeke diligently till shee finde it?

9 And when shee hath found it, shee calleth her friendes, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with mee: for I haue found the piece which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 Hee said moreover, A certaine man had two sonnes.

12 And the younger of them said to his father, Father, giue mee the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So he diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So not long after, when the younger sonne had gathered all together, hee tooke his iourney into a farre country, and there hee wasted his goods with riotous li-
uing.

14 Now when hee had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and hee began to be in necessitie.

15 Then hee went and claue to a citizen of that country, and he sent him to his farme, to feede swine.

16 And hee would faine haue filled his belly with the huskes, that the swine ate:
but no man gaue them him.

17 Then hee came to himselfe, and said,
Howe many hyred seruants at my fathers haue bread enough, and I die for hunger!

18 I will rise and goe to my father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee,

19 And am no more worthe to be called thy sonne: make me as one of thy hyred ser-uants.

20 So hee arose, and came to his father, and when hee was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and came and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 And the sonne said vnto him, Father,
I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthe to be called thy sonne.

22 Then the father said to his seruants,
Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shooes on his feete,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eate and be merrie.

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aloue againe: and hee was lost, but hee is found. And they began to be merrie.

25 Now the elder brother was in the fielde, and when hee came, and drew neere to the house, hee heard melodie, and dauncing,

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And hee sayd vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatted calfe, because hee hath receiued him safe and found.

28 Then hee was angrie, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and in-treated him.

29 But hee answered and sayd to his father, Loc, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither baake I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou neuer gauest me a kid, that I might make merrie with my friends.

30 But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goods with har-lots, thou hast for his sake killed the fatted calfe.

31 And hee said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with mee, and all that I haue, is thine. It was meete that wee should make merrie, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aloue againe: and hee was lost, but hee is found.

CHAP. XVI.

serue two masters. 14 He reproveth the couetousnes and hypocrisie of the Pharisees. 16 Of the end

riage. 19 Of the rich man, and Lazarus.

AND hee sayde also vnto his disciples,
There was a certaine rich man, which had a steward, and he was accused vnto him, that hee wasted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and sayd vnto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Sitte an be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward sayde within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master will not digge, and to begge I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 Then called hee euery one of his masters detters, and sayd vnto the first, How much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And hee sayd, An hundred measures

15 Then he ſayd vnto them, Ye are they which iuſtifie your ſelues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly eſteemed among men, is abomination in the ſight of God.

16 The Law and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and ſince that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man preacheth it.

19 There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in purple, and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately every day.

20 Alſo there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layed at his gate full of ſores.

21 And deſired to bee refreſhed with the crummes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his ſores.

22 And it was ſo that the begger dyed, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams boſome. The rich man alſo died and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, he lieth vnder his eyes, and ſaw Abraham ſitteth off, and Lazarus in his boſome.

24 Then he cried and ſaid, Father Abraham, haue mercie on me, and ſend Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham ſaid, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedſt thy pleaſures, and likewiſe Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Beſides alſo this, betwene you and vs there is a great gulfe ſet, ſo that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot, neither can they come from thence to vs.

I trow not. 10 So likewise, ye when ye haue done all those things which are commanded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: wee haue done that which was our dutie to doe. 11 ¶ And so it was when he went to Ierusalem, that he passed through the mids of Samaria and Galilee. 12 And as he entered into a certain towne, there met him tenne men that were lepers, which stood a farr off. 13 And they lift by their voices and said, Iesus, Master, haue mercie on vs. 14 And when he sawe them, he sayd vnto them, * Goe, shew your selues vnto the Priests, and it came to passe that as they went, they were cleansed. 15 Then one of them, when he sawe that he was healed, turned backe, & with a loude voyce prayd God. 16 And fel downe on his face at his feet, and gaue him thanks; and he was a Samaritan. 17 And Iesus answered, & said, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine? 18 There are none found that returned to giue God praise, saue this stranger. 19 And he said vnto him, Arise, Goe thy way, thy faith hath made thee whole. 20 ¶ And when hee was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdome of God should come, he answered them, and sayd, The kingdome of God commeth not with obseruation. 21 Neither shall men say, Loe here, or loe there: for behold, the kingdome of God is within you. 22 And hee sayd vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it. 23 * Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or beholde there: but goe not thither neither follow them. 24 For as the lightening that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day. 25 But first must hee suffer many things, and be reproboued of this generation. 26 * And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man. 27 They ate, they dranke, they married wiues, & gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: & the flood came, and destroyed them all. 28 * Likewise also, as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built,

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodome, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all. 30 After these examples shall it bee in the day when the Sonne of man shall be reuelled. 31 At that day, he that is vpon the house, and his kinne in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and hee that is in the field likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behind. 32 * Remember Lots wife. 33 Whosoever will seeke to save his soule, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, I shall get it life. 34 * I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall bee receiued, and the other shall be left. 35 Two women shall be grinding together: the one shall be taken and the other shall be left. 36 Two shall be in the field: one shall be receiued, and another shall be left. 37 And they answered, and saide to him, Tellere, Lord? CHAP. XVIII.

2 By the example of the widowe, and the Publicane, Christ teacheth how to pray. 15 By the example of children, he exhorteth to humilitie. 18 Of the way to be saved, and what things let. 20 The reward promised to him, 31 and of the craft. 35 The blind man receiveth sight.

¶ And he spake also a parable vnto them, vnto this end, that they ought alwayes to pray, and not to waie faint, 2 Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine citie, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man. 3 And there was a widowe in that citie, which came vnto him, saying, I Doe me iustice against mine aduersarie. 4 And hee would not for a time: but afterward hee sayd with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man, 5 Yet because this widow troubleth me, I will doe her right, lest at the last he come and make me wearie. 6 And the Lord sayde, Heare what the vnrightrous iudge sayeth. 7 Nowe shall not God auenge his elect, which crye day and night vnto him, yea, though hee suffer long for them? 8 I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man cometh, shall hee find faith on the earth? 9 ¶ He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselves that they were iust, and despised other. 10 Two men went by into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publicane. 11 The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniust, adulterers, or euen as this Publicane.

Math. 23. 14.

c This was to declare to them, that he must yet take great paines before his kingdome should be established.
d This piece of money is called Mina, and the whole summe mounteth about the value of seuentene pound, esteeming euery piece about five nobles and seuen pence.

e God will not that his graces remaine idle with vs.

f Whereby we learne that the second coming of our Sauour Christ shall be more glorious and excellent then it doth now appeare.
g They that suppose the gifts of God, and liue in idleness, are without all excuse.

Chap. 8. 18 mat. 23. 12. and 25.

h He that faithfully bestoweth the graces of God, shall haue them increased: but they shall be taken away from him that is vnprofitable, and vexeth them not to Gods glory.

i Herby we perceiue the excellent constancy of Christ, who notwithstanding he did now fight against the terror of death, and Gods iudgement: yet went before his fearefull disciples, and led the way to death.

11 And while they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because he was nere to Ierusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdome of God should shortly appeare.

12 He sayd therefore, * A certaine noble man went into a farre country, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

13 And he called his ten seruants, and deliuered them ten pieces of money, and sayd vnto them, Occupie till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, This will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe when hee was come againe, and had receiued his kingdome, that he commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his money, that he might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he sayd vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a very little thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased five pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler ouer five cities.

20 So the other came and sayd, Lord, behold thy piece, which I haue layd vp in a napkin.

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a strait man, thou takest vp that thou laydest not downe, and reapest that thou didst not sowe.

22 Then he said vnto him, Of thine owne mouth wilt I iudge thee: * I will seruant, Thou knowest that I am a strait man, taking vp that I layd not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe.

23 Wherefore then wast thou not when my money into the banke, that at my coming I might haue required it with bantage?

24 And he sayd to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they said vnto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

26 * For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, shall be giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreover, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, hee went forth: before ascending vp to Ierusalem.

29 ¶ And it came to passe, when hee was come nere to Bethpazage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, hee sent two of his disciples,

30 Saying, Goe pee to the towne which is before you, wherein asloone as pee are come, ye shall finde a colde yed, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, why seeke loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had sayd vnto them.

33 And as they were looking the colt, the owners thereof sayd vnto them, What looke ye the colt?

34 And they sayd, The Lord hath neede of him.

35 ¶ So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as hee went, they spred their clothes in the way.

37 And when hee was now come nere to the going downe of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples beganne to reioyce, and to praye God with a loud voice, for all the great workes that they had seene.

38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places.

39 Then some of the Pharisees of the company sayd vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered and sayd vnto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

41 ¶ And when he was come nere, he beheld the city, and wept for it.

42 Saying, * If thou haddest euen known at the least in this thy day, those things, which belong vnto thy peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench vpon thee, and compass thee round, and keepe thee in on every side.

44 And shall make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leave in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knowest not the time of thy visitation.

45 ¶ He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought.

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, * Mine house is the house of prayer, * but ye haue made it a den of theues.

47 And he taught daily in the Temple. And the chief Priests & the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people sought to destroy him.

48 But they could not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hangd vpon him when they heard him.

CHAP. XX.

4 Christ stoppeth his aduersaries mouths by an other question, 9 sheweth their destruction by a parable. 22 The authoritie of prouince. 27 The resurrection, & his diuine power. 46 He reprehendeth the ambition of the Scribes.

And it came to passe, that on one of those dayes, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospell, the chief Priests and the Scribes came vpon him with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tell vs by what what authority thou doest these things, or who is hee that hath given thee this authority?

3 And he answered, and said unto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heaven, or of men?

5 And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven, hee will say, Why then beleevest ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be perswaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus sayd unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I doe these things.

9 Then began he to speake to the people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange country, for a great season.

10 And at a time he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard, but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 Again he sent yet another servant: and they did beat him, and foule intreated him, and sent him away empty.

12 Moreover, he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then sayd the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will send my beloved Sonne: it may be that they will doe reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore do unto them?

16 Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will give out his vineyard to others: But when they heard it, they sayd, God forbid.

17 And he beheld them, & said, What meaneth this then that is writen, * The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall upon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.

19 Then the high Priestes & the Scribes the same houre went about to lay handes on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceived that hee had spoken this parable against them.

20 And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should faine themselves iust men, to take him in his calke, and to deliver him unto the power and authority of the governor.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, & teachest right, neither doest thou accept any mans person, but teachest the way of God truly.

22 Is it lawful for vs to give Cesar tribute, or no? But he perceived their craftines, and sayd unto them, Answer mee first:

24 Shew me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered and sayd, Cæsars.

25 Then he said unto them, Give then unto Cesar the things which are Cæsars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marvelled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 Then came to him certain of the Sadducees, (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, Moses wrote unto vs, If any mans brother die having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

29 Now there were seven brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all, the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and sayd unto them, The children of this world marrie wives and are married.

35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enjoy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marrie wives, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equall unto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, * since they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, even * Moses shewed it besides the bush, when he sayd, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For he is not the God of the dead, but of them which live: for all live unto him.

39 Then certaine of the Pharisees answered, and sayd, Master, thou hast well sayd.

40 And after that, durst not they aske him any thing at all.

41 Then sayd he unto them, How say they that Christ is Dauides sonne?

42 And Dauid himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, * The Lord sayde unto my Lord, sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstool.

44 Seeing Dauid called him Lord, how is he then his sonne?

45 Then in the audience of all the people, he sayd unto his disciples,

46 Beware of the Scribes, which desire to go in long robes, and love salutations in the markets, and the highest seats in the Synagogues, and the chief roomes at feastes:

3 Christ commendeth the poore widowe, 6 He forewarneth of the destruction of Ierusalem 8 Of false teachers, 9 Of the tokens and troubles so come, 27 Of the ende of the world, 37 and of his daily exercise.

Mar. 13. 41.

And as hee beheld, he saw the rich men,
which cast their gifts into the treasure,
2 And hee saw also a certaine poore widow, which cast in either two mites.
3 And hee sayd, Of a trueth I say vnto you, that this poore widow hath cast in more then they all.

4. * For they all haue of their superfluity cast into the offerings of God: but shee of her penury hath cast in all the living that she had.

5 * Now as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones,
and with || consecrate things, he sayd,

6 Are these the things that ye looke vpon: the daies will come, wherein a stone shall not be left vpon a stone, that shall not bee throwen downe.

7 When they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? & what signe shall there be when these things shall come to passe?

8 * And hee sayn, * Take heede that yee be not deceiued; for many will come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time draweth neere: followe yee not them therefore.

9 And when yee heare of warres and seditions, be not afraid : for these things must first come, but the end followeth not by and by.

IO Then said he vnto them, Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome.

II * And great earthquakes shall be in diuers places, and hunger, and pestilence, and fearefull things, and great signes shall there be from heauen.

12 But before all these, they shall lay their hand on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the Synagogues, and into prisons, and bring you before kings and rulers for my Names sake.

13 And this shall turne to you, for a te-stimoniall.

14 * Lay it by therefore in your hearts, that yee premeditate not what yee shall an-swere.

15 For I will giue you a mouth, and wiſdom, where againſt all your aduerſaries ſhal not be able to ſpeake, nor <sup>e</sup> reſiſt.

16 Yea, yee shall be betrayed also of your parents, and of your brethren, and kindred, and friends, and some of you shall they put to death.

17 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake.

18 * Yet there shall not one haire of your heads perish.

19 By your patience • possesse your soules.

ged with soldiers, then understand that the desolation thereof is neere.

21 Then let them which are in Judea, flee to the mountaines: and let them which are in the middes thereof, depart out: and let not them that are in the countrey, enter therein.

22. For these bee the Dayes of vengeance, to fulfill all things that are written.

23 But wee be to them that bee with child, and to them that giue sucke in thoe dayes:
for there shall be great distresse in this land, and wrath ouer this people.

24 And they shall fall on the edge of the sword, and shall be led captiue into all nations, and Ierusalem shall bee troden under foot of the Gentiles, vntill the tyme of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 * Then there shall bee signes in the Sunne & in the Moone, and in the Starres, and vpon the earth trouble among the nations, with perplexitie: the sea and the waters shall roare.

26 And mens hearts shall faile them for fear, & for looking after those things which shall come on the worlde : for the powers of heauen shall be shaken.

27 And then shall they see the Sonnes of man come in a cloud, with power and great glory.

28 And when these things begin to come to passe, then looke vp, & lift vp your heads:
for your<sup>e</sup> redemption draweth neere.

29 And he spake to them a parable, Behold the fig tree, and all trees,

30 When they now shoot forth, ye seeing them, know of your owne selues, that Summer is then neere.

31 So likewise yet, when yee see these things come to passe, know ye that the kingdome of God is nere.

32 Verely I say vnto you, This age shall not passe, til all these things be done.

33 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my wordes shall not passe away.

-34 Take heed to your selves, lest at any time your hearts bee oppressed with surfeiting and drunkennes, and cares of this life, and lest that day come on you at unawares.

35 For as a <sup>b</sup> snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continually, that ye may be counted worthy to escape
all these things that shall come to passe, and that yee may stand before the Sonne of
man.

37 ¶ Now in the day time hee taught in the Temple, and at night he went out, and bode in the mount which is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning to him, to hear him in the Temple.

Priests haue, so Peter denieth him thrise, and yet repenteth. 67 Christ is brought before the Council, where he maketh ample confession.

NOWE * the feast of vneleauened bread nowe nere, which is called the Pascouer.

2 And the hie Priests & Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 Then entered Satan into Judas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelue.

4 And he went his way and communed with the hie Priests and captaynes, howe he might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to giue him money.

6 And he consented and sought opportunities to betray him vnto them, when the people were away.

7 ¶ Then came the day of vneleauened bread when the Passcouer must be sacrificed.

8 And hee sent Peter and Iohn, saying, Goe, and prepare vs the Passcouer, that we may eat it.

9 And they said to him, Where wilt thou that we prepare it?

10 Then hee sayd vnto them, Beholde, when yee be entered into the cite, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that hee entereth in.

11 And say vnto the Goodman of the house,
The master sayth vnto thee, where is the lodging where I shall eate my Passcouer with my disciples?

12 Then hee shal shew you a great high chamber furnished, thence make it ready.

13 So they went, and found as hee had sayd vnto them, and made ready the Pass-couer.

14 ¶ And when the houre was come, he sate downe, and the twelue Apostles with
him.

15 Then hee sayd vnto them, I haue earnestly desired to eate this Passcouer with you before I suffer.

16 For I say vnto you, ¶ Henceforth I will not eate of it any more, vntill it be fulfilled in the kingdome of God.

17 And hee tooke the cup, & gaue thanks, and sayd, Take this, and diuide it among you.

18 For I say vnto you, I will not drinke of the fruite of the vine, vntill the kingdome of God be come.

19 ¶ And hee tooke bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, hee brake it, and gaue to them, saying, ¶ This is my bodie, which is giuen for you: doe this in the remembrance of me.

20 Likewise also after Supper hee tooke the cup, saying, ¶ This cup is the newe Testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

21 ¶ Per behold, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the table.

22 And truly the Sonne of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe be to that man, by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to enquire among themselves, which of them it should be, that should doe that.

24 ¶ And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should seeme to be the greatest.

25 But he layd vnto them, The kings of the Gentiles reigne ouer them, and they that beare rule ouer them, are called Gracious lordes.

26 But ye shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefest as he that serueth.

27 For who is greater, hee that sitteth at table, or he that serueth? is not he that sitteth at table? And I am among you as hee that serueth.

28 And ye are they which haue continued with me in my temptations.

29 Therefore I appoint vnto you a kingdome, as my Father hath appointed to
mee,

30 ¶ That ye may eate and drinke at my table in my kingdome, and sit on seates, and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

31 ¶ And the Lord sayd, Simon, Simon, behold, ¶ Satan hath desired you, to winnow you as wheate.

32 But I haue prayed for thee, that thy faith faile not: therefore when thou art conuerthed, strengthen thy brethren.

33 ¶ And hee layd vnto him, Lord, I am ready to goe with thee into prison, and to death.

34 But hee sayde, I tell thee Peter, the cocke shall not crowe this day, before thou hast thrise denied that thou knowest me.

35 ¶ And hee sayd vnto them, ¶ When I sent you without bag, and scrip, and shoes, lacked yee any thing? And they sayd, Nothing.

36 Then hee sayd to them, But now be that hath a bag, let him take it, and likewise a scrip: and he that hath none, let him sel his coat, and buy a sword.

37 For I say vnto you, that yet the same which is written must be performed in mee, ¶ When with the wicked was hee numberd:
for doubtlesse those things which are written of me, haue an end.

38 And they sayd, Lord, behold, here are two swords. And hee sayd vnto them, It is enough.

39 ¶ And he came out, and went (as he was wont) to the mount of Olives: and his disciples also followed him.

40 ¶ And when hee came to the place, hee sayd to them, Pray, least ye enter into tentation.

41 And hee gaue himselfe from them about a stones cast, and kneeled downe, and prayed,

42 Saying, Father, if thou wilt, take away this cup from mee: neuerthelesse, not my will, but thine be done.

43 And there appeared an Angel vnto him from heauen, comforting him.

44 But being in an agonie, hee prayed more earnestly: and his sweate was like drops of blood, trickling downe to the ground.

45 And he rose up from prayer, and came to his disciples, and found them sleeping for heaviness.

46 And he sayd unto them, Watche sleepe ye: rise and pray, lest ye enter into temptation.

47 And while hee yet spake, behold, a company, and he that was called Judas one of the twaine, went before them, & came neere unto Jesus to kisse him.

48 And Jesus sayde unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Sonne of man with a kisse?

49 Nowe when they which were about him, saw what would followe, they sayd unto him, Lord, shall we smite with sword?

50 And one of them smote a servant of the hie Priest, and strooke off his right eare.

51 Then Jesus answered and sayd, Suffer them thus farre: and he touched his eare, and healed him.

52 Then Jesus said unto the hie Priestes, and capitaines of the Temple, & the Elders which were come to him, Bee ye come out as unto a thiefe with hooes and stanes?

53 Alken I was dayly with you in the Temple, yete stretched not forth the handes against me: but this is your very houre, and the power of darkenesse.

54 Then tooke they him, and led him and brought him to the hie Priestes house. And Peter followed a farrt out.

55 And when they had kindled a fire in the mids of the hall, & were set downe together, Peter also layd downe among them.

56 And a certaine maid beheld him as he sat by the fire, and having well looked on him, said, This man was also with him.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And after a little while, another man saw him, and sayd, Thou art also of them, But Peter sayd, Man, I am not.

59 And about the space of an houre after, a certaine other affirmed, saying, Verily euen this man was with him: for hee is also a Galilean.

60 And Peter sayd, Man, I knowe not what thou sayest. And immediately while he yet spake, the cocke crew.

61 Then the Lord turned backe, and looked upon Peter: and Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had sayd unto him, Before the cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 And the men that held Jesus, mocked him, and strooke him.

64 And when they had blindfolded him, they smote him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophecie who it is that smote thee.

65 And many other things blasphemously spake they against him.

66 And alioone as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the hie Priestes and the Scribes came together and led him into their Council.

67 Saying, Art thou the Christ? tell vs. And he sayd unto them, If I tell you, ye will not beleue it.

68 And if also I aske you, ye will not answer me, nor let me goe.

69 Hereafter shall the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God.

70 Then sayd they all, Art thou then the Sonne of God? And he said to them, Ye say that I am.

71 Then sayd they, What neede we any further witness: for we our selues haue heard it of his owne mouth.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Jesus is brought before Pilate and Herodes.

18 Of Barrabbas, 26 Of Simon the Cyrenian, 27 The women make lamentation, 33 Christ crucified, 34 He prayeth for his enemies, 40 He converteth the thiefe and many others at his death, 53 And is buried.

Then the whole multitude of them arose, and led him unto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, Allee haue found this man perverting the people, and forbidding to pay tribute to Cesar, saying, That he is Christ a king.

3 And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the king of the Iewes? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then sayd Pilate to the hie Priestes, & to the people, I find no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, He moueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudea, beginning at Galile, euen to this place.

6 Now when Pilate heard of Galile, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of Herodes iurisdiction, hee sent him to Herodes, which was also at Jerusalem in those daies.

8 And when Herod saw Jesus, hee was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because hee had heard many things of him, and trusted to haue scene some signe done by him.

9 Then questioned he with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The hie Priestes also & Scribes stood forth, and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his men of warre despised him, and mocked him, and arrayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

13 Then Pilate called together the hie Priestes, and the rulers, and the people,

14 And said unto them, Ye haue brought this man unto me, as one that peruerteth the people: & behold, I haue examined him before you, & haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herode: for I sent you to him: and loe, nothing worthy of death is done to him.

16 I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 For of necessitye hee must haue let one loose unto them at the feast.

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer to us of God, 19 Which for a certaine insurrection made in the citie, and inueter, was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

21 But they cried, saying, Crucifie him, crucifie him.

22 And he said vnto them the third time, But what euill hath he done : I finde no cause of death in him : I will therefore cha- stise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were insistent with loud voy- ces, and required that he might be crucified: and the voyces of them, of the high Priests preuailed.

24 So Pilate gaue sentence that it should be as they required.

25 And he let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whom they desired, and deliuered Ie- sus to do with him what they would.

26 ¶ And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, coming out of the field, and on him they layed the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

27 And there followed him a great mul- titude of people, and of women, which wo- men bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Iesus turned backe vnto them, and sayd, Daughters of Ierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children.

29 For behold, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that neuer bare, and the paps which neuer gaue lulle.

32 And there were two others, which were euill doers, led with him to be slaine.

33 And when they were come to the place which is called Caluarie, there they cruci- fied him, and the euill doers : one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 Then sayde Iesus, Father, forgive them : for they know not what they do. And they parted his rayment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beheld : and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saued others : let him saue himselfe, if he be the Christ, the Chosen of God.

36 The soldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him a vineger, 37 And sayd, If thou be the King of the Iewes, saue thy selfe.

38 And a superscription was also written ouer him, in Greeke letters, and in Latine, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

39 ¶ And one of the euill doers, which were hanged, called on him, saying, It thou be the Christ, saue thy selfe and vs.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him saying, ¶ Fearest thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation :

41 Wee are indeed righteously here : for we receiue things worthy of that we haue done : but this man hath done nothing a- mids.

42 And he sayd vnto Iesus, Lord, re- member me, when thou comest into thy kingdome.

43 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Verily I say vnto thee, to day shalt thou be with me in Paradyse.

44 ¶ And it was about the first houre : and there was a darkenesse ouer all the land, vntill the ninth houre.

45 And the Sunne was darkened, and the vail of the Temple rent in twain : yea, and 46 And Iesus cryed with a loud voyce, and sayd, Father, into thyne hands I com- mend my spirit. And when he thus had said, he gaue vp the ghost.

47 ¶ Now when the Centurion sawe what was done, he glorified God, saying, Verily this man was iust.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts and returned.

49 And all his acquaintance stood afarre off, and the women that followed him from Galilee, beholding these things.

50 ¶ And behold, there was a man named Ioseph, which was a Counsellor, a good man and a iust.

51 He did not consent to the counsell and deed of them, which was of Arimathea, a citie of the Iewes : who also himselfe waited for the kingdome of God.

52 He went vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus,

53 And tooke it downe, and wrapped it in a linnen cloth, and laid it in a tombe betw- en out of a rocke, wherein was neuer man yet layd.

54 And that day was the Preparation, and the Sabboth day.

55 And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, beheld the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned, and prepared o- bours and oymintes, and rested the Sab- bath day, according to the commandement.

things that were done.

15 And it came to passe, as they commu-

selfe drew nere, and went with them.

16 But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.

17 And he said vnto them, What manner of communications are these that yee haue one to another as ye walke, and are sad?

f For the thing
was so notorious,
y all men might
haue knownen it.

18 And the one (named Cleopas) answered, and sayd vnto him, Art thou onely a stranger in Ierusalem, and hast not knowen the things which are come to passe therein in these dayes?

19 And hee sayde vnto them, What things? And they sayd vnto him, Of Iesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet mighty in deed and in word before God, and all the people.

20 And how the hie Priestes and our ru-touching all these things, to day is the third day that they were done.

22 Yea, and certaine women among vs made vs afoolish, which came early vnto the sepulchre.

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seene a vision of Angels, which sayd, that he was aliue.

24 Therefore certeine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it euen so as the women had sayd, but him they saw not.

h Infidelity is reproued.

25 Then he sayd vnto them, O fooles, and slowe of heart to beleue all that the Propheets haue spoken.

26 Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

27 And he began at Moses, and at all the Propheets, and interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28 And they drew nere vnto the towne which they went to, but hee made as though he would haue gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abidine with vs: for it is towards night, and the day is farre spent. So he went in to tary with them.

30 And it came to passe, as he sat at table with them, he tooke the bread, and gaue thanks, and brake it, and gaue it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened, and they knew him: but hee was taken out of their sight.

32 And they sayde betwene themselves, Did not our hearts burne within vs, while he talked with vs by the way, and when he opened to vs the Scriptures?

33 And they rose by the same houre, and returned to Ierusalem, and found the eleuen gathered together, and them that were with them.

34 Which sayd, The Lord is risen in deed, and hath appeared to Simon.

35 Then they tolde what things were done in the way, and how hee was knowne of them in breaking of bread.

36 ¶ And as they spake these things,
Iesus himselfe stood in the middes of them,
and said vnto them, Peace be to you.

37 But they were abashed and afraide, supposing that they had seene a spirit.

38 Then he said vnto them, Why are ye troubled? and wherefore do doubts arise in your hearts?

39 Beholde mine handes and my feete:
for it is I my selfe: handle mee, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me haue.

40 And when hee had thus spoken, hee shewed them his handes and feete.

41 And while they yet beleueed not for ioy, and wondered, he sayd vnto them, Haue ye here any meat?

42 And they gaue him a piece of a broyled fish, and of an hony combe.

43 And he tooke it, and did eate before them.

44 And he sayd vnto them, These are the wordes, which I spake vnto you while I was yet with you, That all must be fulfilled which are written of mee in the Lawe of Moses, and in the Propheets, and in the Psalmes.

45 Then opened he their vnderstanding, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures.

46 And said vnto them, Thus is it writ-

& to rise againe from the dead the third day.

47 And that repentance and remission of sinnes should be preached in his Name a-

CHAP. I.

1. 14. 17 The diuinitie, humanitie, and office of Iesu Christ. 15 The testimony of Iohn. 36 The calling of Andrew, Peter, &c.

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and that Word was God.

2 The same was in the beginning with God.

3 All things were made by it, and without it was made nothing that was made.

4 In it was life, and the life was the light of men.

5 And the light shineth in the darkness, and the darkness comprehended it not.

6 There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn.

7 The same came for a witnesse, to bare witnesse of the light, that all men through him might beleue.

8 Hee was not that light, but was sent to beare witnesse of the light.

9 That was the true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world.

10 Hee was in the world, and the world was made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came unto his owne, and his owne receiued him not.

12 But as many as receiued him, to them hee gave a power to be the sonnes of God, euen to them that beleue in his Name.

13 Which are borne not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

14 And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among vs, (as we) saw the glory thereof, as of the glory of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father,) full of grace and truerthy.

15 Iohn bare witnesse of him, & cryed, saying, This was he of whom I sayd, I see that cometh after mee, is preferred before mee: for he was before mee.

16 And of his fulnesse haue all we receiued, and grace for grace.

17 For the Lawe was giuen by Moyses, but grace and truerthy came by Iesus Christ.

18 No man hath seene God at any time: the onely begotten Son, which is in the bosome of the Father, he hath declared him.

19 When this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priests and Leuites from Ierusalem, to aske him, What art thou?

20 And he confessed and denied not, and said plainly, I am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he said, I am not. Art thou the Prophet? And he answered, No.

22 Then sayd they vnto him, What art thou, that we may giue an answer to them that sent vs? what sayest thou of thyselfe?

23 He sayd, I am the voyce of him that crieth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet Elias.

24 Now they which were sent, were of the Pharisees.

25 And they asked him, & sayde vnto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou beest not the Christ, neither Elias, nor the Prophet?

26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one among you, whom ye knowe not.

27 He is that cometh after me, which is preferred before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to vni loose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize.

29 The next day Iohn seeth Iesus coming vnto him, & sayth, Behold the Lambe of God, which taketh away the sinne of the world.

30 This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man, which is preferred before me: for he was before me.

31 And I knowe him not: but because he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 So Iohn bare record, saying, I saw the Spirit come downe from heauen, like a dove, and it abode vpon him.

33 And I knowe him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, he sayd vnto me, Upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit come downe, and tarrye still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I saw, and bare record, that this is the Sonne of God.

35 The next day, Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples;

36 And hee heard Iesus walking by, and said, Behold the Lambe of God.

37 And two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.

38 Then Iesus turned about, and sawe them followe, and sayde vnto them, What seeke ye? And they sayd vnto him, Rabbi, (which is to say by interpretation, Master) where dwellest thou?

39 He sayd vnto them, Come & see. They came and saw where hee dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the tenth houre.

40 And Ietue, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard of Iohn, and that followed him.

8 Christ turneth the water into wine. 14 He drincketh the buyers and sellers out of the Temple.

19 He forewarneth his death and resurrection. 23

He conuertieth many, and dispueth with them.

And the third day was there a marriage at Cana a towne of Galilee, and the mother of Iesus was there.

2 And Iesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the marriage.

3 Now when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus sayd vnto him, They haue no wine.

4 Iesus sayd vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine houre is not yet come.

5 His mother sayd vnto his seruants, Whatsoever he sayeth vnto you, doe it.

6 And there were set there six water pots of Iemassar the manner of the * purifying of the Iewes, containing two or three ¶ harkins apiece.

7 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brimme.

8 Then hee sayd vnto them, Draw out now, and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.

9 Now when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for hee knewe not whence it was: but the seruants, which drew the water, knewe) the gouernour of the feast called the vndergrome,

10 And sayd vnto him, All men at the beginning set forth good wine, and when men haue well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana a towne of Galilee, and shewed forth his glory: and his disciples beleueed on him.

12 After that hee went downe into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.

13 For the Iewes Pasche was at hand. Therefore Iesus went vp to Ierusalem.

14 * And hee found in the Temple thoulthar sold oxen, and sheepe, and doves, & changers of money, sitting there.

15 Then hee made a scourge of small cordes, and drave them all out of the Temple with the sheep and oxen, and pouerd out the changers money, and ouerthrew the tables,

16 And sayd vnto them that sold doves, Take these things hence: make not my Fathers house an house of merchandise.

17 And his disciples remembered, that it was written, * The zeale of thyne house hath eaten me vp.

18 Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, What signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?

19 Iesus answered and sayde vnto them, * Destroy this Temple, and in thre dayes I will caue it vp againe.

20 Then said the Iewes, Forty and six yerres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in thre dayes?

21 But hee spake of the Temple of his body.

22 Afoone therefore as he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that hee thus sayd vnto them: and they beleueed the Scripture, and the woide which Iesus had sayd.

23 Now when hee was at Ierusalem at the Pasche in the feast, many beleueed in his name, when they sawe his miracles which hee did.

24 But Iesus: did not commit himselfe vnto them, because hee knewe them all.

25 And had no need that any should testify of man: for hee knewe what was in man.

4 Nicodemus sayd vnto him, How can a man be borne which is olde? can hee enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne?

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirit, hee cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That which is borne of the flesh, is flesh: and that that is borne of the Spirit, is Spirit.

7 Marneſſe not that I said vnto thee, Pee must be borne againe.

8 The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every man that is borne of the Spirit.

9 Nicodemus answered, and sayd vnto him, how can these things be?

10 Jesus answered, and sayd vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things?

11 Verily, verily I say vnto thee, wee speake that we know, and testifie that wee haue seene: but ye receive not our witness.

12 If when I tell you earthly things, pee beleue not, how should ye beleue, if I shall tell you of heavenly things?

13 For no man ascendeth vp to heauen, but he that hath descended from heauen, the Sonne of man which is in heauen.

14 And as Moyses lift vp the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Sonne of man be lift vp.

15 That whosoever beleueth in him, should not perish, but haue eternall life.

16 For God so loued the world, that he hath giuen his onely begotten Sonne, that whosoever beleueth in him, should not perish, but haue everlasting life.

17 For God sent not his Sonne into the world, that hee should condemne the world, but that the world through him might be saved.

18 Hee that beleueth in him, shall not be condemned: but hee that beleueth not, is condemned already, because he beleueth not in the name of the onely begotten Sonne of God.

19 And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather then light, because their deedes were euill.

20 For every man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither cometh in to light, least his deedes should be reprobated.

21 But hee that doeth truth, cometh to the light, that his deedes might be made manifest, that they are wrought according to God.

Christ as iudge giueth sentence against the reprobate, not only the Iewes, but whosoever should beleue in him.

22 After these things came Jesus and his disciples into the land of Iudea, and there tarried with them, and baptised.

23 And Iohn also baptised in Enon, besides Salim, because there was much water there: and they came, and were baptised.

24 For Iohn was not yet cast into prison.

25 Then there arose a question betweene Iohns disciples and the Iewes, about baptizing.

26 And they came vnto Iohn, and sayde vnto him, Rabbi, hee that was with thee beyond Iordan, to whom thou barest witness, behold, he baptiseth, and all men come to him.

27 Iohn answered, and said, A man can receive nothing, except it be giuen him from heauen.

28 Pee your selues are my witnesses, that I said, I am not the Christ, but that I am sent before him.

29 Hee that hath the bride, is the bridegrome: but the friends of the bridegrome which stand by and heareth him, reioyceth greatly, because of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioy therefore is fulfilled.

30 Hee must increase, but I must decrease.

31 He that is come from on high, is above all: hee that is of the earth, is of the earth, and speaketh of the earth: hee that is come from heauen, is above all.

32 And what hee hath seene and heard, that hee testifieth: but no man receiveth his testimony.

33 Hee that hath received his testimony, hath sealed that God is true.

34 For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God: for God giueth him not the Spirit by measure.

35 The Father loveth the Sonne, and hath giuen all things into his hand.

36 He that beleueth in the Sonne, hath everlasting life, and hee that obeyeth not the Sonne, shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

12 And when they were satisfied, he layd unto his disciples, Gather up the broken meate which remaineth, that nothing bee lost.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve barkeles with the broken meate of the fine barley loaves, which remained unto them that had eaten.

14 Then the men when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, layd, This is of a truth, the Prophet that should come into the world.

15 When Iesus therefore perceived that they would come, and take him to make him a King, he departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.

16 And when even was now come, his disciples went downe unto the sea.

17 And went into a shippe, and went sower the sea towards Capernaum: and now it was dark, and Iesus was not come to them.

18 And the sea arose with a great winde that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about five and thirtie, or thirtie furlongs, they sawe Iesus walking on the sea, & drawing neere unto the ship: so they were afraid.

20 But he sayd unto them, It is I: be not afraid.

21 Then willingly they received him into the ship: and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Christ delivereth her that was taken in adultery. 2 He is the light of the world. 3 He sheweth from whence he is come, whither he goeth. 4 Who are free and who are bound. 5 Offences and sinnes, and their reward. 6 He despiseth his enemies. 7 And being persecuted, withdraweth himselfe.

And Jesus went unto the mount of Olives.

2 And early in the morning came again into the Temple, & all the people came unto him, and he taught them.

3 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees brought unto him a woman, taken in adultery, and set her in the midst.

4 And said unto him, Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act.

5 Nowe Moyses in the Law commaunded vs, that such should be stoned: what sayest thou therefore?

6 And this sayd they to tempt him, that they might have wherewith to accuse him. But Jesus stooped downe, and wrote with his finger wote on the ground.

7 And while they continued asking him, he lift himselfe up, and said unto them, Let him that is among you without sinne, cast the first stone at her.

8 And againe hee stooped downe, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldest even to the last: so Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

10 When Jesus had lift up himselfe againe, and saide no man, but the woman, he sayd unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She sayd, No man, Layde. And Jesus sayde, Neither doe I condemne thee: goe and sinne no more.

12 Then spake Jesus againe unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me, shall not walke in darkness, but shall have the light of life.

13 The Pharisees therefore sayd unto him, Thou bearest record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 Jesus answered, and said unto them, Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, & whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe.

15 He iudge after the flesh: I iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Lawe, that the testimony of two men is true.

18 I am: one that beare witness of my selfe, and the Father that sent me, beareth witness of me.

19 Then sayd they unto him, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye neither knowe mee, nor my Father. If ye had knowne me, ye should have knowne my Father also.

20 These wordes spake Jesus in the Temple, as he taught in the Temple, and no man layd hand on him: for his houre was not yet come.

21 Then sayde Jesus againe unto them, I got my way, and yet shall seeke me, and shall die in your sinnes. Whither I goe, can ye not come.

22 Then sayd the Jewes, Will hee kill himselfe, because hee saith, Whither I goe, can ye not come?

23 And hee said unto them, I pe are from beneath: I am from above: yet are of this world. I am not of this world.

24 I sayd therefore unto you, That yee shall die in your sinnes: for except yee beleue, that I am hee, yee shall die in your sinnes.

25 Then sayd they unto him, What art thou? And Jesus sayde unto them, I tell the same thing that I sayd unto you from the beginning.

26 I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but hee that sent mee, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world.

27 They understood not that he spake to them of the Father.

28 Then sayd Jesus unto them, When yee haue lift up the Sonne of man, then shall ye knowe that I am hee, and that I do nothing of my selfe, but as my Father hath taught me, so I speake these things.

29 For hee that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left mee alone, because I doe alwayes those things that please him.

30 As he spake these things, many beleued in him.

31 Then said Jesus to the Jewes which beleued in him, If yee continue in my word, ye are verely my disciples, 32 And shall knowe the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33 They answered him, O that we be Abrahams seede, and were neuer bonde to any man: why sayest thou then, Pee shall be made free?

34 Jesus answered them, Verely, verely I say unto you, that whosoever committeth sinne, is the seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for ever: but the Sonne abideth for ever.

36 If the Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.

37 I know that ye are Abrahams seede, but ye seeke to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which yee haue seene with your father.

39 They answered, and said unto him, Abraham is our Father. Jesus sayd unto them, saith they feared the Jewes: for the Jewes had ainned already, that if any man did confesse that he was the Christ, hee should be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore sayd his parents, he is old ynough: take him.

24 Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, and sayd vnto him, Come glasse vnto God: we know that this man is a sinner.

25 Then he answered, and said, whether hee bee a sinner or no, I cannot tell: one thing I know, that I was blinde, and now I see.

26 Then sayde they to him againe, What did hee doe to thee: how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I haue tolde you already, and yet haue not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it againe? I will yett also be his disciples.

28 Then checked they him, and sayd, We thou his discipule: telle hee Gods disciples.

29 He knoweth that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and sayde vnto them, Doubtless this is a maruclous thing, that ye know not whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man bee a worshiper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world began was it not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde.

33 If this man were not of God, he could haue done nothing.

34 They answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou art altogether borne in sinnes, and doest thou teach vs so? they said him out: and when he had found him, he said vnto him, Dost thou beleue in the Sonne of God?

35 He answered, and sayd, altho is hee, Lord, that I might beleue in him?

36 And Iesus sayd vnto him, Both thou hast seene him, and he it is that talketh with thee.

37 Then hee said, Lord, I beleue, and worshipped him.

38 And Iesus sayde, I am come into this world, that they might see, and that they might see, might see: and that they might see, might be made blinde.

39 And some of the Pharisees which were with him, heard these things, and sayd vnto him, Are we blinde also?

40 Iesus sayde vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not haue sinned: but now ye say, we see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

CHAP. X.

11 Christ is the true shepherd, and the doore.
19 Divers opinions of Christ 24 He is asked if he be Christ 32 His works declare that he is God.
34 The Pharisees called gods.

Verily, verily I say vnto you, wee that entere in by the doore vnto the sheepfold, but climeth by another way, he is a thief, and a robber.

2 But hee that goeth in by the doore, is the shepherd of the sheep.

3 To him the porter openeth, and the sheep heare his voyce, and hee calleth by his owne sheepe by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he hath sent forth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voyce.

5 And they wil not follow a stranger, but they flee from him: for they knowe not the voyce of strangers.

6 This parable spake Iesus vnto them: but they understood not what things they were which he spake vnto them.

7 Then sayde Iesus vnto them againe, Verily, verily I say vnto you, I am the doore of the sheep.

8 All that euer came before me, are thieves and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

9 I am the doore: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and go out, and finde pasture.

10 The thief cometh not, but for to steale, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance.

11 I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giueth his life for his sheep.

12 But an hireling, and he which is not the shepherd, neither the sheepe are his owne, seeth the wolfe coming, and hee leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth them, and scattereth the sheepe.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe.

14 I am the good shepherd, and know mine, and am known of mine.

15 As the father knoweth me, so know I the father: and I lay downe my life for my sheepe.

16 Other sheepe I haue also, which are not of this fold: them also must I bind, and they shall heare my voyce: and there shall be one sheepfold, and one shepherd.

17 Therefore doeth my Father loue me, because I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it downe of my selfe: I haue power to lay it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this is commandement haue I receiued of my Father.

Christ was more excellent then Iohn.

Christ, tell he plainly.

25 Iesus answered them, I told you, and ye beleue not: the workes that I doe in my Fathers Name, they beare witness of me.

26 But ye beleue not: for ye are not of my sheepe, as I sayd vnto you.

27 For they heare my voyce, and I know them, and they follow me.

28 And I giue vnto them eternall life, and they shall neuer perishe, neither shall any plucke them out of mine hand.

29 For the Father which gaue them mee, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 And my Father are one.

31 Then the Iewes againe tooke by stones, to stone him.

32 Iesus answered them, Many good workes haue I shewed you from my Father: for which of these workes doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him, saying, For the good worke wee stone thee not, but for blasphemie, and that thou beeing a man, makest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, Is it not written in your Law, I sayd, ye are gods?

35 If hee called them gods, vnto whom the word of God was giuen, and the Scripture cannot be broken, 36 Say ye of him, whome the Father hath sanctified, & sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I do not the workes of my Father, beleue me not.

38 But if I doe, then though ye beleue not me, ye beleue the workes, that ye may knowe and beleue, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 Againe they went about to take him: but he elaped out of their hauds.

40 And went againe beyond Iordan, into the place where Iohn first baptized, and there abode.

41 And many resorted vnto him, & sayd, Iohn did no miracle: but all things that Iohn spake of this man were true.

42 And many beleueed in him there.

CHAP. XI.

43 Christ rayseth Lazarus from death. 47 The bise Priests and Pharisees gather a councill against him. 50 Caiaphas prophesieth. 54 Christ getteth him out of the way.

And a certaine man was sicke, named Lazarus of Bethania, the town of Marthe, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that Marthe which annoynted the Lord with oymment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke)

3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou louest, is sicke.

4 When Iesus heard it, hee sayd, This sickness is not vnto death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 Now Iesus loued Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 And after hee had heard that hee was sicke, yet abode hee two dayes still in the same place where hee was.

7 Then after that, sayd hee to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

8 The disciples sayd vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to stone thee, and dost thou goe thither againe?

9 Iesus answered, Are there not twelue houres in the day: if a man walke in the day, he shall stumble not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee shall stumble, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake he, and after hee sayd vnto them, Our friend Lazarus slepeth: but I go to wake him vp.

12 Then sayd his disciples, Lord, if hee slepeth, he shall be safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then sayd Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleue: but let vs goe vnto him.

16 Then sayd Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellowe disciples, Let vs also go, that we may die with him.

17 Then came Iesus, and founde that hee had lpen in the graue foure dayes already.

18 (Now Bethania was nere vnto Ierusalem, aboute fiftene furlongs off.)

19 And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when she heard that Iesus was comming, went to meete him: but Marthe was still in the house.

21 Then sayd Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

22 But now I know also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus sayd vnto her, Thy brother shall rise againe.

24 Martha sayd vnto him, I know that he shall rise againe in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus said vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that beleueeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he liue.

26 And whosoener liueth and beleueeth in me, shall neuer die. Belueth thou this?

27 She said vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleue that thou art the Christ the Sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 And when shee had so sayd, hee went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when shee heard it, shee arose quickly and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

a For although hee died, yet being rescoed so soone to life, it was almost no death in comparison.

law Marie, that shee rose vp & hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, Shee goeth into the graue, to weepe there.

32 When when Marie was come where Iesus was, and sawe him, shee fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 When Iesus therefore sawe her weepe, and shee Iesus also weepe which came with her, hee groined in the spirit, and was troubled in himselfe.

34 And said, Where haue yee layd him? They said vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then sayd the Iewes, Beholde, how hee loued him.

37 And some of them sayde, Couldst thou haue opened the eyes of the blinde, haue made also that this man should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe groined in himselfe, and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and a stone was layd vpon it.

39 Iesus sayd, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, sayd vnto him, Lord, hee is dead already: for he hath bene dead foure dayes.

40 Iesus sayd vnto her, Saye I not vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleue, thou shouldst see the glory of God?

41 Then theyooke away the stone from the place where the dead was layd. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and sayde, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I knowe that thou hearest mee alwayes, but because of the people that stand by, I said it, that they may beleue, that thou hast sent me.

43 As hee had spoken these things, hee cryed with a loude voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth, bound hand and foote with bandes, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus sayd vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

45 ¶ Then many of the Iewes which came to Marie, and had seene the things which Iesus did, beleued in him.

46 But some of them went their way to the Pharisees, and told them what things Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Priestes with the Pharisees a councill, and sayd, What shall we doe? For this man doth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will beleue in him, and the Romanes will come and take away both our place, and the nation.

49 ¶ Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the high Priest, that same yere, layd vnto them, We perceiue nothing at all.

50 For yet doe you consider, that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 This spake hee not of himselfe, but be- lieuing his Priest that same yere, hee proph- etied that Iesus should die for the nation:

52 And not for the nation onely, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they con- sulted together, to put him to death.

54 Iesus therefore walked nomie open- ly among the Iewes, but went thence into a countrey neere to the wilderness, into a ci- tie called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes Pascheouer was at hand, and many went out of the countrey by to Ierusalem before the Pascheouer, to pu- rifie themselves.

56 ¶ Then sought they for Iesus, & spake among themselves, as they stood in the Temple, what thinke ye, that hee cometh not to the feast?

57 ¶ Now both the high Priestes and the Pharisees had giuen a commandement, that if any man knew where hee was, hee should shew it, that they might take him.

¶ These they made him a supper, and Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at table with him.

¶ Then tooke Marie a pound of oym- ent of spikenard very costly, and anointed Iesus' feete, and wiped his feete with her haire, and the house was filled with the sa- uour of the oymment.

¶ Then layde one of his disciples, cum- mus, which was Iudas iscariot, which should betray him.

¶ Hee had not this oymment sold for three hundred pence, and giuen to the poore?

¶ Iesus he sayd this, not that hee cared for the pence, but because hee was a thiefe, and had the bagge, and bare that which was giuen.

¶ Then said Iesus, Let her alone against the day of my burying shee hath it.

¶ For we haue alwayes yet here with you, but shee shall not haue alwayes.

¶ Then much people of the Iewes knewe that hee was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake onely, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom hee had raysed from the dead.

¶ The high Priestes therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also.

¶ Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleued in Je- sus.

14 And Iesus found a young asse, and sat thereon, as it is written,

15 Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on an asse colt.

16 But his disciples understood not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembered they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things unto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that hee called Lazarus out of the graue, and rayled him from the dead.

18 Therefore mette him the people also, because they heard that hee had done this miracle.

19 And the Pharisees sayd among themselves, Decree we how we maye kill him. Behold, hee would goe after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certaine Greekes among them, that came up to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Iohannes, which was of Bethesda in Galilee, and desired him saying, Sir, we would see Iesus.

22 Iohannes came and tolde Ananias, and againe Ananias and Iohannes tolde Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 Heele, heere I say vnto you, except the wheate corne fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 ¶ Who that loveth his life, shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 ¶ If any man serue me, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall also my Father be: and if any man serue me, my Father will honour him.

27 ¶ Now is my soule troubled, and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but therefore came I vnto this hour.

28 Father, glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce from heauen, saying, I both haue glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 ¶ When layde the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: others said, An Angel spake to him.

30 Iesus answered, and sayde, This voyce came not because of mee, but for your sakes.

31 ¶ Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

32 ¶ And I, if I were left vpon this earth, will draw all men vnto me.

33 ¶ Now this sayd hee, signifying what death he should die.

34 ¶ The people answered him, & sayd haue heard out of the Lawe, that the Christ bideth for euer: and how sayest thou, that the Sonne of man must be lifted up? who is that Sonne of man?

35 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto them, Yet a little while is the light with you: make while ye haue light, lest the darkness come vpon you: for he that walketh in the darkness, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 ¶ While ye haue light, beleene in the light, that ye may be the children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them.

37 ¶ And though hee had done so many miracles before them, yet beleued they not on him.

38 ¶ That the saying of Eliaias the Prophet might be fulfilled, that hee sayd, I know, who beleued our report: and to whom is the arme of the Lord reuelled?

39 ¶ Therefore could they not beleene, because that Eliaias stood againe, 40 ¶ He had blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts: that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heale them.

41 ¶ These things sayd Eliaias when hee saw his glory, and spake of him.

42 ¶ Nevertheless euen among the chiefe rulers many beleued in him: but because of the Pharisees, they did not confesse him, lest they should be cast out of the Synagogue.

43 ¶ For they loved the praise of men, more then the praise of God.

44 ¶ And Iesus cried, and sayd, Wee that beleue in me, beleue not in me, but in him that sent me.

45 ¶ And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me.

46 ¶ ¶ I am come a light vnto the world, that whosoever beleueth in me, should not abide in darkness.

47 ¶ ¶ And if any man heare my wordes, and beleue not, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.

48 ¶ ¶ Who that reiecteth me, and receiueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: the word that I haue spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day.

49 ¶ ¶ For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the Father, which sent me, he gaue me a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake.

6. The sweet consolation, and mutual love betwixt Christ and his members under the parable of the vine. 18 Of their common afflictions and persecutions. 26 The office of the holy Ghost, and the Apostles.

I am the true Vine, and my Father is an Husbandman.

2 Every branch that beareth not fruit in me, hee taketh away: and every one that beareth fruit, hee pruneth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 How are ye cleane through the word, which I haue spoken vnto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch can not beare fruit of it selfe, except it abide in the Vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am the Vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me, can ye do nothing.

6 If a man abide not in me, hee is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.

7 If ye abide in me, and my wordes abide in you, aske what ye will, and it shall be done to you.

8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye beare much fruit, and be made my disciples.

9 As the Father hath loved mee, so haue I loved you: continue in my love.

10 If ye shall keepe my commandmentes, ye shall abide in my love, as I haue kept my Fathers commandmentes, and abide in his love.

11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my loy might remaine in you, and that your loy might be full.

12 This is my commandment, that ye loue one another, as I haue loued you.

31 Iesus answered them, Do you beleue now?

32 Behold, the houre commeth, and is already come, that ye shall be scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

33 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that in mee ye might haue peace: in the world ye shall haue affliction, but be of good comfort: I haue overcome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The prayer of Christ vnto his Father, both for himselfe and his Apostles, and also for all such as receiue the truth.

These things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and sayd, Father, the houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne also may glorifie thee,

2 As thou hast giuen him * power ouer all flesh, that he should giue eternall life to all * them that thou hast giuen him.

3 And this is life eternal, that they know thee to be the only very God, & whom thou hast sent, Iesus Christ.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe.

5 And nowe glorifie mee, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest me out of the world: * thine they were, and thou gauest them me, and they haue kept thy word.

7 Now they know that all things whatsoever thou hast giuen me, are of thee.

8 For I haue giuen vnto them the words which thou gauest me, and they haue receiued them, * and haue knowne truly that I came out from thee, and haue beleued that thou hast sent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are thine.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, & I cometo thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, from them whom thou hast giuen mee, that they may be one, as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the * child of perdition, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, & these things I say in the world, that they might haue my word fulfilled in the multitude.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepest them from euil.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 Sanctifie them with the truth: thy word is truth.

18 As thou didst send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the truth.

20 I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleue in me through thy word.

21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in mee, and I in thee: euen that they may be also one in vs, that the * world may beleue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gauest me, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as we are one.

23 I in them, and thou in mee, that they may be made perfect in one, & that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loued them, as thou hast loued me.

24 * Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be * with mee euen where I am, that they may behold my glory, which thou hast giuen me: for thou lovedst mee before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not knowne thee, but I haue knowne thee, and these haue knowne that thou hast sent me.

26 And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued mee, may be in them, and I in thee.

4 Then Iesus knowing all things that should come vnto him, went forth and sayd vnto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus layd vnto them, I am he. Now Judas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 Assoone then as he had said vnto them, I am he, they went backwards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whom seeke ye? And they layd, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 Iesus answered, I sayd vnto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these go their way.

9 This was that the word might be fulfilled which he spake, * Of them which thou gauest me, haue I lost none.

10 Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the high Priest's seruant, and cut off his right eare. Now the seruants name was Malchus.

11 Then layd Iesus vnto Peter, Put thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?

12 Then the band and the captain, and the officers of the Jewes tooke Iesus, and bound him.

13 And ledde him away to * Annas first (for hee was father in lawe to Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same yeere).

14 * And Caiaphas was hee that gaue counsell to the Jewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 * Now Simon Peter followed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was knowne of the high Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the high Priest.

16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple, which was knowne vnto the high Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then sayde the mayde that kept the doore vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He sayd, I am not.

18 And the seruants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coales: for it was colde, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, & warmed himselfe.

19 * Then the high Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I neuer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Jewes resort continually, and in secret haue I sayd nothing.

21 Why askest thou me? aske them which heard me what I sayd vnto them: beholde, they know what I sayd.

22 When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the high Priest to?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witness of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

24 * Now Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the high Priest.

25 * And Simon Peter stood and warmed himselfe, and they sayd vnto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and sayd, I am not.

26 One of the seruants of the high Priest, his cousin, whose eare Peter smote off, sayd, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediately the cocke crew.

28 * Then led they Iesus from Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eate the Pasche.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and sayd, What accusation bring ye against this man?

30 They answered, and said vnto him, If he were not an euill doer, we would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then layd Pilate vnto them, Take ye him, and lodge him after your owne law. Then the Jewes sayd vnto him, It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death.

32 It was that the word of Iesus might be fulfilled which he spake, signifying what death he should die.

33 * So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and sayd vnto him, Art thou the king of the Jewes?

34 Iesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered him, Am I a Jew? Thine owne nation, and the high Priest haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done?

36 Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Jewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then sayd vnto him, Art thou a king then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king: for this cause am I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witness vnto the truth: every one that is of the truth, heareth my voyce.

38 Pilate sayde vnto him, What is truth? And when he had sayd that, he went out againe vnto the Jewes, and sayd vnto them, I finde in him no cause at all.

39 * But you haue a custome, that I should deliuer you one looke at the Pasche: will ye then that I loose vnto you the King of the Jewes?

40 * Then cryed they all againe, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: now this Barabbas was a murdherer.

Then * Pilate took Iesus and scourged him.

2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment.

3 And sayd, Hail, king of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rods.

4 Then Pilate went forth againe, and sayd vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that yee may knowe, that I finde no fault in him at all.

5 Then came Iesus forth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate sayd vnto them, Behold the man.

6 Then when the high Priests and officers saw him, they cryed, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate sayd vnto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a lawe, and by our law hee ought to die, because hee made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraide,

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answer.

10 Then sayd Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from above: therefore hee that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cæsars friend: for whosoever maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cæsar.

13 When Pilate heard that worde, hee brought Iesus forth, and late downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the Pavement, and in Hebrew, Sabbat-ha.

14 And it was the preparation of the Passouer, and about the sixth houre: and hee sayd vnto the Iewes, Beholde your King.

15 But they cryed, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate sayde vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The high Priests answered, We haue no King but Cæsar.

16 Then deliuered he him vnto them to be crucified. And they took Iesus and led him away.

17 And he bare his crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens kullies, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the midst.

19 And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IHSVS OF NAZARET THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified was nere to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then sayd the high Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he sayd, I am King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 Then the souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments, and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part, and his coat: and the coat was without seam, woven from the toppe thence-out.

24 Therefore they sayde one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things in deed.

25 Then stood by the crosse of Iesus his mother, and his mothers sister, Marie the wife of Cleopas, and Marie Magdalene.

26 And when Iesus saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom hee loued, he sayd vnto his mother, Woman, behold thy sonne.

27 Then sayd he to the disciple, Beholde thy mother: and from that houre the disciple tooke her home vnto him.

28 After, when Iesus knewe that all things were performed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he sayd, I thirst.

29 And there was set a vessel full of vinegar: and they filled a sponge with vinegar, and put it vpon an hyssope stalk, and put it to his mouth.

30 Now when Iesus had receiued of the vinegar, he sayd, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gaue up the ghost.

31 The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remaine vpon the crosse on the Sabbath day, for that Sabbath was an high day) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

32 Then came the souldiers, and brake the legs of the first, and of the other, which was crucified with Iesus.

33 But when they came to Iesus, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs.

34 But one of the souldiers with a spear pierced his side, and forthwith came there out blood and water.

35 And he that saw it, bare record, and his record is true: and hee knoweth that hee sayeth true, that ye might beleue it.

36 For these things were done, that the Scripture should be fulfilled, That a bone of him shall be broken.

38 And after these things Joseph of Arimathea, (who was a Disciple of Jesus, but secretly for feare of the Jewes) besought Pilate that hee might take downe the body of Jesus. And Pilate gaue him licence. He came then and tooke Iesus body.

39 And there came a alio Nicodemus (which first came to Jesus by night) and brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundred pound.

40 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen clothes with the obours, as the maner of the Jewes is to burie.

41 And in that place where Iesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was neuer man yet layd.

42 There then layde they Iesus, because of the Jewes Preparation day, for the sepulchre was nere.

CHAP. XX.

1 Mary Magdalene cometh to the sepulchre. 3 So do Peter and Iohn. 12 The two Angels appeare. 17 Christ appeareth to Mary Magdalene. 19 And to all his disciples. 25 The incredulity of Thomas. 28 His confession.

Nowe * the first day of the weeke came Mary Magdalene, early when it was yet darke, vnto the sepulchre, and sawe the stone taken away from the tombe.

2 Then she ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other discipule, whom Iesus loued, and sayde vnto him, They haue taken away the Lorde out of the sepulchre, and wee knowe not where they haue layde him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other Disciple, and they came vnto the sepulchre.

4 So they ran both together, but the other Disciple did out run Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And he stooped downe, and sawe the linnen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and sawe the linnen clothes lie.

7 And the kerchiefe that was vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe.

8 Then went in also the other discipule, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw it, and beleueed.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture, that he must rise againe from the dead.

10 And the Disciples went away againe vnto their owne home.

11 * But Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she bowed herselfe into the sepulchre.

12 And sawe two angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Iesus had layen.

13 And they sayd vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She sayd vnto them, They haue taken away my Lorde, and I know not where they haue layd him.

14 When shee had thus sayd, she turned her selfe backe, and saw Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

15 Iesus sayd vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that hee had bene the gardiner, sayd vnto him, Sir, if thou hast doine him hence, tell me where thou hast layd him, and I will take him away.

16 Iesus sayd vnto her, Mary. She turned her selfe, and sayde vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 Iesus sayd vnto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father, but go to my brethren, and say vnto them, I ascend vnto my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and to your God.

18 Mary Magdalene came and told the Disciples, that shee had seene the Lord, and that he had spoken these things vnto her.

19 ¶ The same day then at night, which was the first day of the weeke, and when the doores were shut where the Disciples were assembled for feare of the Jewes, came Iesus and stood in the midst, and sayd to them, Peace be vnto you.

20 And when hee had so said, he shewed vnto them his handes, and his side. Then were the Disciples glad, when they had seene the Lord.

21 Then sayde Iesus vnto them againe, Peace be vnto you: as my Father sent mee, so send I you.

22 And when he had said that, he breathed on them, and sayd vnto them, Receiue the holy Ghost.

23 Whosoever sinnes ye remit, they are remitted vnto them: and whosoever sinnes ye retaine, they are retained.

24 ¶ But Thomas one of the twelue, called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came.

25 The other disciples therefore sayd vnto him, We haue seene the Lord: but he said vnto them, Except I see in his handes the print of the nayles, and put my finger into the print of the nayles, and put mine hand into his side, I will not beleue it.

26 ¶ And eight dayes after, againe his Disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus wher the doores were shut, and stood in the midst, and sayd, Peace be vnto you.

27 After, sayd hee to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see my handes, and put forth thine hand & put it into my side, and see: thou art faithlesse but faithfull.

28 Then Thomas answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29 Iesus sayd vnto him, Thomas, because thou hast seene mee, thou beleeuest: blessed are they that haue not seene mee, and haue beleueed.

30 ¶ And many other signes also did Iesus in the presence of his Disciples, which are not written in this booke.

31 But these things are written, that ye might beleue, that Iesus is the Christ the Sonne of God, and that in beleueing, ye might haue life through his Name.

d Because she was too much addicted to the corporall presence, Christ teacheth her to lift vp her mind by faith into heauen, where onely after his Ascension he remaineth, and where we sit with him at the right hand of the Father.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Christ appeareth to his disciples againe. 15 He commandeth Peter earnestly to feede his sheepe. 18 He forewarneth him of his death. 25 Of Christs manifold miracles.

¶ After these things Iesus shewed himselfe againe to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus shewed he himselfe.

¶ Or, Lake of Genesareth.

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his disciples.

3 Simon Peter sayd vnto them, I go a fishing. They sayd vnto him, We also will go with thee. They went their way, and entered into a ship straightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when y morning was now come, Iesus stood on the shore: neuertheless the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.

¶ Or, children.

5 Iesus then sayd vnto them, Sirs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No.

6 Then he sayd vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall finde. So they cast out, and they were not able at all to draw it for the multitude of fishes.

a Albeit they knew him not, yet they folowed his counsell, because they had all night taken paines in vaine. b It was some linnen garment, which fishers vsed to weare, which being trusted vnto him, couered his necker parts, and also letted not his swimming.

7 Therefore sayd the disciple whom Iesus loued vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his coat to him (for he was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea.

8 But the other disciples came by ship (for they were not farr from land, but about two hundred cubits) and they drew the net with fishes.

9 As soone then as they were come to land, they law hot coales, and fish layd thereon, and bread.

10 Iesus sayd vnto them, Bring of the fishes which ye haue now caught.

11 Simon Peter stepped forth and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred thirtie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Iesus sayd vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou, seeing they knew that he was the Lord.

13 Iesus then came, and tooke bread, and gaue them, and fish likewise.

14 This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from the dead.

15 ¶ So when they had dined, Iesus said to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He sayde vnto him, Feede my lambs.

16 He said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou mee? He sayd vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He sayd vnto him, Feede my sheepe.

17 He sayd vnto him the third time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sory because he sayd to him the third time, Louest thou me? and sayd vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus sayd vnto him, Feede my sheepe.

18 Clerely, verely I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou girdedst thy selfe and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt bee olde, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands, and another shall gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wouldest not.

19 And thus he spake signifying by what death he should glorifie God. And when he had said this, he sayd to him, Follow me.

20 Then Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple whom Iesus loued, following, which had also leane on his breast at supper, and had sayd, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore sawe him, he sayd to Iesus, Lord, what shall this man doe?

22 Iesus sayd vnto him, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee? followe thou me.

23 Then went this word abroad among the brethren, that this Disciple should not die. Per Iesus sayd not to him, He shall not die: but, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee?

24 This is that disciple which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

25 ¶ Nowe there are also many other things which Iesus did, the which if they should be written every one, I suppose the world could not containe the bookes that should be written. Amen.

c The Minister cannot well teach his congregacion, except he loue Christ effectually, which loue is not in them that feele not the flocke. d Because Peter should be established in his office of an Apostle, Christ caused him by these three times confessing, to wipe away the blame of his former denying. e In stead of a circle, when he be eyed with hands & countenance, and when thou goest to a berry garden thou shalt be drawn to punishment when thy feet shall after a little rest.

The Actes of the holy Apostles, written by Luke the Euangelist.

THE ARGUMENT.

Christ after his Ascension performed his promise to his Apostles, and sent them the holy Ghost, declaring thereby, that hee was not onely mindfull of his Church, but would bee the head and maintainer thereof for euer. Wherin also his mightie power appeareth, who notwithstanding that Satan and the world resisted neuer so much against this noble worke, yet by a few simple men of no reputation, replenished all the world with the sound of his Gospel. And heere in the beginning of the Church, and in the increase thereof, wee may plainly perceiue the practise and malice which Satan continually vseth to suppress and ouerthrowe the Gospel: hee rayseth conspiracies, tumults, commotions, persecutions, slanders, and all kinde of cruelty. Again we shall here behold the prouidence of God, who ouerthroweth his enemies enterprises, deliuereth his Church from the rage of tyrants, strengtheneth and encourageth his most valiantly and constantly to follow their captaine Christ, leauing as it were: this history a perpetual memory to the Church, that the crosse is so ioyned with the Gospel, that they are fellowes inseparable, and that the ende of one affliction, is but the beginning of another. Yet neuertheless God turneth the troubles, pericutions, imprisonings and tentations of his to a good issue, giuing them as it were, in sorrow, ioy: in bonds, freedom: in prison, deliuerance: in trouble, quietnesse: in death, life. Finally, this booke containeth many excellent Sermons of the Apostles and disciples, as touching the death, resurrection, and ascension of Christ. The mercy of God. Of the grace and remission of sinne through Iesus Christ. Of the blessed immortallitie. An exhortation to the ministers of Christs flocke, Of repentance, and feare of God, with other principall points of our faith: so that this onely historie in a manner may be sufficient to instruct a man in all true doctrine and Religion.

C H A P. I.

7 The words of Christ and his Angels to the Apostles. 9 His ascension. 14 Wherens the Apostles are occupied till the holy Ghost be sent. 26 And of the election of Matthias.

I HAVE made the former treatise. O Theophilus, of all that Iesus began to doe, and teach. 2 Untill the day, that hee was taken vp, after that he through the holy Ghost, had giuen commandements vnto the Apostles, whom he had chosen:

3 To whom also hee presented himselfe aliuie after that he had suffered, by many infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourety dayes, and speaking of those things which appertaine to the kingdom of God.

4 And when he had gathered them together, he commanded them that they should not depart from Ierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, which hee had said hee had heard of me.

5 For Iohn in deed baptizyd with water, but yee shall be baptizyd with the holy Ghost within these few dayes.

6 When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this tyme restore the kingdom to Israel?

7 And he said vnto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power.

8 But yee shall receiue power of the holy Ghost, when hee shall come on you, and ye shall bee witnesses vnto mee both in Ierusalem, and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, and vnto the uttermost part of the earth.

9 And when he had spoke these things, while they beheld, hee was taken vp: for a cloud tooke him vp out of their sight.

10 And while they looked stedfastly towards heauen, as he went, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel,

11 Which also sayd, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing into heauen? This Iesus which is taken vp from you into heauen, shall so come, as ye haue seene him goe into heauen.

12 Then returned they vnto Ierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Olives, which is neere to Ierusalem, containing a Sabbath dayes iourney.

13 And when they were come in, they went vp into an upper chamber, where abode both Peter, and James, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartolomew and Mattheu, James the sonne of Alphaeus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas James brother.

14 These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication with the women, and Mary the mother of Iesus, and with his brethren.

15 And in those dayes Peter stood vp in the middes of the Disciples, and sayde, (now the number of the names that were in one place, were about an hundred and twentie)

16 Ye men and brethren, this Scripture must needs haue bene fulfilled, which the holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was guide to them that tooke Iesus.

17 For hee was numbred with vs, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration.

18 Hee therefore hath purchased a feld with the reward of iniquitie: and when he had throwen downe himselfe headlong, he burst asunder in the mids, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it is knowen vnto all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, in so much that that feld is called in their owne language, Aceldama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Psalmes, Let his habitation be desolate, and let no man dwell therein: also, Let another take his charge.

21 Wherefore, of these men which haue companied with vs, all the time that the Lord Iesus was conuersant among vs, 22 Beginning from the Baptisme of Iohn, vnto the day that he was taken vp from vs, must one of them be made a witness with vs of his resurrection.

23 And they presented two, Ioseph called Barlabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord which knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these two thou hast chosen, that hee that should take in hand that excellent office of an Apostle, might be chosen by the authoritie of God.

o As the true redeemer to gather vs vnto him.

C H A P. II.

3 The Apostles hauing receiued the holy Ghost, make their hearers astonished. 14 When Peter had stopped the mouthes of the mockers, he sheweth by the visible graces of the holy Spirit, that Christ is come. 14 Hee baptizeth a great number that were conuered. 42 The godly exercise, charitie, and diuers vertues of the iustifull.

a The holy Ghost was sent when much people was assembled in Ierusalem, at the feast, Exo. 23. 16. Leuit. 23. 16. Deut. 16. 9. because the thing might not only be knowne there, but also through the world. b That is, the Apostles. Chap. 1. 5. and 11. 15. and 19. 6. marth. 3. 11. marke 1. 8. Luke 3. 16. c Whereby is signified the holy Ghost. d This signe agreeth with the thing which is signified thereby. e To declare the vertue and force that should be in them. || Or, to speake. f How the Apostles spake diuers languages. g For they could speake all languages, so that they were able to speake to euery man in his owne language. || Or, those that dwelt at Rome. h Whose ancestors were not of the Iewish nation, but were conuered to the Iewish religion, which their children did professe. i That is, such as were conuered to the Iewish religion, which were before Paganims and idolaters. k There is no worke of God so excellent, which the wicked crosse do not deride. || Or, sweete.

AND when the day of Pentecost was come, they were all with one accord in one place.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heauen, as of a rushing and mightie winde, and it filled all the house where they sat.

3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues, like fire, and it sat vpon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and beganne to speake with other tongues, as the spirit gaue them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Ierusalem Jewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.

6 Now when this was noised, the multitude came together, and were astonished, because that euery man heard them speake his owne language.

7 And they wondered all, and marvelled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speake, of Galile?

8 How then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the partes of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and Iewes, and Proselytes, 11 Cretes, and Arabians: we heare them speake in our owne tongues the wonderfull workes of God.

12 They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this bee?

13 And others mocked, and said, They are full of new wine.

14 But Peter standing with the eleuen, lift vp his voyce, and said vnto them, Men of Iudea, and ye all that inhabit Ierusalem, be this knowne vnto you, and hearken vnto my wordes.

15 For these are not drunken, as yee suppose, since it is but the third houre of the day.

16 But this is that, which was spoken

by the Prophet Joel,

17 And it shall be in the last dayes, sayeth God, I will poure out of my spirit vpon all flesh, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophesie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your olde men shall dreame dreames.

18 And on my seruantes, and on my handmaides I will poure out of my spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophesie.

19 And I will shew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapour of smoke.

20 The Sonne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the Moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 And it shall be, that whosoener shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saued.

22 Ye men of Israel, heare their wordes, Iesus of Nazaret, a man approued of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middes of you, as yee your selues also know:

23 Him, I say, haue ye taken by the hands of the wicked, being deliuered by the preternature counsell, and foreknowledge of God, and haue crucified and slaine:

24 Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed the bowels of death, because it was impossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For Dauid sayeth concerning him, I beheld the Lord alwayes before mee: for he is at my right hand, that I should not bee shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and morouer all my flesh shall rest in hope.

27 Because thou wilt not leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast shewed me the wayes of life, and shalt make mee full of ioy with thy countenance.

29 Men & brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knewe that God had swoyne with an othe to him, that of the fruite of his loynes hee would raise by Christ concerning the flesh to set him vpon his throne.

31 Yet knowing this before, that of the resurrection of Christ, that his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that he by the right hand of God hath been exalted, and hath received of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this which ye now see and here.

34 For David is not ascended into heaven, but he saith, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand.

35 Until I make thine enemies thy footstool.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a surety, that God hath made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus, I say, whom ye have crucified.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said unto Peter, and the other Apostles, When and hither, what shall we do?

38 Then Peter said unto them, Amend your lives, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sinnes: and ye shall receive the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the promise is made unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words he besought, and exhorted them, saying Save yourselves from this froward generation.

41 Then they that gladly received his words, were baptized: & the same day, there were added to the Church about three thousand souls.

42 And they continued in the Apostles doctrine and fellowship, and breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 And there came upon every house: and many wonders and signes were done by the Apostles.

44 And all that believed were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every one had need.

46 And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eat their meat together with gladness and singleness of heart.

And there evening sacrifice, at which the Apostles were present: the shadows of the Law were abolished by the Lambc which away the sinnes of the world.

2 And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe was carried, whom they layd daily at the gate of the temple called Beautiful, to alke almes of them that entered into the Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and John, that they would enter into the Temple, desired to receive an almes.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with John, sayd, Look on vs.

5 And he gaue heed unto them, trusting to receive some thing of them.

6 Then sayd Peter, Silver and golde haue I none, but such as I haue, that giue I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.

7 And he tooke him by the right hande, and lift him vp, and immediately his feet and anckle bones received strength.

8 And he layd up, stood, and walked, and entered with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walke, and praising God.

10 And they knew him that it was hee which sat at the almes at the Beautiful gate of the Temple, and they were amazed, and sayd astonished at that which was come vnto him.

11 And as the creeple which was healed, held Peter and John, all the people ran amazed vnto them in the porch which is called Solomons.

12 So when Peter saw it, he answered vnto the people, Ye men of Israel, why maruel ye at this? or why looke ye so steadfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlinesse, we had made this man goe?

13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Jesus, whom yee betrayed and denyed in the presence of Pilate, when hee had fudged him to bee deliered.

14 But ye denied the Holy one and the Just, and desired a murderer to be giuen you,

15 And killed the Lord of life, whom God hath rayled from the dead, wherof wee are witnesses.

16 And his name hath made this man sound, whom yee see, and knowe, through faith in his name: and the saity which is by him, hath giuen to him this disposition of his whole body in the presence of you all.

17 And now, hitheren, I knowe y through ignorance yee did it, as did also your gouernours.

18 But those things which God before had seted by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your liues therefore, and turn, that your sinnes may be pur away, when the time of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.

20 And he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you.

3 Peter and Iohn delivered out of prison preach the Gospel boldly. 10 They confesse plainly the Name of Christ. 16 They are commanded to preach no more in this Name. 24 They pray for the good successe of the Gospel. 32 The increase, unity, and charity of the Church.

As as they spake vnto the people, the Priests and the Captaine of the temple, and the Sadducees came vpon them,
 2 Taking it grievously that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they layd hands on them, and put them in hold, vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.

4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the word beleued, & the number of the men was aboute foue thousand.

5 And it came to passe on the morrow, that their rulers and Elders, and Scribes were gathered together at Ierusalem,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, & Caiaphas, and Iohn, & Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the hie Priests.

7 And when they had let them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what Name haue ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, said vnto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel,

9 Forasmuch as wee this day are examined of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole.

10 He is known vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye haue crucified, whom God rayled againe from the dead, euen by him doeth this man stand here before you whole.

11 This is the stone cast aside of you: builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is giuen none other name: vnder heauen, wherby we must be saved.

13 Now when they saw the boldnesse of Peter and Iohn, and understood that they were vnlarned men, & without knowledge, they marvelled, and knew them, that they had bene with Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it,

15 Then they commanded them to go aside out of the Councill, and conferred among them selves.

16 Saying, What shall we doe to these men? For surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly known to all them that dwell in Ierusalem: and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it bee noyled no further among the people, let vs threaten and charge them that they speake hencefoorth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the name of Iesus.

19 But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and sayd, Whether it bee right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge yee.

20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 So they threatened them, & let them go, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.

22 For the man was aboute foureyeteer olde, on whom this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had said vnto them.

24 And when they heard it, they lift vp their voyces to God with one accord, & sayd, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heauen and the earth, the sea & all things that are in them.

25 Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast sayde, "Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?"

26 The kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

28 To doe whatsoever thine hand and thy Councill had determined before to bee done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatenings, and grant vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word,

CHAP. V.

5 The hypocrisy of Ananias & Sapphira is punished. 12 Miracles are done by the Apostles. 17 They are taken, but the Angel of God bringeth them out of prison. 29 Their bold confession before the Council. 34 The counsel of Gamaliel. 40 The Apostles are beat, and resume in trouble.

But a certaine man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession.

2 And kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsel, and brought a certaine part, and laid it downe at the Apostles feete.

3 Then sayd Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart, that thou shouldst lie vnto the holy Ghost, & keep away part of the price of the possession?

4 Whiles it remained, & appertained it not vnto thee: and after it was sold, was it not in thine owne power? how is it that thou hast exercised this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied vnto men, but vnto God.

5 How when Ananias heard these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and tooke him vp, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said vnto her, Tell me, sold ye the land for so much? And she sayd, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter said vnto her, Why haue ye agreed together to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feete of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the doore, and shall carry thee out.

10 Then she fell downe straightway at his feete, and yielded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, & carried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the handes of the Apostles were many signes and wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomons porch.

13 And of the other I durst not man toyne himselfe to them: neuertheless the people magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that believed in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more.)

15 In so much that they brought the sick into the streetes, and laid them on beds, and couches, that at the least way the shadowe of Peter, when hee came by, might shadowe some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto Ierusalem, bringing sick folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the sect of the Sadducees) and were full of indignation,

18 And layd handes on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 But the Angell of the Lord by night opened the prison doores, and brought them forth, and sayd, 20 Goe your way and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people all the wordes of this life.

21 So when they heard it, they entered into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Council together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came, & founde them not in the prison, they returned and tolde it.

23 Saying, Certainly wee founde the prison shut as hure as was possible, and the keepers standing about before the doores: but when we had opened, wee found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priest, and the captaine of the Temple, and the bis Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would grow.

25 Then came one and shewed them, saying, Behold, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should haue bene stoned)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Council, and the chiefe Priest asked them, g Because of their owne euill consciences, which made them to tremble: for they that were not assured of Gods mercies in Christ, were astonished at these strange iudgements.

h That is, they gaue them great praise.

i Which then were the chiefe among them.
k They were full of blinde zeale, emulation and ielousie, in defence of their superstition.
l That is, of the liuely doctrine, whereby the way to life is declared.

m So that there was no fraud nor deceit, nor negligence: but in lawfull search forth the power of God and his providence for his.

3 *And sayd vnto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kintred, and come into the land, which I shall shew thee.

4 Then came hee out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charan. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein yee now dwell.

5 And hee gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the breadth of a foote: yet hee promised that he would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seede after him, when as yet he had no child.

6 But God spake thus, that his seede should be a sojourner in a strange land, and they that should keepe it in bondage, and entreate it euill foure hundred yeres.

7 But the nation to whom they shall bee in bondage will I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth and serue me in this place.

8 He gaue him also the covenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begate Jacob, and Jacob the twelue Patriarkes.

9 And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, sold Joseph into Egypt: but God was with him.

10 And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and gaue him fauour and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh King of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when Jacob heard that there was coine in Egypt, hee sent our fathers first.

13 *And at the second time, Joseph was knownen of his brethren, and Josephs kintred was made knownen vnto Pharaoh.

14 Then sent Joseph and caused his father to bee brought, and all his kintred, euen his wife and his seruants.

15 So Jacob went downe into Egypt, and he died, and our fathers.

16 And were remooued into Sychem, and were ynt in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought: for money of the sonnes of Canaan, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promise drawe nere, which God had sware to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt.

18 Till another king arose, which knew not Joseph.

19 The same dealt subtilly with our kintred, and euill intreated our fathers, and made them to call out their yong children, that they should not remaine aliu.

20 The same time was Moses borne, and was acceptable vnto God, which was nourished vp in his fathers house three moneths.

21 And when hee was cast out, Pharaohs daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Now when he was full forty yeres old, it came into his heart to visite his brethren the children of Israel.

24 *And when hee saw one of them suffer wrong, hee defended him, and auenged his quarrell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For hee supposed his brethren would haue understoode that God by his hand should giue them deliuerance: but they understood it not.

26 *And the next day hee stemed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set them at one againe, saying, Where are your brethren: why doe ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge ouer vs?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begate two sonnes.

30 And when forty yeres were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sina, an Angel of the Lorde in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, hee wondered at the sight: and as hee drew neere to consider it, the voyce of the Lorde came vnto him, saying,

32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Then Moses trembled, and durst not behold it.

33 Then the Lorde sayd to him, Put off thy shoes from thy feet: for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.

34 I haue seene, I haue seene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I haue heard their groaning, & am come downe to deliuer them: and now come, and I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moses whom they forsooke, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge: the same God sent for a prince, and a deliuerer by the hand of the Angel, which appeared to him in the bush.

36 Hee brought them out, doing wonders and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the red Sea, and in the wilderness forty yeres.

37 This is that Moses which sayd vnto the children of Israel, * I, a Prophet shall the Lorde your God raise vp vnto you, euen of your brethren like vnto mee: him shall ye heare.

38 This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wilderness with the Angel which spake to him in mount Sina, and with our fathers, who receiued the lively oracles to giue vnto vs.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned backe againe into Egypt.

40 Saying vnto Aaron, * Make vs gods that may goe before vs: for we know not what is become of this Moses that brought 41 And they made a calfe in those dayes, and offered sacrifices vnto the idole, and reioyced in the works of their owne hands.

54 But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger, & they gnashed at him with their teeth.

55 But hee being full of the holy Ghost, looked stedfastly into heauen, and sawe the glorie of God, and Iesus standing at the right hand of God, 56 And said, Behold, I see the heauens open, and the Sonne of man standing at the right hand of God.

57 Then they gaue a shout with a loud voyce, and stopped their eares, and ran vpon him all at once, 58 And cast him out of the citie, and stoned him: and the witnesses layde downe their clothes at a yong mans feete, named Saul.

59 And they stoned Streuen, who called on God, and sayd, Lord Iesus receiue my Spirit.

60 And hee kneeled downe, and cryed with a loud voyce, Lord, lay not this sinne to their charge. And when hee had thus spoken, he slept.

And Saul consented to his death, and at that time there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Jerusalem, and they were all scattered abroad through the regions of Iudaea, and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 Then certaine men fearing God, carried Streuen among them, to bee buried, and made great lamentation for him.

3 But Saul made havoc of the Church, and entered into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.

6 And the people gaue heede vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing, and seeing the miracles which hee did.

7 For vncleane spirits crying with a loud voyce came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palles, and that baled were healed.

13 Then Simon himselfe beleeued also and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondered, when hee sawe the signes and great miracles which were done.

14 And as soone when the Apostles which were at Jerusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued the word of God, they sent vnto them Peter and Iohn.

15 Which when they were come downe, prayed for them, that they might receiue the holy Ghost.

d And reigning in his flesh, wherein hee had suffered.

e This was done of furious violence, and by no forme of iustice, Chap. 23. 20.

17 Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the holy Ghost.

18 And when Simon saw that through laying on of the Apostles hands, holy Ghost was given, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay the hands, he may receive the holy Ghost.

20 Then sayd Peter vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may bee obtained with money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this business: for thine heart is not right in the sight of God.

22 Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, that if it bee possible, the thought of thine heart may bee forgiven thee.

23 For I see that thou art = in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity.

24 Then answered Simon, & said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye haue spoken, come vpon me.

25 So they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and preached the Gospel in many townes of the Samaritanes.

26 Then the Angel of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise and goe towards the South vnto the way that goeth downe from Jerusalem vnto Gaza, which is waste.

27 And he arose, & went on: and beholds, a certain Eunuch of Ethiopia: Candace the Queene of the Ethiopians chiefe gouernour, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Jerusalem to worship.

28 And as he returned sitting in his charet, he read the Prophet the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirit said vnto Philip, Go neere, and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet.

30 And Philip can either heard him read the Prophet Calas, and sayd, But vnderstandest thou what thou readest?

31 And he said, How can I, except I had a guide: and he desired Philip that hee woulde come vp and sit with him.

32 Nowe the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, he was led as a sheepe to the slaughter: and like a lambe dumbe before his shearer: so opened hee not his mouth.

33 In his humilitie his iudgement hath bene craied: but who shall declare his generation: for his life is taken from the earth.

34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and sayd, I pray thee of whom spakest the Prophet this of himselfe, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at that same Scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus.

¶ The punishment which he suffered, was the beginning of his glory. That is, how long his age shall endure: for being risen againe, he shall no more reigne, neither shall his kingdom euer cease: for as we may take generation, for his Church which neuer faileth: for howe they sit in the heauely places with Christ Iesus, Ephes. 6. 1 And he now reigneth in heauen, & hee shall lengthen this matter of so great importance.

36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certain water, and the Eunuch said, See, here is water: what doth let mee to be baptized?

37 And Philip sayde vnto him, If thou belieuest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered and said, I beleue that Iesus Christ is the Sonne of God.

38 Then hee commanded the charet to stand still: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and hee baptized him:

39 And as soon as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch saw him no more: so he went on his way reioycing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and he walked to and fro, preaching in all the cities, till he came to Celarea.

3 The conversion of Saul. 15 His vocation to the Apostleship. 23 His zeale to execute the same. 25 How he escaped the Jews conspiracie. 26 His access to the Apostles. 31 The prosperitie of the Church. 34 Peter healeth Aeneas, 40 Resceth Tabitha. 42 Hee conuerteth many to Christ, 43 And lodgeth in a Tabernacle house.

And Saul yet breaching out threatenings & slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the high Priest.

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that way (either men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto Jerusalem.

3 Now as he journeyed, it came to passe, that as hee was come neere to Damascus, suddenly there shined about him a light from heauen.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voyce, saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he sayd, What art thou, Lord? And the Lord sayd, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kicke against prickes.

6 Hee then both trembling and astonished, sayd, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord sayd, vnto him, Arise and goe into the citie, and it shall bee told thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which journeyed with him, stood amazed, hearing his voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but saw no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine discipyle at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he sayd, Beholds, I am here, Lord.

11 Then the Lord sayd vnto him, Arise, and goe into the street which is called Straight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for hee

12 (And he sat in a vision a man named Ananias coming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receive his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Layde, I have heard by many of this man, how much euill he hath done to thy Saints at Ierusalem.

14 Whereouer here he hath authoritie of the hie Priests, to bind all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, So thy way: for hee is a chosen vessel vnto me, to beare my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will shew him how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entered vnto the house, and put his handes on him, and sayd, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent me (which Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight and bee filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly he receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized.

19 And receiued meate, and was strengthened. So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was the Sonne of God.

21 So that all that heard him, were amazed, and sayd, Is not this he that destroyed them which called on this Name in Ierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests?

22 But Saul increased more in strength, and confounded the Jewes which dwelt at Damascus, confirming that this was the Christ.

23 And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Jewes took counsell together to kill him.

24 But their laying awake was knowne of Saul: now they watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come to Ierusalem, hee assayed to toyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleueed not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, & brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how hee had seene the Lord in the way, and that hee had spoken vnto him, and how hee had spoken boldly at Damascus in the name of Iesus.

28 And hee was conueriant with them at Ierusalem,

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed with the Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Celarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 Then had the Churches rest throughout all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, & were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, hee came also to the Saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his bed eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsey.

34 Then sayd Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and make vp thy bed. And hee arose immediately.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda, and Sharon saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 There was also at Ioppa, a certaine woman a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good workes and almes which shee did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they layd her in an upper chamber.

38 Now so far as much as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that hee woulde not delay to come vnto them.

39 Then Peter arose & came with them, and when he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widowes stood by him weeping, and shewing the coates & garments which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and sayd, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when shee saw Peter, shee sayd, 41 When hee gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saints and widowes, and comforted her & alme.

42 And it was knowne throughout all Ioppa, and many beleueed in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe that he taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a tanner.

3 Cornelius admonished by the Angel, 7 How sendeth to Ioppa. 11 The vision that Peter saw. 17 How he was sent to Cornelius. 44 The Gentiles also receiue the Spirit, and are baptized.

Furthermore there was a certaine man in Celarea called Cornelius, a captain of the band called the Italian band.

4 A deuout man, and one that feared God with all his household, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

5 Hee sat in a vision euidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angel of God coming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

6 But when hee looked on him, he was afraid,

5 Nowe therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea side: & he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, hee called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And tolde them all things, and sent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morrow as they went on their journey, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vpon the house to pray, about the first houre.

10 Then wared he an hungred, & would haue eaten: but while they made some thing ready, he fell into a trance.

11 And he saw heauen opened, & a certaine vessel come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheet, knit at the foure corners, & was let downe to the earth.

12 Wherein were all manner of foure footed beasts of the earth, and wilde beasts, and creeping things, & fowles of the heauen.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter, kill, and eat.

14 But Peter sayd, Not so, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted or vncleane.

15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified, I pollute thou not.

16 This was so done thise: and the vessel was drawen vp againe into heauen.

17 ¶ Now while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which hee had seene, meant, beholde, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had enquired for Simons house, and stood at the gate,

18 And called, and asked whether Simon, who was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the spirit sayd vnto him, Behold, three men seeke thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and eate with them, and doubt nothing: for I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went down to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and sayd, Behold, I am he whom ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius the capitaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel, to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy wordes.

23 Then called hee them in, and lodged them, and the next day Peter went forth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entered into Celsarea. Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and speciall friends.

25 And it came to passe, as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he sayd vnto them, Ye knowe that it is an vlawfull thing for a man that is a Iewe, to companie or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for: I alke therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for me?

30 ¶ Then Cornelius sayd, Four dayes agoe, about this houre, I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing.

31 And sayde, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter (he is lodged in the house of Simon a tanner by the Sea side) who when hee cometh, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediately, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are wee all here present before God, to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 ¶ Then Peter opened his mouth, and sayd, Of a truerth I perceiue, that God is no acceptor of persons.

35 But in euery nation he that feareth him and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.

36 ¶ Ye knowe the worde which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, which is Lord of all.

37 Euen the word which came through all Iudea beginning in Galilee, after the baptism which Iohn preached, 39 And wee are witnesses of all things which hee did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Jerusalem: whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.

40 Him God raised by the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly:

41 Not to all the people, but vnto witnesses chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eate and drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.

42 And he commanded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testify, that it is he that is ordained of God a iudge of quicke and dead.

2 And hee killed James the <sup>b</sup> brother of John with the sword.

3 And when he saw that it pleased the Jewes, hee proceeded further to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vnteaurned heab.)

4 And when he had caught him, hee put him in prison, and deliuered him to <sup>4</sup> foure quartermens of souldiers to be kept, intending after the Passouer to bring him forth to the people.

5 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slepe Peter betweene two souldiers, bound with two chaines, & the keepers besoye the doore, kept the prison.

7 And behold, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and a light shined in the house, and he smote Peter on the side, and roused him vp, saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fel off from his hands.

8 And the Angel sayd vnto him, Gird thy selfe, and binde on thy sandals. And hee did. Then hee layd vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and followe mee.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yon gart that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed throughout one streete, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 And when Peter was come to himselfe, he sayd, Now I knowe for a trouth that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Jewes.

12 And as he considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary the mother of John, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide came forth to hearken, named Rhode.

14 But when she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they sayde vnto her, Thou art madde. Per hee affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then sayd they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and saw him, they were astonied.

17 And hee beckened vnto them with the hand to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And hee sayd, See how these things vnto James and to the brethren, and he departed and went vnto another place.

18 And now as soone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went down from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 Then Herod intended to make warre against them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, and persuaded Blastus the kings chamberlain, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the kings land.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arrayed himselfe in royall appaerall, and late on the iudgement seat, and made an oration vnto them.

22 And the people gaue a shout, saying, The voyce of God, and not of man.

23 But immediately the Angel of the Lord smote him, because hee gave not glory vnto God, so that he was eaten <sup>1</sup> of wormes, and gaue by the Shout.

24 And the voyde of God grew, and multiplied.

25 So Barnabas & Saul returned from Ierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and tooke with them John, whose surname was Marke.

1 Paul and Barnabas are called to preach among the Gentiles. 7 Of Sergius Paulus, and Elymas the sorcerer. 13 The departure of Marke.

14 Paul preacheth at Antiochia. 42 The faith of the Gentiles. 46 The Jewes resisted. 48 They that are ordered to life, beleue. 52 The fruit of faith.

There were also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certaine prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen, (which had bene brought vp with Herode the Tetrarch) and Saul.

2 Now as they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue called them.

3 Then fasted they, and prayed, and layd their hand on them, and let them goe.

4 And they, after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Jewes: and they had also John to their minister.

6 So when they had gone throughout the yle vnto Paphus, they found a certaine sorcerer, a false prophet, being a Jew, named Bartolus,

7 Which was with the Deputy Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas & Saul, and desired to heare the word of God.

8 But Elymas the Sorcerer (for so is his name)

i Both by flatterring words, and also by bribery. k Which he should haue done if he had punished the flatterers, of whose vanitie he complained when hee was a dying as Iosephus writeth.

a This declareth that God calleth of all sorts both high and lowe.

b The word signifieth to execute a publique charge, as the Apostleship was: so that here is shewed that they preached, and prophesied, Chap. 14:26.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole cite together, to heare the word of God.

45 But when the Jewes saw the people, they were full of envy, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contravening them, and railing on them.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and sayd, * It was necessary that the word of God should first haue bene spoken vnto you: but seeing ye put it from you, andudge your selues unworthy of it: curstallling life, loe we turne to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commanded vs, saying, I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the end of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, & glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were adhered vnto eternal life, believed.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was published throughout the whole country.

50 But the Jewes stirred certaine * deuout and honourable women, and the chiefest men of the city, and rayled persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.

51 But they * shooke off the dust of their feet against them, and came vnto Iconium.

52 And the disciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy ghost.

CHAP. XIII.

3 God giueth successe to his word. 6 Paul and Barnabas preach at Iconium, and are persecuted.

13 At Lystra they would doe sacrifice to Barnabas and Paul which refuse it, and exhort the people to worship their true God. 19 Paul is stoned.

23 They confirme the disciples in faith and patience. 25 Appoynt ministers. 26 And passing through many places, make report of their diligence at Antiochia.

And it came to passe in Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Jewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Jewes and of the Grecians believed.

2 But the * vndeueiling Jewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony vnto the word of his grace, and caused signes and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the people of the city were diuided: and some were with the Jewes, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Jewes with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them.

6 They were ware of it, and fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about.

7 And there were preaching y<sup>e</sup> Gospel t.

8 Nowe there was certaine man at Lystra, vnpotent in his teere, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.

9 He heard Paul speaking, who beheld him, and perceiving that he had faith to him healed.

10 Sayde with a loud voice, I stand vpon my feet. And he leaped up, and walked.

11 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted vp their voyces, saying, in the heere of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter, and Paul, Mercurius, because hee was the chiefest speaker.

13 Then Iupiters Priest, which was before their city, brought bulle hurb * garlands vnto the * gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles Barnabas and Paul heard it, they * rent their clothes, and came in among the people, crying.

15 And saying, O men, why doe ye these things? Alas are euen men * subject to the like passions that ye be, and preach vnto you, that ye should turne from these vaine idoles vnto the liuing God, * which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are.

16 Also in times past * suffered all the Gentiles to walke in their owne * wayes.

17 Wherefore, hee left not himselfe without a witnesse, in that he did good, and gaue vs raine from heauen, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness.

18 And speaking these things, scarce restrained they the people, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.

19 Then there came certaine Jewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had persecuted the people, * stoned Paul, and drew him out of the city, supposing he had bene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he arose up, and came into the cite, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And after they had preached to that city, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia.

22 Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdom of God.

23 And when they had ordeined them Elders by * election in every Church, and prayed, and fasted, they committed them to the Lord in whom they believed.

24 Thus they went througout Bithonia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came downe to Attalia.

26 And thence sailed to Antiochia, from whence they had bene commended vnto the grace of God, to the worke which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come, and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done * by them, and how hee had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

CHAP. XV.

1 Variance about circumcision, 20 The Apostles send their determination to the Churches, 25 Paul and Barnabas preach at Antiochia, 29 And separate company because of John Marke, 31 Then came downe certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moyses, ye cannot be saved.

2 And when there was great dissention and disputeation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeined that Paul and Barnabas, and certain other of them should goe up to Ierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus being sent forth by the Church, they passed through Idemite, and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles: and they brought great joy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Ierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But some of them, certaine of the sect of the Pharisees, which did beleue, rose up, saying, that it was needfull to circumcise them, and to commaund them to keepe the Law of Moyses.

6 Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had bene great disputeation, Petre rose up, and sayde vnto them, Ye men and brethren, ye knowe that a good while agoe, among vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the wordes of the Gospell, and beleue.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost, euen as he did vnto vs.

9 And hee put no difference betweene vs, and them, after that he faith hee had purified their hearts.

10 Now therefore, why tempt ye God, to lay a yoke on the disciples neckes, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleue, though the grace of the Lord Iesus Christ to be laued, euen as they do.

12 Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 Simon hath declared how God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 After this I will returne, and will build againe the Tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will set it by,

17 That the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles upon whom my Name is called, sayeth the Lord which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the world God knoweth all his works.

19 Wherefore my sentence is, that wee trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God,

20 But that wee write vnto them, that they abstaine themselves from filthinesse of moles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moyses of old time hath in euery citie them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues euery Sabbath day.

22 Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church, to send chosen men of their owne company to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas, to wit, Judas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren.

23 And wrote letters by them after this manner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, sende greeting.

24 Forasmuch as wee haue heard, that certaine which departed from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and cumbrd your minde, saying, Ye must be circumcised, and keepe the Law, to whom wee gaue no such commaundment:

25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when we were come together with one accord, to send chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue giuen by their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ.

27 The same haue therefore sent Judas and Silas, which shall also tell you the same things by mouth.

28 For it seemed good to the holy Ghost, and to vs, to lay no more burthen vpon you, then these necessary things, 29 That, that ye abstaine from things offered to moles, and blood, and that that is strangled, & from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall do well. Fare ye well.

30 Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 And when they had read it, they rejoiced for the consolation.

32 And Judas & Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many wordes, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had tarried there a space, they were let goe in peace of the brethren, vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

36 But after certain dayes, Paul said unto Barnabas, Let vs returne, and visite our brethren in every cite, where wee have preached the word of the Lord, and see howe they doe.

37 And Barnabas councelled to take with them John called Marke.

38 But Paul thought it not meete to take him into their companie, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the wayke.

39 Then were they so stirred, that they departed asunder one from another, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed unto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commendeed of the brethren unto the grace of God.

41 And he went thorow Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

CHAP. XVI.

1 When Paul had circumcised Timotheus, hee took him with him. 2 The first calleth them from one country to another. 3 4 Lydia u converted 5 Paul and Silas imprisoned, convert the Tayler, 37 and are delivred as Romanes.

Then came hee to Derbe and to Lystra: and beholde, a certaine discipule was there, named Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a Jewesse and beleuech, but his father was a Grecian.

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, reported well.

3 Therefore Paul would that he should go forth with him, and tooke him: circumcised him, because of the Jewes which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Grecian.

4 And as they went thorow the cities, they delivred them the decrees to keepe, ordained of the Apostles and Elders, which were at Jerusalem.

5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and increased in number dayly.

6 And when they had gone thorowout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden of the holy Ghost, to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia, and sought to goe into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed thorow Mysia, and came downe to Troas.

9 Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayeth him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe us.

10 And after hee had seen the vision, immediately was prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preach the Gospel unto them.

11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis.

12 And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe cite in the partes of Macedonia, and s whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there, and were bound in this cite abiding certaine dayes.

13 And on the Sabbath day, we went out of the cite, besides a river where they were wont to pray: and we sat downe, and spake unto the women, which were come together.

14 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the cite of the Thyracians, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things which Paul spake.

15 And when she was baptized and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have iudged mee to bee faithfull to the Lord, come into mine house and abide there: and she constrained vs.

16 And it came to passe, that as we went to prayer, a certaine mayd having a spirit of divination, met vs, which gave her much vantage with divining.

17 She followed Paul and vs, and cried, saying, These men are servants of the most high God, which shewe unto vs the way of saluation.

18 And this did she many daies: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and said to the spirit, I command thee in the name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And yet came out the same houre.

19 Now when her masters sawe that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the marker place unto the Magistrates.

20 And brought them to the Governours, saying, These men which are Iewes trouble our cite,

21 And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receive; neither to observe, seeing we are Romanes.

22 The people also rose up together against them, and the Governours rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rodde.

23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commanding the Tayler to keepe them surely.

24 Also having received such commandement, call them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast to the stocks.

25 Nowe at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sing a Psalm unto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and every mans bands were loosed.

27 Then the keeper of the prison waken out of his sleepe, and when he saw the prison doores open, he drew out his sword, and would have killed himself, supposing the prisoners had bene fled.

28 But Paul cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme: for we are all here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas.

30 And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I doe to be saved?

31 And they said, Believe in the Lord Je-

¶ No man had authority to beat, or to put to death a citizen Romane, but the Romanes themselves by the consent of 7 people. o For the punishment was great against them that did iniurie to a citizen Romane.

33 Afterward hee tooke them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged unto him straightway.

34 And when he had brought them into his house, he let them eat before them, and rejoiced that he with all his household beleueu in God.

35 And when it was day, † the Governours sent the sericants, saying, Let those men goe.

36 Then the keeper of the prison tolde these wordes unto Paul, saying, The Governours haue sent to looke you: now therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.

37 Then said Paul unto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and now would they put vs out vniuily: nay verily; but let them come and bing vs out.

38 And the sericants tolde these wordes vnto the Governours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the cite.

40 And they went out of the prison, and entered into the house of Lydia: & when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul cometh to Thessalonica, & where some receive him, & others persecute him. 11 To search the Scriptures. 17 He disputeth at Athens, and the fruit of his doctrine.

Now as they passed thorow Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Jewes.

2 And Paul, as his manner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath daies disputed with them by the Scriptures.

3 Opening & alleging that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead: and this is Iesus Christ, whome sayd hee, I preach to you.

4 And some of them beleueu, and toyed in companie with Paul and Silas: altho the Grecians that feared God, a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a fewe.

5 But the Jewes which beleueu not, moued with envy, tooke vnto them certain vagabondes and wicked fellows, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the cite, & made assault against the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drew Jason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the cite, crying, These are they which haue subuerbed the state of the world, and here they are.

7 Whom Jason hath receiued, and these all doe against the decrees of Celsus, saying, that there is another King, one Jesus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the cite, when they heard these things.

9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient assurance of Jason and of the other, they let them goe.

10 And the brethren immediately sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entered into the Synagogue of the Jewes.

11 These were also more noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which searched the word with all readines, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them beleueu, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a fewe.

13 ¶ But when the Jewes of Thessalonica knewe, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also and moued the people.

14 And by and by the brethren sent away Paul to go as it were to the Sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

15 And they that did conduct Paul, brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commendement vnto Silas and Timotheus that they should come to him at once, they departed.

16 ¶ Some while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was stirred in him, when he saw the cite so full of idols.

17 Therefore hee disputed in the Synagogue with the Jewes, and with them that were religious, & in the market dayes, with whomsoever he met.

18 Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoicks, disputed with him, and some sayd, What wilt this babbler say? Others sayd, Hee seemeth to be a letter mouth of strange gods (because hee preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into Bars street, saying, May wee not know, what this new doctrine wherof thou speakest, is?

20 For thou bringest certaine strange things vnto our eares: wee would knowe therefore what these things meane.

21 For all the Athenians and strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselves to nothing els, but either to tell of, or to heare some newes.

22 Then Paul stood in the middes of Mars street, and sayd, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious.

23 For as I passed by, and beheld your deuotions, I founde an altar wherem teined vnto. Or, ye call, or trifier. b Where iudgements of weightie matters, but chiefly of impiecie against their gods. c Of Paul was accused: or els was led thither because of the people, whose eares euer tickled to heare newes. Or, Paul said.

sted the Lord, and said unto him, Thou seest brother, how many thousand Jewes there are which believe, and they are all zealous of the law.

21 Showe they are insourmed of thee, that thou teachest all the Jewes which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moles, and sayest, that they ought not to circumcise their children, neither to live after the customes.

22 What is then to bee done? the multitude must needs come together: for they shall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that wee say to thee. We have foure men, which have made a vow.

24 Them take, and purifie thy selfe with them, and contribute with them, that they may have their heads: and all shall know, that those things, wherof they have beene enformen concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Law.

25 For as touching the gentiles, which beleue, wee have written, and determined, that they observe no such thing, but that they keepe themselves from things offered to Idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fomication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entered into the Temple, declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, untill that an offering should bee offered for every one of them.

27 And when the seven dayes were almost ended, the Jewes which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) mooved all the people, and layde hands on him.

28 Crying, men of Israel, heipe: this is the man that teacheth all men every where against the people, and the lawe, and this place: moreover, hee hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the citie, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was mooved, & the people ran together: and they tooke Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doores were shut.

31 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chiefe Captaine of the band, that all Ierusalem was on an uprore.

32 Altho immediately tooke souldiers, and Centurions, and ransome: & downe unto them: and when they sawe the chiefe Captaine and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Captaine came neere and tooke him, and commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cryed this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, hee commanded him to be led into the castle.

35 And when hee came unto the gates, it was in that he was borne of the soldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should have bene led into the castle, hee layd unto the chiefe captaine, Say I praye thee unto thee? Altho sayd, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the Egyptian, who before these dayes raised a sedition, & led out into the wilderness foure thousand men that were murderers?

39 Then Paul sayd, Doubtlesse I am a man which am a Jew, and citizen of Tarsus a famous citie of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer me to speake unto the people.

40 And when hee had given him licence, Paul stood on the greeces, & beckened with the hand unto the people: & when there was made great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

CHAP. XXII.

3 Paul rendereth an account of his life, and doctrine. 25 Hee casteth the whip by reason he was a citizen of Rome.

Ye men, brethren, and fathers, heare my defence now toward you.

2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he sayd)

3 I am verily a man, which am a Jewe, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought up in this citie at the feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect manner of the Law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding & delivering into prison both men and women.

5 As also the chiefe Priest hath beere me witness, and all the state of the Elders: of whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus to hving them, which were there, bound unto Ierusalem, that they might be punished.

6 And it so was, as I journeyed and was come neere unto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.

7 So I fell unto the earth, and heard a voice saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Altho art thou, Lord? And hee sayde to me, I am Iesus of Nazaret, whom thou persecutest.

9 Wherefore, they that were with me, saw in deed a light, and were afrayde, but they heard not the voyce of him that spake unto me.

10 Then I sayd, What shall I doe, Lord? And the Lord sayd unto me, Arise, and goe into Damascus: and there it shall bee tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias, a goodly man, as pertaining to the Law, having good report of all the Jewes which dwelt there, 13 Came vnto me, and stood, and said vnto me, Brother Saul, receiue thy sight: and that same houre I looked vpon him.

14 And he sayd, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and shouldest see that I just one, and shouldest heare the voyce of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt bee his witnesse vnto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard.

16 Now therefore why tarrest thou? Arise, & be baptized, & wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the name of the Lord.

17 And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Ierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance,

18 And saue him saying vnto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Ierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnesse concerning me.

19 Then I sayd, Lord, they know that I am *prisoned, and beat in euery Synagogue them that beleued in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was shed, I also stood by, and consented vnto his death, and kept the clothes of them that slew him.

21 Then he sayd vnto me, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

22 And they heard him vnto this word, but then they lift vp their voyces, and sayd, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meete that he should liue.

23 And as they cryed and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the ayre,

24 The chiefe Captaine commaunded him to be led into the Caste, and bad that hee should bee scourged and examined, that hee might know wherefore they cryed so on him.

25 And as they bound him with thongs, Paul sayd vnto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Roman, and not condemned?

26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went and told the chiefe Captaine, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Roman.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, & sayd to him, Tell me, Art thou a Roman? And he sayd, Yea.

28 And the chiefe Captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this burgethip. Then Paul sayd, But I was a slave borne.

29 Then straightway they departed from him which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after hee knew that he was a Roman, and that hee had bound him.

30 On the next day, because hee would haue knowen the certainty wherefore hee was accused of the Jewes, hee looked him from his bondes, and commaunded the high Priests and all their Councill to come together: and hee brought Paul, and set him before them.

1 The answers of Paul being finished, and the overthrow of his enemies. 2 The Lord reuengeth him. 23 And because the Iewes saide woe for him, he is sent to Caesarea.

AND Paul behelde earnestly the Councill, and sayd, Men and brethren, I haue in all good conscience serued God vntill this day.

2 Then the high Priest Ananias commaunded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 Then layde Paul to him, God will smite thee thou whited wall: for thou stirrest to iudge me according to the Law, and commaundest thou me to bee smitten contrary to the Law?

4 And they that stood by, sayd, Reuilest thou Gods high Priest?

5 Then sayd Paul, I knew not, brethren, that hee was the high Priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speake euill of the ruler of thy people.

6 But when Paul perceined that the one part were of the Sadduces, and the other of the Pharises, he cried in the Councill, Men and brethren, I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 And when he had sayd this, there was a dissention betwene the Pharises and the Sadduces, so that the multitude was diuided.

8 For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither Angel nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.

9 Then there was a great cry: and the Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, Allee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

10 And when there was a great dissention, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in peeces of them, commaund the souldiers to goe downe, and to take him from among them, and to bring him into the caste.

11 And the night following the Lord stood by him, and sayd, Be of good courage, Paul: for as thou hast testified of me in Ierusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselves with an othe, saying, that they would neither eate nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more then foure, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priests and Elders, and sayd, Allee haue bound our selues with a solemne othe, that we will eate nothing vntill we haue slaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, yee and the Councill, signifie to the chiefe captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morrow, as though he would knowe some thing more perfect of him, and wee, at euer he come neere, will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Pauls sisters came heare of of Felix saying a word, he went, and entered into the castle, and told Paul.

17 And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and sayd, Bring this young man vnto the chiefe captaine: for he hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine and sayd, Paul the prisoner called me vnto him, and prayed me to bring this young man vnto thee, which hath some thing to say vnto thee.

19 When the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shew me?

20 And he sayd, The Jewes haue conspired to deliuer thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul to morrow into the Council, as though they would enquire somewhat of him more perfectly.

21 But let them not perswade thee: for there is in wait for him of them more then forty men, which haue bound themselves with an oth, that they will neither eat nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

22 The chiefe captaine then let the young man depart, and charged him thus: speak it to no man, that hee had shewed him these things.

23 And he called vnto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers, that they may goe to Cesarea, and horsemen therofe and ten; and two hundred with darts, at the third hour of the night.

24 And let them make ready a horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the Governour.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this manner:

26 Claudius Tylas vnto the most noble Governour Felix, sendeth greeting.

27 As this was taken of the Jewes, and should haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, & rescued him, perceiving that he was a Roman.

28 And when I would haue knowne the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Council.

29 There I perceived that he was accused of questions of their Lawe, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed me, how that the Jewes layd wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him, farwell.

31 Then the soldiers, as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned vnto the castle.

33 Nowe when they came to Cesarea, they deliuered the Epistle to the governour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the governour had read it, hee asked of what province he was, and when hee understood that he was of Cilicia,

35 I will heare thee, sayd hee, when thine accusers also be come, and command them to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIIII.

To Paul being accused, answered for his life and doctrine against his accusers. 25 Felix greiveth him, thinking to have a bribe, 28 And after leaueth him in prison.

Now after five dayes, Annias the brother came down with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certaine Orator, which appeared before the Governour against Paul.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that wee haue obtained great quietnesse through thee, and that many worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy providence,

3 Wee acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, most noble Felix, vnto all thanks.

4 But that I bee not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy courtesie a few words.

5 Certainly we haue found this man a pestilent fellowe, and a moouer of sedition among all the Jewes throughout the world, and a chiefe maintainer of the sect of the Pharisees:

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore we tooke him, and would haue iudged him according to our lawe:

7 But the chiefe captaine Tylas came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.

9 And the Jewes likewise affirmed, saying that it was so.

10 Then Paul, after that the governour had beckned vnto him that he should speake, answered, I doe the more gladly answer for myselfe, inasmuch as I knowe that thou hast bene of many yeeres a Iudge vnto this nation,

11 Seeing thou mayest knowe, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vnto thee to worship in Ierusalem.

12 And they neither found mee in the Temple disputing with any man, neither making uproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the city.

13 Neither can they proue the things whereof they now accuse me.

14 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way which they call a heresie, in worshiping the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets,

15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead which they themselves look for also, shall be both of iust and vniust.

16 And herein I enduce my selfe to haue not that his purpose was to worship thee, but the Jewes so found him by the counsel of others: for he thought to haue wonne the simple brethren, and to stoppe the enemies mouth. And Pharisees termed the Christian doctrine.

22 Except he be for this one voyce that I cryed standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

23 Now when Felix heard these things, he deferred them, and sayd, When I shall more perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the coming of Lysias the chiefe Captaine, I will decide your matter.

24 Then he commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

25 And after certaine dayes came Felix with his wife Drusilla, which was a Jewesse, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

26 And as he disputed of righteousness, and temperance, and of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, So thy way for this time, and when I haue convenient time, I will call for thee.

27 He hoped also that money should haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore hee sent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

28 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felixs house: and Felix willing to get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

CHAP. XXV.

a The Iewes accuse Paul before Festus. 8 He answereth for himselfe. 11. And appealeth vnto the Emperour. 14. His matter is rehearsed before Agrippa. 23. And he is brought forth.

VVhen Festus was then come into the prouince, after three dayes hee went by from Cesarea vnto Ierusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of Iewes appeared before him against Paul; and they besought him,

3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Ierusalem: and they sayd wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that hee himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, sayd he, which among you are able, come downe with me; and if there bee any wickednesse in the man, let them accuse him.

6 Now when hee had taried among them no more then tenne dayes, hee went downe to Cesarea, and the next day late in the iudgement seat, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Ierusalem stood about him, and layd many and grievous complaints against Paul, which they could not proue.

8 Forasmuch as hee answered, that hee had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against the Temple, nor against Cesar.

9 But Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul, and sayd, Wilt thou go by to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before me?

10 Then sayd Paul, I stand at Cesars iudgement seat, where I ought to be: iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou verie well knowest.

11 For if I done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there bee none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cesar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, hee answered, Wilt thou appeale vnto Cesar? vnto Cesar shalt thou goe.

13 And after certaine dayes, King Agrippa and a Bernice came downe to Cesarea to salute Festus.

14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus proposed Pauls cause vnto the King, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix.

15 Of whome when I came to Ierusalem, the high Priestes & Elders of the Iewes informed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, that it is not the maner of the Romanes to geue fauour to deliuer any man to death, before that hee which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe concerning the crime.

17 Therefore when they were come thither, without delay, the day following I sate on the iudgement seat, and commanded the man to be brought forth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood by, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed:

19 But had certaine questions against him of their owne superstitions, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

20 And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him, whether he would go to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these things.

21 But because hee appealed to bee referred to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 Then Agrippa sayd vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morrow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

24 And Felix said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with us, see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have called upon me, both at Jerusalem and here, crying, that he ought not to live any longer.

25 Yet have I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: neither the- selfe, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him.

CHAP. XXV.

The innocencie of Paul is approved by rehearsing his conversation. 25 His modest answer against the insurie of Festus.

Then Agrippa sayd unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

1 I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Jewes:

2 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customs, and questions which are among the Jewes: wherefore, I beseech thee, to heare me patiently.

3 As touching my life from my children hood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jewes,

4 Which know me heretofore (if they would testifie) that after the most strait sect of our religion, I lived a Pharisee.

5 And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers,

6 Whereunto our twelve tribes incessantly serving God day and night, hope to come for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Jewes.

7 Why should it bee thought a thing incredible unto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

8 I also verily thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the name of Jesus of Nazareth.

9 Which thing I also did in Jerusalem: for many of the Saints I shut up in prison, having received authoritie of the high Priestes, and when they were put to death, I gave my sentence.

10 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, and compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, even unto strange cities.

11 At which time, even as I went to Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the high Priestes,

12 At midday, O King, I saw in the way a light from heaven, passing the brightnesse of the sunne, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

13 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking unto mee, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, "Paul, Chap. 9. 4. and 22. 7. Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kick against the prickles."

14 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he sayd, I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest.

15 But rise and stand up on thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a minister and a witness, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare unto thee.

16 Delivering thee from the 4 people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I send thee.

17 To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sinnes, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

18 Wherefore King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision, 19 But stayed here, and then went to Jerusalem, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent, and turne to God, and doe works worthy amendment of life.

20 For this cause the Jewes caught mee in the Temple, and went about to kill me.

21 Wherefore, I obtained helpe of God, and continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and to great, saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Booles say should come.

22 To wit, that Christ should suffer, and that hee should bee the first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light unto the people, and to the Gentiles.

23 And as he thus answered to himselfe, Festus sayd, with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thy selfe: much learning doeth make thee mad.

24 But he sayd, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speake the words of truth and soberitie.

25 For the King knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake boldly: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hid from him, for this thing was not done in corner.

26 O King Agrippa, beleeveth thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleevest.

27 Then Agrippa sayd unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest mee to become a Christian.

28 Then Paul sayd, I would to God, that not onely thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

29 And when hee had thus spoken, the King rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them.

30 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Pauls dangerous voyage, and his company toward Rome. 44 How, and where they arrive.

Now when it was concluded, that wee should saile into Italic, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion named Iulius, of the band of Angullus.

2 And wee entred into a ship of Adramyttium, purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and launCHED forth, and had Aristarchus of Thracia, a Thessalonian, with vs.

3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Iulius courteously invited Paul, and gaue him libertie to goe vnto his friends, that they might refresh him.

4 And from thence we lanchED, & sayled hard by Cyprus, because the windees were contrary.

5 Then sailed we ouer the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a city in Lydia.

6 And there the Centurion found a ship of Alexandria sayling into Italy, and put vs therein.

7 And when he had sayled slowly many dayes, and scarce were come against Sidonim, because the winde suffered vs not, we sayled hard by Candie, neere to Salamina.

8 And with much adoe sayled beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the citie Salen.

9 So when much time was spent, and sayling was now leopardous, because also the fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And sayd vnto them, Men, I see that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and shippes, but also of our liues.

11 Nevertheless the Centurion belieued rather the gouernour and the maiors of the ship, then those things which were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the Iulius had not com- motions to winter in, many toke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Iheruse, there to winter, which is an haven of Candie, and lyeth toward the South-west, and by Clett, and North-west, and by Clett.

13 And when the Southerne wind blew softly, they supposing to obtaine their purpose, loosed neerer, and sayled by Candie.

14 But anon after, there arose by it a stormie winde called Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her go, and were caried away.

16 And wee ranne vnder a little Ile named Claudia, and had much adoe to get the boat.

17 Which they took vp and bid all helpe, vnderwriting the shippe, fearing lest they shoulde haue fallen into Syres, and they let downe the Iessel, and so were caried.

18 The next day when wee were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the ship.

19 And the third day wee cast our with our owne hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither furme nor staires in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we shoulde be saued, was then taken away.

21 But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the middes of them, and said, Sirs, ye shoulde haue hearkened to me, and not haue doctored from Candie: so shoulde ye haue gained this hurt and losse.

22 But now I exhort you to bee of good courage: for there shall be no losse of any mans life among you, save of the shippe onely.

23 For there stood by mee this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Celsar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee all that saile with thee.

25 Wherefore, Sirs, bee of good courage: for I beleue God, that it shall bee so as it hath bene told me.

26 Whereof, wee must be cast into a certaine Island.

27 And when the fourteenth night was come, as wee were caried to and fro in the Adriaticall sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some countrey approached vnto them.

28 And bound, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing lest they shoulde haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure anchors out of the stern, and wished that the day wee come.

30 And as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let downe the boate into the sea vnder a colour as though they woulde haue cast anchors out of the fore- ship, 31 Paul said vnto the Centurion and the soldiers, Excepted abide in the ship, ye cannot be safe.

32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boate, and let it fall away.

33 And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue fasted, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing.

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meate: for this is for your safeguard: for there shall not an haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when hee had thus spoken, hee tooke bread, and gaue thanks to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eat.

36 Then

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they all also made merriment.

37 Now we were in the shippe in all two hundred theefes, and fiftene foules.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wybrute into the sea.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they spied a certaine creeke with a bank, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.

40 So when they had taken by the anchors, they committed the shippe unto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and bowed by the maine saille to the winde, and drew to the shoore.

41 And when they fell into a place where two seas met, they thrust in the shippe: and the fore-part stucke fast, and could not be moved, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 Then the foundryers counsell was to kill the prisoners: lest any of them, when he had swomme out, should flee away.

43 But the Centurion willing to save Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commanded that they that could swimme, should cast themselves first into the sea, and go out to land.

44 And the other, some on boards, and some on certaine pieces of the ship: and so it came to passe that they came all safe to land.

C H A P. XXVIII. Paul with his company are sent into the hands of the barbarous people. 1 The upper barbed-bone. 2 He beate Publius father and mother, and being furnished by them of shippes, was fared toward Rome. 3 Where being received of the brethren, he declared his business. 4 And there preached two yeeres.

And when they were come safe, they knew that the yle was called Rhodes.

And the Barbarians shewed vs notable kindnesse: for they kindled a fire, and received vs every one, because of the present shoure, and because of the cold.

3 And when Paul had gathered a number of sticks, and layed them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand.

4 Nowe when the Barbarians saw the wybrute hang on his hand, they sayd among themselves, This man surely is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

5 But hee shooke off the wybrute into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when he should haue swollen, or fallen downe dead suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and saw no inconvenience come to him, they changed their minds, and said, That he was a God.

7 In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the yle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same received vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.

8 And it was, that the father of Publius lay sick of the feuer, and of a bloody fluxe: to whom Paul entered in, and when he prayed, he layd his hands on him, and healed him.

9 When this then was done, other also in the yle, which had diseases, came to him and were healed.

10 Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laden vs with things necessary.

11 A Now after thre moneths wee departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the yle, whose badge was Caesar and Pollux.

12 And when wee arrived at Syracuse, wee taried there thre dayes.

13 And from thence wee set for a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the Souther wind blew, and wee came the second day to Putroli.

14 Where wee found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seven dayes, and so wee went toward Rome.

15 And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the Warther of Appolin, and at the Thier ceremony, to whom when Paul said, he thanked God, and waied both.

16 So when wee came to Rome, the Centurion delivered the prisoners to the general Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himselfe with a soldier that kept him.

17 And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together: and when they were come, he said unto them, Brethren, though I have committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I delivered prisoner from Ierusalem into the hands of the Romanes.

18 Who when they had examined mee, would haue let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale unto Caesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you for the hope of Israel's sake. I am bound with this chaine.

21 When they said unto him, We neither received letters out of Iudaea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any ruell of thee.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, wee knowe that every where it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whom he expounded and testified the kingdome of God, and preached vnto them concerning Iesus, both out of the Law of Moyses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 And some were persuaded with the things which were spoken, and some beleued not.

The Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Romanes.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great mercy of God is declared toward man in Christ Iesus, whose righteousness is made ours through faith. For when man by reason of his owne corruption could not fulfill the Law, yet committed most abominably, both against the law of God, and nature, the infinite bounty of God, full of his promise made to his servant Abraham, the father of all beleuers, ordained that mans (saluati) on should only stand in the perfect obedience of his Sonne Iesus Christ, so that not onely the circumcised Iewes, but also the vncircumcised Gentiles should be saved by faith in him; even as Abraham before he was circumcised, was counted iust only through faith, & yet afterward received circumcision, as a seale or badge of the same righteousness by faith. And to the intent that none should thinke that the covenant which God made to him, and his posterity was not performed: either because the Iewes received not Christ, (which was the blessed seed) or else beleued not that he was the true redeemer, because he did not onely, or at least more notably, prefigure the Iewes: the examples of Ihsael and Esau declare, that all are Abrahams posterity, which come of Abraham according to the flesh; but also the very strangers and Gentiles passed in by faith, & made heires of the promise. The cause whereof is the only will of God, forasmuch as of his free mercie hee hath chosen some to be saved, and of his iust indignitie reiecteth all others to be damned, as appeareth by the illustrations of Scriptures. Yet to the intent that the Iewes should not be too much beaten downe, nor the Gentiles too much puffed up, the example of Esau prooueth; that God hath yet his elect euen of the natural posterity of Abraham, though it appeareth not so to mans eye: and for that preferment that the Gentiles haue, it proceedeth of the liberall mercie of God, which he at length will stretch toward the Iewes againe, and to gather the whole Ihsael (which is his Church) of them both. This ground-woke of faith and doctrine layd, instructions of Christian manners follow; teaching every man to walke in roundness of conscience in his vocation, with all patience and humblenes, reverencing and obeying the magistrate, exercising charity, putting off the old man, and putting on Christ, bearing with the weak, and louing one another according to Christs example. Finally, S. Paul after his commendations to the brethren, subiecteth them to varie, and to see false preachers and flatterers, and so concludeth with a prayer.

2 By the Question be understandeth
the Gentile, and every one that is not a Jew.

10 But to every man that doeth good, shall be glory, and honour, and peace, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile.

11 For there is no respect of persons with God.

12 For as many as have sinned without the Law, shall perdition be without the Law; and as many as have sinned in the Law, shall be judged by the Law.

13 For the hearers of the Law are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Law shall be justified.

14 For when the Gentiles which have not the Law, do by nature the things concerned in the Law, they having not the Law, are a Law unto themselves.

15 Which shew the effect of the Lawe written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing.

16 At the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ, according to my Gospel.

17 O Behold, thou art called a Jew, and rearest in the Law, and gloudest in God.

18 And knowest his will, and allowest the things that are excellent, in that thou art instructed by the Law:

19 And persuadest thyself, that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkness.

20 An instructor of them which lack direction, a teacher of the unlearned, which hast the name of knowledge, and of the truth in the Law.

21 Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest, dost thou not teach, dost thou steale?

22 Thou that sayest, I must not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery: thou that abhorrest idols, dost thou sacrifice?

23 Thou that gloryest in the Lawe, through breaking the Lawe, dishonourest thou God?

24 For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, as it is written.

25 For circumcision verily is profitable, if thou doe the Lawe: but if thou be a transgressor of the Lawe, the circumcision is made unprofitable.

26 Therefore if the circumcision bring the performance of the Lawe, shall not the uncircumcision be damned by circumcision?

27 And shall not uncircumcision which is by nature (if it keep the Lawe) judge thee, which by the Letter and circumcision are a transgressor of the Lawe?

28 For he is not a Jew, which is outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:

29 But he is a Jew which is inward, and the circumcision of the heart, in the Letter, and in the Letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

3 Having granted some prerogatives to the Jews, because of Gods free and stable promise, 10 he proveth by the Scriptures, both Jews and Gentiles to be sinners, 21. 24. and to be judged by grace through faith, and not by works, 28 and for the Law to be established.

W HAT is then the preferment of the Jew? or what is the point of circumcision?

2 Much every manner of inward obedience, because unto them were committed the privileges of God.

3 For what though some did not believe:
shall their unbelief make the faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written, "God thou mightest see I suffered in thy word, and overcame when thou art mocked."

5 How if our unbelief should commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unrighteous which punisheth? (I speak as a man)

6 God forbid: so how shall God judge
the world?

7 For if the verity of God hath more abundantly shined through thy lie, unto his glory, why art thou yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirme that we lay) why doe we not call, that good may come thereof? whose condemnation is just.

9 Altho that then? are we more excellent?
No, in no wise: for we have already proved, that all, both Jewes and Gentiles are: "Under sinne."

10 As it is written, "There is none righteous, no not one."

11 There is none that understandeth:
there is none that seeketh God.

12 They have all gone out of the way: they have bene made altogether unprofitable;
there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 Their thought is an open furnace:
they have hated their tongues to deceit: "The portion of gibes is under their lips."

14 "Thou mouth is full of cursing and bitterness."

15 "Thou feet are swift to shed blood."

16 Destruction and calamity are in their ways.

17 And the way of peace they have not known.

18 "The fear of God is not before their eyes."

19 Thou wee know that whatsoever the Law saith, it saith it to them which are under the Lawe: but every man hath believed, and all for truth he is become a liar.

20 Therefore by the weakness of the Law shall no man be justified in the sight of God: for the Law commandeth the knowledge of sinne.

21 And now hope is added, for the Law doth not make us guilty, but doth shew us our guilt before God, and declare unto us, that we are under the Law, either without which we cannot be justified any thing, whose weakness is this, because we cannot performe them.

21. But now is the righteousness of God made manifest without the Law, having witness of the faith and of the promises.

22. For the righteousness of God by the faith of Jesus Christ, unto all, and upon all that believe.

23. For there is no difference for all have sinned, and are deficient of the glory of God.

24. And are justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

25. Whom God hath set forth to be a sacrifice through faith in his blood, to reconcile us to himself, by the forgiveness of the iniquities that are passed, through the patience of God.

26. For now at this time his righteousness is made manifest to all, and a witness of his faith is at the faith of Jesus.

27. Where is then the boasting? It is excluded. By what Law? of works? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

28. Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the works of the Law.

29. God is he who is God of the Gentiles only, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, even of the Gentiles also.

30. For it is to him that we have all instant circumstances of faith, and uncircumcision through faith.

31. Do we then make the Law of none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the Law.

32. For in what way, for in what there is none. The doctrine is the ornament of the Law: for it embraceth Christ, who hath fulfilled the Law: in that the Law which could not be fulfilled by reason of our own corruption, is now fulfilled to us by Christ Jesus.

CHAPTER III.

1. And he declareth that justification is a free gift, even by them themselves of whom the Law was kept, as of Abraham and of David: 12 And also by the office of the Law and faith.

What shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the flesh?

2. For if Abraham were justified by works, he hath wherein to rejoice, but not with God.

3. For what saith the Scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness.

4. Now to him that worketh, the wages is not counted by favour, but by debt:

5. But to him that worketh not, but believeth in him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness.

6. Even as David declared the blessedness of the man, unto whom God imputed righteousness without works, saying,

7. Blessed are they, whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sinnes are covered.

8. Blessed is the man, to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne.

9. Came this blessedness then upon the circumcision only, or upon the uncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed unto Abraham for righteousness.

10. When Isaac was circumcised, and when Jacob was circumcised, and when he was circumcised, and when he was circumcised.

11. When he receiveth the sign of circumcision, as the state of the righteousness of the faith which he hath, when he was uncircumcised, that he should be the father of all them that believe, not being circumcised, that righteousness might be counted to them also.

12. And the sign of circumcision, not unto them only, which are of the circumcision, but unto them also that walk in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham, which he had when he was uncircumcised.

13. For the promise that he should be the father of the multitude, was not given in Abraham, as to his flesh, through the Law, but through the righteousness of faith.

14. For if they which are of the Law be blessed, surely it is made void, and the promise is made of none effect.

15. For the Law cannot make us where no Law is, there is no transgression.

16. Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the seed, not to that only which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all.

17. (As it is written, "I have made thee a father of many nations") even before God whom he believed, "who quickeneth the dead," and called those things which be not, as though they were.

18. As when Abraham above hope, believed under hope, that he should be the father of many nations, according to that which was spoken to him, "God shall thy seed be."

19. And he that is not weak in the faith, considered not his own body, which was now dead, being almost an hundred years old, neither the barrenness of Sarah's womb.

20. Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through unbelief, but was strengthened in the faith, and gave glory to God.

21. Being fully assured that he which had promised, was also able to do it.

22. And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness.

23. Now it is not written for him only, that it was imputed unto him for righteousness.

24. But also for us, to whom it shall be imputed for righteousness, which believe in him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead.

25. Who was delivered to death for our sinnes, and is risen againe for our justification.

26. But most strong and constant. In that she was past child bearing. For his mercy and truth. For our instruction: for we shall be justified by the same means. To accomplish, and make our justification.

CHAPTER V.

This may not be understood of the fruits of faith: (for thereof the Apostle doeth hereafter expressly inverte) but of the faith itself. In fulfilling the works thereof.

I And think to performe the same by works. k It is requisite to fulfill the law for him that desireth of Abraham inheritance, then it is in vaine to beleve the promise for it serveth to no use. l Through our default, and not of his selfe. m That is, no breach of commandment. n Which beleve. Ephes. 2. 8.

Loues 1. 3.

b For it hath ever good success.

c He meaneth that loue wherewith God loueth vs.

Hebr. 9. 15.

1. pet. 1. 8.

d By this comparison he amplifieth the death of Christi.

e That is, for such one of whom he hath receiued good.

f Because of sinne: yet friends by the grace of Christi.

g From Adam to Moses.

h He meaneth yong babes, which neither had the knowledge of the law of nature, nor any motion of conscience, much lesse committed any actual sinne: and this may also comprehend the Gentiles.

i Yet all mankind, as it were, sinned, when they were as yet inclosed in Adams loynes.

k Which was Christi.

l For by Christi we are not onely delivered from the finnes of Adams loynes, but also from all such as we haue added thereunto.

m The iustice of Iesus Christi which is imputed to the faithfull.

n Which beloeue to be saued in Iesus Christi.

By whose holines by faith, we haue receiued grace through our Lord Iesus Christi.

2 By whome also wee haue receiued through faith vnto grace, wherein wee stand, and reioyce vnder the hope of the glory of God.

3 Neither doe we so onely but also we reioyce in tribulations, knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience.

4 And patience experience, and experience hope.

5 And hope maketh not ashamed, because the loue of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 For Christi, when wee were yet of no strength at his death, died for us, the vngodly.

7 Doubtlesse one will saie, he is a righteous man: but yet say a good man it may be that one dare say.

8 But God testeth our loue, when we are yet sinners, feeling that while wee were yet sinners, Christi died for vs.

9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, wee shall be saued from wrath through him.

10 For if when wee were enemies wee were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, wee shall be saued by his life.

11 And not onely so, but wee also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christi, by whom wee haue now receiued the atonement.

12 Wherefore, as by our mens sinne entered into the world, and death by sinne, and so death went out of all men: forasmuch as all men haue sinned.

13 For vnto the time of the Law was sinne in the world, but sinne is not imputed, while there is no Law.

14 But death reigned from Adam to Moyses, euen ouer them also that sinned not after the like manner of the transgression of Adam, which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 But yet the gift is not so, as is the offence: for if through the offence of one, many bee dead, which made the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christi, hath abounded vnto many.

16 Neither is the gift so, as that which entered in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences vnto iustification.

17 For if by the offence of one death reigned through one, much more shall they which receiue the abundance of grace, and of the gift of righteousness, reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christi.

18 Likewise then, as by the offence of one the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefite abounded towards all men to the iustification of life.

19 For as by one mans disobedience, many were made sinners: so by the obedience of one, shall many also bee made righteous.

20 Wherefore the Law came in, that the offence should be multiplied, where sinne increased, and where sinne increased, grace abounded much more.

21 And as sinne hath reigned vnto death, so might grace also reigne by the righteousness vnto eternal life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

22 For as by one mans disobedience, many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one, shall many also bee made righteous.

23 For as by one mans disobedience, many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one, shall many also bee made righteous.

24 For as by one mans disobedience, many were made sinners, so by the obedience

59 For as by one mans disobedience, many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one, shall many also bee made righteous.

60 For as by one mans disobedience, many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one, shall many also bee made righteous.

14. For sinne shall not have dominion over you, for ye are not under the Law, but under grace.

15. What shall we say then? Shall we sinne, because we are not under the Law, but under grace? God forbid.

16. Know ye not that to whomsoever ye give your selves as servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sinne unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?

17. But God be thanked, that ye have bene the servants of sinne, but yet have obeyed from the heart unto the forme of the doctrine, wherunto ye were delivered.

18. Being then made free from sinne, ye are made the servants of righteousness.

19. I speake after the manner of man, because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have given your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so now give your members servants unto righteousness in holiness.

20. For when ye were the servants of sinne, ye were freed from righteousness.

21. What fruit had ye then in those things, wherof ye are now ashamed? For the ende of those things is death.

22. But now being freed from sinne, and made servants unto God, ye have your fruit in holiness, and the ende, everlasting life.

23. For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

24. Wherefore ye must not let sinne reign by force, who giue death as an allowance to them that are preferred by the Law.

CHAP. VII.

1. 7. 12 The yoke of the Law, 6. 24. And how Christ hath delivered us from it. 16 The infirmities of the flesh full. 23 The dangerous fight betweene the flesh and the spirit.

Know ye not, brethren, (for I speake to them that knowe the Lawe) that the Lawe hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth?

2. For the woman which is in subjection to a man, is bound by the Lawe to the man, while hee liveth: but if the man be dead, shee is delivered from the Lawe of the man.

3. So then, if while the man liveth, shee take another man, she shall be called an adulteresse: but if the man be dead, shee is free from the Lawe, so that she is not an adulteresse, though she take another man.

4. So ye, my brethren, are dead also to the Lawe by the body of Christ, that ye should be unto another, even unto him that is raised up from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God.

5. For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sinnes, which were by the Lawe, had force in our members, to bring forth fruit unto death.

6. But now we are dead to the Lawe, as we are the children of the Spirit, as Galat. 3. 12. March. 1. 1. Which is the Spirit of the second husband. d When we were in the flesh, the motions of sinnes, which were by the Lawe, had force in our members, to bring forth fruit unto death.

6. But now we are delivered from the Lawe, being dead to it, as we are the children of the Spirit, as Galat. 3. 12. March. 1. 1. Which is the Spirit of the second husband.

7. What shall we say then? Is the Lawe sinne? God forbid. Nay, I knew not sinne, but by the Law: for I had not knowne sleight, except the Law had sayd, Thou shalt not lust.

8. But sinne took an occasion by the commandement, and wrought in me all manner of concupiscence: for without the Lawe sinne is dead.

9. For I once was alive, without the Lawe: but when the commandement came, sinne reigned.

10. But I died: and the same commandement which was ordeined unto life, was found to be unto me unto death.

11. For sinne took occasion by the commandement, and deceived me, and thereby slew me.

12. Wherefore the Lawe is holy, and the commandement is holy, and iust, and good.

13. What shall I say then? Is that which is good, made death unto mee? God forbid: but sinne, that it might appeare sinne, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sinne might bee out of measure sinfull by the commandement.

14. For we know that the Lawe is spiritual, but I am carnall, sold under sinne.

15. For I allow not that which I do: for what I would, that do I not: but what I hate, that do I.

16. If I do then that which I would not, I consent to the Lawe, that it is good.

17. Now then, it is no more I, that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

18. For I know that in me, that is, in my flesh dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me: but I finde no means to performe that which is good.

19. For I do not the good thing, which I would, but the evill, which I would not, that doe I.

20. Now if doe that I would not, it is no more I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

21. I finde then by the Lawe, that when I would do good, evill is present with me.

22. For I delight in the Lawe of God, concerning the inner man:

23. But I see another Lawe in my members, rebelling against the Lawe of my minde, and leading mee captive unto the Lawe of sinne, which is in my members.

24. O wretched man that I am, who shall deliver mee from the body of this death?

25. I thanke God through Jesus Christ our Loide. Then I my selfe in my minde, serve the Lawe of God, but in my flesh the Lawe of sinne.

26. So then with my minde I serve the Lawe of God, but with my flesh the Lawe of sinne.

27. There is therefore now no condemnation to them which walk in the flesh, but which walk in the Spirit.

e Meaning, so sinne our first husband.

f There is nothing more enemie to sinne, then the Law: if so be therefore that sinne rage more by reason thereof, then before, why should it be imputed to the law which disloseth the sleights of sinne her enemie?

g Which is an inward vice not openly knowne, Exod. 30. 17. deut. 10. 1. 18.

h He thought himselfe to be alive, when he knew not the Law.

i Sinne being disclosed by the Law, is so much more detestable, because it turneth the goodness of the Law to our destruction.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The assurance of the faithfull, and of the fruites of the holy Ghost in them. 2 The weakness of the Lawe, and who accomplished it. 3 And wherefore. 4 Of what sin the faithfull ought to bee. 5 The fruites of the Spirit in them. 17 Of hope. 18 Of patience vnder the crosse. 23 Of the mutual loue betwixt God and his children. 29 Of his free knowledge.

Now then there is no a condemnation to them that are in Christ Iesus, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

2 For the Lawe of the Spirit of life, which is in Christ Iesus, hath freed me from the Law of sinne and death.

3 For (that that was impossible to the Lawe, in as much as it was) weake, because of the flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in the similitude of sinfull flesh, and for sinne, condemned sinne in the flesh,

4 That the righteousness of the Law might be fulfilled in vs, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

5 For they that are after the flesh, saour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 For the wilddome of the flesh is death: but the wilddome of the Spirit is life and peace.

7 Because the wilddome of the flesh is enemy against God: for it is not subiect to the Law of God, neither in deed can bee.

8 So then they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 Now ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, because the Spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousness sake.

11 But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortal bodies, because that his Spirit dwelleth in you.

12 Therefore brethren, wee are debtors not to the flesh, to live after the flesh:

13 For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortifie the deeds of the body by the Spirit, ye shall live.

14 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 For ye haue not receiued the spirit of bondage to feare againe: but ye haue receiued the spirit of a adoption, whereby wee cry, Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

wherefore we must in the meane time call to God through patience. i But to live after the Spirit. k So he nameth the holy Ghost of the effect, which he causeth in vs, when he proposeth vs saluation by the Law with an impossible condition, who also doeth feale our situation in our hearts by Christs free adoption, that we consider not God nowe as a rigorous Lord, but as a most mercifull Father. Galat. 4. 5. 6. l So that we haue two witnesses, Gods Spirit, and ours, who is certified by the Spirit of God.

17 If wee be children, we are also = heires, in freely receiued the heires of God, and heires annuered with Christ, if so be that wee suffer with him, that wee may also bee glorified with him.

18 For I count that the afflictions of this present time, are not worthy of the glory, which shall be shewed vnto vs.

19 For the feruent desire of the creature waiteth when the sonnes of God shall be reuelled.

20 Because the creature is subiect to vanity, not of it owne will, but by reason of him which hath subdued it vnder hope.

21 Because the creature also shall bee deliuered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.

22 For wee know that enery creature groweth with vs also, and travaileth in paine together vnto this present.

23 And not onely the creature, but we also which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen we doe sigh in our selues, waiting for the adoption, euen the redemption of our bodies.

24 For we are saued by hope: but hope that is seene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that wee see not, we do with patience abide for it.

26 Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what to pray as we ought: but the Spirit it self maketh request for vs with sighes, which cannot be expressed.

27 But hee that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the meaning of the Spirit: for hee maketh request for the Saints, according to the will of God.

28 Also wee know that all things waight together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his purpose.

29 For those which hee knoweth before, hee also predestinated to bee made like to the image of his Sonne, that he might be the first borne among many brethren.

30 Wherefore, whom hee predestinated, them also hee called, and whom hee called, them also hee iustificed, and whom hee iustificed, them hee also glorified.

31 What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can bee against vs?

32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall hee not with him giue vs all things also?

33 Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? It is God that iustificeth, 34 Who shall condemn? It is Christ, which is dead, yea or rather, which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs.

Hebrews, whose hearts better and prayer
Did God for Israel is, that they might bee ſaued.

1 For I heare them ſeeme, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

2 For they, being ignorant of the righteouſneſſe of God, and going about to ſta-biſh their owne righteouſneſſe, haue not ſubmitted themſelues to the righteouſneſſe
of God.

3 For Chriſt is the ende of the Law for righteouſneſſe vnto euery one that belee-ueth.

4 For Moſes thus deſcribeth the righte-ouſneſſe which is of the Law, * That the man which doeth theſe things, ſhall liue thereby.

5 But the righteouſneſſe which is of faith, ſpeaketh on this wiſe, * Say not in thine heart, * Altho ſhall ascend into heauen:
(that is to bring Chriſt from aboue)

6 * Altho ſhall deſcend into the deepe:
(that is to bring Chriſt againe from the dead)

7 * The word ſayeth it, * The word is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the * word of faith which wee preach.

8 For if thou ſhalt confeſſe with thy mouth the Lord Ieſus, and ſhalt beleeue in thine heart, that God hath raiſed him vp from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaued.

9 For with the heart man beleeueth vnto righteouſneſſe, and with * the mouth man confeſſeth to ſalutation.

10 For the Scripture ſaith, * Whoſoener beleeueth in him, ſhall not be aſhamed.

11 For there is no difference betwene the Jewe and the Greecian: for hee that is Lord ouer all is rich vnto all, that call on
him.

12 * For whoſoener ſhall call vpon the Name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaued.

13 But how ſhall they call on him, in whom they haue not beleeued? and how ſhall they beleeue in him, of whom they haue not heard? and how ſhall they heare without a preacher?

14 And how ſhall they preach, except they be ſent? as it is written, * How beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

15 But they haue not all obeyed the Goſpell: for Elias ſaith, * Lord, who hath beleeued our report?

16 Then faith is by hearing, and hearing is by the word of God.

17 But I deſeand, haue they not heard? * No doubt their ſound went out through all the earth, and their words into the ends of the * world.

18 But I deſeand, did not Iſrael know God? ſurely Moſes ſaith, * I will proue you to enſlue by a nation that is not my nation, and by a fooliſh nation I will anger you.

19 * And Elias is bold, and ſaith, I was found of them that ſought me not, and haue bene made manifeſt to them that asked not after me.

20 And vnto Iſrael he ſaith, * All the day long haue I ſtretched forth mine hand vnto a] diſobedient and gainelaying people.

CHAP. XI.

1 God hath his Church, although it be not ſeene to many eyes. 2 The grace ſhewed to the elect. 3
The iudgement of the reprobate. 4 God hath blinded the Iewes for a time, and reuealed himſelfe to the Gentiles: 5 Whom he warneth to humble themſelues. 6 The gift of God without reſer-uation. 7 The depth of Gods iudgements.

1 Demaund then, hath God caſt away his people? God forbid: for I alſo am an Iſraeelite, of the ſeede of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.

2 God hath not caſt away his people which hee * knewe before. Knowe yet not what the Scripture ſaith of Elias, how hee maketh requeſt vnto God * againſt Iſrael, ſaying,

3 * Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine altars: and I am left alone, and they ſeek my life.

4 But what ſaith the anſwere of God to him? * I haue reſerued vnto my ſelfe ſeuen thouſand men, which haue not bowed the knee to Baal.

5 Then to then at this preſent time is there a remnant though the 1 election of grace.

6 And if it be of grace, it is no more of workes: or els grace were no more grace:
but if it be of workes, it is no more grace: or els were workes no more workes.

7 What then? Iſrael hath not obtained that hee ſought: but the election hath obtened it, and the reſt haue bene hardened,

8 According as it is written, * God hath giuen them the ſpirit of ſlumber: eyes that they ſhould not ſee, eares that they ſhould not heare vnto this day.

9 And Dauid ſaith, * Let their table be made a ſnare, and a net, and a ſtumbling blocke, euen for a recompence vnto them.

10 Let their eyes bee darkened that they ſee not, e * hold downe their backe alwayes.

11 I deſeand then, haue they ſtan-bled, that they ſhould fall? God forbid: but through their fall ſalutation cometh vnto
the Gentiles, to * proue them to followe
them.

12 Wherefore if the fall of them bee the riches of the world, and the diminiſhing of them the * riches of the Gentiles, how much more ſhall their abundance bee?

13 For in that I ſpeake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, I magnifie mine office,

14 Therefore if the fall of them bee the riches of the world, and the diminiſhing
of them the * riches of the Gentiles, how much more ſhall their abundance bee?

15 For in that I ſpeake to you Gentiles, in
as much as I am the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, I magnifie mine office,

16 Therefore if the fall of them bee the riches of the world, and the diminiſhing
of them the * riches of the Gentiles, how much more ſhall their abundance bee?

17 For in that I ſpeake to you Gentiles, in
as much as I am the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, I magnifie mine office,

18 Therefore if the fall of them bee the riches of the world, and the diminiſhing

14 To tie if by any means I might provoke them of my flesh to follow them, and might save some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving be, but <sup>a</sup> life from the dead?

16 For if <sup>a</sup> the first fruits be holy, so is the whole lump: and if the <sup>a</sup> root be holy, so are the branches.

17 And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Olive tree, wast grafted in <sup>a</sup> for them, and made partaker of the root, and fatness of the <sup>a</sup> Olive tree, 18 Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou breakest not the root, but the root thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be grafted in.

20 Well: though unbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: bee not high minded, but <sup>a</sup> feare.

21 For if God spared not the naturall branches, take heed, lest he also spare not thee.

22 Behold therefore the bountifullnesse, and severitie of God: toward them which have fallen, severitie: but toward thee, bountifullnesse, if thou continue in his bountifullnesse: or else thou shalt also be cut off.

23 And they also, if they abide not still in unbeliefe, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Olive tree, which was wilde by nature, and wast grafted contrary to nature in a right Olive tree, how much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their owne Olive tree?

25 For I would not, brethren, that yee should be ignorant of this secret, (lest yee should be arrogant in your felices) that partly <sup>a</sup> obsequitie is come to Israel, untill the fullnesse of the Gentiles be come in.

26 And so <sup>a</sup> all Israel shall be saved, as it is written, * The deliverer shall come out of Zion, and shall turne away the ungodlinesse from Jacob.

27 And this is my covenant to them, * When I shall take away their sinnes.

28 As concerning the Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved for the fathers sakes.

29 For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 For even as yee in time past have not beleaved God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbeliefe.

31 Even so now have they that are beleaved <sup>a</sup> by the mercy shewed unto you, that they also may obtaine mercy.

32 For God hath shut up <sup>a</sup> all in unbeliefe, that he might have mercy on all.

33 O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisdom and knowlege of God! how unsearchable are his iudgements, and his wayes past finding out!

34 * For who hath knowne the thinde of the heart? or who hath comprehended? or who hath given counsell unto him, and he shall be recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and by him are all things: to him be glory for ever, Amen.

CHAP. XII.

The conversion, loue and workes of such as be loue in Christ. 19 Not to seek revengeance.

1 <sup>a</sup> Belieuee you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye give up your bodies a <sup>a</sup> living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your <sup>a</sup> reasonable service of God.

2 And fashion not your felices like unto this world, but be ye changed by the renewing of your minde, that yee may <sup>a</sup> knowe what is the <sup>a</sup> good will of God, and acceptable, and perfect:

3 For I say through the grace that is given unto me, to every one that is among you, that no man presume to understand, above that which is meete to understand, but that hee <sup>a</sup> understand according to <sup>a</sup> lobietie, as God hath dealt to every man the <sup>a</sup> measure of faith.

4 For as wee have many members in one body, and all members have not one office,

5 So wee being many are one body in Christ, and every one, one anothers members.

6 * Seeing then that we have gifts that are diuers, according to the grace that is given vnto vs, whether wee have <sup>a</sup> propheticke, let vs prophesie according to the proportion of <sup>a</sup> faith:

7 <sup>a</sup> Or an office, let vs waite on the office: or be that teacheth, on teaching:

9 Let loue be without dissimulation. * Abhorre that which is euill, & cleaue vnto that which is good.

10 * Bee affectioned to loue one another with brotherly loue. In giuing honour, get one before another, 11 <sup>a</sup> Not slothfull to doe seruice: seruent in spirit: serving <sup>a</sup> the Lord.

12 Reioycing in hope, patient in tribulation, <sup>a</sup> continuing in prayer, 13 * Distributing vnto the necessities of the Saints: <sup>a</sup> giuing your felices to hospitality.

14 * Bless them which persecute you: blisse, I say, and curle not.

ther doth any die to himselfe.

8 For whether we liue, we liue vnto the Lord: or whether wee die, wee die vnto the Lord: whether we liue therefore, or die, wee are the Lords.

9 For Christ therefore died, and rose again, and reuiued, that hee might be Lord both of the dead and of the quicke.

10 But why dost thou iudge thy brother? or why dost thou despise thy brother?
* For wee shall all appeare before the iudge-ment seat of Christ.

l And acknowledge I me for their
God.

12 So then every one of us shall give accounts of himselfe to God.

13 Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but use your iudgement rather in this, that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother.

14 "I know, and am perswaded through the Lord Iesus, that there is nothing uncleane of it selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing, to bee vncleane, to him it is vncleane."

15 But if thy brother bee grieved for the meate, now walkest thou not charitably: destroy not him with thy meate, for whom Christ died.

16 Cause not your commodity to be euill spoken of.

17 For the kingdome of God is not meate nor drinke, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the holy Ghost.

18 For whosoever is in these things serueth Christ, is acceptable vnto God, and is approued of men.

19 Let vs then follow those things which concerne peace, and wherewith one may edifie another.

20 Destroy not the works of God for meates sake: all things indeed are pure: but it is euill for the man which eateth with offence.

21 It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing, whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made wake.

22 Hast thou faith? haue it with thy selfe before God: blessed is hee that condemneth not himselfe in that thing which he alloweth.

23 For he that doubteth, is condemned if he eate, because hee eateth not of faith: and whatsoever is not of faith, is sinne.

C H A P. XV.

1 Paul exhorteth them to support and loue one another by the example of Christ, 9 & by the only mercy of God, which is the cause of saluation both of the one and the other. 14 He sheweth by reule toward them and the Church, 30 and requesteth the same of them.

V We which are strong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weak, and not to please our selves.

2 Therefore let every man please his neighbour in that that is good to edification.

3 For Christ also would not please himselfe, but as it is writen, "The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, sell vpon me."

4 For wharsoeuer things are writen aforetime, are writen for our learning, that wee through patience, and comfort of the Scriptures, might haue hope.

5 Nowe the God of patience and consolation, the Temple of God wherein he is resident by his holy Spirit: and we are the stones of the new Ierusalem: that is, the vniuersall Church, 1 Iai. 54. Reuel. 21. of the which building Christ is the corner stone, Ephes. 2. 20. Psal. 69. 9. b I did so beare that they had bene done to me, & not to my father. c Which is the fruit of patience, saluation, that you that are the Temple of God, should be able to beare one another, according to Christ Iesus.

6 That ye with one minde, and with one mouth may praise God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

7 Wherefore, receive ye one another, as Christ also receiued vs to the glory of God.

8 Now I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision, for the truth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the fathers.

9 And let the Gentiles praise God for his mercy, as it is writen, For this cause I will confesse thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy Name.

10 And againe bee saith, "Reioyce ye Gentiles with his people."

11 And againe, "Praise the Lord all ye Gentiles, and laud ye him all people together."

12 And againe Elias saith, "There shall be a roote of Jesse, and he that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles: in him shall the Gentiles trust."

13 Now the God of hope fill you with all joy, and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

14 And I my selfe also am perswaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

15 Wherefore, brethren, I haue somewhat boldly after a sort writen vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen mee of God,

16 That I should be the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministering the Gospel of God, that the offering by of the Gentiles might bee acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

17 I haue therefore wherof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which pertaine to God.

18 For I dare not speake of any thing which Christ hath not wrought by mee, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deed, 19 Which the power of signes and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God: so that from Ierusalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built on another mans foundation,

21 But as it is writen, "To whom hee was not shewen of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall vnderstand him."

22 Wherefore also I haue bene vnto let to come vnto you.

23 But now seeing I haue no more place in these quarters, and also haue bene tedious many yere agoe to come vnto you,

24 When I shall take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to

The

The first Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Saint Paul had preached at Corinthus a year and an halfe, he was compelled by the wickedness of the Levites to write to them, in whose absence false apostles entred into the Church, who being puff'd up with vain glory, and being eloquent in words, sought to bring into contempt the simplicity which Paul used in preaching the Gospel; by whose means such schism and division sprang up in the Church, that from opinions in policies and ceremonies, they fell to false doctrine and heresie, calling into doubt the resurrection from the dead, one of the chiefest points of Christian Religion. Against these evils the Apostle proceeded, prepping the Corinthians hearts, and shew'd such gentle exhortations, but soon after he reprooveth their contentions and debates, their arrogance and pride, and exhorteth them to concord and humility, setting before their eyes the spiritual victory and heavenly wisdom of the Gospel, which cannot be purchased by any labours, but is a free gift of God, and is to be received by faith in Jesus Christ. Thereafter he sheweth many things which are to be ministered to the Church, as the bread and wine, and have received charge to edifie the Church, wherein Saint Paul bindeeth himselfe faithfully, building according to the foundation (which is Christ) and ensurth such exhortations as make the ends proportionable to the beginning, calling all these deeds that they be not polluted with vain glory, seeing they are the Temple of God, And as for those which doubted of his apostleship, he sheweth them that he dependeth not on mans judgement, albeit he had declared by manifest signes, that hee haue sought his owne glory, rather yet how he might live, but only the glory of Christ, which being as his comming he would declare more openly, to the shame of those vain glorious braggers, who thought themselves only, and therefore suffer most horrible vices, which hee doth and reproveth by such comparisons, pleading before him the foundation, and such like, as the great foundation of the Gospel. This done, he setteth to the maine point of the Corinthians letter, as touching single life, detest of marriage, of discord and division among the members of virginity, and second marriage. And because some thought it nothing to be present at loose service, seeing in their hearts they worshipp'd the true God, hee warneth them to haue respect to their weak brethren, whose faith by this dissenting was hindered, and their consciences wounded, which thing, rather then hee would doe, hee would never use that libertie, which God had given him. But forasmuch as pride and selfe will was the cause of those great vices, hee admonisheth them by the example of the Jewes not to glory in their outward gifts, whose horrible punishment for the abuse of Gods creatures, ought to be a warning to all men to followe Christ rightly, without all pollution and offence of others. Then he correcteth divers abuses in their Church, as touching the defilement of men, and women in the assemblies; of the Lords Supper, the abuse of the spiritual gifts, which God hath given to maintain the love and edifie the Church: as concerning the resurrection from the dead, he sheweth without the which the Gospel serueth no use. Last of all, he exhorteth the Corinthians to relieue the poore brethren at Ierusalem, to persevere in the love of Christ, and well-doing, tending his commendations, and wishing them peace.

CHAPTER I.

1 Hee praise the great graces of God shewed toward them, 10 Exhorting them to concord and humility, 19 Hee bewaile their all pride, and wisdom, which is not grounded on God, 26 Sheweth wherein God hath chosen to confound the wisdom of the world.

Paul called to be an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, through the will of God, by our brother Corinthians.

2 Unto a Church of God which is at Corinthus, to them that are * sanctified in Christ Iesus, * Saints by calling, with all that call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in every place, both their Lord and ours.

3 Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.

4 And they in him: Rom. 1. 9. eph. 1. 2. 2. tim. 1. 9. 10. Made holy by the free mercy and calling of God, 1. Tim. 1. which is to acknowledge him to be the very God; to worship, and to seeke unto him for helpe.

4 I thank my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is given you in Iesus Christ, 5 That in all things ye are made rich in him, in all kinde of speech, and in all knowledge:

6 As the testimony of Iesus Christ hath bene confirmed in you: 7 So that ye are not destitute of any gift: waiting for the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

8 Who shall also confirme you unto the ende, that ye may be blamelesse in the day of the Lord Iesus Christ.

9 God is faithful, by whom ye are called unto the fellowship of his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord.

10 Nowe I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that ye all speake one thing, and that there bee no dissensions among you: but bee ye knit together in one mind, and in one judgment.

11 For it hath bene declared unto mee, my brethren, of you, by them that are of the house of God, that there are contentions among you.

12 Nowe this I say, that every one of you sayeth, I am Pauls, and I am Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christus.

13 As Christus divided us, when Paul crucified for you: which were ye baptised into the name of Paul?

14 I thank God, that I baptised none of you, but Christus, and his blood.

15 Let any should say, that I had baptised into mine own name.

16 I baptised also the household of Stephanas: furthermore know I none, whether I baptised any other.

17 For Christus hath mee not as a baptiser, but to preach the Gospel, not with a wisdom of words, * lead the crooke of Christus should be made of none effect.

18 For the preaching of the crooke is to them that perish, foolishnes: but unto us which are saved, it is the power of God.

19 For it is written, I will destroy the wisdoms of the wise, and will cast away the understanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made the wisdom of this world foolishnes?

21 For seeing the world by wisdom know not God in the wisdoms of God, it pleased God by the foolishnes of preaching to save them that believe.

22 Seeing also that the Jewes require a signe, and the Grecians keere after wisdom.

23 But we preach Christus crucified: unto the Jewes, even a stumbling block, and unto the Grecians, foolishnes.

24 But unto them which are called, both of the Jewes and Grecians, we preach Christus, the power of God, and the wisdom of God.

25 For the foolishnes of God is wiser then men, and the weaknes of God is stronger then men.

26 For brethren, you see your calling, how that not many wise men, after the flesh, nor many mighty, nor many noble are called.

27 But God hath chosen y foolish things of the world, to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, to confound the mighty things.

28 And vile things of the world, & things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are.

29 That no flesh should rejoyce in his presence.

30 But we will ascribe these things to God, then acknowledge their owne follie and weaknes.

31 According as the world tearmeth wise men, which are in mans judgement almost nothing, but taken for abjects and callowes. 32 Esteemed and in reputation. 33 Thus hee calleth man in contempt, and to beat downe his arrogancie.

30 But yet the of him in Christus Jesus, the love of God is made known by wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption.

31 That according as it is written, * he that rejoyceth, let him rejoyce in the Lord.

CHAP. II.

1 For ye know for example his manner of preaching, which was according to the testimony of the Gospel, which God made comprehensible, and had, to the carnall, as against honorable men, manifesting the foolishnes of the world.

2 And brethren, when I came to you, I came not with excellencie of wisdom, shewing unto you the commandments of God, which ye should observe.

3 For I feared, lest I should be something among you, as Jesus Christ and him crucified.

4 And I was among you as in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

5 And neither saved my wisdom, nor my power, nor the enticing speech of mans wisdom, but in plaine sentence of the Spirit.

6 That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

7 And we shewe wisdom among them that are perished: not the wisdom of this world, neither of the princes of this world, which come to nought.

8 But we shewe the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God hath determined before the world, unto our glory.

9 Which none of the princes of this world have known: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

10 But as it is written, * The things which eye hath not seen, neither ear hath heard, neither is come into mans heart, which God hath prepared for them that love him.

11 But God hath revealed unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

12 For what man knoweth the things of God, save the Spirit of a man, which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

13 Nowe we have received the Spirit of the Spirit of the world, but the Spirit, which is of God, that we might know the things that are given to us of the Spirit of God.

14 That is, very few. For hee calleth the things of God, full of glory and majesty, whom Daniel seeth the King of glory, Psalm 24.7. and Seaven names in God of glory, Acts 7.3. and heereby appeareth the foolishnes, and confusion of our nature in one person.

15 Man is not able to thinke Gods providence towards him: he is one God with the Father and the Sonne, i. Man which understandeth and judgeth. 16 Wee are not such that Spirit, which teacheth things wherewith the world knoweth not, and which men understand by nature. 17 All the benefits in Iesus Christ.

among you, because ye goe to law one with another: why rather suffer ye not wrong: why rather suffer ye not harme?

8 *Say ye your selues: doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the vniuersall shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggers,

10 Nor thieves, nor conuets, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shall inherit the kingdom of God.

11 And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 *All things are lawfull vnto mee: but all things are not profitable. I may doe all things, but I will not be brought vnder the power of any thing.

13 Meates are ordeined for the belly, and the belly for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also rayped by the Lord, and shall raype vs by his power.

15 Know ye not that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, & make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 Doe ye not know, that he which completely himselfe with an harlot, is one body? for two, saith he, shall be one flesh.

17 But he that is ioynd vnto the Lord, is one Spirit.

18 Flee fornication: euery kinde that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne body.

19 Know ye not, that your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and ye are not your owne.

CHAP. VII.

1 The Apostle answereth to certain questions, which the Corinthians desired to know, 2 As of single life, 3 Of the duty of marriage, 11 Of discord and dissension in marriage, 13 Of marriage betweene the faithfull and vnfaithfull, 18 Of vncircumcising the circumcised, 21 Of seruitude, 25 Of virginity, 39 And second marriage.

Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote vnto me, It were good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 *Zeuerte selfe, to avoid fornication, let every man haue his wife, and let every woman haue her owne husband.

And cures & troubles. b Speaking to all men in generall,

3 Let the husband giue vnto the wife as hee doeth himselfe, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.

4 The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may giue your selues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

7 For I would that all men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.

8 Therefore I say vnto the vnnarried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie then to burne.

10 And vnto the married I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if she depart, let her remaine vnnarried, or bee reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 But to the remnant I speake, and not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife, that beleueth not, if she be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that beleueth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

14 For the vnbelleuing husband is sanctified by the wife, and the vnbelleuing wife is sanctified by the husband, eise were your children vncleane: but now are they holy.

15 But if the vnbelleuing depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in dissension in such things: but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?

17 But as God hath distributed to euery man, as the Lord hath called euery one, so let him walke: and so ordaine I in all Churches.

18 Is any man called being circumcised: let him not gather his vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised: let him not be circumcised.

19 *Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God.

20 *Let euery man abide in the same bocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a seruant? care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, vie it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord being a seruant, is the Lords freeman: likewise also hee that is called being free, is Christs seruant.

23 *Pe are bought with a price: be not the seruants of men.

24 Brethren, let euery man, wherein he was called, therein abide with God.

25 Now concerning virgins, I haue no commandement of the Lord: but I giue mine aduise, as one that hath obtained mercie of the Lord to be faithful.

26 I suppose then this to be good for the present: not necessitie: I mean, that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgin marrie, the sinneth not: neuertheless, such shall haue trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 And thus I say, brethren, because the time is short, I hereafter that both they which haue wiues, bee as though they had none:

30 And they that weep, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyed not: and they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that vie this worlde, as though they vied it not: for the fashion of this worlde goeth away.

32 And I would haue you without care. The unmarried careth for the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

33 But he that is married, careth for the things of the worlde, how he may please his wife.

34 There is a difference also betweene a virgine and a wife: the unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that shee may be holy, both in body and in spirit: but shee that is married, careth for the things of the worlde, how he may please her husband.

35 And thus I speake for your owne commodity, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye follow that which is honest, and that ye may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36 But if any man thinke that it is becomingly for his virginitie, if hee passe the flower of her age, and s neede to require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them be married.

37 And the less, he that standeth firme in his heart, that he hath no neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keepe his virginity, he doeth well.

38 So then he that giueth her to marriage, doeth well, but he that giueth her not to marriage, doeth better.

39 The wife is bound by the Law, as long as her husband liueth: but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to marry with whom she will, onely in the Lord.

40 But she is more blessed, if shee so abide, in my iudgement: and I thinke that I haue also the iurist of God.

k And more commodious for his children in from cares. l Of matrimony. Rom. 7. 2. 1. The. 4. 8.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Hee rebuketh them that vse their liberty to the slander of other, in going to the idolatrous sacrifices, 9 And sheweth how men ought to behaue them toward such as be weake.

As touching things sacrificed vnto idols, we know that we all haue knowledge: knowledge puffeth vp, but loue edifieth.

2 Now, if any man thinke that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowne of him.

4 Concerning therefore meate sacrificed vnto idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the worlde, and that there is none other God but one.

5 For though there bee that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth, (as there be many gods, and many lords)

6 Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is the Father, of whom are all things, and wee in him: and one Lord Iesus Christ, by whom are all things, and wee by him.

7 But euery man hath not knowledge: for some haue confidence of the idol, vntill this honore, rate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idol, & so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God: nor neither if we eate, haue wee the more: neither if we eate not, haue wee the lesse.

9 But take heed lest by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling to them that are weake.

10 For if any man see thee which hath knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the confidence of him which is weake, bee boldened to eate those things which are sacrificed to idols?

11 And through thy knowledge shall the weake brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 Now when we sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, ye sinne against Christ.

13 Wherefore if meate offend my brother, I will eat no flesh while the worlde standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

Rom. 14. 15. g Which careth against his conscience, or in doctine.

CHAP. IX.

Hee exhorteth them by his example to use their liberties to the edification of other. 24 To runne on forth in the course that they haue begunne.

AND I not an Apostle? am I not free? haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not all worke in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle vnto acher, yet doubtlesse I am vnto you: for ye are the scale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 By defence to them that examine me, is this.

4 Haue wee not power to eate, & and to drinke?

5 We haue we not power to leade about a wiffe being a sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Do I and Barnabas, haue not we power? not to worke?

7 Altho goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost: who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 Say I these things according to man? sayth not the Law the same also?

9 For it is written in the Law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for oxen?

10 Either sayeth hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should eare in hope: and that he that thersher in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

11 If we haue sown vnto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if wee reape your carnall things?

12 If others with you bee partakers of this power, are not wee rather? neuertheless, we haue not vled this power: but I suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.

13 Do ye not know, that they which minister about the holy things, eat of the things of the Temple: and they which waite at the altar, are partakers with the altar?

14 So also hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach the Gospel, should liue of the Gospel.

15 But I haue bled none of these things: neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my reioycing vaine.

16 For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessity is layed vpon mee, and woe is vnto mee, if I preach not the Gospel.

17 For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward: but if I doe it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me.

18 What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ free, that I abuse not mine authoritie in the Gospel.

19 For though I bee free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I might winne the moe.

20 And vnto the Jewes I become as a Jewe, that I may winne the Jewes: to them that are vnder the Lawe, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Lawe.

21 To them that are without Lawe, as though I were without Lawe (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Lawe.

22 To the weakke I become as weakke, that I may winne the weakke: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means saue some.

23 And this doe I for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.

24 Know ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiveth the price: so runne that ye may obtaine.

25 And every man that pouereth himselfe, shall be abstineth from all things: and they doe it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but we for an vncorruptible.

26 I therefore to runne, not as vncertainly: so fight I, not as one that beatech the aire:

27 But I beate downe my body, and biling it into subiection, lest by any means after that I haue preached to other, I my selfe should be reprooued.

CHAP. X.

He seareth them with the examples of the Iewes that they put not their trust carnally in the graces of God, 14 Exhorting them to flee all idolatrie, 23 And offence of their neighbour.

MOREouer, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, that all our fathers were vnder the cloud, and all passed thorow the sea,

2 And were all baptized vnto Moses, in the cloud, and in the sea,

3 And did all eate the same bread, Spirituall meat,

4 And did all drinke the same Spirituall drinke (for they dranke of the Spirituall Rocke that followed them: and the Rocke was Christ)

5 But with many of them God was not pleased: for they were overthrown in the wilderness.

6 Now these are ensamples to vs, to the intent that wee should not lust after euill things, as they also lusted.

7 Neither bee ye idolaters, as were some of them, as it is written, The people fate downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to play.

8 Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and fel in one day thre and twenty thousand.

9 And that is, signified Christ as all Sacraments doe.

10 Because hereby occasion was taken to forget God, and commit idolatrie, therefore these indifferent things are counted idolatrie.

11 Moses readech foure and twentie thousand, which declareth an infinite number.

10 Neither murmur ye, as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.

11 Now all these things came vnto them for enamples, and were written to aduonish vs, vpon whom the ends of the world are come.

12 Wherefore, let him that thinketh he standeth, take heed lest he fall.

13 There hath no temptation taken you, but such as appertaineth to man, and God is faithfull, which will not suffer you to be tempted aboue that you be able, but will euen giue the issue with the temptation, that ye may be able to beare it.

14 Wherefore my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 I speake as vnto them which haue vnderstanding: iudge ye what I say.

16 The cuppe of blessing which wee bleesse, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which wee breake, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For wee that are many, are one bread and one body, because wee all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel which is after the flesh: are not they which eate of the sacrifices, partakers of the altar?

19 Althar say I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is sacrificed to idoles, is any thing?

20 Nay, but that these things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not vnto God: and I would not that ye should haue fellowship with the devils.

21 Ye cannot drinke the cup of the Lords, and the cup of the devils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lords table, and of the table of devils.

22 Doe wee prouoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger then he?

23 All things are lawfull for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not.

24 Let no man seeke his owne, but euerie man anothers wealt.

25 Whatsoever is sold in the shambles, eate ye, and aske no question for conscience sake.

26 For the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is.

27 If any of them which beleue not, call you to a feast: and if ye wil goe, whatsoever is set before you, eate, asking no question for conscience sake.

28 But if any man say vnto you, This is sacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, because of him that sheweth it, and for the conscience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is).

29 And the conscience I say, not thine, but of that other: for why should my conscience be condemned of anothers mans conscience?

30 For if I through Gods benefite be partaker, why am I euill spoken of, for that wherefore I giue thanks?

31 Whether therefore ye eate or drinke, or whatsoever ye doe, doe all to the glory of God.

32 Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God:

33 Euen as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine owne profite, but the profite of many, that they might be saved.

CHAP. XI.

Hee rebuketh the abuses which were crept into their Church, 4 As touching prayer, prophesying, 18 And ministring the Lords Supper. 23 Bringing this againe to the first institution thereof.

Be ye the followers of me, euen as I am of Christ.

2 Now, brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

3 But I will that ye know, that Christ is the head of euerie man: and the man is the womans head: and God is Christs head.

4 Euerie man praying, or prophesying, hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

5 But euerie woman that prayeth or prophesieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head: for it is euen one very thing, as though she were shauen.

6 Therefore if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be covered.

7 For a man ought not to cover his head: forasmuch as hee is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake.

10 Therefore ought the woman to haue power on her head, because of the Angels.

11 Howbeit as the church is the body of Christ, which hee himselfe doth cleanse with the word, and present it to himselfe in glory, and power, shine concerning his authority.

12 For as the church is of the man, so is the man also by the woman: but all things are of God.

13 Iudge in your selues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncovered?

14 Doeth not nature it selfe teach you, that if a man haue long haire, it is a shame vnto him?

15 But if a woman haue long haire, it is a piasse unto her: for her haire is as chieftie for a covering.

16 But if any man list to be contentious,
we have no such customs, neither the Churches of God.

17 I would in this that I declare a piasse you not, that ye come together, not with discord, but with hurt.

18 For first of all, when ye come together in the Church, I heare that there are dissensions among you: and I desire it to be none in your part.

19 For there must bee a brother such a mong you, that they which are approved among you, might be knowne.

20 When yee come together therefore into one place, this is not to eate the Lords supper.

21 For every man when they should eate, takeh his owne supper afore, & one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 Have ye not houses to eate and to drinke in: beyside ye the Church of God, and shame them that haue not? what shall I say to you? Shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

23 For I haue receiued of the Lord that which I also haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, that the Lord Jesus in the night that hee was betrayed, tooke bread:

24 And when he had giuen thanks, he broke it, and sayd, Take, eate: this is my body, which is broken for you: this doe ye in remembrance of me.

25 After the same manner also he tooke the cup, when hee had supped, saying: This cup is the new Testament in my blood: this doe as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance
of me.

26 For as often as ye shal eate this bread, and drinke this cup, ye shew the Lords death till he come.

27 Wherefore, whosoener shall eate this bread, and drinke the cup of the Lord un-worthily, shall be guilty of the body & blood of the Lord.

28 Let a man therefore examine himselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For hee that eateth and drinketh un-worthily, eateth & drinketh his owne damnation, because he discerneth not the Lords body.

30 For this cause many are weak, and sicke among you, and many sleepe.

31 For if we would iudge our selues, wee should not be iudged.

32 But when we are iudged, we are cha-stened of the Lord, because we should not bee condemned with the world.

33 Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eate, take one the another.

34 And if any man be hungry, let him eat at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation. Other things will I write in order when I come.

CHAP. XII.

1 The doctrine of the gifts of the Holy Ghost as he is bestowed in the anointing of Christs Church.

2 As the members of mans body serve to the edification of the Church.

Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren,
I would not haue you ignorant.

2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, and were carried away vnto the dumb idols, as ye were led.

3 Wherefore, I declare vnto you, that no man speaking by the Spirit of God, called Jesus execrable: also no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

4 Now there are diuinities of gifts, but the same Spirit.

5 And there are diuinities of administrations, but the same Lord.

6 And there are diuinities of operations, but God is the same, which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is giuen to every man, to profit himselfe.

8 For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of wisdom, and to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit.

9 And to another is giuen a faith, by the same Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit.

10 And to another the operations of great works: and to another, prophesie:
and to another, the discerning of spirits:
and to another, diuinities of tongues:
and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 And all these things worketh euen the selfe same Spirit, distributing to euery man severally as he will.

12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: euen so is Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are wee all baptized into one body, whether wee bee Iewes or Grecians, whether wee bee bond, or free, and haue bene all made to drinke into one Spirit.

14 For the body also is not one member,
but many.

15 If the foot would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eye would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But now hath God disposed the members every one of them in the body at his owne pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 And the eye cannot say vnto the hand,
I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no neede of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seeme to bee more feeble,

o We are more carefull to conuert them.

23 And vpon those members of the body, which we thinke most vnboned, put we more <sup>o</sup> double on: and our vnicuersally haue more comeliness on.

24 For our comely partes neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together, and hath giuen the more honor, to that part which lacketh.

25 Least there should bee any diuision in the body: but that the members should haue the same care one for another.

26 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member bee had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Nowe yee are the body of Christ, and members <sup>q</sup> of his part.

28 And God hath ordeined some in the Church as first Apostles, secondly Propheets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that the gifts of healing, helpers, gouernours, diuersities of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? Are all Propheets: are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing: do all speake with tongues: do all interpret?

31 But I desire you the best gifts, and I will shew you a more excellent way.

CHAP. XII.

Because loue is the fountain and rule of edifying the Church, he sheweth forth the nature, office and praise thereof.

Though I speake with the tongues of men, and of Angels, and haue not loue, I am as sounding brasse, or a tinkling cymball.

2 And though I haue the gift of prophesie, and know all secrets, and all knowledge, yea, if I had <sup>a</sup> all faith, so that I could reuolue mountains, and haue not loue, I were nothing.

3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I be burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth me nothing.

4 Loue suffereth long: it is countifull: loue exulteth not: loue doth not boast of selfe: it is not puffed vp:

5 It is not enuieous: it is not puffed vp: it is not provoked to anger: it thinketh not euill.

6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but reioyceth in the truth:

7 It suffereth all things: it beleeueth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 Loue doeth neuer fall away, though that prophesies be abolished, or the tongues cease, or knowledge vanish away.

9 For we know in part, and we know a If the Angels had tongues, and I had the vfe thereof, and did not bestow them to profit my neighbour, it were nothing but vaine babbling.

b Faith is here taken for the gift of doing miracles, which the wicked may haue, as Mat. 7. 22. and also for that faith (called historical) which beleeueth the mightie power of Christ, but cannot apprehend Gods mercie through him: and this diuels haue, Iam. 2. 19. and therefore is separated from charitie, but the faith that iustifieth in effect cannot, as Iohn. 3. 9. Math. 17. 20. Luke 17. 6. c. Not that it sufficeth it selfe to be abused, but inuoluntarily by all loue and humanitie. d Which may be without offence of Gods word. e Knowledge it selfe shall be perfected in the world to come, and not abolished, but the manner of knowing and teaching shall cease, when wee shall bee before Gods presence, where we shall neither need schools nor teachers. f That is, imperfectly. g Or, reach.

10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part, shall bee abolished.

11 When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12 For nowe wee see through a glasse darkly, but then shall we see face to face. Now I know in part: but then shall I know such as I am I knowen.

23 And now abideth faith, hope and loue, even these three: but the chiefest of these is loue.

CHAP. XIII.

He exhorteth to loue, commendeth the gift of tongues, and other spiritual gifts, 5 But chiefly prophesying. 34 He commaundeth women to keepe silence in the Church, 40 And sheweth what good order ought to be observed in the Church.

Follow after loue, and cometh spiritual gifts, I shew rather that yee may <sup>a</sup> prophesie.

2 For he that speaketh a strange tongue, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man <sup>b</sup> heareth him: howbeit in the spirit he speaketh secret things.

3 But he that prophesieth, speaketh vnto men to edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 He that speaketh strange language, edifieth <sup>c</sup> himselfe: but he that prophesieth, edifieth the Church.

5 I would that yee all spake strange languages, but rather that yee prophesied: for greater is hee that prophesieth, then hee that speaketh diuers tongues, except yee expound it, that the Church may receive edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come vnto you speaking diuers tongues, what shall I profit you, except I speake to you, either by <sup>d</sup> reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 Whereouer, things without life, which giue a sounde, whether it bee a pipe, or an harpe, except they make a distinction in the soundes, how shall it be known what is piped, or harped?

8 And also if the trumpet giue an vncertaine sound, who shall prepare himselfe to battell?

9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except yee utter words that haue signification, how shall it be vnderstood what is spoken? for yee shall speake in the <sup>e</sup> aire.

10 There are so many kindes of voyces (as it commeth to passe) in the world, and none of them is dumb.

11 Except I know then the power of the voyce, I shall be vnto him that speaketh, <sup>f</sup> a Barbarian, and he that speaketh, shall bee a Barbarian vnto me.

12 Wherefo, so much as yee couet spiritual gifts, lette that yee may excell vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue, pray, that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in a strange tongue, my spirit <sup>g</sup> is quayed, but mine understanding is without <sup>h</sup> fruit.

12 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the last trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shall be raised by incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

13 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortal must put on immortality.

14 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortal hath put on immortality, then shall be brought to passe the saying that is written, "Death is swallowed up into victory."

15 O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?

16 The sting of death is sinne; and the strength of sinne is the Law.

17 But thanks bee unto God, which hath given vs by victory through our Lord Iesus Christ.

18 Therefore my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, abundant alwayes in the worke of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vaine in the Lord.

19 The hope of resurrection causeth the faithfull to surmount all difficulties.

CHAP. XVI.

Hee putteth them in remembrance of the gathering for the poore brethren at Ierusalem. 13 Wee must perseuere in faith, in the love of Christ and our neighbour. 15 After his commendations hee wisheth to them all prosperitie.

Concerning the gathering for the Saintes, as I haue obtained in the Churches of Galatia, so doe ye also.

2 Every first day of the weeke, let every one of you put aside by himselfe, and lay up as God hath prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoever ye shall allowe by letters, them will I send to bring your liberality unto Ierusalem.

4 And if it be meete that I go also, they shall goe with me.

5 Now I will come unto you, after I haue gone through Macedonia (for I will passe through Macedonia)

6 And it may bee that I will abide, yea, as winter with you, that ye may bring me on my way whithersoever I goe.

7 For I will not see you now in my passage; but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 And I will taste at Ephesus untill Pentecost.

9 For a great doore and effectuall is opened unto mee; but there are many adversaries.

10 Nowe if Timotheus come, see that hee be without feare with you, for hee worketh the worke of the Lord, euen as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore despise him; but conuey him forth in peace, that he may come unto mee: for I looke for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Appollos, I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his minde was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall haue convenient tyme.

13 Catch ye: stand fast in the faith: quite you like men, and be strong.

14 Let all your things be done in a loue.

15 Nowe, brethren, I beseech you (ye knowe the house of Stephanas, that it is the first frutes of Achaia, and that they haue giuen themselves to minister unto the Saintes)

16 That ye be obedient euen unto such, and to all that helpe with vs and labour.

17 I am glad of the coming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they haue supplied the want of you.

18 For they haue comforted my spirit, and yours: acknowledge therefore such men.

19 The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla with the Church that is in their house, salute you greatly in the Lord.

20 All the brethren greete you. Greete ye one another with an holy kiss.

21 The salutation of me Paul with mine owne hand.

22 If any man loue not the Lord Iesus Christ, let him bee had in excommunication, hee is excommunicate to death.

The second Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians.

THE ARGUMENT.

As nothing can be written either so perfectly, or with so great affection and zeale, which is not profitable to many, and resisted by some: so the first Epistle written by Saint Paul to the Corinthians, besides the puritie and perfection of the doctrine, sheweth a loue toward them farre passing all naturall affections: which did not onely not profite all, but hardened the hearts of many to remaine in their stubbornesse, and contemne the Apostles authoritie. By reason whereof, Paul being let with iust occasions to come vnto them, wrote this Epistle from Macedonia, minding to accomplish the worke which he had begun among them, First therefore hee wiseth them well in the Lord, declaring that that albeit certaine wicked persons abused his afflictions to condemne thereby his authoritie, yet they were necessary schoolings, and sent to him by God for their bettering. And whereas they blame his long absence, it came of no inconstancie, but to heare with their inabilitie and imperfection, lest contrary to his fatherly affection, he should have bene compelled to vse rigour and severity. And as touching his sharpe writing in the former Epistle, it came through their fault, as it is now evident both in that, that he pardoneth the trespasser, seeing hee doeth repent: and also in that hee was quiet in his minde, till he was certified by Titus of their estate. But forasmuch as the false apostles went about to undermine his authoritie, hee confuteth their arrogant brag, and commendeth his office, and the diligent executing of the same: so that Satan must have greatly blinded their eyes, which see not the brightnesse of the Gospel in his preaching: the effect wherof is newnesse of life, forsaking of our selues, cleaving to God, fleeing from idolatrie, embracing the true doctrine, and that sorrow which engendreth true repentance: to the which is ioyned mercy and compassion toward our brethren: also wisdom to put difference betwixt the simplicitie of the Gospel, and the arrogancie of the false preachers, who vnder pretence of preaching the truth, sought onely to fill their bellies, whereas he contrariwise sought them, and not their goods, as those ambitious persons slandered him: wherefore as his coming he menaceth such as rebell against his authoritie, that hee will declare by lively example that he is the faithfull ambassador of Iesus Christ.

C H A P. I.

4 He declareth the great profite that cometh to the faithfull by their afflictions, 15. 17 And because they should not impute to lightnesse, that he deferred his coming contrary to his promise, he proueth his constancie, both by the sinceritie of his preaching, and also by the immutable truth of the Gospel. 21 Which truth is grounded on Christ, and sealed in our hearts by the holy Ghost.

ALL an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to all the Saints which are in all Achata :

2 Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort,

4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, that wee may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith wee our selues are comforted of God.

5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in vs, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.

6 And whether wee be afflicted, it is for your consolation, and saluation, which is wrought in the enduring of the same sufferings, which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation.

7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as wee know that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 For brethren, wee would not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, how wee were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that wee altogether doubted, euen of life.

9 Yea, we receiued the sentence of death in our selues, because wee should not trust in our selues, but in God, which raiseth the dead.

10 Altho deliuered vs from so great a death, and death deliuer vs: in whom we trust, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs.

11 So that ye labour together in prayer for vs, that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thanks may be giuen by many persons for vs.

12 For our reioicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly purenesse, and not in fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God wee haue had our conuersion in the world, and most of all to youmards.

13 For we write none other things vnto you, then that ye read, or els that ye acknowledge, and I trust ye shall acknowledge vnto the end.

14 Euen as ye haue acknowledged vs partly, that we are your reioicing, euen as ye are ours, in the day of our Lord Iesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that ye might haue had a double grace.

16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I not lightnesse? or mind I those things which I minde? according to the flesh, that with mee should bee a Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 Yea, God is faithfull, that our word toward you, was not Yea, and Nay.

19 For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ who was preached among you by vs, that is, by mee, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, was not Yea, and Nay: but in him it was Yea.

20 For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in him Amen, vnto the glory of God through vs.

21 And it is God which establisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath anointed vs.

22 Altho hath also sealed vs, and hath giuen the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.

God to witness, that he preacheth the truth, that he preacheth nothing vnto them but onely Iesus Christ, who is the most constant and infallible truth of the Father. of Christ, in them that are saved, & in them which perish.

16 To the one we are the favour of death, unto death, and to the other the favour of life, unto life, and who is sufficient for these things?

17 For we are not as many, which make merchandise of the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God in the sight of God we speak in Christ.

CHAP. III.

1 He taketh for example the faith of the Corinthians for a probation of the truth which he preached, 6 And to exalt his Apostleship against the brag of the false apostles, 7 13. he maketh comparison betwixt the Law and the Gospel.

2 We begin to praise our selves againe: Do we need we as some other, Epistles of commendation unto you, or letters of commendation from you?

2 We are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is understood and read of all men.

3 In that ye are ministered, to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us, and written, not with inke, but with the Spirit of the living God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart.

4 And such trust haue we through Christ to God:

5 Not that we are sufficient of our selves, to thinke any thing as of our selves: but our sufficiency is of God,

6 Who also hath made vs able ministers of the new Testament, not of the letter but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life.

7 If then the ministrations of death were glorious, in that the children of Israel could not beholde the face of Moses for the glorie of his countenance (which glorie is done away)

8 Now shall not the ministrations of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministry of condemnation was glorious, much more both the ministrations of righteousness exceed in glorie.

10 For even that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that it was conching the exceeding glorie.

11 For if that which should be abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth be glorious.

12 Seeing then that wee haue such trust, we use great boldnesse of speech.

13 And wee are not as Moyses, which put a vail upon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke unto the ende

Exod. 24. 33. m Moses shewed the Law as it was couered with shadowes, so that the Levites eyes were not lightened, but blinded, and so could not come to Christ, who was the end thereof: againe, the Gospel fetcheth forth the glorie of God clearly, not couering our eyes, but driving the darknesse away from them.

He sheweth his loue towards them, requiring likewise that they would be favourable to the incestuous adulterer, seeing he did repent. 14 He also reioyceth in God for the efficacy of his doctrine, 17 confuting thereby such quarrell pickers as vnder pretence of speaking against his person, sought nothing but the overthrow of his doctrine.

14 Wherefore their mindes are hardened: for until this day remaineth the same coverting unshaken away in the reading of the old testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.

15 But euen unto this day, when Moyses is read, the vaile is laid ouer their hearts.

16 Neuertheless, when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shall be taken away.

17 Now the "Lord is the " Spirit, and where y Spirit of the Lord is, there is libertie.

18 But wee all beholde as in a " mirrour the glorie of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glorie to glorie, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

CHAP. III.

1 He declareth his diligence and roundness in his office, 8. And that which his enemies took for his disadvantage, to wit the crosse and afflictions which he endured, he turneth to his great advantage, 11. 17 shewing what profit commeth thereby.

Therefore, seeing that we haue this ministerie, as wee haue received mercy, " wee faint not:

2 But haue cast from vs the " cloakes of shame, and " walke not in craftinesse, neither handle wee the word of God deceitfully: but in declaration of the truth we appooint our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God.

3 If our Gospel bee then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

4 In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds, that is, of the infidels, that the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the " image of God, should not shine vnto them.

5 For wee preach not our " selues, but Christ Iesus the Lord, " and our selues your seruants for Iesus sake.

6 For God that " commanded the light to shine out of darkenesse, is hee which hath shined in " our hearts, to giue the " light of the knowledge of the glorie of God in the face of Iesus Christ.

7 But we haue this " treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellencie of that power might be of God and not of vs.

8 Wee are afflicted on euery side, yet are we not in distresse: in pouertie, but not overcome of pouertie.

9 Wee are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.

10 Euerywhere wee beare about in our body the " dying of the Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also be made manifest in our bodies.

h Albeit the ministers of the Gospel be contemptible as touching their person, yet the treasure which they carie is nothing worse or inferior, 1. All the faithfull, and chiefly the Ministers must drinke of this cup, because the world hateth Christ: and also that the members should be comfortable to Christ their head, yet by the mightie power of Christ, who overcame death, they are made conquerours.

12 So then " death worketh in vs, and life in you.

CHAP. V.

1 Paul proceedeth to declare the vilitie that commeth by the crosse. 4 How we ought to prepare our selues vnto it, 5 by whom, 9 and for what end, 14. 19. He setteth forth the grace of Christ, 20 and the office of ministers, and all the faithfull.

For wee know that if " our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, wee haue a buildingauen of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternall in the heauens.

2 For therefore wee sigh, desiring to be clothed with our house, which is from heauen.

3 Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found " naked.

4 For indeed we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened, " because wee would not bee unclothed, but would bee clothed by you, that mortality might be swallowed vp of life.

5 And hee that hath created vs for this thing, is God, " who hath also giuen vnto vs the " earnest of the Spirit.

6 Therefore we are alway " bold, though we know that whilst we are " at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For wee " walke by faith, and not by sight)

8 Neuertheless, wee are bolde, and loue rather to remooue out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also wee couet, that both dwelling " at home, and remoouing " from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 " For wee must all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, " that euery man may receive the things which are done in his body, according to that hee hath done, whether it be " good or euill.

the Lord, we be perfwade men, and wee are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that wee are made manifest in your consciences.

12 For wee praye not our selues againe vnto you, but give you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that ye may haue to answer against them, which reioyce in the face, and not in the heart.

13 For whether wee be out of our wif, we are it to God: of whether wee be in our right mind, we are it vnto you.

14 For the loue of Christ constraineth vs: because we thus iudge, that if one bee dead for all, then were all dead.

15 And he died for all, that they which liue, should not henceforth liue vnto themselves, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 Therefore, henceforth know wee no man after the flesh, yea, though wee had known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more.

17 Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a new creature. * Olde things are passed away: behold, all things are become new.

18 And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministry of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their finnes vnto them, and hath committed to vs the word of reconciliation.

20 Nowe then are wee ambassadors for Christ: as though God did beseech you through vs, we pray you in Christs stead, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For hee hath made him to bee sinne for vs, which knewe no sinne: that wee should bee made the righteousness of God in him.

For we doe not commend Christ himselfe nowe, as he was an excellent man: as hee was the Sonne of God partaker of his glory, and in whom God dwelled corporally: and do you thinke that I will flatter any man in setting forth his gifts? Yea, when I praise my selfe, I commend the power of God: when I commend our Lord, I praise the mighty power of God set forth by vs wretched men. 16 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath the deceiver with the infidel?

17 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols: * for ye are the Temple of the liuing God: as God hath sayde, * I will dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

18 Therefore, come out from among them, and separte your selues, sayeth the Lord: and touch none vnclane thing, and I will receiue you.

j Or, heart. k The Greeke word signifieth his bowels, whereby is meant most great love & tender affection. l Both in thinking and reporting well of you.

2 Receive us: we have done wrong to no man: wee have confirmed no man: wee have not defrauded no man.

3 I speake it not to you: your condemnation: for I have sayd before, that yee are in our hearts to die and live together.

4 I beseech you with great boldnesse of speech toward you: I rejoyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when wee were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but wee were troubled on every side, fightings without, and terrors within.

6 But God, that comforteth the abject, comforted us at the coming of Titus:

7 And not by his coming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith hee was comforted of you, when hee tolde us your great desire, your mournings, your fervent mind to me ward, so that I rejoyced much more.

8 For though I made you sorry with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceive that the same Epistle made you sorry, though it were but for a season.

9 I now rejoyce, not that ye were sorry, but that ye followed to repentance: for ye sorrowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurt by us.

10 For godly sorow causeth repentance unto saluation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorow causeth death.

11 For behold, this thing that yee have bene so godly sorry, what great care it hath wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your felues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, how great desire: yea, what zeale: yea, what punishment: in all things ye have shewed your felues that ye are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote unto you, I did not it for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the sight of God might appear unto you.

13 Therefore wee were comforted, because yee were comforted: but rather wee rejoyced much more for the sorow of Titus, because his Spirit was refreshed by you all.

14 For if that I have boasted any thing to him of you, I have not bene ashamed: but as I have spoken unto you all things in truth, even so our boasting unto Titus was true.

15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembreth the obedience of you all, and how with feare and trembling ye received him.

16 I rejoyce therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

CHAP. VII.

1 By the example of the Macedonians, 9 and Christ, he exhorteth them to continue in relieving the poore Saints, commending their good beginning.
23 After hee commendeth Titus, and his fellowes unto them.

Woe doe you also to wit, brethren, of the Churches of Macedonia.

2 Because in great trial of affliction their ioy abounded, and their most extreme povertrie abounded unto their rich liberality.

3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power, they were willing,

4 And played us with great instance that we should receive the grace, and fellowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints.

5 And this they did, not as we looked for: but gave their owne felues, first to the Lord, and after unto us by the will of God,

6 That we should exhort Titus, that as he had begun, so hee would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as yee abound in every thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love toward us, even so see that yee abound in this grace also.

8 This say I not by commandement, but because of the diligence of others: therefore prove I the naturalnesse of your love.

9 For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that he being rich, for your sakes became poore, that ye through his povertrie might be made rich.

10 And I shewe my minde herein: for this is expedient for you which have begun not to do onely, but also to will, a perrage.

11 Solve therefore performe to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, even so yee may performe it of that which yee have.

12 For there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 Neither is it, that other men should be cald and you grieved.

14 But upon like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke, that also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitye.

15 As it is written, * Yee that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had not the lesse.

16 And thankes be unto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you,

17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so careful, that of his owne accord he went unto you.

18 And wee have sent also with him the brother, whose name is in the Gospel renowned all the Churches.

19 (And not to onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellow in our journey concerning this grace that is ministered by us unto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt mind)

20 Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this abundance that is ministered by us,

21 * Bountifull for honest things, not onely before the Lord, but also before men.

a This benefit God appeared in two things, first, that the Macedonians being in so great afflictions were so prompt to helpe others: and next, that being in great poverty, were very liberal towards others: b So that a most abundant river of riches flowed out of their povertrie, c So hee calleth their liberality, either because they were the benefactors of Gods graces, or because they received them, d God freely, and so they desired Paul to see to the distribution thereof, e Chap. 9. 12. d Every man may doe good that hath ability thereunto: but to will, and have a minde to doe good, cometh of perfect charity, f That as you helpe others in their need, so others shall helpe your want, g That both you and others in occasion shall have may reliefe, h In relieving godly according to their necessities, i Exod. 16. 18. g And willingly offered himself to gather your almes, h In preading the Gospel, i Some understand this to be spoken of Luke, chosen of Barnabas, k Rom. 12. 17. i His well doing is approved before God and man.

22 And we haue sent with them our brother whom we haue oft times proued to be diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I haue in you.

23 Whether any do enquire of Titus, hee is my fellow and helper to youward: or of our brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the glory of Christ.

24 Therefore shew toward them, and befoe the Churches the proofs of your loue, and of the reioycing that we haue of you.

CHAP. IX.

3 The cause of Titus and his companions comming to them. 6 He exhorteth to giue almes charitably, 7 shewing what fruit will come thereof.

8 As touching the ministering to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you.

2 For I knowe your readinesse of minde, wherof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Nowe haue I sent the brethren, lest our reioycing ouer you should bee in vaine in this behalf, that yee (as I haue sayd) be ready:

4. Lest if youe of Macedonia come with me, and find you vnprepared, wee (I neede not to say, you) should be ashamed in this my constant boasting.

5 Wherefore, I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of sparring.

6 This ye yet remembre that he which soweth sparingly, shall also reap sparingly, and hee that soweth liberally, shall also liberally.

7 As every man to his heart, so let him giue, not grudgingly, or of necessity: * For God loneth a cheerefull giver.

8 And God is able to make all grace to abound toward you, that ye alwayes hauing all sufficiency in all things, may abound in every good worke.

9 As it is written, * He hath sparred abroad, and hath giuen to the poore: his beneuolence remaineth for euer.

10 Also he that sitheth feede to the hungry, will minister likewise bread for foode, and multiply your feede, and increase the fruits of your beneuolence.

11 That on all parts ye may be made rich vnto all liberality, which causeth through vs thanksging vnto God.

12 For the ministratiō of this seruice not onely supplieth the necessities of the Saints, but also is abundant by the thanksging of many vnto God.

13 (Which by the experiment of this ministratiō payeth God for your voluntary submission to the Gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution to them, and to all men)

14 And by * their prayer for you, desiring after you greatly for the abundant grace of God in you.

15 Thankes therefore bee vnto God for his unspeakable gift.

CHAP. X.

He toucheth the false apostles and defendeth his authoritie, exhorting them to obedience. 11 And sheweth what his power is. 13 And how he vseth it.

Now I Paul my selfe beseech you by the meekenesse, and gentlenesse of Christ, which when I am present among you, am * base, but am bolde toward you being absent.

2 And this I require you, that I neede not to bee bolde when I am present, with that same confidence, wherewith I thinke to bee bolde against some, which esteeme vs as though wee walked according to the flesh.

3 Nevertheless, though we walke in the flesh, yet we doe not warre after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnall, but mightie through God, to cast downe holdes)

5 Casting downe the imaginations, and every high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captiuitie every thought to the obedience of Christ.

6 And hauing ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 Looke yee on things after the appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that he is Christ, let him consider this againe of himselfe, that as he is Christ, euen so are we Christs.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lord hath giuen vs for edification, and not for your destruction, I should haue no shame.

9 This I say, that I may not seeme as it were to feare you with letters.

10 For the letters, * saith he, are soye and strong, but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech is of no valie.

11 Let such one thinke this, that such as wee are in word by letters when wee are absent, such will we be also in deed, when wee are present.

12 For wee dare not make our selues of the number, or to compare our selues to them, which praise themselves: but they understand not that they * measure themselves with themselves, and compare themselves with themselves.

13 But wee will not reioyce of things, which are not within our measure, * but according to the * measure of the line, wherof God hath distributed vnto vs a measure to attaine euen vnto you.

14 For wee stretch not our selues beyond our measure, as though wee had not attained vnto you: for euen to you also haue wee come in preaching the Gospel of Christ.

15 Not boasting of things which are without our measure: that is, of other mens labours: and we hope, when your faith shall increase to be magnified by you, according to our line abundantly, a These words his backbiters vied, thinking thereby to diminish his authoritie, as ver. 10. b As though we boasted of our felices by a carnal affliction.

c Meaning a certain man among them, which thus spoke of Paul. d He that measureth any thing must haue some line or measure to mete by, and not to measure a thing by it selfe: so these boasters must measure themselves by their worthy acts: and if they will compare with others, let them shew what countreies, what cities, and people they haue wonne to the Lord: for who will praise that souldier, which onely at the table can finely talke of warres, and when he cometh to the brunt, is neither valiant nor expert. e That is, the gifts and vocation, which God had giuen him to winne others by.

f God gaue the whole world to the Apostles to preach in, so that Paul here meaneth by the line, his portion of the countreys where he preached.
Iere. 9. 34.
1. cor. 1. 31.

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyond you: not to rejoyce in another mans line, that is, in the things that are prepared already.

17 * But let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lord.

18 For he that prayeth himselfe, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord prayeth.

CHAP. XI.

2 Hee declareth his affection towards them. 5 The excellencie of his ministerie, 9 And his diligence in the same. 13 The fetches of the false Apostles, 16 The peruerse iudgement of the Corinthians, 22 And his owne prayes.

Would to God ye could suffer a little my foolishnesse, and indeed<sup>e</sup> ye suffer me.

2 For I am ielous ouer you, with godly ielouſie: for I haue prepared you for one husband, to present you as a pure virgine to Christ:

3 But I feare lest as the * serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your mindes should be corrupt from the simplicitie that is in Christ.

4 For if hee that cometh preacheth another <sup>o</sup> Jesus then him whom we haue preached: or if yee receiue another <sup>o</sup> spirit then that which ye haue receiued: either another Gospel, then that ye haue receiued, ye might well haue suffered him.

5 Whereby I suppose that I was not inferior to the very chief Apostles.

6 And though I bee rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you we haue bene made manifest to the utmost, in all things.

7 Haue I committed an offence, because I abased my selfe, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 th robbed other Churches, and tooke wages of them to doe you service.

9 And when I was present with you and had neede, I was : not shewfull to the hinderance of any man : for that which was lacking unto mee, the brethren which came from Macedonia supplied, and in all things I kept and will keepe my selfe, that I should not * bee grievous to you.

IO <sup>k</sup> The trueth of Christ is in mee, that this reioycing shal not be shut vp against me in the regions of Achaia.

II Wherefore? because I loue you not?
God knoweth.

12 But what I doe, that will I doe:
that I may cut away occasion from them which desire 'occasion, that they might bee found like vnto vs in that wherein they reioyce.

i Hee did not onely labour with his handes for his liuing, but in his extreme pœuertie preached diligently without burdening any man, or els waxing fountfull to do his duertie to euery man. Chap. 12. 13.
 Acts 20. 34. k Let not the trueth of Chrill be thought to be in me, if I suffer my ioy to be shut vp, which I haue conceiued of Grecia.
 To flander my ministry, if I should receiue wages.

13 For such false = Apostles are deceitfull workers, and transfigure themselves into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no marvel: for Satan himself is transformed into an Angel of light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transfigure themselves, as though they were the ministers of righteousness, whose end shall bee according to their works.

16 I say againe, let no man thinke, that I am foolish: or else take me euen as a foole, that I may also boast my selfe a litle.

17 That I weake, I weake it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly, in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many reioyce • after the flesh, I will reioyce also.

19 For ye suffer fooles gladly, because that ye are wise.

20. For ye suffer even if a man bring you into bondage, if a man denoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face.

12 ¶ I ſpeake as concerning the reproch:
as though that wee had bene ⁊ weake: but whereſo any man is bolde ( I ſpeake fooliſhly)
I am bold alſo.

22 They are Chaldees, * to am I: they are Israelites, To am I: they are the seed of Abraham, to am I:

23 They are the ministers of Christ, (I speak as a fool) I am more: in labours more abundant: in stripes above measure: in prison more plentifully: in death oft.

24 Of the Jewes: five times receimed I fourtie stripes* saue one.

25 * I was thistle-beaten with roddes:
I was once stoned: I suffered thistle-shp-wacke: night and day haue I bene in the derpe sea.

26 In continuing I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine owne nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the citie, in perils in wildernesses, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren.

27 In wearinesse and painefulnesse, in watching often, in hunger, and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakednes.

28 Beside the things which are outward,
I am cumbered daily, and have the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weake, and I am not weake?
who is offended, and I burne not?

30 If I must needs reioyce, I will reioyce of mine <sup>x</sup> infirmities.

31 The God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is blessed for evermore, knoweth that I lie not.

32 In Damascus the gouernour of the people vnder King Aretas, layed watch in the citie of the Damascens, and would haue caught me.

33 But at a windowe was I let downe in a basket through the wall, and escaped his hands.

CHAP. XII.

1 He reioyceth in his preferment. 3. 7 But chiefly in his humblenesse, 11 And layeth the cause of his his boasting upon the Corinthians. 14. Hee sheweth what good will be beareth them. 20. And promiseth to come unto them.

1. It is not expedient for me no doubt, to reioyce: for I will come to vilions and reuelations of the Lord.

2. I know a man: in Christ about fouretee yeres agoone, (whether hee were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the third heauen.

3. And I know such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth)

4. Vnto that he was taken vp into Paradyse, and heard words which cannot be spoken, which are not possible for man to utter.

5. Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe will I not reioyce, except it be of mine infirmities.

6. For though I would reioyce, I should not be a foole: for I will say the truth, but I reframe lest any man should thinke of me above that becometh in me, or that he heareth of me.

7. And lest I should bee exalted out of measure, through the abundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto mee a picke in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, because I should not be exalted out of measure.

8. For this thing I besought the Lorde: that he might depart from me.

9. And he sayd vnto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weaknesse. Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may dwell in me.

10. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christs sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

11. I was a foole to boast my selfe, yee haue compelled mee: for I oughte to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferior vnto the very chiefe Apostles, though I be nothing.

12. The signes of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signes, and wonders, and great works.

13. For what is it wherein ye were inferior vnto other Churches, except that I haue not bene so slouthfull to your hindrance: forgiue me this wrong.

14. Beholde, the third time I am ready to come vnto you, and yet will I not bee slouthfull to your hindrance: for I seeke not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15. And I will most gladly bestowe, and will bee bestowd for your soules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loved.

16. But bee it that I charged you not:

yet so much as I was craftie, I took you with guile.

17. Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent vnto you?

18. I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfe same spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19. Againe, thinke ye that we exerce our selues vnto you? we speake before God in Christ. But we doe all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

20. For I feare, lest when I come, I shall not find you such as I would: and that I shall be found vnto you as such as ye would not, and lest there be strife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbiting, whisperings, swellings, and discords.

21. I feare lest when I come againe, my God abate me among you, and I shall be waste many of them which haue sinned already, and haue not repented of the uncleannesse, and fornication, and wantonnes, which they haue committed.

CHAP. XIII.

1. He threatneth the obstinate, 2. And declareth what his power is by their owne testimony.

3. Also he sheweth what is the effect of this Epistle. 11. After hauing exhorted them to their duty, he wisheth them all prosperity.

This is the third time that I come vnto you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word stand.

2. I told you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene present the second time, to write I now being absent, to them which heretofore haue sinned, and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare.

3. Seeing that yee seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in mee, which toward you is not weak, but is mighty in you.

4. For though he was crucified concerning his infirmities, yet in mee he sheweth the power of God. And wee no doubt are weak in him: but wee shall line with him, through the power of God towards you.

5. Prooue your selues whether yee are in the faith: examine your selues: know yee not your owne selues, how that Iesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6. But I trust that ye shal know that we are not reprobates.

7. Now I pray vnto God, that yee doe none euill, nor that we should seeme approued, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates.

8. For wee cannot doe any thing against the truth, but for the truth.

9. For we are glad when we are weak, and that ye are strong: this also wee wish for, even your perfection.

Thus sayd his aduersaries, that though heooke it not by himselfe, yet he did it by the means of others.

1. To go to you. Meaning, sharpe and seuerely. There was nothing whereat he so much reioyced, as when his preaching profited: and therefore he calleth the Thessalonians his glory and ioy, as also nothing did so much cast downe his heart, as when his labor did no good.

His first coming was his dwelling among them: his second was his first epistle, and now he is ready to come the third time: which three comings he calleth his three witness.

g Commit not by your negligence, that which is ordained to saluation turne to your destruction.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should use sharpenesse, according to the power which the Lord hath given me, to a confutation, and not to destruction.

11 Finally brethren, farewell: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: live in peace, and the God of loue and peace shall be with you.

12 Greete one another with an holy kiss. All the Saints salute you.

The Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Galatians.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Galatians, after they had bene instructed by Saint Paul in the truth of the Gospel, gave place to false Apostles, who entering in, in his absence corrupted the pure doctrine of Christ, and taught that the ceremonies of the Law must bee diligently obserued, which thing the Apostle so earnestly reasoneth against, that hee proueth that the granting thereof, is the overthrow of mans saluation purchased by Christ: for thereby the light of the Gospel is obscured: the conscience burdened: the testaments confounded: mans iustice established. And because the false preachers did pretend, as though they had bene sent of the chiefe Apostles, and that Paul had no authoritie, but spake of himselfe, hee proueth both that hee is an Apostle ordained by God, and also that hee is not inferior to the rest of the Apostles. Which thing established, he proceedeth to his purpose, proving that we are freely iustified before God without any workes or ceremonies: which notwithstanding in their time had their vie and commoditie: but now they are not onely vnprofitable figures, but also pernicious, because Christ the truth and the end thereof is come: Wherefore men ought now to embrace that libertie, which Christ hath purchased by his blood, and not to haue their consciences snared in the greatnesse of mans traditions: finally he sheweth wherein his liberty standeth, and what exercises appertaine thereunto.

CHAP. I.

6 Paul rebuketh their inconstancie which suffered themselves to bee seduced by the false Apostles, who preached that the obseruation of the ceremonies of the Law were necessary to saluation.
8 And detesteth them that preach any otherwise then Christ purely.
13 He sheweth his own conuersation, magnifieth his office and Apostleship, and declareth himselfe to be equall with the chiefe Apostles.

Paul an Apostle (not of men, neither by man, but by Iesus Christ, and God the Father, which hath rayled him from the dead)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace bee with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ.

4 Which gaue himselfe for our sinnes, that he might deliuer vs from this present euill world, according to the will of God, our Father.

5 To whom bee glory for euer and euer, Amen.

6 I marvelle that yee are so loone remooued away vnto another Gospel from him that hath called you in the grace of Christ.

7 Which is not another Gospel, same that there be some which trouble you, and intend to peruert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that wee, as an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwise then that which wee haue preached vnto you, let him bee accursed.

9 As wee sayd before, to say I note againe, if any man preach vnto you otherwise then that we haue receiued, let him bee accursed.

10 For as now we preach I mans doctrine, or Gods: or goe I about to please men: for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ.

11 Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the reuelation of Iesus Christ.

13 For ye haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Jewish religion, how that I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it.

14 And posited in the Jewish religion, about many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace)

16 To reueale his sonne in mee, that I should preach him among the Gentiles, immediately I communicated not with flesh and blood:

his appoyning from the mothers wombe, and thirdly, his calling. 10 Or some, Ephe. 3. 8. m That is, with any man, as though I had neede of his counsell to approue my doctrine.

17 Whether came I againe to Ierusalem, to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Ierusalem to visite Peter, & abode with him fifteene dayes.

19 And none of the other Apostles saw I, save James the Lords brother.

20 Now the things which I write vnto you, behold, I witness before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coasts of Syria and Cilicia: for I was unknowne by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard onely some say, He which persecuted vs in time past, now preacheth the faith which he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

CHAP. II.

Confirming his Apostleship to be of God, 3 He sheweth why I am not circumcised, 6 And that he is nothing inferior to other Apostles: 11 Tea, and that he hath reproved Peter the Apostle of the Iewes. 16 After he cometh to the principal scope, which is to proue that iustification cometh of the grace of God by faith in Iesus Christ, and not by the workes of the Law.

Then fourteene yeeres after, I went by againe to Ierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

2 And I went by by reuelation, and communicated with them of the Gospel, which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly with them that were the chiefe, lest by any meanes I should runne, or had runne in vaine.

3 But neither yet Titus which was with mee, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised.

4 For all the false brethren that crept in: who came in privily to steale out our libertie, which wee have in Christ Iesus, that they might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whom we gave no place by subjection for an houre, that the truth of the Gospel might continue with you.

6 And of them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (what they were in time past, it maketh no matter to mee: God accepteth no mans person) neuertheless, they that are the chiefe, did communicate nothing with me.

7 But contrariwise, when they saw that the Gospel ouer the Circumcision, was committed vnto mee, as the Gospel ouer the Circumcision was vnto Peter:

8 (For hee that was mightie by Peter in the Apostleship ouer the Circumcision, was also mightie by mee toward the Gentiles)

9 And when James, and Cephas, and John knew of the grace that was given vnto mee, which are counted to be pillars, they gaue to mee and to Barnabas the right hand of fellowship, that we should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumcision.

10 And because we were agreed by the hands of fellowship, that we should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumcision,

10 Warning only that we should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.

11 And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withstood him face to face: for he was to be blamed.

12 For before that certaine came from James, he ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himselfe, fearing them which were of the Circumcision.

13 And the other Iewes dissembled likewise with him, in so much that Barnabas was brought into their dissimulation also.

14 But when I saw that they went not the right way to the truth of the Gospel, I layd vnto Peter before all men, If thou bring a Iew, livest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why art thou constrained vpon the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 Allee which are Iewes by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles, 16 Knowe that a man is not iustified by the workes of the Law, but by the faith of Iesus Christ: euen wee, I say, have believed in Iesus Christ, that wee might be iustified by the faith of Christ, and not by the workes of the Law, because that by the workes of the Law, no flesh shall be iustified.

17 If then while wee seeke to be made righteous by Christ, we our selues are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sinne? God forbid.

18 For if I build againe the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I through the Law am dead to the Law, and that I might liue vnto God, I am crucified with Christ.

20 Thus I liue, yet not I now, but Christ liueth in me: and in that that I now liue in the flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued mee, and giuen himselfe for me.

21 I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousness be by the Law, then Christ died without a cause.

a The Law is the doctrine of Israel, as Chap. 1. 2. 3. d The false apostles taught that Christ profited nothing, except they were circumcised, and that the Law was the perfection, and Christs doctrine onely the rudiments thereunto. e And ceremonies of the Law? Gen. 15. 6. rom. 4. 3. iames 2. 23. Gen. 12. 3. eccles. 44. 20. 21. act. 3. 5. f Which thinke to be iustified by their own. Deut. 27. 26. Habak. 2. 4. rom. 1. 17. hebr. 10. 38. g The Law pronounceth not them iust, which beleue, but which worke, and so condemneth all them which in all points doe not fulfill it. Leuit. 18. 5. Deut. 27. 23. h Which is the Gospel. i I will vie a common example, that you may be ashamed to attribute lesse vnto God, then vnto such covenants, which one man maketh to another. Hebr. 9. 17. k No more is the promise or covenant of God abrogated by the Law, nor yet is the Law added to the promise to take any thing away that was superfluous, or to supply any thing that wanted. l Which declareth that the Jewes and Gentiles are both partakers of the promise, because they are ioyned in Christ, which is this blessed seed. m That sinne might appeare and be made more abundant and so all to be shut vp vnder sinne.

n Who are the children of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached? o Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the flesh? p Haue ye suffered so many things in vaine: if so be it be even in vaine. q Ye therefore that minister to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached? r Yea rather as Abraham beleueed God, and it was imputed to him for righteousness. s Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham. t For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying, * In thee shall all the Gentiles be blessed. u So then they which bee of faith, are blessed with faithful Abraham. v For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: for it is writen, * Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are writen in the booke of the Lawe, to doe them. w And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: * for the iust shall liue by faith. x And the Law is not of faith: but the man that shall doe those things, shall liue in them. y Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the Law, when hee was made a curse for vs (for it is writen, * Cursed is every one that hangeth on tree) z That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that wee might receiue the promise of the Spirit through faith. a Brethren, I speake as men doe, * Though it be but a mans covenant, when it is confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto. b Now to Abraham and his seede were the promises made. Yee sayest not, And to the seedes, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seede, as of one, which is Christ. c And this I say, that the Law which was four hundredth and thirtie yeeres after, cannot disannull the covenant that was confirmed afore of God in respect of Christ, that it should make the promise of none effect. d For if the inheritance bee of the Law, it is no more by the promise, but God gaue it vnto Abraham by promise. e Wherefore then serueth the Law? It was added because of the transgressions, till the seede came vnto the which the promise was made: and it was aduanced by Angels in the hande of a Mediator. f Now a Mediator is not a Mediator of one: but God is one. g Is the Law then against the promise of God? God forbid: for if there had bene a Law giuen which could haue giuen life, surely righteousness should haue bene by the Law. h But the Scripture hath concluded vs vnder sinne, that the promise by the faith of Iesus Christ should be giuen to them that beleue. i But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Law, and shut vp vnto the faith which should afterward be reueiled. k Wherefore the Law was our schoolmaster to bring vs to Christ, that wee might be made righteous by faith. l But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a schoolmaster. m For ye are all the sonnes of God by faith in Christ Iesus. n For all yett that are baptized into Christ, haue put on Christ. o There is neither Jewe nor Greeke: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Iesus. p And if yee be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seedes, and heires by promise. q If therefore the promise, and so through Christ both Jewes and Gentile is faulced. r Has serued wherefore the ceremonies were ordained. s Which being shadowes must ende when Christ the truth cometh. t He moueth them by certaine exhortations. u And confirmeth his argument with a strong example, or allegorie. v Then I say, that the heire as long as he is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruant, though he be lord of all. w But is vnder tutors and gouernours, vntill the time appointed of the father. x Euen so, wee when wee were children, were in bondage vnder the rudiments of the world. y But when the fullnesse of time was come, God sent forth his Sonne made of a woman, and made vnder the Law, which before he might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that we might receiue the adoption of the sonnes. z And because yee are sonnes, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Sonne into your hearts, which cryeth, Abba, Father. a Wherefore, thou art no more a seruant, but a sonne: now if thou bee a sonne, thou art also the heire of God through Christ. b Rom 8. 14. 15. c For our adoption vnto Christ is sealed by him. d He instructeth both Jewes and Gentiles to call God their Father in every language, so that none are excepted. e Which maye all see thy libertie.

n Who are the children of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached? o Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the flesh? p Haue ye suffered so many things in vaine: if so be it be even in vaine. q Ye therefore that minister to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached? r Yea rather as Abraham beleueed God, and it was imputed to him for righteousness. s Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham. t For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying, * In thee shall all the Gentiles be blessed. u So then they which bee of faith, are blessed with faithful Abraham. v For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: for it is writen, * Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are writen in the booke of the Lawe, to doe them. w And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: * for the iust shall liue by faith. x And the Law is not of faith: but the man that shall doe those things, shall liue in them. y Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the Law, when hee was made a curse for vs (for it is writen, * Cursed is every one that hangeth on tree) z That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that wee might receiue the promise of the Spirit through faith. a Brethren, I speake as men doe, * Though it be but a mans covenant, when it is confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto. b Now to Abraham and his seede were the promises made. 8 But such then, when ye knowe not God, ye did seruice vnto them, which by nature are not gods.

9 But now knowinge ye knowe God, ye as yet are knowne of God, howe cometh ye as yet vnto impotent & beggerly rudiments, wherunto as from the beginninge ye will bee in bondage againe?

10 Ye observe dayes, and moneths, and times, and yeeres.

11 I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine.

12 Bee ye as I: for I am euen as your brethren, I beseech you: ye haue not hurt me at all.

13 And ye knowe, howe throughly I infirmite of the flesh, I preached the Gospel vnto you at the first.

14 And the triall of mee which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye receiued mee as an Angel of God, yea, as Christ Iesus.

15 What was then your felicitie? For I beare you record, that if it had bene possible, ye would haue plucked out your owne eyes, and haue giuen them to me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?

17 They are ielous ouer you, amiss they, they would exclude you, that ye should altogether lose them.

18 But it is a good thing to loue earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you.

19 By little children of whom I translate in birth againe, vntill Christ bee formed in you.

20 And I would I were with you now, that I might change my voyce: for I am in doubt of me.

21 Tell me, ye that will bee vnder the Law, doe ye not heare the Law?

22 For it is written, that Abrahā had two sonnes, * one by a seruant, and * one by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the seruant, was borne after the flesh: and hee which was of the free woman, was borne by promise.

24 By the which things another thing is meant: for the two mothers * are the two Testaments, the one which is * Agar of mount Sina, which gendereth vnto bondage.

25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in y Arabia, and it answereth to Ierusalem which now is) and shee is in bondage with her children.

26 But Ierusalem, which is I about, is free: which is the mother of vs all.

27 For it is written, * Reioyce thou * harren that bearest no children: breake forth, and crye, thou that comest not: for the desolate hath many more children, than shee which hath an husband.

28 * Therefore, brethren, we are after the manner of Isaac, children of the promise.

29 But as then hee that was borne after the flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the spirit, euen so it is now.

30 But what saith the Scripture? * Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not bee heere with the sonne of the free woman.

31 Then brethren, we are not children of the seruant, but of the * free woman †

¶ He laboureth to draw them away from circuncision. ¶ And sheweth them the battell betwixt the spirit and the flesh, and the fruits of them both. ¶ And saith therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and bee not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

3 For I tellie againe to every man, which is circumsised, that hee is bound to keepe the whole Law.

4 Ye are * abolished from Christ, inso-much as ye are fulfilled by the Law, ye are fallen from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit * waite for the hope of righteousness through faith.

6 For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision anylet any thing, neither uncircumcision, but faith which worketh by loue.

1 He exhorteth them to vse gentlenesse toward the weak, 2 And to shewe their brotherly loue and modestie: 3 Also to provide for their ministers, 4 To perseuere, 5 To reioyce in the crosse of Christ, 6 To newnesse of life, 7 And last of all, whether to them with the rest of the faithful all prosperitie.

1 Brethren, if a man bee fallen by occasion into any fault, ye which are spirituall, restore such one with the spirit of meeknesse, considering thy selfe, least thou also be tempted.

2 Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfill the Law of Christ.

3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when hee is nothing, hee deceiveth himselfe in his imagination.

4 But let every man proue his owne worke, and then shall he haue reioycing in himselfe onely and not in another. 5 For every man shall beare his owne burden. 6 Let him that is taught in the word, make him that hath taught him, partaker of all his goods. 7 Be not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall hee also reape. 8 For hee that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reape corruption: but hee that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reape life everlasting. 9 Let vs not therefore be wearie of well doing: for in due season wee shall a reape, if we faint not. 10 As while wee haue therefore time, let vs doe good vnto all men, but specially vnto them which are of the household of faith. 11 See how large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hand. 12 As many as desire to make a faire shew in the flesh, they constrain you to bee circumcised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the crosse of Christ. 13 For they themselves which are circumcised, keepe not the Law, but desire to haue you circumcised, that they might reioyce in your flesh. 14 But God forbid that I should reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the world. 15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision auayleth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature. 16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shall be vpon them, and mercie, and vpon the Israel of God. 17 From henceforth let no man put mee to businesse: for I beare in my bodie the markes of the Lord Iesus. 18 Brethren, the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians.

THE ARGUMENT.

While Paul was prisoner at Rome, there entred in among the Ephesians false teachers, who corrupted the true doctrine which hee had taught them, by reason whereof hee wrote this Epistle to confirme them in that thing, which they had learned of him. And first after his salutation, hee assurcth them of saluation, because they were thereunto predestinated by the free election of God, before they were borne, and sealed vp to his eternal life by the holy Ghost, giuen vnto them by the Gospel, the knowledge of the which myserie hee prayeth God to confirme towards them. And to the intent they should not glorie in themselves, hee sheweth them their extreme miserie, misery wherein they were plunged, whereby have Christ, as people who have God & Christ, and whom the promises were made, and yet by the free mercy of God in Christ Jesus, they were saved, and have appointed to be their Apostle, as all other Gentiles: therefore he desired God to lighten the Ephesians hearts with the perfect understanding of his Son, and to refresh them likewise to be full of so great benefits, neither to be moved with the false apostles, which seek to overthrow their faith, and tread under foot the Gospel, which was not preached to them, as by chance or fortune, but according to the eternal counsel of God: who by this means only prefereth his Church. Therefore the Apostle commendeth his ministry, forasmuch as God thereby might among men, and cause them to bring forth most plentiful fruits, in innocency, without spot, without guile, pertaining to godliness. Let all of us declare that not only in general, what ought to be the life of the Christian, but also the way particularly, what things concern every mans salvation.

CHAP. I.

After his salvation, 4. He sheweth that the chief cause of their salvation standeth in the free election of God through Christ. 16. He declareth his good will toward them, giving them his praying God for their faith. 21. The majesty of Christ.

PART II. An Epistle of Jesus Christ, by the will of God, to the Saints which are at Ephesus, and to the faithful in Christ Jesus:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed bee God even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which hath blessed us with all spiritual blessing in heavenly things in Christ.

4 As he hath chosen us in him, before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy, without blame before him in love.

5 Which hath predestinated us, to be adopted through Jesus Christ unto himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will.

6 To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein with he hath made us accepted in his beloved.

7 By whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sinnes, according to his riches of grace.

8 Whereby he hath redeemed us unto himselfe, in all wisdom and understanding.

9 And hath opened unto us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he had purposed in him.

10 That in the dispensation of the fulnes of the times, he might gather together in one all things, both which are in heaven, and which are in earth, even in Christ.

11 In whom also we are chosen when we were predestinated, according to the purpose of him, which worketh all things after the counsell of his owne will.

12 That we were which first trusted in Christ, should be unto the people of his glory.

13 In whom also ye have trusted after that ye heard the word of truth, even the Gospel of your salvation, wherein also after that ye were elected, ye were sealed with the holy Spirit of promise.

14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, until the redemption of the possession, purchased by the blood.

And them which are in heaven, and them which are in earth: also the things which remaine in earth stand of the Jewes & Gentiles. Though we be redeemed from the bondage of sinne by the death of Christ, Rom. 6. 22. yet we hope for this second redemption which shall be when we shall possesse our inheritance in the same, whereof we have the holy Gospel for a pledge, at Chap. 4. 30.

chased unto the people of his glory.

15 Therefore also, after that I heard of the faith, which ye have in the Lord Jesus, and love toward all the Saints, 16 I began not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers.

17 That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ the Father of glory, might give unto you the Spirit of wisdom, and revelation through the knowledge of him.

18 That the eyes of your understanding may be lightened, that ye may know what the hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance in the Saints.

19 And what is the exceeding greatness of his power toward us, which beleeve, according to the working of his mightie power.

20 Which he wrought in us, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his right hand in the heavenly places.

5 To magnifie the grace of Christ, which is the only cause of salvation. 11 He sheweth the wicked manner of people they were, before their conversion.

18 And what they are now in Christ.

And you hath he quickened, that were dead in trespasses and sinnes,

2 Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, and after the prince that ruled in the ayre, even the spirit, that now worketh in the children of disobedience.

3 Among whom we also had our conversation in time past, in the lusts of our flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the minde, and were by nature the children of wrath, as well as others.

4 But God which is rich in mercie, through his great love wherewith he loved us,

5 Even when we were dead by sinnes, he hath quickned us: together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saved.

d We that are the members, are raised vp from death, and reign with our head Christ in heauen by faith,

6 And hath raised us by together, and made us to sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus,

7 That he might shew in the ages to come, the exceeding riches of his grace, through his kinneship toward vs in Christ Jesus,

8 For by grace are we saved through faith, and that not of our selues: it is the gift of God,

9 Not of works, lest any man should boast himselfe.

10 For we are his workmanship created in Christ Jesus vnto good workes, which God hath ordained that we should walke in them.

11 Wherefore remember that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and called vncircumcision of them, which are called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands,

12 That ye were, I say, at that time without Christ, and were aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and were strangers from the covenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 But now in Christ Jesus, ye which once were farre off, are made nether by the blood of Christ.

14 For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoy of the partition wall,

15 In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Law of commandements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one new man in himselfe, so making peace.

16 And that he might reconcile both vnto God in one body by his crosse, and slay hatred thereby.

17 And came, and preached peace to you which were asunder, and to them that were nere.

18 For through him wee both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirit.

19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the household of God,

20 And are built vpon the foundation of the Apostles & Prophets, Jesus Christ himselfe being the chiefe corner stone, 21 In whom all the building coupled together, groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whom ye also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

CHAPTER III.

1 He sheweth the cause of his imprisonment, 2 Desireth them not to faint because of his trouble, 3 And prayeth God to make them steadfast in his Spirit.

1 Of this cause, I Paul am the prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles,

2 If ye haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is given mee to you,

3 This is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this mystérie vnto mee (as I wrote above in lets words,

4 Whereby when ye read, ye may know mine understanding in the mystérie of Christ.)

5 Which in other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is now reuealed vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheritors also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel.

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God given vnto mee through the working of his power.

8 When vnto me the least of all Saints is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnspeakable riches of Christ.

9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowship of the mystérie is, which from the beginning of the world hath bene hid in God, who hath created all things by Jesus Christ.

10 To the intent that now vnto principalities & powers in heavenly places might bee knowne by the Church the manifold wisdom of God.

11 According to the eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Jesus our Lord, 12 By whom wee haue boldnesse and entrance with confidence by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory.

14 For this cause I bow my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 Of whom is named the whole familie in heauen and earth.)

16 That he might grant you according to the riches of his glory, that ye may bee strengthened by his Spirit in the inner man.

17 That Christ may dwel in your heart as by faith, that ye, being rooted and grounded in love,

18 May bee able to comprehend with all Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to know the lône of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye may bee filled with all the fullnesse of God.

20 vnto him therefore that is able to doe exceeding abundantly above all that we aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs, 21 Bee praye in the Church by Christ Jesus, throughout all generations for euer, Amen.

1 That all the graces of God may abound in you. Rom. 16.25. in that we seele Christ in vs.

CHAPTER IIIII.

1 He exhorteth them vnto meekenes, long suffering, vnto loue and peace, 3 Every one to ferue and edifie another with the gift that God hath given him, 14 To beware of strange doctrine, 22 To lay aside the old conseruation of greedy lusts & to walke in a new life.

1 Wherefore, being prisoner in the Lord, I pray you that ye walke worthy of the vocation wherunto ye are called,

2 Which

e That is in the first chap. of this Epistle, verse 9.

d Although the fathers and the Prophets had reuelations certain, yet it was not in comparison of that abundance which was shewed when the Gentiles were called, neither yet was the time nor the manner knowne.

22 As Christ, submit your selues vnto your husbands, as vnto the Lord.

23 For the husband is the head of the Church, euen as Christ is the head of the Church, and the same is the saviour of his body.

24 Therefore, as the Church is in subiection to Christ, euen so let the wifes be to their husbands in euery thing.

25 As husbands, loue your wifes, euen as Christ loued the Church, and gave himselfe for it.

26 That he might sanctifie it, & cleanse it by the washing of water through the word.

27 That he might make it vnto himselfe a glorious Church, not hauing spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy, and without blame.

28 So ought men to loue their wifes, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth himselfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his owne flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lord and hee the Church.

30 For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones.

2 Honour thy father and mother, (which is the first commandment with promise)

3 That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on earth.

4 And ye, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them vp in instruction and information of the Lord.

5 Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters, according to the flesh, with feare and trembling, in singleness of your hearts as vnto Christ.

6 Not with seruice to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the seruants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart.

7 Which good will serueth the Lord, and not men.

8 And know yee that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, that same shall hee receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

9 And yee masters, doe the same things vnto them, putting away chenting: and know that euen y<sup>e</sup> master also is in heauen, neither is there respect of persons with him.

10 Finally, my brethren, bee strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

The Epistle of Paul to the Philippians.

THE ARGUMENT.

Paul being warned by the holy Ghost to goe to Macedonia, planted first a Church at Philippi a citie of the same country: but because his charge was to preach the Gospel vniuersally to all the Gentiles, hee trauielled from place to place, till at the length hee was taken prisoner at Rome, whereof the Philippians being aduertised, sent their minister Epaphroditus with reliefe vnto him who declaring him the state of the Church, caused him to write this Epistle, wherein hee commendeth them that they stood manfully against the false Apostles, putting them in minde of his good will toward them, and exhorteth them that his imprisonment make them not to shrinke: for the Gospel thereby was confirmed and not diminished: especially hee desired them to flee ambition, and imbrace modestie, promising to send Timotheus vnto them, who should instruct them in matters more amply: yea, and that he himselfe would also come vnto them, adding likewise the cause of their ministers so long abode. And because there were no greater enemies to the crosse then the false Apostles, hee confuteth their false doctrine, by proving onely Christ to be the ende of all true religion, which whom we haue all things, and without whom we haue nothing, so that his death is our life, and his resurrection our iustification. After this follow certaine admonitions both particular and generall, with testification of his affection toward them, and thankfull accepting of their beneuolence.

CHAP. I.

1 Saint Paul discovereth his heart toward them, 3 By his thanksgiuings, 4 Prayers, 8 And wishes for their faith and saluation, 7. 12. 20. He sheweth the fruits of his cross, 15. 27. And exhorteth them to writing, 28 And patience.

And Timotheus the seruants of Iesus Christ, to all the Saints in Christ Iesus which are at Philippi, with the Bishops, and Deacons: 2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 ¶ I thanke my God, hauing you in perfect remembrance,

4 (Alwayes in al my prayers for all you, praying with gladnesse)

5 Because of the fellowship which yee haue in the Gospel, from the first day vnto now.

6 And I am perswaded of this same thing, that hee that hath begonne this good worke in you, will perfect it vntill the day of Iesus Christ,

7 As it becommeth mee to lo iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance, that both in my bonds, and in my defence and confirmation of the Gospel, you all were partakers of my grace.

8 For God is my record, how I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ,

9 And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,

10 That yee may discern things that differ one from another, that ye may be pure, and without offence, vntill the day of Christ,

11 Filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Iesus Christ vnto the glorie and praise of God.

12 ¶ I would yee understood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel,

13 So that my bonds in Christ are famous throughout all the iudgement hall, and in all other places,

14 In so much that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bonds, and dare more frankly speake the word.

15 Some preach Christ, euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bands:

17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am so for the defence of the Gospel.

18 What then? yet Christ is preached all manner wayes, whether it bee vnder a pretence, or sincerely: and I therein toy: yea, and will toy.

19 For I know that this shall turne to my saluation, through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Iesus Christ, 20 As I heartily looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so now Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For Christ is to me both in life, and in death advantage, a To live in the flesh, is to live in this brittle body, till we be called to live celestially; but to live according to the flesh, or to be in the flesh, signifies to be defiled with the filthie concupiscences of the flesh.

|| Or, body.
Epheſ. 4. 1. coloff. 1. 10. 2. theſſ. 2. 13. || Or, stand.
y The more that tyrants rage against y Gospel, the more manifestly they declare that they runne to their owne destruction, and againe, constant persueuance for Christs sake, is an euident signe of saluation. q God sheweth by this meane of bearing the crosse, who are his, and who are not. || Or, Christs cause.

22 And together to live in the flesh, were profitable for mee, and what to choole, I know not.
23 For I am greatly in doubt on both sides, desiring to be looked and to bee with Christ, which is best of all.
24 Nevertheless, to abide in the flesh, is more needfull for you.
25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith.
26 That yee may more abundantly reioyce in Iesus Christ for me, by my continuing to you againe.
27 Only let your conuersation bee, as it becometh the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else bee absent, I may heare of your matters that yee continue in your spirit, and in one minde fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.
28 And in nothing feare your adversaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and a gift of God.
29 For unto you it is given for Christ, that not onely yee should decrease in him, but also suffer for his sake.
30 Having the same fight, which yee saw in me, and now heare to be in me.

CHAP. II.

3 He exhorteth them above all things to humility, whereby pure doctrine is chiefly maintained.
19 Promising that he and Timotheus will speedily come unto them. 27 And excuseth the long tarrying of Epaphroditus.

a If yee loue me, that you desire my comfort.
b From the consent of willes and mindes he proceeded to the agreement in doctrine, that there might be full and perfect concord.
Rom. 13. 10.
c If Christ being very God equal with the Father, layd aside his glory and being Lord, became a servant, and willingly submitted himselfe to most shameful death, shall we which are nothing but vile slaves, through arrogancie tread down our brethren, and preferre our selues? d For hee that was God should haue done none iniurie to the Godhead.
Matth. 30. 28. e The poore and weak nature of man. f Hee was seene and heard of men, so that his behaviour and person declared that he was a miserable man. Hebr. 2. 3.

1 If there bee therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any compassion and mercie,
2 Fulfill my ioy, that yee be like minded hauing the same love, being of one accord, and of one iudgement,
3 That nothing be done through contention of vaine glorie, but that in meekenes of minde every man esteeme other better then himselfe.
4 Look not every man on his owne things, but every man also on the things of other men.
5 Let the same minde be in you that was in Christ Iesus.
6 Who being in the forme of God, thought it no robbery to be equal to God:
7 But he made himselfe of no reputation, and took on him the forme of a servant, and was made like unto men, and was found in shape as a man.
8 He humbled himselfe, and became obedient unto the death, euen the death of the crosse.

9 Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and given him a Name above every Name.
10 That at the Name of Iesus should every knee bow, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth.
11 And that every tongue should confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lord, unto the glory of God the Father.
12 Wherefore my beloved, as yee haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence onely, but now much more in mine absence to make an ende of your owne saluation with feare and trembling.
13 For it is God which worketh in you, both the will and the deed, euen of his good pleasure.
14 Doe all things without murmuring and reasonings.
15 That ye may be blamelesse, and pure, and the lonnes of God without rebuke in the midst of a naughty and crooked nation, among whom yee shine, as * lightes in the world.
16 Holding forth the word of life, that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine.
17 Yea, and though I be * offered by you on the sacrifice, and service of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all.
18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and reioyce with me.
19 And I trust in the Lord Iesus to send * Timotheus shortly unto you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state.
20 For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.
21 For all seeke their owne, and not that which is Iesus Christs.
22 But yee know the prooffe of him, that as a sonne with the Father, hee hath serued with me in the Gospel.
23 Him therefore I hope to send asoone as I know how it will goe with me.
24 And trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.
25 But I supposed it necessarie to send my brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companion in labour, and fellow soldier, euen your messenger, and he that ministered vnto me such things as I wanted.
26 For hee longed after all you, and was full of heavinesse, because ye had heard, that he had bene sicke.
27 And no doubt hee was sicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should haue sorrow vpon sorrow.
28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when yee should see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might bee the lesse sorrowfull.
29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such.
30 Because that for the * worke of Christ hee * was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that seruice which was lacking on your part toward me.

h Range forward in that race of righteousness wherein God hath freely placed you through Iesus Christ, and conducteth you his children by his Spirit to walke in good works, and so to make your vocation sure.

i Which may make you careful and diligent, k Which is his free grace.

CHAP. III.

2 He warneth them to beware of false teachers, 3 against whom be seteth Christ, 4 likewise himselfe, 9 and his doctrine, 23 and reprooveth many owne righteousnesse.

10 Recouer, my brethren, reioyce in the Lord. It grieveth me not to write the same things to you, and for you it is a lute thing.

11 Beware of dogs; beware of evil workers; beware of the concision.

12 For wee are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and haue no confidence in the flesh:

13 Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath wherof he might trust in the flesh, much more I:

14 Circumcised the eighth day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrewes, * by the lawe a Pharise:

15 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousness which is in the Law, I was irreuerable.

16 Yet the things that were damage vnto mee, the same I counted losse for Christ sake.

17 Yea, doubtles I thinke all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whom I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to bee dunge, that I might winne Christ.

18 And might bee found to him, wherof I haue mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, even the righteousness which is of God through faith.

19 That I may know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his afflictions, and he made conformable vnto his death.

20 If by any means I might attaine vnto the resurrection of the dead:

21 Not as though I had already attained, neither were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am comprehended of Christ Iesus.

22 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behind, and endeavour my selfe vnto that which is before.

23 And follow hard toward the marke, for the price of the high calling of God in Christ Iesus.

24 Let vs therefore as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if ye be otherwise minded, God shall reueale euen the same vnto you.

25 Wherehelesse in that whereunto wee are come, let vs proceede by one rule, * that we may minde one thing.

26 Brethren be followers of me, and looke on them, which walke so, as yee haue vs for an ensample.

27 For many walke, of whom I haue told you often, and now see you weeping, that they are the enemies of the crosse of Christ, 19 Whose end is damnation, whose God is their belly, & whose glory is to their shame, which minde earthly things.

20 But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we looke for the Saviour, euen the Lord Iesus Christ.

21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able euen to subdue all things vnto himselfe.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 He exhorteth them to be of honest conuersation, 15 and thanketh them, because of the promise that they made for him being in prison, 21 and so concludeth with salutations.

1 Therefore, my brethren, beloved and longed for, my joy and my crowne, to continue in the Lord, ye beloved.

2 I pray Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.

3 And I beseech thee, faithful fellow, helpe those women, which laboured with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow labourers, whose names are in the booke of life.

4 Reioyce in the Lord alway, againe I say, reioyce.

5 Let your patient mind be knowne vnto all men. The Lord is at hand.

6 Be nothing careful, but in all things let your requests bee shewed vnto God in prayer, and supplication, with giuing of thanks.

7 And the peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall preserve your hearts and minds in Christ Iesus.

8 Furthermore, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are iust, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any vertue, if there be any praise, thinke on these things.

9 Which ye haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and seene in me: those things doe, and the God of peace shall bee with you.

10 Now I reioyce also in the Lord greatly, that now at the last yee are resumed againe to care for me, wherein notwithstanding ye were careful, but ye lacked opportunity.

11 I speake not because of want: for I haue learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.

12 And I can bee abased, and I can abound: every where in all things I am instructed both to be full, and to be hungry, and to abound, and to haue want.

13 I am able to doe all things through the helpe of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding ye haue well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 And ye Philippians know also that in the beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me concerning the matter of giuing and receiuing, but ye onely.

The Epistle of Paul to the Colossians.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this Epistle S. Paul putteth difference betwene the liuely, effectfull and true Christ, and the fained, counterfeit, and imagined Christ, whom the false apostles taught. And first he confirmeth the doctrine, which Epaphras had preached, wishing them the increase of faith, to esteeme the excellencie of Gods benefit toward them, teaching them also that saluation, and whatsoever good thing can be desired, standeth onely in Christ, whom onely we embrace by the Gospel. But forasmuch as the false brethren would haue mixed the Law with the Gospel, hee toucheth those flatterers vehemently, and exhorteth the Colossians to stay onely on Christ, without whom all things are but mere vanitie. And as for circumsision, abstinence from meates, externall holinesse, worshipping of Angels as means whereby to come to Christ, hee vterly condemneth, shewing what was the office and nature of ceremonies, which by Christ are abrogate: so that now the exercises of the Christians stand in mortification of the flesh, newnesse of life, with other like offices appertaining both generally and particular-ly to all the faithfull.

CHAP. I.

3 He giueth thanks vnto God for their faith, 7 Confirmeth the doctrine of Epaphras, 9 Prayeth for the increase of their faith. 13 He sheweth vnto them the true Christ, and discovereth the counterfeit Christ of the false apostles. 25 He approoveth his authoritie and charge, 28 And of his faithfull executing of the same.

Paul an Apostle of IESVS Christ, by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother, 2 To them which are at Colosse, Saints and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

a Which was a citie of Phrygia.

3 We giue thanks to God euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, alwayes praying for you:

b For without Christ there is no faith to be saved by, but onely a vaine opinion.

4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Iesus, and of your loue toward all Saints,

5 For the hopes sake which is laid vp for you in heauen, whereof ye haue heard before by the word of truely, which is the Gospel.

6 Which is come vnto you, euen as it is vnto all the world, and is fruitfull, as it is also among you, from the day that ye heard and truly knew the grace of God,

7 As ye also learned of Epaphras our deare fellow servant, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ:

c Which cometh of the holy Ghost.

8 Which hath also declared vnto vs your loue, which ye haue by the spirit.

9 For this cause wee also, since the day we heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that ye might bee fulfilled with knowledge of his will, in all wisdom, and spiritual understanding,

10 That ye might walke worthy of the 22 In the body of his flesh through death, to make you holy, and unblameable, and without fault in his sight.

23 If ye continue grounded and stablished in the faith, and be not moved away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye have heard, and which have bene preached to every creature which is under heaven, whereof I Paul am a minister.
24 Now rejoyce I in my sufferings for you, and fulfill the rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his bodies sake, which is the Church.
25 Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is given me unto youward, to fulfill the word of God.
26 Which is the mystérie hid since the world began, and from all ages, but now is made manifest to his saints.
27 To whom God would make known what is the riches of his glorious mystérie among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory.
28 Whom we preach, admonishing every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus.
29 Whereunto I also labour and strive, according to his working, which worketh in me mightily.

putting off the limessall body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ.
12 In that ye are buried with him through baptism, in whom ye are also rayed up together through the faith of the operation of God which raised him from the dead.
13 And ye which were dead in sinnes, and in the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiving you all your trespasses.
14 And putting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, he even rooke it out of the way, and fastened it upon the crosse.
15 And hath spoiled the Principalities, and powers, and hath made a shew of them openly, and hath triumphed over them in the same crosse.
16 Let no man therefore condemne you in meate and drinke, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moone, or of the Sabbath dayes.
17 Which are but a shadow of things to come: but the body is in Christ.
18 Let no man at his pleasure, heere rule over you by humbleness of minde and worshipping of Angels, advancing himselfe in those things which hee neuer sawe, rashly pufft up with his fleshy minde,
19 And beholdeth not the head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by joynts and bandes, increaseth with the increasing of God.
20 Wherefore if ye bee dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, as though ye lived in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?
21 As Touch not, Taste not, Handle not:
22 Which all are perisht with the using, and are after the commandements and doctrines of men:
23 Which things have in deed a shew of wisdom, in voluntarie religion and humbleness of minde, and in not sparring the body: neither have they it in any estimation to satillie the flesh.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the Thessalonians had bene well instructed in the faith, persecution (which perpetually followed the preaching of the Gospel) arose, against the which although they did constantly stand, yet S. Paul (as most careful for them) sent Timothee to strengthen them, whoo alone at almost nothing him of their estate, gave occasion to the Apostle to confirme them by diuers arguments to bee constant in faith, and to suffer whatsoever God calleth them vnto for the testimony of the Gospel, exhorting them to declare by their godly liuing the puritie of their religion. And as the Church can neuer be so purged, that some cockle remaine not among the wheate, so there were among them wicked men, which by mouing vaine and curious questions to ouerthrow their faith, taught falsely, as touching the poynt of the resurrection from the dead: whereof he briefly instructeth them what to thinke, earnestly forbidding them to seeke curiously to know the times, willing them rather to watch, lest the sudden coming of Christ come vpon them at vnwares: and so after certaine exhortations, and his commendations to the brethren, he endeth.

3 * Without ceasing, remembering your * effectual faith, and * diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in * sight of God our Father,

4 Knowing, beloved brethren, that yee are elect of God.

5 For our * Gospel was not vnto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in much assurance, as yee knowe after what manner wee were among you for your sakes.

6 And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the word in much affliction, with * ioy of the holy Ghost,

7 So that ye were as * examples to all that beleue in Macedonia and Achaia.

8 For from you sounded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that wee neede not to speake any thing.

9 For * they themselves shewe of you what maner of entering in we had vnto you, and how yee turned to God from idols, to seruie the * liuing and true God,

10 And to looke for his Sonne from heauen, whom hee rayled from the dead, * euen Jesus which deliuereth vs from the * present wrath to come.

CHAP. II.

1 To the intent they should not faint vnder the crosse, 2 Hee commendeth his diligence in preaching, 3 And theirs in obeying, 18 He excuseth his absence, that he could not come and open his heart to them,

For ye your selues knowe, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine,

2 But euen after that wee had suffered before, and were shamefully intreated at * Philippi (as ye know) wee were bold * in our God, to speake vnto you the Gospel of God with much strutting.

3 For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by vnicleanesse, nor by guile.

4 But as we were allowed of God, that the Gospel should bee committed vnto vs, so we speake, nor as they that * please men, but God, which trieth our hearts.

5 Neither yet did wee euer bee flattering wordes, as yee knowe, nor coloured countenance, God is record.

6 Neither sought we praise of men, neither of you, nor of others.

7 When we might haue bene * chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ: but wee were gentle among you, euen as a * nourse cherisheth her children.

8 Thus being affectioned toward ye, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospel of God onely, but also our owne soules, because ye were deare vnto vs.

9 For ye remember, brethren, * our labour and trauaile: for we laboured day and night, because we would not be chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of God.

10 Ye are witnesses, and God also, howe holily, and iustly, and blameably we behaued our selues among * you that beleue.

11 As yee knowe how that wee exhorted you, and comforted, and besought euery one of you (as a father his children)

12 That yee * would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdom and glory.

13 For this cause also thanke wee God without ceasing, that when yee receiued of vs the worde of the preaching of God, yee receiued it not as the worde of men, but as it is indeede the worde of God, which also worketh in you that beleue.

14 For brethren, yee are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in * Christ Jesus, because yee haue also suffered the same things of your owne

CHAP. III.

1 He sheweth how greatly hee was affectioned towards them, both in that hee sent Timotheus to them, 10 And also prayed for them.

Vherefore since we could no longer forbear, we thought it good to re-maine at Athens alone.

2 And haue sent Timotheus our brether and minister of Gods, & our labour fellow in the Gospel of Christ, to stablish you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man should be moued with these afflictions: for ye your selues knowe, that we are appoynted thereto.

4 For verely when we were with you, we tolde you before that we should suffer tribulations, euen as it came to passe, and ye know it.

5 Euen for this cause, when I coulde no longer forbear, I sent him that I might knowe of your faith, least the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labour had bene in vaine.

6 But now lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, and that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring to see vs, as we also doe you,

7 Therefore, brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction, and necessarie through your faith.

8 For now are wee alive, if ye stand fast in the Lord.

9 For what thanks can we recompense to God againe for you, for all the way wherewith wee reioyce for your sakes before our God,

10 Night and day praying exceedingly, that wee might see your face, and might accomplish that which is lacking in your faith:

11 Nowe God himselfe, euen our Father, and our Lord Iesus Christ, giue our iourney vnto you,

12 And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in loue one towards another, and towards all men, euen as wee doe toward you:

13 To make your hearts stable, and sound in holinesse before God euen our Father, at the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ with all his Saints.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He exhorteth them to holinesse, 6 Innocencie, 9 Loue, 11 Labour, 13 And moderation in lamenting for the dead, 17 Describing the end of the resurrection.

18 Furthermore we desired you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lords Ie-sus, that ye increase more and more, as ye haue receiued of vs, how ye ought to walke, and to please God.

2 For ye know what commandments
we gaue you by the Lord Iesus.

3 For this is the will of God euen your sanctification, and that ye should abstaine from fornication,

4 That euery one of you should know, how to possess his vessel in holinesse and honour,

5 And not in the lust of concupiscence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God:

6 That no man oppresse or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is a uenger of all such things, as wee also haue tolde you before time, and testified.

7 For God hath not called vs vnto vniciansse, but vnto holinesse.

8 We therefore that despise these things, despise not man, but God who hath euen
giuen you his holy Spirit.

9 But as touching brotherly loue, ye need not that I write vnto you: for ye are taught of God to loue one another.

10 Yes, and that thing verely ye doe vnto all the brethren, which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beseech you, brethren, that ye increase more and more,

11 And that ye study to bee quiet, and to meddle with your owne businesse, and to worke with your owne handes, as wee commanded you,

12 That ye may haue your selues honestly towards them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you.

13 I would not brethren, haue you ignorant concerning them which are allepse, that ye forsooke not, euen as other which haue no hope.

14 For if we beleue that Iesus is dead, and is risen, euen so them which sleepe in Iesus will God bring with him.

15 For this say we vnto you by the word of the Lord, that we which liue, and are remaining in the coming of the Lord, shall not preuent them with sleepe.

16 For the Lord himselfe shall descende from heauen with a shoute, and with the voyce of the Archangell, and with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first.

THE ARGUMENT.

Lest the Thessalonians should thinke that Paul neglected them, because hee went to other places rather then came to them, he writeth vnto them, and exhorteth them to patience and other fruites of faith, neither to be moued with that vaine opinion of such as taught that the coming of Christ was at hand, striuing as before that day there shuld bee a falling away from true religion, euen by a great part of the world, and that Antichrist shuld reigne in the Temple of God: finally commending himselfe to their prayer, and encouraging them to constancie, he willeth them to correct such thampely, as like idlers of other mens labours, whom, if they doe not obey his admonitions, hee commandeth to excommunicate.

c By whom he declareth his might.

d As God is everlasting, so shall their punishment be everlasting: and as he is most mighty of power, so shall their punishment be most fore.

e The free beneuolence of Gods goodness, comprehendeth his purpose, his predestination and vocation: the worke of faith containeth our iustification, to the which God addeth glorification: and all these he worketh of his meere grace through Christ. f Faith is Gods wonderfull worke in vs.

4 So that were our selues ctyoyce of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience, and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye suffer.

5 Which is a token of the righteous iudgement of God, that ye may be commended worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.

6 For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you.

7 And to you which are troubled, rest with vs when the Lorde Iesus shall shew himselfe from heauen with his mighty Angels.

8 In flaming fire, rendyng vengeance vnto them that doe not know God, & which obey not vnto the Gospell of our Lorde Iesus Christ.

9 Which shall be punished with everlasting perdition, from the presence of the Lorde, and from the glory of his power.

10 When he shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marvellous in all them that beleue (because our testimonie toward you was beleueed) in that day.

11 Wherefore, wee also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthy of his calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the worke of faith with power.

12 That the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lorde Iesus Christ.

13 As the head with the body. f Faith is Gods wonderfull worke in vs.

5 Remember yet not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these things:

6 And now ye knowe what I withheld that he might be reuelled in his time.

7 For the mysterie of iniquitie doeth already worke: onely he which now withholdeth, shall let, till hee be taken out of the way.

8 And then shall the wicked man be reuelled, to whom the Lorde shall consume with the Spirit of his mouth, and shall abollish with the brightnesse of his coming.

9 Euen him whose comming is by the working of Satan, with all power and signes, and lying wonders.

10 And in all deceiuablenesse of burgherousnes, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the truerthy, that they might be saved.

11 And therefore God shall send them strong delusion, that they should beleue lies.

12 That all they might be damned, which beleueed not the truerthy, but had pleasure in burgherousnes.

13 But were ought to giue thanks alway to God for you, brethren, beloved of the Lorde, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through sanctification of the Spirit, and the faith of truerthy.

14 Whereunto hee called you by our Gospell, to obtayne the glory of our Lorde Iesus Christ.

15 Wherefore, brethren, stand fast and keepe the instructions, which ye haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Nowe the same Iesus Christ our Lorde, and our God, euen the Father which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euertlasting consolation and good hope through grace.

Furthermore, brethren, pray for vs, that the worke of the Lorde may haue free passage, and bee glorified, euen as it is with you.

2 And that wee may be deliuered from unreasonable and euill men: for all men haue not faith.

3 But the Lorde is faithful, which will stablish you, and keepe you from euill.

4 And we are perswaded of you through the Lorde, that yet both doe, and will doe the things which we command you.

5 And the Lorde guide your heartes to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

f Because the false apostles had perswaded after a sort the Thessalonians, that the day of the Lorde was nere, and in the redemption of the Church, Paul teacheth them to looke for this horrible dissipation before: and therefore rather to prepare themselves to patience then to rest and quiesce for as yet there was a let, that is, that the Gospell should be preached throughout all, Mar. 24. 14. g To wit, primly, and is therefore called a mysterie, because it is secret.

Now, wee beseech you, brethren, by the Nourishing of our Lorde Iesus Christ, and by our assembling vnto him.

2 That ye be not suddenly moued from your minde, nor troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter, as it were from us, as though by day of Christ were at hand.

11 For we heard, that there are some which walke among you inordinately, and worke not at all, but are busie bodies.

12 Therefore them that are such, we command and exhort by our Lorde Iesus Christ, that they worke with quietnes, and eate their owne bread.

13 And yet brethren, be not wearie in well doing.

14 If any man obey not our sayings, note him by a letter, * and haue no company with him, that he may be ashamed.

15 Yet count him not as an * enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

16 Now the Lorde of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lorde be with you all.

17 The salutation of mee Paul, with mine owne hand, which is the * token in every Epistle: so I write, 18 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Thessalonians, written from Athens.

¶ The first Epistle of Paul to Timotheus.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN writing this Epistle, Paul seemed not onely to haue respect to teach Timotheus, but chiefly to keepe other in awe, which would haue rebelled against him, because of his youth. And therefore he doth arme him against those ambitious questionis, which vnder pretence of zeale to the Law, disquieted the godly with foolish & vnprofitable questions, whereby they declared, that professing the Law, they knew not what was the chiefe end of the Law. And as for himselfe, he so confesseth his vniworthinesse, that he sheweth, what worthinesse the grace of God hath preferred him: and therefore hee willett prayers to bee made for all degrees and sorts of men, because that God by offering his Gospel and Christ his sonne to them all, is indifferent to euery sort of men, as his Apostleship, which is peculiar to the Gentiles witnesseth. And forasmuch as God hath left ministers as ordinary meanes in his Church to bring men to saluation, he describeth what manner of men they ought to be, to whom the myserie of the Sonne of God manifested in flesh is committed to be preached. After this he sheweth him what troubles the Church at all times shall sustaine, but specially in the latter dayes, when as vnder pretence of religion, men shall teach things contrary to the word of God. This done, he teacheth what widowers should be receiued or refused to minister to the sicke: also what elders ought to be chosen into office, exhorting him neither to be hasty in admitting nor in iudging any: also what is the duty of seruants, the nature of false teachers, of vaine speculations, of couetousnesse, of rich men, and aboute all things he chargeth him to beware of false doctrine.

CHAP. I.

3 Hee exhorteth Timotheus to waite vpon his office, namely so, as that nothing be taught but Gods word, &c. 5 Declaring that faith, with a good conscience, charity, and education are the end thereof. 10 And admonisheth of Hymeneus and Alexander.

P A U L an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the commandment of God our Saviour, and of our Lorde Iesus Christ our hope,

2 * vnto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, mercie, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Iesus our Lord.

3 As I brought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so doe, that thou mayest command some, that they teach none other doctrine.

4 Neither that they giue heede to * fables and genealogies, * which are endlesse, which breede questions rather then godly edifying which is by faith.

5 For * the ende of the commandment is loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith vnfeined.

6 From the which things some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vaine talking.

7 They would be Doctors of the Law, and yet vnderstand not what they speake, neither whereof they affirme.

8 * And we know that the Law is good, if a man vie lawfully.

9 Knowing this, that the Lawe is not giuen vnto a * righteous man, but vnto the lawlesse and disobedient, to the vngodly, and to * sinners, to the vnholie, and to the prophane, to murderers of fathers and mothers, to manslaughter, ence, neither a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the worde of God: so their doctrine which is an occasion of contention is worth nothing. ¶ Cor. Of the Law. Rom 7. 12. c Whose hearts Gods Spirit doeth direct to doe that willingly which the Law requireth: so that their godly affection is to them as a Law without farther constraint. d Such as onely delight in sinning.

CHAP. IIII.

3. He teacheth him what doctrine he ought to ſee, 6. 8. 11 and what to follow, 15 and when he ought to exerciſe himſelfe continually.

Now the ſpirit ſpeaketh evidently, that in the latter times ſome ſhall depart from the faith, and ſhall give heed unto ſpirits of error, and doctrines of devils,

2. Which ſpeake lies through hypocriſie,

5. For it is ſanctified by the worde of God, and prayer.

6. If thou put the brethren in remembrance of theſe things, thou ſhalt be a good miniſter of Jeſus Chriſt, which hath bene nourished by in the wordes of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou haſt continually followed.

7. But caſt away prophane, & old wiues fables, and exerciſe thy ſelfe unto godlineſſe.

8. For bodily exerciſe profiteth little:
 but godlineſſe is profitable unto all things, which hath the promiſſe of the life preſent, and of that that is to come.

9. This is a true ſaying, & by all meanes worthy to be received.

10. For therefore were labour and are re-ing, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14. Deſpiſe not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by propheteſſe with the laying on of the handes of the companie of the Eldership.

15. Theſe things exerciſe, & give thy ſelfe unto them, that it may be ſcene how thou proſperit among all men.

16. Take heede unto thyſelfe, and unto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou ſhalt both ſave thy ſelfe, and them that heare thee.

17. Or, that all may ſee how thou proſperit some mens sinnes follow after.

25 Likewise also the good works are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise cannot be hid.

CHAP. VI.

1 The duty of seruants toward their masters.
3 Against such as are not satisfied with the word of God. 6 Of true godlines, and commendation of mind. 9 Against couetousnes. 11 A charge giuen to Timothee.

12 As many seruants as are vnder the Looke, count their masters worthy of all honour, that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill spoken of.

2 And they which haue beleueing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather doe seruice, because they are faithfull, & beloued, & partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort.

3 If any man teach otherwise, and consented not to the wholesome wordes of our Lord Iesus Christ, & to the doctrine, which is according to godlines,

4 He is puffe up, and knoweth nothing, but doeth about questions and strife of words, wherof commeth enuie, strife, railings, euill surmising,

5 Gaine disputations of men of corrupt mindes, and belittling of the truth, which thinke that gaine is godliness: from such separate thy selfe.

6 But godliness is great gaine, if a man be content with that he hath.

7 For wee brought nothing into the worlde, and it is certaine, that we can carie nothing out.

8 Therefore when wee haue foode and raiment, let vs therewith be content.

9 For they that will bee rich, fall into tentation and snares, and into many foolish and noysome lustes, which drawe men in perdition and destruction.

10 For the desire of money is the roote of all euill, which while some lusted after, they erred from the faith, and perced themselves throug with many sorowes.

11 But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousness, god-liness, faith, loue, patience, and meekenesse.

12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay hold of eternall life, wherunto thou art allowed, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

13 I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickned all things, and before Iesus Christ, which vnder Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession,

14 That thou keepe this commandment without spot, and vnbreakeable, vntill the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

15 Which in due time he shall shew, that is blessed and prince onely, the King of kings, and Lord of lords.

16 Who onely hath immortallitie, and dwelleth in the light, that none can attaine vnto, whom neuer man sawe, neither can see, vnto whom be honour and power euerlasting, Amen.

17 Charge them that are rich in this worlde, that they bee not high minded, and that they trust not in vncertain riches, but in the liuing God, (which giueth vs abundantly all things to enioy).

18 That they doe good, & be rich in good works, and ready to distribute, and communicate,

19 Laying by in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obtaine eternall life.

20 O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed vnto thee, and auoide prophane and vaine babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called.

21 Which while some professe, they haue erred concerning the faith. Grace bee with thee, Amen.

The second Epistle of Paul to Timotheus.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Apostle being now ready to confirme that doctrine with his blood, which he had professed and taught, encourageth Timotheus (and in him all the faithfull) in the faith of the Gospel, and in the the constant and sincere confession of the same: willing him not to shrink for feare of afflictions, but patiently to attend the ill as doe husbandmen, which at length receive the fruits of their labours, and to cast off all feare & care, as soldiers doe which seek only to please their captaine: shewing him briefly the summe of the Gospel, which he preached, commanding him to preach the same to others, diligently taking heed of contentions, curious disputations, and vaine questions, to the intent that his doctrine may altogether edifie. Considering that the examples of Hymeneus and Philetus, which subverted the true doctrine of the resurrection, were so horrible: and yet to the intent that no man should bee offended at their fall, being men of authoritie and in estimation, hee sheweth that all that profess Christ are not his, and that the Church is subject to this calamitie, that the euill must dwell among the good till Gods triall come: yet hee recomfort them whom hee hath elected, euen to the ende. And that Timotheus should not bee discouraged by the wicked, hee declareth what abominable men, and dangerous times shall follow, willing him to arme himselfe with the hope of the good issue that God will giue vnto his, and to exercise himselfe diligently in the Scriptures both against the aduersaries, and for the vilitie of the Church, desiring him to come to him for certaine necessarie affaires, and to with his and others salutations endeth.

CHAP. I.

6 Paul exhorteth Timotheus to steadfastnes and patience in persecution, and to continue in the doctrine that hee hath taught him, 12 Whereof his bonds and afflictions were a gage. 16 A commendation of Onephiphorus.

Rail an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, according to the promise of life, which is in Christ Iesus.

2 To Timotheus my beloved sonne: Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from Iesus Christ our Lord.

3 I thank God, whom I serue from mine elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day,

4 Desiring to see thee, mindfull of thy teares, that I may be filled with joy:

5 When I call to remembrance the vntained faith that is in thee, which dwelleth in thy grandmother Lois: and in thy mother Eunice: and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.

6 Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stirre vp the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.

7 For God hath not giuen to vs the spirit of fear, but of power, and of loue, and of a sound minde.

8 Be not therefore ashamed of the testi-monie of our Lord, neither of mee his pui-ner: but be partaker of the afflictions of the Gospel, according to the power of God,

9 Which hath saved vs and called vs with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was giuen to vs through Christ Iesus before the worlde was.

10 But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortallitie vnto light through the Gospel.

11 Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 Therefore though I should be in paine and contemptible, yet was honourable and glorious: therefore my mindes ought to be lifted vp from the consideration of worldly things, to contemplate the maiestie thereof. 1 Tim. 2. 9.

13 For the which cause I also suffer these things, but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I haue believed, and I am persuaded that hee is able to keepe that which I haue committed to him against that day.

13 Keepe the true patencie of the whole some words, which thou hast heard of me in faith and loue which is in Christ Iesus.

14 That worthy thing which was committed to thee, keepe though the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in vs.

15 Whis thou knowest, that al they which are in Asia, be turned from mee: of which are Hygelus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord giue mercie vnto the house of Onephiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chains.

17 But when hee was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord grant vnto him that he may finde mercie with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministered vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth him to be constant in trouble, so suffer many, and to abide fast in the wholesome doctrine of our Lord Iesus Christ, 11 shewing him the falsities of Gode counsailes touching the sal-uatione of his, 19 and the manner thereof.

Thou therefore my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.

2 And what things thou hast heard of mee, the many witnesses, the same deliver to faithful men, which shall be able to teach other also.

3 Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good soldier of Iesus Christ.

4 As man that warreth entangleth himselfe with the affairs of this worlde, because he would please him, that hath chosen him to be a soldier.

5 And if any man will strice for a master, he is not crowned, except hee strice as he ought to doe.

6 The husbandman must labour before he receiue the fruites.

7 Consider what I say: and the Lord give thee understanding in all things.

8 Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seede of Dauid, was raised againe from the dead according to my Gospel:

9 Wherein I suffer trouble, as an euill dort, euen vnto bonds: but the word of God

3. 3. iude. 1. 8.

10. Therefore I suffer all things, for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternal glorie.

11 It is a true saying, For if we be dead with him, we also shall liue with him.

12 If we suffer, we shall also reigne with him: if we denie him, he also will denie vs.

13 If we beleue not, yet aduerbly hee faithfull: he cannot denie himselfe.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and wraeth before the Lord, that they strue not about wordes, which is to no profite, but to the pertructing of the hearers.

15 Studie to shewe thy selfe approued vnto God, a workman that needeth not to bee ashamed, building the way of truth aright.

16 Stay prophane and baite babblings: for they shall increase vnto more iniquitie.

17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hypocritus and Philetus, 18 Which as concerning the truth haue erred, saying that the resurrection is past already, and doe destroy the faith of certaine.

19 But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seale, The Lord knoweth who are his, and Let every one that calteth on the name of Christ, depart from iniquitie.

20 Notwithstanding in a great house are not onely vessels of golde and of siluer, but also of wood and of earth, and some for honour, and some vnto dishonour.

21 If any man therefore purge himselfe from these, he shall be a vessel vnto honour, sanctified and meete for the Lords use, and prepared vnto every good worke.

22 Flee also from the lusts of youth, and follow after righteousness, faith, loue, and peace, with them that call on the Lord with pure heart.

23 And put away foolish, and vnlearned questions, knowing that they engender strife.

24 But the seruant of the Lord must not strine, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, suffering the euill men patiently,

25 Instructing them with meeknesse that are contrarie minded, prouing if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may know the truth.

26 And if they may come to amendment put offe the time of the deuil, which are taken of him at his will.

1 For men shall be louers of their owne selves, couetous, boasters, proud, curled speakers, disobedient to parents, without thankfull, vnholly.

2 Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, despisers of them which are good.

3 Cruell, headie, he minded, louers of pleasures more then louers of God.

4 Having a shew of godlinesse, but haue denied the power thereof: turne away therefore from such.

5 For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captiue simple women laden with sinnes, and leade with diuers lustes.

7 Which women are euer learning, and are neuer able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

8 And as Iannes and Jambres with-stode Moses, so doe they also resist the truth, men of corrupt mindes, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 But they shall penalle no longer: for their madness shall be euident vnto all men, as theirs also was.

10 For thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of liuing, purpose, faith, long suffering, loue, patience.

11 Persecutions, and afflictions, which came vnto mee at Antiochia, at Iconsum, and at Lystra, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered mee.

12 Yea, and all that will liue godly in Christ Iesus, shall suffer persecution.

13 But the euill men and deceiuers shall wax worse and worse, deceiuing and being deceiued.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and art persuaded thereof, knowing of whom thou hast learned them.

15 And that thou hast known the holy Scriptures to be chiding, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation through the faith which is in Christ Iesus.

CHAP. III.

1 He prophesieth of the perillous times, 3. Serueth out hypocrites in their colours, 23. Sheweth the state of the Christians, 14. And how to auoid danger, 16. Also what profit cometh of the Scriptures.

1 His know also, that in the last dayes
I shall come perillous times.

But tasted them in all things: suffer adversitie: be the worke of an Evangelist:
make thy ministry fully known.

6 For I am now ready to bee offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I have fought a good fight, and have finished my course: I have kept the faith.

8 For henceforth to layd up for mee the crowne of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous Judge shall give me at that day: and not to me onely, but unto all them also that love his appearing.

9 Make speede to come unto me at once.

10 For Demas hath forsaken mee, and hath embraced this present world, and is departed unto Thellalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.

11 Onely Luke is with mee. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for hee is profitable unto me to minister.

12 And Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloake that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parcements.

14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done mee much evill: the Lord reward him according to his worke.

15 Of whom bee thou ware also: for hee withstood our preaching day.

16 At my first answering, no man assisted me, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not bee layd to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened mee, that by mee the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles should heare, and I was delivered out of the mouth of the Lion.

18 And the Lord will deliver mee from every evill worke, and will preserve mee unto his heavenly kingdome: to whom bee prayer for ever and ever, Amen.

19 Salute Prisca, and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus.

20 Erastus abode at Corinthus: Tro-phimus I left at Miletum sicke.

21 Make speede to come before winter.
Cubitus greetereth thee, and Pudens, & Limus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.

22 The Lord Jesus Christ be with thy spirit. Grace be with you, Amen.

The Epistle of Paul to Titus.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Titus was left in Crete to finish that doctrine which Paul had there begun, Satan stirred up certain which went about not only to overthrow the government of the Church, but also to corrupt the doctrine: for some by ambition would have thrust in themselves to be pastors: others, under pretext of Moses Law brought in many trifles. Against these two sorts of men Paul armeth Titus: first teaching him what manner of ministers be ought to chuse, chiefly requiring that they be men of sound doctrine, to the intent they might resist the adversaries, and among other things he noteth the Iewes which put a certaine holiness in meates and such outward ceremonies, teaching them which are the true exercises of a Christian life, and what things appertaine to every mans vocation. Against the which if any man rebell or else doeth not obey, he willeth him to be avoided.

CHAP. II.

5 He admonisheth Titus touching the government of the Church: 7 The ordinance and office of ministers: 12 The nature of the Cretians and of them which sow abroad Iewish fables and inventions of men.

And a servant of God, and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods elect, and the knowledge of the truth, which is according to godliness,

2 Under the hope of eternal life, which God that cannot lye, hath promised before the world began:

3 But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, whereby is mandment of God our Saviour:

ding to the common faith, grace, merite and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ our Saviour.

5 For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest continue to rebelle the things that remaine, and shouldest ordi-ne officers in every citie, as I appointed thee.

6 If any be blameable, the huswhich are not slandered of riot, neither are to filthy lucre,

goodness, mild, & righteous, holy, tem-

Beeke thou the things which become a whole some doctrine,

3 The elder women likewise, that they bee in such behauiour as becometh holynesse, not idle attires, not giuen to much wine, but teachers of honest things,

4 That they may instruct the young women to be sober mindes, that they loue their husbands, that they loue their children,

5 That they be discrete, chaste, keeping at home, good, and * subiect vnto their husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed.

6 Exhort young men likewise, that they be sober minded, 7 About all things they shew themselves as an example of good workes with vncorrupt doctrine, with grauitie, integrity,

8 And with the whole some word, which cannot be reproued, that he which will standeth, may be ashamed, hauing nothing concerning you to speake euill of.

The Epistle of Paul to Philemon.

THE ARGUMENT.

Albeit the excellencie of Pauls spirit wonderfully appeareth in other his Epistles, yet this Epistle is a great witness, and a declaration of the same. For faire passing the basenesse of his matter, hee sieth as it were vp to heauen, and speaketh with a diuine grace and maiestie. Onesimus seruant to Philemon both robbed his master, and fled away, whom Paul hauing wonne to Christ, sent againe to his master, earnestly begging his pardon, with most weightie arguments proouing the due tie of one Christian to another, and so with salutations endeth.

4 Hee reioyceth to beare of the faith and loue of Philemon, whom he desireth to forgive his seruant Onesimus, and lovingly to receiue him againe.

P A. A prisoner of Iesus Christ, & our brother Timotheus, vnto Philemon our deare friend & fellow helper, 2 And to our deare sister Apphia, and to Archippus our fellow souldier, and to the Church that is in thine house:

3 Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 I giue thanks to my God, making mention alwayes of thee in my prayers,

5 (When I heare of thy loue and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Iesus, and toward all Saints)

6 That the fellowshipp of thy faith may be made fruitfull, and that whatsoever good thing is in you through Christ Iesus, may be knowne.

7 For wee haue great ioy and consolation in thy loue, because by thee, brother, the Saints hearts are comforted.

8 Therefore, though I be very bolde in Christ to commaund thee that which is conuenient, 9 Yet for loues sake I rather beseech thee, though I be as I am, euen Paul aged, and euen now a prisoner for Iesus Christ.

10 I beseech thee for my soune Onesimus, whom I haue begotten in my bonds,

11 Which in time past was to thee vnprofitable, but now profitable both to thee and to me,

12 Whom I haue sent againe: thou therefore receiue him, that is, mine owne bowels,

13 Whom I would haue retained with me, that in thy stead hee might haue ministered vnto me in the bonds of the Gospel.

14 But without thy minde would I doe nothing, that thy benefite should not be as it were of necessity but willingly.

15 It may be that hee therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receiue him for euer, 16 Not now as a seruant, but as a seruant, euen as a brother beloued, specially to me: how much more then vnto thee, both in the flesh, and in the Lord?

17 If therefore thou count our things common, receiue him as my selfe.

18 If he hath hurt thee, or sweeth thee ought, that put on mine accounts.

19 I Paul haue written this with mine owne hand: I will recompense it, albeit I doe not say to thee, that thou owest vnto me euen thine owne selfe.

20 Psa, brother, let me obtaine this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.

21 Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowing that thou wilt doe euen more then I say.

22 Whereouer also prepare mee lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall be giuen vnto you.

23 There salute thee Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Iesus, 24 Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke, my fellow helpers.

25 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

Written from Rome to Philemon, and sent by Onesimus a seruant.

The Epistle to the Hebrewes.

THE ARGUMENT.

Forasmuch as diuers, both of the Greeke writers and Latines witness, that the writer of this Epistle for iust causes would not haue his name knowne, it were curiositie of our part to labour much therein. For seeing the Spirit of God is the author thereof, it diminisheth nothing the authoritie, although wee know not with what penne he wrote it. Whether it were Paul (as it is not like) or Luke, or Barnabas, or Clement, or some other, his chiefe purpose is to perswade vnto the Hebrewes (whereby hee principally meaneeth them that abode at Ierusalem, and vnder them all the rest of the Iewes) that Christ Iesus was not onely the redeemer, but also that at his coming all ceremonies must haue an ende: forasmuch as his doctrine was the conclusion of all the Prophecies, and therefore not onely Moses was inferior to him, but also the Angels: for they all were seruants, and hee the Lord, but so Lorde, that he hath also taken our flesh, and is made our brother to assure vs of our saluation through himselfe: for he is that eternall Priest, whereof all the Leviticall Priests were but shadowes, and therefore at his coming they ought to cease, and all sacrifices for sinne to be abolished, as he proueth from the 7. Chap. vers. 11. vnto the 12. Chap. vers. 18. Also he was that Prophet of whom all the Prophets in time past witnessed, as is declared from the 12. Chap. vers. 18. to the twentie and five verse of the same Chapter: yea and is the king to whom all things are subiect, as appeareth from that vers. 25. to the beginning of the last Chapter. Wherefore according to the examples of the olde fathers, we must con-

flantly beleue in him, that being sanctified by his iustice, taught by his wisdom, and gouerned by his power, wee may godly and religiously perseuer, euen to the ende, in hope of that ioy that is set before our eyes, occupying our selues in Christian exercises, that wee may both be thankfull to God, and dutifull to our neighbour.

C H A P. II.

1 Hee exhorteth vs to be obedient vnto the new Lawe which Christ hath giuen vs. 9 And not to be offended at the infirmities and lowe degree of Christ. 10 Because it was necessarie that for our sakes he should take such an humble state vnto him, that he might be like vnto his brethren.

W herefore we ought diligently to giue heede to the things which wee haue heard, lest at any time wee should let them slippe.

2 For if the worde spoken by Angels was stedfast, and euery transgression, and disobedience receiued a iust recompence of reward.

3 How shall we escape, if we neglect so great saluation, which at the first beganne to bee preached by the Loyde, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by them that heard him.

4 God bearing witness thereto, both with signes and wonders, and with diuers miracles and gifts of the holy Ghost, according to his owne will?

5 For he hath not put in subiection vnto the Angels the world to come, wherof we speake.

6 But one in a certaine place witnessed saying, What is man, that thou shouldst be mindful of him? or the sonne of man that thou wouldest consider him!

7 Thou makest him a little inferior to the Angels: thou crownest him with glorie and honour, and hast set him a boue the workes of thine hands.

8 Thou hast put all things in subiection vnder his feete. And in that hee hath put all things in subiection vnder him, hee left nothing that should not be subiect vnto him. 9 But we yet see not all things subdued vnto him.

9 But wee see Iesus crowned with glorie and honour, which was made a little inferior to the Angels, through the suffering of death, that by Gods grace he might taste death for all men.

10 For it became him, for whome are all things, and by whome are all things, seeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, that hee should consecrate the Prince of their saluation through afflictions.

11 For hee that sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of one; wherefore hee is not ashamed to call them brethren.

13 And againe, * I will put my trust in him. And againe, * Beholde, here am I, and the children, which God hath giuen me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children were partakers of flesh and blood, hee also himselfe likewise tooke part with them, that hee might destroy * through death, him that had the power of death, that is the deuil.

15 And that hee might deliuer all them, which for feare of * death were all their life time subiect to bondage.

16 For hee in no sort tooke the Angels, but hee tooke the seede of Abraham.

17 Wherefore in all things it became him to be made like vnto his brethren, that hee might be mercifull, and a faithful high Priest in things concerning God, that hee might make reconciliation for the finnes of the people.

18 For in that hee * suffered, and was tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

19 Forasmuch as he is exercised in our miseries, we may be assured, that at all times in our tentations he will succour vs.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee requirerh them to be obedient vnto the worde of Christ, 3 Who is more worthy then Moses, 12 The punishment of such as wil harden their hearts, and not beleue, that they might haue eternall rest.

Therefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly vocation, * consider the Apostle and high Priest of our * profession, Christ Iesus:

2 Who was faithful to him that hath appointed * him, euen as * Moses was in all his house.

3 For this man is counted worthy of more glory then Moses, in as much as hee which hath builded the house, * hath more honour then the house.

4 For every house is builded of some man, & he that hath built all things, is * God.

5 Nowe Moses verely was faithful in all his house, as a seruant, for a witness of the things which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Sonne, ouer his owne house, whose house we are, if we hold fast the confidence, and the reioycing of the hope vnto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost sayeth, * To day if ye shall heare his voyce,

8 Harden not your heartes, as in the * pronocation, according to the day of the temptation in the wilderness.

9 Where your fathers tempted mee, prouened mee, and saw my workes fourtie yeeres long.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and sayde, They erre ener in their heart, neither haue they knowen my wayes.

11 Therefore I swaie in my wrath, * If I will put my power, f For in obeying the Sonne, we are made the house of God, Psal 95.7.8. chap. 4.7. g As when yee provoked Gods anger in Massa and Meriba, Exo. 17.7. h Meaning, that they should not enter.

they shall enter into my rest.

12 Take heede, brethren, lest at any time there be in any of you an euill heart, and disobedient, to depart away from the liuing God.

13 But exhort one another dayly, while it is called * To day, least any of you bee hardened through the deceitfulness of sinne.

14 For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe liue vnto the * ende the * beginning, wherewith we are hypothiden, 15 So long as it is sayd, * To day if yee heare his voyce, harden not your heartes, as in the pronocation.

16 For some when they heard, prouoked * him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whom was hee displeased fourtie yeeres: was hee not displeased with them that sinned, * whose * hartkesies fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whome swaie hee that they should not enter into his rest, but vnto them that obeyed not?

19 So wee see that they could not enter in, because of vnbelieve.

CHAP. IIIII.

3 The worde without faith is vnprofitable. 3 The Sabbath or rest of the Christians. 6 Punishment of vnbeleueers. 12 The nature of the word of God.

Et vs feare therefore, lest at any time by forsaking the promise of entering into his rest, any of you should seeme to bee deuipted.

2 For vnto vs was the Gospel preached as also vnto them: but the worde that they heard, profited not them, because it was not * mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 For we which haue beleued, doe enter into rest, as hee sayde to the other, * As I haue swayne in my wrath, If * they shall enter into my rest: although * the workes were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For hee spake in a certaine place of the seuenth day on this wise, * And God did rest the seuenth day from all his workes.

5 And in this place againe, It they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter therinto, and they to whome it was first preached, entered not therein for vnbeliefes sake:

7 Againe he appointed in * Dauid a certaine day by * To day, after so long a time, saying, as it is sayd, * This day if ye heare his voyce, harden not your heartes.

8 For if * Iesus had giuen them rest, then would hee not after this day haue spoken of another.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

11 Let vs study therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of disobedience.

12 For the worde of God is liuely, and mighty in operation, and sharper then any two edged sword, and is entred through euen vnto the deuinding asunder of the soule and the spirit, and of the ioynts, and the marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, & with whom we haue to do.

14 Seeing then that we haue a great hie Priest, which is entred into heauen, euen Iesus the Sonne of God, let vs holde fast our profession.

15 For we haue not an hie Priest, which cannot bee touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne.

16 Let vs therefore goe boldly vnto the throne of grace, that we may receiue mercy, and find grace to helpe in time of need.

CHAP. V.

5 He compareth Iesus Christ with the Levitical Priests, shewing wherein they either agree, or dissent. 11 Afterward he reprooueth the negligence of the Iewes.

1 Every high Priest is taken from among men, and is ordained for men, in things pertaining to God, that hee may offer both gifts, and sacrifices for sinnes.

2 Which is able sufficiently to haue compassion on them, that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that hee also is compassed with infirmity.

3 And for the same sake hee is bound to offer for sinnes, as well for his owne part, as for the peoples.

4 And no man taketh this honour vnto himselfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So likewise Christ tooke not to himselfe this honour, to be made the hie Priest, but hee that sayd vnto him, Thou art my sonne, this day begate I thee, gaue it him.

6 As hee also in another place speaketh, Thou art a Priest for euer after: the order of Melchisedec.

7 Which in the dayes of his flesh did offer by prayers and supplications, with strong crying and teares vnto him, that was able to saue him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though hee were the sonne, yet learned hee obedience, by the things which he suffered.

9 And being consecrate, was made the author of eternall saluation vnto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an hie Priest after the order of Melchisedec.

11 Of whom wee haue many things to say, which are hard to be vttered, because wee are dull of hearing.

12 For when as concerning the time ye ought to bee teachers, yet haue ye neede againe that we teach you the first principles of the worde of God: and are become such as haue neede of milke, and not of strong meate.

13 For every one that useth milke, is ignorant in the worde of righteousness: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custome haue their wittes exercised, to discerne both good and euill.

CHAP. VI.

1 He proceedeth in reproving them, and exhorteth them not to faint. 12 But to be steadfast & patient, 18 sheweth much as God is sure in his promise.

1 Therefore leaving the doctrine of the beginning of Christ, let vs be led forward vnto perfection, not laying againe the foundation of repentance from dead workes, and of faith toward God.

2 Of the doctrine of baptisme, and laying on of hands, & of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternall iudgement.

3 And this will we doe if God permit.

4 For it is impossible that they, which were once lightened, and haue tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost,

5 And haue tasted of the good worde of God, & of the powers of the world to come,

6 If they fall away, should be renewed againe by repentance: seeing they crucified againe to themselves the Sonne of God, and make a mocke of him.

7 For the earth which drinketh in the faine that commeth out vpon it, and bringeth forth herbes meete for them by whom it is dyed, receiveth blessing of God.

8 But that which beareth thornes and briers, is reproued, & is neere vnto cursing, whose ende is to be burned.

9 But beloued, wee haue perswaded our selues better things of you, and such as accompany saluation, though we thus speake.

10 For God is not vnrighteous, that hee should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which ye liued toward his flame, in that ye haue ministered vnto the Saints, and yet wither.

11 And wee desire that every one of you shew the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the ende.

12 That ye be not slouthfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherite the promises.

13 For when God made the promise to Abraham, because hee had no greater to sweare by, hee swore by himselfe.

14 Saying, Surely I will abundantly bless thee and multiply thee marvellously.

15 And so after that hee had taried patiently, he enjoyed the promise.

confirmation is among them an ende of all strife.

17 So God willing more abundantly to shewe vnto the bettes of promise the stability of his counsel, bound himselfe by an oth.

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is impossible that God should lie, wee might haue strong consolation, which haue our refuge to hold fast the hope that is set before vs.

19 Which wee haue, as an ancre of the soule, both sure and stedfast, and it is entred into that which is within the vaile.

20 Whither the forerunner is for vs entred in, euen Iesus that is made an high Priest for euer after the order of Melchisedec.

1 Which is heauen, whither Christ is gone before to prepare vs a place.

CHAP. VII.

1 Hee compareth the Priesthood of Christ vnto Melchisedec, 11 Also Christs Priesthood with the Lawes.

For this Melchisedec was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as hee returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and blessed him.

2 To whome also Abraham gaue the tithes of all things, who first is by interpretation King of righteousness: after that, hee is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace.

3 Without a father, without mother, without kindred, and hath neither beginning of his day, nor end of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, and continueth, a Priest for euer.

4 Now consider how great this man was vnto whom euen the Patriarch Abraham gaue the tithes of the spoiles.

5 For verily they which are the children of Leui, which receiue the office of the Priesthood, haue a commandement to take according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But hee whose kindred is not counted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And without al contradiction, the lesse is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receiue tithes: but there he receiue them, of whom it is testified, that he is liue.

9 And to say as the thing is, Leui also which receiue tithes, payed tithes in Abraham.

10 For hee was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham, when Melchisedec mette him.

11 If therefore perfection had bene by the Priesthood of the Leuites (for vnder it the Lawe was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 For if the Priesthood bee changed, then of necessity must there bee a change of the Law,

13 For hee of whom these things are spoken, pertaineth vnto another tribe, wherof no man serued at the altar.

14 For it is euident, that our Lord sprung out of Iuda, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood.

15 And it is yet a more euident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchisedec, there is risen by another Priest.

16 Which is not made Priest after the Lawe of the carnall commandement, but after the power of the endless life.

17 For hee testifieth thus, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchisedec.

18 For the commandement that went afore, is disannulled, because of the weakness thereof, and vnpassableness.

19 For the Law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfect, whereby we draw neere vnto God.

20 And so much as it is not without an othe (for these are made Priests without an othe):

21 But this, hee is made with an othe by him that sayde vnto him, The Lord hath sware, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchisedec.

22 But so much is Iesus made a suretie of a better Testament.

23 And among them many were made Priests, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.

24 But this man, because he endureth euer, hath an euertlasting Priesthood.

25 Wherefore, he is able also perfectly to saue them that come vnto God by him, seeing hee euer liueth, to make intercession for them.

26 For such an hie Priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmlesse, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heauens:

27 Which needed not daily as those hie Priests to offer by sacrifice, first for his owne finnes, & then for the peoples: for that doth he once, when he offered by himselfe.

28 For the Lawe maketh men hie Priests, which haue infirmities: but the word of the othe that was since the Law, maketh the Sonne, who is consecrated for euermore.

was first made after the Law was giuen: but because the declaration of that eternall othe was then reueiled vnto the world.

CHAP. VIII.

6 He proueth the abolishing aswell of the Leuiticall Priesthood, as of the old Covenants by the spiritual and euertlasting Priesthood of Christ, And by the New covenant.

Now of the things which were haue spoken, this is the summe, that wee haue such an hie Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maiestie in heauens,

2 And is a minister of the Sanctuary, and

g. The Law and the Priesthood are both of one condition: so that both Aarons and Moses office pertaine to Christ, which is Priest and Lawmaker.

k Therefore all others are blasphemous that either make themselves his successors, or pretend any other sacrifice.

l The fruit of his Priesthood is to saue, and that fully and perfectly, not by supplying that that wanteth, but by taking away the Law, which is vnperefect by reason of our infirmities.

and of the true Tabernacle, which the Lord vouchsafed, and not man.

3 For every high Priest is ordeined to offer both gifts & sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessity, that this man should haue somewhat also to offer.

4 For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priests that according to the Law offer gifts.

5 As he serue vnto the paterne & shadow of heavenly things, as Moyses was warned by God, when hee was about to finish the Tabernacle. * See, said he, that thou make all things according to the paterne shewed to thee in the mount.

6 But now our hie Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, in as much as he is the Mediator of a better Testament, which is established vpon better promises.

7 For if that first Testament had bene faultlesse, no place should haue bene sought for the second.

8 * For in rebuking them he saith, * Behold, the dayes will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iuda a new Testament.

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I will bee their God, and they shall be my people.

11 And they shall not teach euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know mee, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will bee mercifull to their inrighteousnesse, and I will remember their finnes and their iniquities no more.

13 In that hee saith a new Testament, hee hath abrogate the olde: nowe that which is disannulled and wared olde, is ready to vanishe away.

14 For where a Testament is, there must bee the death of him that made the Testament.

15 And for this cause is he the Mediator of the new Testament, that through death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called might receiue the promise of eternall inheritance.

16 For where a Testament is, there must bee the death of him that made the Testament.

17 * For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is alieue.

18 Wherefore, neither was the first ordeined without blood.

20 Wherefore, neither was the first ordeined without blood.

about with golde, wherein the golden potte which had Manna was, and * Aarons rod that had budded, and the * Tables of the Testament.

5 * And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the Mercie seat: of which things we will not now speake particularly.

6 Now when these things were thus ordeined, the Priests went alwaies into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the seruice.

7 But into the second went the high Priest alone, once euery yeere, not without blood which hee offered for himselfe, and for the ignorances of the people.

8 Whereby the holy Ghost: this signified, that the way into the holiest of all was not yet opened, whyles as yet the first tabernacle was standing,

9 Which was a figure for the time present, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the seruice.

10 Which only stood in meats & drinkes, and in washings, and carnall rites, vntill the time of reformation.

11 But Christ being come an hie Priest of good things to come, by a greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of this building, 12 Neither by the blood of goates and calves: but by his owne blood entered hee in once vnto the holy place, and obtained eternall redemption for vs.

13 * For if the blood of buls & of goates, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are vncleane, sanctifieth as touching the purifying of the flesh,

14 How much more shall the blood of Christ, which through the eternall spirit offered himselfe without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works, to serue the liuing God?

15 And for this cause is he the Mediator of the new Testament, that through death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called might receiue the promise of eternall inheritance.

16 For where a Testament is, there must bee the death of him that made the Testament.

17 * For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is alieue.

19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to the people, according to the Law, he took the blood of calves and of goats, with water and purple wool and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book, and all the people, 20 * Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed unto you.

21 Moreover, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministering vessels.

22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessary, that the similitudes of heavenly things should be purified with such things: but the heavenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices than are these.

24 For Christ is not entered into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuary: but is entered into very heaven, to appear now in the sight of God for us,

25 Not that he should offer himself: often, as the high Priest entered into the holy place every year with other blood,

26 (For then must he have often suffered the foundation of the world): but now in the end of the world hath he appeared once to put away sinne, by the sacrifice of himself.

27 And as it is appointed unto men that they shall once die, and after that cometh the judgement, 28 So * Christ was once offered to take away the sinnes of many, & to do them that look for him, that he appear the second time without sinne unto salvation.

CHAP. X.

1 The old Lawe had no power to cleanse away sinne, 10 but Christ did it with offering of his body once for all. 22 An exhortation to receive the goodness of God thankfully, with patience & stedfast faith.

23 The Law having the shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the consciences therunto,

2 For would they not then have ceased to haue bene offered, because that the offerers once purged, should haue had no more conscience of sinnes?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes every yeere.

4 For it is impossible that the blood of buls and goats should take away sinnes.

5 Wherefore when hee cometh into the world, he saith, * Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not: but a body hast thou ordained me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I say, Lo, I come, (In the beginning of the which book it is written of mee,) to obey thee, which both tend to one purpose, & Or, and folding: for in old time they used to fold books like rolls.

that I should do thy will, O God.

8 About when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and sinne offerings, thou wouldest not have, neither hast pleasure therein (which are offered by the Law)

9 Then sayd he, Lo, I come to doe thy will, O God, he taketh away the first, that he may establish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, even by the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once made.

11 And every Priest appeareth dayly ministering, and oft times offereth one manner of offering, which can never take away sinnes:

12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, * sitteth for euer at the right hand of God, 13 And from henceforth waiteth till his enemies be made his footstool.

14 For with one offering hath he consecrated for euer them that are sanctified.

15 For the holy Ghost also beareth vs record: for after that he had sayd before,

16 * This is the Testament that I will make unto them, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my lawes in their heart, and in their mindes I will write them.

17 And their sinnes and iniquities will I remember no more.

18 Now where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for sinne.

19 Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Jesus we may be bold to enter into the holy place,

20 By the new, and not by the old way, which he hath prepared for vs, through the vail, that is, his flesh:

21 And seeing we haue an high Priest, which is ouer the house of God,

22 Let vs draw neere with a true heart in assurance of faith, * sprinkled in our hearts from an euill conscience, and washed in our bodies with pure water.

23 Let vs keepe the profession of our hope, without wavering (for hee is faithful that promised)

24 And let vs consider one another, to provoke unto loue, and to good workes,

25 Not forsaking the fellowship that we haue among our selues as the manner of some is: but let vs exhort one another, and that so much the more, because ye see that the day draweth neere.

26 * For if we sinne willingly after that wee haue receiued the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sinnes, 27 But a fearful looking for of judgement, and violent fire, which shall consume the adulteraries.

28 Hee that despiseth Moses lawe, dieth without mercy * under two or three witnesses.

CHAP. XI.

1 What faith is, and a commendation of the same. 2 Without faith we cannot please God, 16 The steadfast beliefs of the fathers in old time.

NOW faith is the ground of things which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene.

2 For by it our Elders were well reported of.

3 * Through faith wee vnderstand that the world was ordeined by the word of God, so that the things which wee see, are not made of things, which did appeare.

4 By faith Abel * offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by the which he obtained witness that he was a righteous, God testifying of his giftes: by the which faith also, he being dead, yet * speaketh.

5 By faith was * Enoch taken away, that he should not see death: neither was he founde: for God had taken him away: for because he was taken away, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.

6 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for hee that cometh to God, must beleue that God is, and that hee is a rewarder of them that feare him.

7 By faith * Isaac being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, smooued with reuerence, prepared the Altar to the sauing of his household, though the which Altar he condemned the world, & was made betre of the rightcouesnes, which is by faith.

8 By faith * Abraham, when he was called, obeyed God, to go out vnto a place, which he should afterward receiue for inheritance, and he went out, not knowing whither they went.

9 By faith he abode in the lande of promise, as in a strange country, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Jacob betres with him of the same promise.

10 For hee looked for a citie having a foundation, whose builder & maker is God. 11 Through faith * Sara also receiued strength to conceive, and was deliuered of a childe when shee was past age, because shee iudged him faithfully which had promised.

12 And therefore sprang there of one, even of one which was dead, so many as the starres of the heaue in multitude, and as the sand of the sea shore which is unnumerable.

13 All these died in faith, and * receiued not the promises, but saw them a farre off, and beleueed them, and receiued them thankfully, & confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.

14 For they that say such things, declare plainly that they seeke a country.

15 And if they had bene mindful of that country, from whence they came out, they had leisure to haue returned.

16 But now they desire a better, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed of them to be called their God: for hee hath prepared for them a citie.

17 By faith * Abraham offered by Isaac, when he * was tryed, and he that had receiued the promises, offered his onely begotten Sonne.

18 (To whom it was said, In Isaac shall thy seed be called.)

19 For he considered that God was able to raise him vp even from the dead: from whence he receiued him also after a sort.

20 By faith, * Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau, concerning things to come.

21 By faith, * Jacob when he was a dying, blessed both the sonnes of Joseph, and * leaning on the end of his staffe, worshipped God.

22 By faith * Joseph when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel, & gaue commandement of his bones.

23 By faith Moses when he was borne, was hid three moneths of his parents, because they saw he was a proper childe, neither feared they the Kings * commandement.

24 By faith * Moses when he was come to age, refused to be called the sonne of Pharaohs daughter,

25 And chose rather to suffer aduersitie with the people of God, then to enioy the pleasures

CHAP. XIII.

1 He exhorteth vs vnto love, 2 To hospitality, 3 To thinke vpon such as be in aduersity, 4 To maintaine wedlocke, 5 To auoid contention, 7 To make much of them that preach Gods word, 9 To beware of strange learning, 13 To be content to suffer rebuke wnto our governors.

2 Be not forgetful to lodge strangers: for thereby some haue receiued Angels into their houses vnto us.

3 Remember them that are in bonds, as though ye were bound with them: and them that are in affliction, as if ye were also afflicted in the body.

4 * Marriage is honourable among all, and the bed vndefiled: but whosoemongers and adulterers God will iudge.

5 Let your conversation be without guile, & be content with those things that ye haue: for * he hath sayd, * I will not false thee, neither will I deceiue thee.

6 So that we may boldly say, * The Lord is mine helper, neither will I feare what man can do vnto me.

7 Remember them which haue the oversight of you, which haue declared vnto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering what hath bene the ende of their conuersation.

8 Jesus Christ: yesterday, and to day, the same also is for euer.

9 Be not caried about with diuers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be stablished with grace, and not with * meates, which haue not polluted them that haue bene occupied therein.

10 We haue an altar, whereof they haue no authority to eat, which serue in the tabernacle.

11 * For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the holy place by the high Priest for sinne, are burnt without the campe.

12 Therefore euen Jesus, that he might sanctifie the people with his owne blood, suffered without the gate.

13 Let vs go forth therefore out of the campe, bearing his reproch.

14 * For here wee haue no continuing citie: but we seeke one to come.

15 Let vs therefore by him offer the sacrifice of praye alwayes to God, that is, the * fruite of the lippen, which confess his name.

16 To do good, and to distribute, forget not: for with such sacrifices God is pleased.

17 Obey them that haue the oversight of you, and submit your selues: for they watch for your soules, as they that must giue accounts, that they may doe it with ioy, and not with griefe: for that is impossible for you.

18 Hear for vs: for wee are assured that wee haue a good conscience in all things, desiring to liue honestly.

19 And I desire you somewhat the more earnestly, that ye do, that I may be restored to you more quickly.

THE ARGVMENT.

IAMES the Apostle and sonne of Alphewrote this Epistle to the Jewes which were conuerred to Christ, but dispersed through diuers countreys, and therefore hee exhorteth them to patience and prayer, to embrace the true worde of God, and not to be partiall, neither to boaste of an idle faith, c He was, in, and shall be the foundation of the Church for euer.

d Whatsoever doctrine is not according to the simple truth of Gods word, is strange.

e By repressing them which flourish perfectly pure difference between meate, he condemneth all the seruice which stood in ceremonies, comparing it with the spiritual worshiping and regeneration.

f They that liue to the ceremonies of the Law, cannot see, that is, cannot be partakers of our altar, which is, thanksgiving and liberality, which two sacrifices or offerings are now only left to the Christians.

faith, but to declare a true faith by lively fruites, to moude ambition, to bridle the tongue, to rule the affections, to be humble and loue their neighbours, to beware of swearing, to vnder their faults which they haue offended, to pray one for another, and to bring him which is out of the way, to the knowledge of Christ.

C H A P. I.

3 He exhorteth to reioyce in trouble, 6 To be fervent in prayer with stedfast desires, 19 To looke for all good things from above, 21 To forsake all vice, and thankfully to receive the words of God, 22 Not onely hearing it, and speaking of it, but to doe thereafter, 27 What true religion is.

Ames a servant of God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ, to the riuellie Tribes which are scattered abroad, saluation. 2 O hearken, count it exceeding joy, when yee fall into diuers tentations.

3 * Knowing that the * trying of your faith bringeth forth patience.

4 And let patience haue her * perfect worke, that yee may be perfect and entire, lacking nothing.

5 If any of you lacke * wisdom, let him aske of God, which giveth to all men liberally, and reprobeth no man, and it shall be giuen him.

6 * But let him aske in faith, and haue not: for he that mouereth, is like a waue of the sea, tost of the winde and caried away.

7 Whether let that man thinke that hee shall receive any thing of the Lord.

8 A * * * * * manning minded man is unstable in all his wayes.

9 Let the brother of loyn degree reioyce in that he is * * * * * :

10 Against hee that is rich, in that he is made * * * : for as the flowers of the grasse shall be * * * * * away.

11 For as when the sunne riseth with heat, then the grasse withereth: and his flower falleth away, and the beautie of the fashion of it is perished: even so shall the rich man fade away in all his wayes.

12 * Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that loue him.

13 Let no man say when he is * * * * * , I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man.

14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away by his owne concupiscence, and is enticed.

15 When lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 Therefore beare withereth.

17 Every good * * * * * , and every perfect gift is from above, & cometh downe from the Father of light, with whom is no variablenesse, neither shadowing by turning.

18 If his owne will begate be vs with the word of crosse, that wee should be as the first fruites of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my beare brethren, * let every man be * * * * * to heare, slow to speake, Prov. 17. 27. k That is, prompt to learne.

and * * * * * to impart.

20 For the wrath of man beeth not accomplishe: the righteousness of God.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthinesse, and superfluitie of malitiousnes, and receive with meekenesse the word that is * * * * * in you, which is able to saue your soules.

22 * And be ye doers of the word, and not hearers onely, deceiuing your owne selves.

23 For if any heare the word, and doe it not, he is like vnto a man, that becometh his naturall face in a * * * * * .

24 For when he hath considered himselfe, he goeth his way, and forgetteth immediately what manner of one he was.

25 But who lo looketh in the perfect Law of libertie, and continueth therein, hee not being a forgetful hearer, but a doer of y word, shall be blessed: in his deede.

26 If any man among vs seemeth religious, and restraineth not his tongue, but deceiveth his owne heart, this mans religion is haire.

27 Pure religion is undefiled before God, when the Father, is this, to visite the fatherlesse and widowes in their affliction, and to keepe himselfe unpolluted of the world.

C H A P. II.

1 He forbiddeth to haue any respect of persons, 5 But to regard the poore as well as the rich, 8 To be loving and mercifull, 12 And not to boast of faith, where no deedes are: 17 For it is but a dead faith, where good workes follow not.

My brethren, haue not the faith of our glorious Lord Iesus Christ: in respect of persons.

2 For if there come into your company a man with a gold ring, and in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poore man in vile raiment,

Lawe, and yet faileth in one point, he is guilty of all.

11 For he that saith, Thou shalt not commit adultery, said also, Thou shalt not kill. Showe though thou dost none adultery, yet if thou killest, thou art arraignable of the Law.

12 So speake yet, and so doe, as they that shall be judged by the Law of libertie.

13 For there shall be iudgement mercilesse to him that sheweth no mercie, and mercie is reioyceth against iudgement.

14 What availeth it, my brethren, though a man saith he hath faith, when he hath no workes: can the faith saue him?

15 For if a brother or a sister bee naked and destitute of dayly food,

16 And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace: warme you selves, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding ye giue them not those things which are needfull to the body, what helpeth it?

17 Euen so the faith, if it haue no workes, is dead in it selfe.

18 But some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I haue workes: shew me thy faith out of thy workes, and I will shew thee my faith by my workes.

19 Thou believest that there is one God: thou doest well: the devils also beleue it, and tremble.

20 But wilt thou vnderstand, O thou baine man, that the faith, which is without workes, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father iustified through workes, when he offered Isaac his sonne vnder the altar?

22 Seest thou not that the faith wrought with his workes, and through the workes was the faith made perfect?

23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham beleueed God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse: and he was called the friend of God.

24 Seest thou how that of workes a man is iustified, and not of faith only.

25 Likewise also was not Rahab the harlot iustified through workes when she had receiued the messengers, and sent them out another way?

26 For as the bodie without the spirit is dead, euen so the faith without workes is dead.

1 So that faith was not idle. m The more his faith was declared by his obedience and good workes, the more was it known to men to be perfect, as the goodnesse of a tree is known by her good fruites, otherwise no man can haue perfection in this world: for euery man must pray for remission of his finnes, and increase of faith.

CHAP III.

1 He forbiddeth all ambition to seeke honour about our brethren. 3 He describeth the properties of the tongue. 15. 16. And what difference there is betwixt the wisdom of God, and the wisdom of the world.

My brethren, be not many masters, knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things we haue sinned all. If any man sinne not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bide all the body.

3 Behold, we put bits into the horses mouths, that they should obey vs, and we turne about all their bodie.

4 Behold also the ships, which though they bee so great, and are driven of fierce windes, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whither soeuer the gouernour listeth.

5 Euen so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth of great things: behold, how great a thing a little fire kindleth.

6 And the tongue is fire, yea, a world of wickednesse: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole bodie, and setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

7 For the whole nature of beasts, and of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath bene tamed of the nature of man.

8 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an unruly euil, full of deadly poyson.

9 Wherewith blest we God, euen the father, and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God.

10 Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

11 Doeth a fontaine send forth at one place sweete water and bitter?

12 Can the fig tree, my brethren, bring forth olives, either a vine figs: so can no fontaine make both salt water and sweete.

13 Likewise is a wilde man and endued with knowledge among you: let him shewe by good conversation his workes in meekenesse of wisdom.

14 But if ye haue bitter envying, and strife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither be ioyous against the crocets.

15 This wisdome descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensuall, and deuillish.

16 For where envying and strife is, there is sedition, and all manner of euill workes.

17 But the wisdome that is from above, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easie to be entreated, full of mercie and good fruites, without iudging, and without hypocrisy.

18 And the fruites of righteousnesse is sown in peace, of them that make peace.

CHAP III.

THE ARGUMENT.

He exhorted the faithful to denie themselves, and to contemne the world, that being delivered from all carnall affections and impediments, they may more speedily attaine to the heavenly kingdom of Christ, whereunto we are called by the grace of God revealed to vs in his Sonne, and haue already received it by faith, possessed it by hope, and are therein confirmed by holines of life. And to the intent this faith should not faile, seeing Christ contemned and reiected almost of the whole world, hee declareth that this is nothing els but the accomplishing of the Scriptures which testifie that hee should be the stumbling stone to the reprobate, and the sure foundation of saluation to the faithful: therefore he exhorted them courageously to goe forward, considering what they were, and to what dignitie God hath called them. After, he entreateth particular points, teaching subiects how to obey their gouernours, and seruants their masters, and how married folkes ought to behaue themselves. And because it is appointed for all that are godly to suffer persecutions, he sheweth them what good issue their afflictions shall haue, and contrariwise what punishment God reserveth for the wicked. Last of all, he teacheth how the ministers ought to behaue themselves, forbidding them to vsurpe authoritie ouer the Church: also that young men ought to be modest, and apt to learne, and so endeth with an exhortation.

CHAP. I.

1 He sheweth that through the abundant mercy of God we are elect & regenerate to a liuely hope, 7 and how faith must be tried. 10 that the saluation in Christ is no newes, but a thing prophesied of olde. 13 He exhorted them to a godly conuersation forasmuch as they are now borne anew by the word of God.

PETER an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to the strangers that dwell here there thorough Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

2 Elect, according to the foreknowledge of God the Father unto sanctification of the spirit, through obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Iesus Christ: Grace and peace be multiplied vnto you.

3 Blessed be God even the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten vs again vnto a liuely hope by the resurrection of Iesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortall and vnderfaded, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heauen for you,

5 Which are kept by the power of God through faith vnto saluation, which is prepared to be shewed in the last time,

6 Wherein ye reioyce, though now for a season (if need require) ye are in heavinesse, though manifold temptations,

7 That the trial of your faith, being much more precious then golde that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might be found vnto your praise, and honour, and glory, at the appearing of Iesus Christ,

8 Although ye haue not seene, and yet loue him, in whom now, though ye see him not, yet doe you beleue, and reioyce with ioy vnspokeable and glorious,

9 Receiving the lend of your faith, even the saluation of your soules.

10 Of the which saluation the Prophets haue enquired and searched, which prophesied of the grace that should come vnto you,

11 Searching when or what time the spirit which resteth before of Christ which was in them, should declare the sufferings that should come vnto Christ, and the glorie that should followe.

12 Vnto whom it was revealed, that not vnto themselves, but vnto vs they should minister the things that are now shewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the Gospell by the holy Ghost sent downe from heauen, the which things the Angels desire to beholde.

13 Wherefore, gird up the loynes of your minde: be sober, and trust perfectly on the grace that is brought vnto you, by the reuelation of Iesus Christ,

14 As obedient children, not fashioning your selues vnto the former lustes of your ignorance:

15 But as hee which hath called you, is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conuersation,

16 Because it is written, "Be ye holy, for I am holy."

17 And if ye call him Father, which without respect of personudgeth according to euery mans worke, passe the time of your dwelling here in feare,

18 Knowing that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as siluer and golde, from your vaine conuersation, received by the traditions of the fathers,

19 But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lambe without blemish, and without spot.

20 Which was ordained before the foundation of the world, but was declared in the last times for your sakes.

21 Which by his meanes doe beleue in God that raised him from the dead, and gaue him glory, that your faith and hope might

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them to lay aside all vices, 4 Shewing that (christ is the foundation whereupon they build. 9 The excellent estate of the Christians. 11 He prayeth them to abstaine from fleshly lusts. 13 To obey the rulers. 18 How seruants should behaue themselves toward their masters. 30 He exhorteth to suffer after the ensample of Christ.

Wherefore, laying aside all malitiousnesse and all guile, and dissimulation, and enuy, and all euill speaking,

5 And ye as liuely stones be made a spirituall house, and holy: Priesthood to offer by spirituall sacrifices acceptable to God by Iesus Christ.

6 Wherefore it is contained in the scripture, Beholde, I put in Sion a chiefe corner stone, elect and precious: and he that beleueth therein, shall not be ashamed.

7 Vnto you therefore which beleue, it is precious: but vnto them which bee disobedient, the same is made the head of the corner.

9 But ye are a chosen generation, a royal, a Priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people, that ye should shew forth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darknesse into his marvellous light,

10 Which in time past were not a people, yet are now the people of God, which in time past were not vnder mercie, but now haue obtained mercie.

11 Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrimes, abstaine from fleshly lusts, which fight against the soule.

12 And haue your conuersation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speake euill of you as of euill doers, may by your good workes which they shall see, glorifie

God in the day of the visitation.

13 Submit your selues vnto all manner ordinance of man for the Lordes sake, whether it bee vnto the king, as vnto the superiour, 14 Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, for the punishment of euill doers, and for the praise of them that doe well.

15 For so is the will of God, that by well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men, 16 As free, and not as hauing the liberty for a cloke of malitiousnesse, but as the seruants of God.

17 Honour all men: loue brotherly fellowship: feare God: honour the king.

18 Seruants, bee subiect to your masters with all feare, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

19 For this is thankeworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure griefe suffering wrongfully.

20 For what praise is it, if when ye bee buffeted for your faults, ye take it patiently: but and if when ye doe well, ye suffer wrong, and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God.

21 For herunto ye are called: for Christ also suffered for vs, leaving vs an ensample that ye should follow his steps.

22 Who did no sinne, neither was there guile found in his mouth.

23 Who when hee was reuiled, reuiled not againe: when hee suffered, he threatened not, but committed it to him that iudgeth righteously.

24 Who his owne selfe bare our sinnes in his body on the tree, that wee being deliuered from sinne, should liue in righteousness: by whose stripes ye are healed.

25 For ye were as sheepe going astray: but are now returned vnto the shepherd and bishop of your soules.

CHAP. III.

1 How wiues ought to order themselves toward their husbands, 3 and in their apparell. 7 The duties of men toward their wiues. 8 Hee exhorteth all men to unity and loue, 14 and patiently to suffer trouble by the example and benefit of Christ.

Likewise let the wiues be subiect to their husbands, that euen they which obey not the word, may without the word be wiues by the conuersation of the wiues,

2 As the church beholde your pure conuersation, which is with feare.

3 As holie apparelling let it not bee outward, as with broided haire, and golde put about, or in putting on of apparell.

4 But let the hid man of the heart be incorrupt, with a meek and quiet spirit, which is before God a thing much to be.

5 For euen after this manner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God, see themselves, and were subiect to their husbands.

7 * Likewise ye husbands dwell with them as of men of knowledge, giving honour vnto the woman, as vnto the weaker vessel, euen as the which are heires together of the grace of life, that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 Finally be ye all of one mind: one suffer with another: loue as brethren: be pitifull: be courteous.

9 * Not repaying euill for euill, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrariwise blessing, knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heires of blessing.

10 * For if any man long after life, and to see good dayes, let him reframe his tongue from euill, and his lips that they speake no guile.

11 * Let him eschew euill and doe good: let him seek peace and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Loyde are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers: and the face of Loyd the is vpon them that do euill.

13 And who is it that will harme you, if ye follow that which is good?

14 * Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousness sake. Ye, a feare not their feare, neither be troubled.

15 * But sanctifie the Loyd God in your hearts: and be ready alwayes to giue an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you.

16 * And that with meekenesse and reuerence, hauing a good conscience, that when they speake euill of you as of euill doers, they may be ashamed, which blame your good conuersation in Christ.

17 For it is better (if the will of God be do) that ye suffer for well doing then for euill doing.

18 * For Christ also hath once suffered for sinnes, the iust for the vniust, that he might bring vs to God, and was put to death concerning the flesh, but was quickened in the spirit.

19 By the which he also went, and preached vnto the spirits that are in prison.

20 Which were in time past disobedient, when once the long suffering of God abode in the dayes of Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherein few, that is, eight soules were saved in the water.

21 To the which also the figure that now sauerly vs, euen Baptisme agreeth (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but in that a good conscience maketh request to God) by the resurrection of Iesus Christ.

22 Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heauen, to whom the Angels, and powers, and might are subiect.

1 He exhorteth men to cast from sinne, 2 To spend no more time in vice, 3 To be sober and apt to pray, 4 To loue each other, 5 To be patient in trouble, 15 To beware that no man suffer as an euill doer, 16 But as a Christian man, and so not to be ashamed.

17 As much then as Christ hath suffered for vs in the flesh, arme your selves likewise with the same: minde, which is that hee which hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sinne.

2 That he henceforward should liue (as much time as remaineth in the flesh) not after the lusts of men, but after the will of God.

3 * For it is sufficient for vs that we haue spent the time past of the life, after the lust of the Gentiles, walking in wantonnesse, lusts, drunkennesse, in gluttony, drinkings, and in adominable idolatries.

4 Wherein it seemeth to them strange, that ye runne not with them vnto the same excess of riot: therefore speake they euill of you.

5 Which shall giue accounts to him, that is ready to iudge quick and dead.

6 For vnto this purpose was the Gospel preached also vnto the dead, that they might bee condemned according to men, in the flesh, but might liue according to God, in the spirit.

7 Know the end of all things is at hand. Bee ye therefore sober, and watching in prayer.

8 But about all things haue frequent loue among you: for loue conereth the multitude of sinnes.

9 * Be ye barbarous one to another without grudging.

10 * Let every man, as he hath received the gift, minister the same one to another, as good disposers of the manifold grace of God.

11 If any man speake, let him talke as the words of God. If any man minister, let him doe it as of the abilitie which God ministereth, that God in all things may bee glorified through Iesus Christ, to whom is praise and dominion for euer and euer, Amen.

12 Dearly beloved, thinke it not strange concerning the fierie trial, which is among you, to prove you, as though some strange thing were come vnto you:

13 But reioyce, in as much as ye are partakers of Christs sufferings, that when his glory shall appeare, ye may be glad, and reioyce.

14 * If ye bee rased vpon for the Name of Christ, blessed are ye: for the spirit of glorie and of God, resteth vpon you: which on their part is euill spoken of: but on your part is glorified.

15 But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or an euill doer, or as a buisles body in other mens matters.

16 But if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not bee ashamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalf.

a Our sanctification standeth in two poynts, in dying to sinne, and liuing to God.

b Although the wicked thinke this Gospel new, and vexe you that inbrace it: yet hath it bene preached to this of time past, which now are dead, to the intent that they might have bene condemned, or dead to sinne in the flesh, and also might have liued to God in the spirit, which two are the effects of the Gospel.

18 And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appeare?

19 Therefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their soules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithfull Creator.

CHAP. V.

1 The duty of Pastours is to feede the flocke of Christ, and what reward they shall haue if they be diligent. 2 He exhorteth young persons to submit themselves to the Elders. 3 To bee sober, and to watch that they may resist the enemy.

4 The Elders which are among you, I beseech which are also an Elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall bee revealed.

5 Feed the flocke of God, which dependeth vpon you, caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind:

6 Not as though yee were lordes ouer Gods heritage, but that yee may be enamples to the flocke.

11 Be sober and watch: for your adversary the deuill as a roaring lion walketh about seeking whom he may deuoure:

The second Epistle generall of Peter.

THE ARGUMENT.

The effect of the Apostle here, is to exhort them which haue once professed the true faith of Christ, to stand to the same coven to the last breath: also that God by his effectual grace towards men moueth them to holinesse of life, in punishing the hypocrites which abuse his Name, and in increasing his gifts in the godly: wherefore by godly life, he being now almost at deaths doore, exhorteth them to approue their vocation, not setting their affections on worldly things (as hee had oft written vnto them) but lifting their eyes toward heauen, as they be taught by the Gospel, whereof he is a cleere witness, chiefly in that he heard with his owne eares that Christ was proclaimed from heauen to bee the Sonne of God: as likewise the Prophet testified. And least they should promise to themselves quietnes by professing the Gospel, hee warneth them both of troubles which they should full sore by the false teachers, and also by the mockers and contemptors of religion, whose manner and trade he liuely stretcheth forth as in a table, aduertising the faithfull not onely to waite diligently for Christ, but also to beholde presently the day of his coming, and to persecute themselves vsupposed against the same.

CHAP. I.

4 Forasmuch as the power of God hath giuen them all things pertaining vnto life, he exhorteth them to flee the corruption of worldly lusts, 10 To make their calling sure with good works, & fruits of iustice. 14 He maketh mention of his owne death, 17 Declaring the Lord Iesus to be the true Sonne of God as he himselfe had scene vpon the mount.

In our Peter a servant, and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to you which haue obtained like precious faith with vs by the righteousness of our God and Saviour Iesus Christ.

Grace and peace be multiplied to you, by the knowledge of God and of Iesus our Lord,

3 According as his godly power hath giuen vnto vs all things that pertaine vnto life and godlines, through the knowledge of him that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue.

4 Whereby most great, and precious promises are giuen vnto vs, that by them yee should be partakers of the godly nature, in that yee flee the corruption, which is in the world through lust.

5 Therefore gife euen all diligence therunto: to your mortification & vertue with your faith: and with vertue, knowledge:

b He speaketh of Christ as he is God and Saviour.

c That is, salvation.

d The summe of our saluation and religion is to be led by Christ to the Father, who calleth vs in the Same.

e Wee are made partakers of the diuine nature, in that we flee the corruption of the world, or as Paul writeth, are dead to sinne and are not in the flesh, f Godly manners.

p The Greeke word significeth him that naturally cannot see, except hee holdeth neere his eyes. So Peter calleth such as cannot see heavenly things which are faire off purblind, or sandblind. h Albeit it be sure in a false, forasmuch as God cannot change: yet we must confirme it in our selues by the fruits of the Spirit, knowing that the purpose of God electeth, calleth, sanctifieth and iustificeth vs.

i For God will euer uphold you. k In this body, 2. Cor. 5. 3. 4. l John 3. 1. 8. m 1. Cor. 1. 17. and 2. 1.

n For Scripturall and crafty. Math. 17. 5. o For by Christs presence it was for the time holy. p That is, the doctrine of the Prophets. q A perfect knowledge then vnder the Law. r Meaning, Christ the sonne of iustice, by his Gospel. s 1. 6 And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godliuesse:

7 And with godliuesse, brotherly kindnesse: and with brotherly kindnesse, loue.

8 For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that you neither shall be idle nor vnfruitfull in the knowledge of our Lord Iesus Christ.

9 For he that hath not these things, is blind, and cannot see faire off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his olde sinnes.

10 Therefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling & election sure: for if ye doe these things, ye shall neuer fail.

11 For by this meane an entering shalbe ministered vnto you abundantly into the euerlasting kingdome of our Lord and Saviour Iesus Christ.

12 Therefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things, though that ye haue knowledge; and be established in the present timest.

13 For I thinke it meete as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stirre you up by putting you in remembrance.

14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand, that I must lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Iesus Christ hath shewed me.

15 I wil endeavour therefore alwaies, that ye also may be able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing.

16 For wee followed not u deceivable fables, when wee opened vnto you the power, and coming of our Lord Iesus Christ, but with our eyes we beheld his maiestie:

17 For hee receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voyce to him from the excellent glory. v This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

18 And this voyce wee heard when it came from heauen, being with him in the holy mount.

19 w These haue also a most sure woide of the Prophets, to the which ye doe wel that ye take heede, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, vntill the day dawne, and the day shalbe as in your hearts.

20 x So that ye first know this, that no prophesie in the Scripture is of a priuate motion.

21 For the prophesie came not in olde time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moued by the holy Ghost.

CHAP. II.

Hee prophesieth of false teachers, and sheweth their punishment.

p There were false prophets also among the people, euen as there shall be false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lord that hath bought them, & bring vpon themselves swift damnation.

2 And many shall follow their damnable wayes, by whom the way of truth shall be euill spoken of.

3 And through couetousnesse shall they with fained wordes make merchandise of you, whose iudgement long agoe is not faare off, and their damnation theyeetly not.

4 For if God spared not the Angels that had sinned, but cast them downe into hel, and deliuered them into chaines of darkness, to be kept vnto damnation:

5 Neither hath spared he the olde world, but saued u the eight person a preacher of righteousness, and brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly.

6 And v turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them and ouerthrowe them, and made them an example vnto them that after should liue vngodly.

7 And denieth iust Lot, vered with the vncleane conuersion of the wicked.

8 For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vered his righteous soule from day to day with their vniuersall detest.

9 The Lord knoweth to deliuer the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the vniuert vnto the day of iudgement to bee punished:

10 And chiefly them that walke after the flesh, in the lust of uncleannesse, and despite the gouernement, which are presumptuous, and stand in their owne conceits, and feare not to speake euill of them that are in dignitie.

11 x As heras the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement against them before the Lord.

12 But these, as brute beasts, led with sensuality, & made to be taken, and destroyed, speake euill of those things which they know not, and that peris through their own corruption.

13 And shall receive the wages of unrighteousnesse, as they which count it pleasure to live deliciouly for a season. Spots they are and blotches, delighting themselves in their deceitings, in teasing with you.

14 y Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease to sinne, beguiling vnsutable soules: they haue hearts exercised with couetousnesse, curied children.

15 z Which forsaking the right way haue gone all aray, following the way of Balaam, the sonne of Balaam, which lound the wages of unrighteousnesse.

16 But hee was rebuked for his iniquitie: for the dumb Ass speaking with mans voyce, forbade the foolishnesse of the prophet.

17 These are wel without water, and clouds caried about with a tempest, to whom the blacke darkenesse is reserved for euer.

18 For in speaking swelling wordes of vanitie, they beguile with wantonnesse through the lusts of the flesh them that were

b Albeit the Angels condenned the vices and iniquitie of wicked magistrates, yet they blame not the authoritie and power which is giuen them of God.

c As beasts without reason or wit, follow whither nature leadeth them: so these wicked men desire of the Spirit of God, only seek to fill their sensuality, & as they are vessels made to destruction and appointed to this iudgement, so they fall into the snare of Satan to their destruction.

19 Promising vnto them liberty, and are themselves the seruants of corruption: for of whomsoever a man is overcome, euen vnto the same is he in bondage.

20 For if they, after they haue escaped from the slauishesse of the world, through the knowledge of the Lord, and of the Sauour Iesus Christ, are yet rangled againe therein, and overcome, the latter end is woofe with them then the beginning.

21 For it had bene better for them, not to haue knowne the way of righteousness, then after they haue knowne it, to turne from the holy commandement giuen vnto them.

22 But it is come vnto them, according to the true p[ro]u[er]be. The dog is returned to his owne vomite: and The sow that was washed, to the wallowing in the mire.

CHAP. III.

THIS second Epistle I nowe write vnto you, beloved, wherewith I stirre vp and warne your pure mindes,

2 To call to remembrance the wordes, which were told before of the holy Prophets, and also the commandmentes of vs the Apostles of the Lord our Sauour.

3 This first vnderstand, that there shal come in the last daies, mockers, which will walke after their lusts,

4 And say, Calthese is the promise of his coming: for since the fathers died, all things continue alikes from the beginning of the creation.

5 For this they willingly knowe not, that the heauens were of old, and the earth that was of the water, and by the water, by the word of God.

6 Calthese the world that then was, perished, overwhelmed with the water.

7 But the heauens and earth, which are nowe are kept by the same word in store, and reserved vnto fire against the day of iudgement, & of the destruction of ungodly men.

8 Dearly beloved, bee not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, as a thousand yeres, and a thousand yeres as one day.

9 The Lord is not slacke concerning his promise (as some men count slackenesse) but is patient towards vs, and would haue no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance.

10 But the day of the Lord will come as a thiefe in the night, in the which the heauens shall passe away with a noyse, & the elements shall melt with heate, and the earth with the works that are therein, shall be burnt vp.

11 Seeing therefore that all these things must be dissolued, what manner persons ought ye to be in holy conuersation and godliness,

12 Looking for, & hasting vnto the coming of the day of God, by the which the heauens being on fire, shall be dissolued, and the elements shall melt with heate:

13 But we looke for new heauens, and a new earth, according to his promise, wherein dwelleth righteousness.

14 Calthese, beloved, seeing that yee looke for such things, bee diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blamelesse.

15 And suppose that the long suffering of our Lord is saluation, euen as our beloved brother Paul according to the wisdome giuen vnto him wrote to you,

16 As one that in his Epistles speaketh of these things: among the which some things are hard to bee understood, which they that are vnlerned and vnsittable pervert as they doe also other Scriptures vnto their owne destruction.

17 Be therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye bee also plucked away with the error of the wicked, and fall from your owne stedfastnesse.

18 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord & Sauour Iesus Christ, to him be glory both now and for euermore, Amen.

The first Epistle generall of Iohn.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFTER that S. Iohn had sufficiently declared, how that our whole saluation doth consist onely in Christ, lest that any man should thereby take a boldnesse to sinne, he sheweth that no man can beleeue in Christ, vnlesse hee doth endenour himselfe to keepe his commandmentes, which thing being done, he exhorteeth them to beware of false Prophets, whom he calleth Antichrists, and to trie the spirites. Last of all, he doth earnestly exhort them vnto brotherly loue, and to beware of deceiuers.

CHAP. I.

2 True witness of the euerslasting word of God.
7 The blood of Christ is the purgation of sinnes:
10 No man is without sinne.

That which was from the beginning, which wee haue heard, which wee haue seene with our eyes, which wee haue looked vpon, and our hands haue handled of the worde of life,

2 (For the life appeared, and wee haue seene it, and beare witness, and shew vnto you the eternall life, which was with the Father, and appeared vnto vs)

3 That, I say, which wee haue seene and heard, declare wee vnto you, that ye may also haue fellowship with vs, and that

ing ioyned together in Christ by faith, should bee the sonnes of God.

c Which giueth life, and had it in himselfe, Iohn
1. 4.
d Before all beginning.
e The effect of the Gospel is,
that we all become

our fellowship also may be with the Father, and with his Sonne Iesus Christ.

4 And these things write we vnto you, that your joy may be full.

5 This then is the message, which wee haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God is light, and in him is no darknesse.

6 If we say that we haue fellowship with him, and walke in darknesse, we lie, and doe not truely.

7 But if we walke in the light as hee is in the light; wee haue fellowship one with another, and the blood of Iesus Christ his Sonne cleanseth vs from all sinne.

8 If we say that we haue no sinne, wee deecie our selues, and truely is not in vs.

9 If we acknowledge our sinnes, hee is faithfull and iust, to forgive vs our sinnes, and to cleanse vs from all vntighteousnesse.

10 If wee say wee haue not sinned, wee make him a liar, and his word is not in vs.

Iohn 8. 12.

f The fruits of our faith must declare whether we be ioyned in God or no: for God being the very puritie and light, will not haue fellowship with them which lie in sinne and darknesse.

g In an euill conscience, and with out the feare of God.

That is Christ with vs, and wee with our selues. Hebr. 9. 14. 1. pet. 1. 19. reue. 1. 5. 1. King. 8. 46. 2. chron. 6. 36. psal. 20. 9. eccle. 7. 23.
i If we be not alliaied, earnestly and openly to acknowledge our selues before God to be sinners. 1. Ior. doct. 11.

CHAP. II.

1 Christ is our advocate. 10 Of true love, and how it is tried. 12 To beware of Antichrist.

MY babes, these things write I vnto you, that ye sinne not: and if any man sinne, we haue an Advocate with the Father, Iesus Christ the iust.

2 And hee is the reconciliation for our sinnes: and not for ours onely, but also for the sinnes of the whole world.

3 And hereby we are sure that we know him, if we keepe his commandments.

4 Hee that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truely is not in him.

5 But hee that keepeth his word, in him is the loue of God perfect in deed: hereby we know that we are in him.

6 Hee that saith hee remaineth in him, ought enen so to walke, as he hath walked.

7 Wherein, I write no new commandment vnto you: but an olde commandment which ye haue had from the beginning: that the olde commandment is the word, which yee haue heard from the beginning.

8 Again, a new commandment I write vnto you, that which is true in him, and also in you: for the darknesse is past, and the true light now shineth.

9 He that saith that he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darknesse vntill this time.

10 He that loueth his brother, abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of euil in him.

11 But hee that hateth his brother, is in darknesse, and walketh in darknesse, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darknesse hath blinded his eyes.

a Christ is our onely advocate and atonement: for the office of intercession and redemption are ioyned together.
b That is, of them which haue embraced the Gospel by faith in all ages, degrees and places: for there is no saluation without Christ.
c That is, by faith, and so obey him: for knowledge cannot be without obedience.
d Whereby he loueth God: to that to loue God is to obey his word.
e 1. Ior. doct. 11.
f When the Law was giuen.
g Loue thy neighbor as thy selfe, is the olde commandment taught in the Law, but when Christ, saith, So loue one another as I haue loued you, he giueth a new commandment onely as touching the forme, but not as touching the nature or substance of the precept. Chap. 3. 14.

12 Little children, I write vnto you, because your sinnes are forgiven you for his Names sake.

13 I write vnto you, fathers, because yee haue known him that is from the beginning: I write vnto you young men, because yee haue overcome the wicked.

14 I write vnto you, babes, because yee haue known the Father. I haue writ vnto you, fathers, because yee haue known him, that is from the beginning. I haue written vnto you, young men, because yee are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and yee haue overcome the wicked.

15 Loue not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man loue the world, the loue of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in the world (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of the world.

17 And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof, but hee that fulfilleth the will of God abideth euer.

18 Babes, it is the last time, and as yee haue heard that Antichrist shall come, euens now are there many Antichrists, whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, they would haue continued with vs. But this cometh to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs.

20 But ye haue an oymntment from him, that is, holy, & ye haue known all things.

21 I haue not written vnto you, because ye know not the truth: but because yee know it, and that no lie is of the truth.

22 Who is a liar, but hee that denieth that Iesus is Christ: the same is the Antichrist that denieth the Father and the Sonne.

23 Who denieth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father.

24 Hee therefore abide in you that came which yee haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, yee also shall continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise that hee hath giuen vs, euereuall life.

26 These things haue I written vnto you, concerning them that deceiue you.

27 But the anoynting which ye received of him, dwelleth in you: and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anoynting teacheth you of all things, and it is true, and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shall appeare, we may be bold, and not be ashamed before him at his coming.

29 If yee knowe that hee is righteous, know ye that hee which doth righteously, is borne of him.

30 He that sinneth himselfe vnto you, and teacheth you by the holy Ghost, and his miracles. 1. Ior. an Christ. a. By this name be meant the whole Church of Christ in generall.

C H A P. III.

1 The singular loue of God toward vs, 7 And how we againe ought to loue one another.

1 Behold, what loue the Father hath shewed on vs, that we should be called the sonnes of God: for this cause the world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him.

2 Dearly beloved, now are we the sons of God, but yet it doth not appear what we shall be: and we know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him: for we shall see him as he is.

3 And every man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himselfe, euen as he is pure.

4 Whosoever committeth sinne, transgresseth also the Law: for sinne is the transgression of the Law.

5 And ye know that he appeared that he might take away our sinnes, and in him is no sinne.

6 Whosoever abideth in him sinneth not: whosoever sinneth hath not seene him, neither hath known him.

7 Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness, is righteous, as he is righteous.

8 We that committeth sinne, is of the deuil: for the deuil sinneth from the beginning: for this purpose appeared the Sonne of God, that he might loose the works of the deuil.

9 Whosoever is borne of God, sinneth not: for his seede remaineth in him, neither can hee sinne, because he is borne of God.

10 In this are the children of God known, and the children of the deuil: whosoever doeth not righteousness, is not of God, neither he that loveth not his brother.

11 For this is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that we should loue one another.

12 Not as Cain which was of the wicked, and slew his brother: and wherefore slew he him? because his owne works were euill, and his brothers good.

13 Marcella not, my brethren, though the world hate you.

14 I know that we are translated from death into life, because we loue the brethren: * If he that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 Whosoever hateth his brother, is a man slayer: and ye know that no man slayer hath eternall life abiding in him.

16 Whereby haue we preferred loue, that hee layde downe his life for vs: therefore we ought also to lay downe our liues for the brethren.

17 And whosoever hath this worldes good, and seeth his brother haue neede, and shutteth vp his compassion from him, how dwelleth the loue of God in him?

18 My little children, let vs not loue in word, neither in tongue only, but in deede and in truth.

19 For thereby we know that wee are of the truth, and shall beseege him assure our hearts.

20 For if our heart condemne vs, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 Beloued, if our heart condemne us not, then haue we boldnes toward God.

22 And whatsoever we aske, wee receive of him, because hee keepe his commandments, and do those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 This is then his commandment, that we beleue in the Name of his Sonne, Iesus Christ, and loue one another, as hee gave commandment.

24 For he that keepeth his commandments, dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that hee abideth in vs, euen by the Spirit which he hath giuen vs.

C H A P. IIII.

1 Difference of spirits, 2 How the Spirit of God may be knownen from the spirit of error, 7 Of the loue of God and of our neighbour.

1 Dearly beloved, beleue not every spirit, but trie the spirits whether they are of God: for many false prophets are gone out into the world.

2 Whereby shall ye know the spirit of God? Every spirit that confesseth that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God.

3 And every spirit which confesseth not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whome yee haue heard, how that hee should come, and now already he is in the world.

4 Little children, ye are of God, and haue overcome them: for greater is he that is in you, then he that is in the world.

5 They are of the world, therefore speake they of the world, and the world heareth them.

6 We are of God, * hee that knoweth God, * heareth vs: he that is not of God, heareth vs not. Whereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

7 Beloued, let vs loue one another: for loue commeth of God, and every one that loveth, is borne of God, and knoweth God.

8 He that loveth not, knoweth not God: for God is loue.

9 In this I appeared the loue of God toward vs, because God sent his only begotten Sonne into the world, that we might liue through him.

10 Herein is loue, not that we loved God, but that hee loved vs, and sent his Sonne to be a reconciliation for our sinnes.

11 Beloued, if God so loved vs, we ought also to loue one another.

12 No man hath seene God at any time. If we loue one another, God dwelleth in vs, and his loue is perfect in vs.

13 Whereby knowe wee that we dwell in him, and he in vs? because he hath giuen vs of his Spirit.

14 And we haue seene and doe testifie, that the Father sent the Sonne to be the Saviour of the world.

15 Whosoever confesseth that Iesus is the Sonne of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God,

16 And we haue known, and beleue

f Truth it is, that God hath declared his loue in many other things, but herein hath passed all other.

g By his onely death.

h So that his confession proceedeth of faith.

Three witnesses.

1 Or, ward vs.
1 By inspiring it into vs.

the loue that God hath in vs. God is loue, and he that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

17 Verin is the loue perfect in vs, that we should haue boldnes in the day of iudgement: for as he is, euen so are we in this world.

18 There is no feare in loue, but perfect loue casteth out feare: for feare hath painefulnes: and he that feareth, is not perfect in loue.

19 Like loue him, because he loued vs first.
20 If any man say, I loue God, and hate his brother, he is a liar: for how can hee that loueth not his brother whom hee hath seene, loue God whom hee hath not seene?

21 And this commaundement haue we of him, that he which loueth God, should loue his brother also.

CHAP. V.

1. 10. 13 Of the fruits of faith. 14. 20 The office and authoritie, and dominie of Christ. 21 Against images.

VVhoener beleueth that Iesus is the Christ, is borne of God, and eueny one that loueth him which begate, loueth him which he begotten of him.

2 In this we know that we loue the children of God, when we loue God, and keepe his commaundements.

3 For this is the loue of God, that we keepe his commaundements: and his commaundements are not grievous.

4 For all that is borne of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, euen our faith.

5 Who is it that overcometh the world, but he which beleueth that Iesus is the Sonne of God?

6 This is that Iesus Christ that came by water and blood, not by water onely, but by water and blood: and it is the Spirit, that beareth witness: for the spirit testifieth.

7 For there are three, which beare record in heauen, the Father, the Word, and the holy Ghost: and these three are one.

8 And these are three, which beare record: Our mind inspired by the holy Ghost, g Which testifieth to our hearts, that we are the children of God.

II. Iohn,

The sinne vnto death.

cord in the earth, the spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.

9 If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God, which hee testified of his Sonne.

10 He that beleueth in the Sonne of God, hath the witness in himselfe: he that beleueth not God, hath made him a liar, because hee beleueth not the recorde, that God witnessed of his Sonne.

11 And this is the recorde, that God hath giuen vnto vs eternall life, and this life is in his Sonne.

12 He that hath the Sonne, hath life: and he that hath not the Sonne of God, hath not life.

13 These things haue I written vnto you, that beleue in the Name of the Sonne of God, that ye may know that ye haue eternall life, and that ye may beleue in the Name of the Sonne of God.

14 And this is the assurance, that wee haue in him, that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.

15 And if wee knowe that hee heareth vs, whatsoever wee aske, wee know that we haue the petitions that we haue desired of him.

16 If any man see his brother sinne a sinne, that is not vnto death, let him aske, and he shall giue him life: for them that sinne not vnto death. There is a sinne vnto death: I say not that thou shouldst pray for it.

17 All unrighteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne not vnto death.

18 Iesus knoweth that whatsoever is borne of God, sinneth not: but he that is begotten of God, keepeth himselfe, and the wicked cometh him not.

19 I know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in wickednesse.

20 But wee knowe that the Sonne of God is come, and hath giuen vs a mind to knowe him, which is true: and we are in him that is true, that is, in his Sonne Iesus Christ: this same is very God, and eternal life.

The second Epistle of Iohn.

He writeth vnto a certaine Lady, 4 Reioycing that her children walke in the truth, 5 And exhorteth them vnto loue, 7 Warneth this to beware of such deceiuers as denie that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, 8 Prayerth them to continue in the doctrine of Christ, 10 And to haue nothing to doe with that that bring not the true doctrine of Christ Iesus our Saviour.

The Elder to the select Lady, and her children, whome I loue in the truth: and not only, but also all that haue knowne the truth.

2 For the truths sake which dwelleth in vs, and shalbe with vs for euer:

3 Grace be with you, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ the sonne of the Father, with truth and loue.

4 I reioiced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in the truth, as we haue receiued a commaundement of the Father.

5 And now beleeve I thee Lady, (not as writing a new commaundement vnto thee, but that same which we had from the beginning) that we loue one another.

6 And this is the loue, that we should walke after his commaundements. This commaundement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, ye should walke in it.

7 For many deceiuers are entred into the world, which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh. See that is such one, is a deceiver and an Antichrist.

The third Epistle of Iohn.

3 He is glad of Gaius that he walketh in the truth, 8 Exhorteth them to bee louing vnto the poore Christians in their persecution, 9 Sheweth the unkind dealing of Diotrephes, 12 And the good report of Demetrius.

I write vnto the beloved Gaius whome I loue in the truth.

2 Beloued, I write chiefly that thou prosperest and faredest well, as thy loue prospereth.

3 For I reioyced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth.

4 I haue no greater ioy then this, that is, to heare that my lonnes walke in <sup>a</sup> verity.

8 Wee therefore ought to receive such,
that we might be helpers to the truth.

9 I write vnto the Church; but Dio-

The generall Epistle of Jude.

THE ARGVMENT.

Saint Iude admonisheth all Churches generally to take heed of deceiters, which goe about to draw away the hearts of the simple people from the truth of God, and willett them to haue no society with such, whom he setteth forth in their liuely colours, shewing by diuers examples of the Scriptures, what horrible vengeance is prepared for them: finally, he comforteth the faithfull, & exhorteth them to persevere in the doctrine of the Apostles of Iesus Christ.

I am a servant of Iesus Christ, & brother of James, to them which are called and sanctified <sup>a</sup> of God the Father, and <sup>b</sup> referred to Iesus
Christ:

2 Mercy vnto you, and peace, and lone be multiplied.

3 Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the common saluation, it was needfull for me to write vnto you, to exhort you, that ye should earnestly contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was <sup>c</sup> once given vnto the Saints.

4 For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of old <sup>d</sup> ordeined to this their end against the contemners of religion and apostates, shewing the such men trouble not the Church at all adventures, but are appointed thereunto by the determinate counsell of God, condemnation: ingodly men they are which turne the grace of our God into wantonness, and <sup>e</sup> denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Iesus Christ.

5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, soasmuch as ye once knew this, how that the Lord after that he had deliuered the people out of Egypt, <sup>f</sup> destroyed them afterward which <sup>g</sup> beleued not.

6 The Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, hee hath referred in everlasting chains vnder darkenesse vnto the iudgement of the great day.

7 As <sup>h</sup> Sodome and Gomorhe, and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, committed fornication, and followed <sup>i</sup> strange flesh, are set forth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire.

8 Likewiſe notwithstanding these dreamers also deſile the flesh, and deſpise government, and ſpeake euill of them that are in authority.

9 Per Michael the Archangel, when he ſtroue againſt the deuill, and diſputed about the body of Moſes, durſt not blame him with curſed ſpeaking, but ſayd, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 But theſe ſpeake euill of thoſe things, which they know not: & whatſoeuer things they know naturally, as beaſts which are without reaſon, in thoſe things they corrupt themſelues.

11 Who be vnto them: for they haue followed the way of Cain, and are caſt away by the decreit of Balaams wages, and periſh in the gainſaying of Core.

12 Theſe are ſpoils in your feaſts of charitie when they feaſt with you, without all feare feeding themſelues: clowdes they are without water, caried about of windeſ, corrupt trees, and without fruit, twiſe dead, and plucked vp by the rootes.

13 They are the raging waues of the ſea, ſomting out their owne ſhame: they are wandring ſtarres, to whom is referred the blackneſſe of darkeneſſe for euer.

14 And Enoch alſo the ſeventh from Adam, propheſied of ſuch, ſaying, Behold, the Lord commeth with thouſands of his Saints.

15 To giue iudgement againſt all men, and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruell ſpeakings which wicked ſinners haue ſpoken againſt him.

16 Theſe are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne luſtes: whoſe mouthes ſpeake proud things, hauing menſ perſons in admiration, becauſe of a vantage.

17 But ye beloved, remember the wordes which were ſpoken beſore of the Apoſtles of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, 18 Howe that they tolde you that there ſhould be mockers in the laſt time, which ſhould walke after their owne vngodly luſtes.

19 Theſe are makers of ſects, fleſhly, hauing not the Spirit.

20 But, ye beloved, edifie your ſelues in your moſt holy faith, praying in the holy Ghoſt, 21 And keepe your ſelues in the loue of God, looking for the mercie of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, vnto eternall life.

22 And haue compaſſion of ſome, in putting difference:

23 And other ſaue with feare, pulling them out of the fire, and ſaue euen the garment ſpotted by the fleſh.

24 Now vnto him that is able to keepe you that ye fall not, and to preſent you faultleſſe beſore the preſence of his glorie with joy, occafions, which are as preparatiues, and accessaries to the same.

The Reuelation of Iohn the Diuine.

THE ARGUMENT.

It is maniſeſt, that the holy ghoſt would as it were gather into this moſt excellent Booke a ſumme of thoſe prophesies, which were written beſore, but ſhould be fulfilled after the comming of Chriſt, adding alſo ſuch things as ſhould be expedient, as well to forewarne vs of the dangers to come, as to admoniſh vs to beware of ſome, and encourage vs againſt others. Herein therefore is lively ſet forth the diuinitie of Chriſt, and the teſtimonies of our redemption: what things the Spirit of God alloweth in the miniſters, and what things he reprooſeth the prouidence of God for his elect, and of their glory and conſolation in the day of vengeance: howe that the hypocrites which ſling like ſcorpions the members of Chriſt, ſhall be deſtroyed. But the Lambe Chriſt ſhall defend them which beare witneſſe to the truth, who in diſpice of the beaſt and Satan will reigne ouer all. The liuely deſcription of Antichriſt is ſet forth, whoſe time and power notwithstanding is limited: and albeit that he is permitted to rage againſt the elect, yet his power ſtretcheth no further then to the hurt of their bodies: and at length he ſhall be deſtroyed by the wrath of God, when as the elect ſhall giue praiſe to God for the victorie: neuertheleſſe, for a ſeaſon God will permit this Antichriſt, and ſtrumpet, vnder colour of faire ſpeech and pleaſant doctrine, to deceiue the world: wherefore he aduerteth the Godly (which are but a ſmall portion) to auoid this harlots flatteries and brags, whoſe ruine without mercie they ſhall ſee, and with the heauenly companies ſing continuall prayſes: for the Lambe is married: the word of God hath gotten the victorie: Satan that a long time was vnſe, is now caſt with his miniſters in to the pit of fire to be tormented for euer, whereas contrariwiſe the faithfull (which are the holy ciue of Ieruſalem, and wife of the Lambe) ſhall enjoy perpetual glory. Reade diligently, iudge ſoberly, and call carneſtly to God for the true vnderſtanding hereof.

9 I John euen your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Iesus Christ, was in the yle called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witnessing of Iesus Christ.

10 And I was rauished in spirit on the Lords day, and heard behinde me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trumpet.

11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and that which thou seest, write in a booke, and sende it vnto the seuen Churches which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, and vnto Smyrna, and vnto Pergamus, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea.

12 Then I turned backe to see the voyce

13 I say, 1. Job. 1. 7. 9. 1. pet. 2. 5. Mat. 24. 30. 1. sa. 3. 14. iude 14.

15 That is, him whose voyce I heard.

that spake with mee: and when I was turned, I saw 7 seuen golden candlestickes.

13 And in the middes of the seuen candlestickes, one like vnto the sonne of man, clothed with a garment downe to the feet, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 His head, and haire were white as white wool, and as snow, and his eyes were as a flame of fire.

15 And his feete like vnto fine brasse, burning as in a furnace: and his voice as the sound of many waters.

16 And hee had in his right hand seuen starres: & out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sword: and his face shone as the sunne shined in his strength.

17 And when I sawe him, I fell at his feete as dead: then he layd his right hand vpon me, saying vnto me, Feare not: I am the first and the last.

18 And am alieue, but I was dead: and behold, I am alieue for euermore, Amen: and I haue the keyes of hell and of death.

19 Write the things which thou hast seene, and the things which are, and the things which shall come: hereafter.

20 The mystery of the seuen stars which thou sawest, in my right hand, and the seuen golden candlestickes, is this. The seuen starres are the Angels of the seuen Churches: and the seuen candlestickes which thou sawest, are the seuen Churches.

3 And thou hast suffered, and hast patience, and for my names sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

4 Neuertheless, I haue somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first loue.

g These were heretics which held that wises should be common, & as some thinke, were named of one called Nicolas, of whom is written, Acts 6.5. which was chosen among the Deacons.

s The word of God is the sword with two edges, Hebr. 4.12. t All townes and countreyes whence Gods word and good liuing is banished, are the throne of Satan, and also those places where the word is not preached sincerely, and manners aright reformed. u In the very heart of persecution and slaughter of the Martyrs, they continued in the pure faith, and therefore are commended after a sort. x All such are like counsellors to Balaam, which for lucre perswade to idolatry or whoredome. Numb. 23.14 & 25.11

y And not common to all.

6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the works of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.

7 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches. To him that overcometh, will I giue to eat of the tree of life, which is in the middes of the Paradise of God.

8 And vnto the Angel of the Church of he that is first, and last, which was dead, and is alive.

9 I know thy workes and tribulation, and pouerty, (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them, which say they are Jewes, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Feare none of these things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to passe, that the deuill shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tryed, and ye shall haue tribulation ten dayes: be thou faithful vnto the death, and I will giue thee the crowne of life.

11 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches. He that overcometh, shall not be hurt of the second death.

12 And to the Angel of the Church which is at Pergamus write, These things saith which hath the sharpe sword with two edges.

13 I know thy workes and where thou dwellest, even where Satans throne is, and thou keepest my name, and hast not denied my faith, euen in those dayes when Antipas my faithfull martyr was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I haue a few things against thee, because thou hast these them that maintaine the doctrine of Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling blocke before the children of Israel, that they should eate of things sacrificed vnto idoles, and commit fornication.

15 Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thy selfe, or els I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches. To him that overcometh, will I giue to eate of the Manna that is vnto him, and will giue him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it.

18 And vnto the Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine brasse.

19 I know thy workes and thy loue, and service, and faith, and thy patience, and thy workes, and that they are more at the last then at the first.

20 Notwithstanding, I haue a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Jezabel, which calleth her selfe a Prophetesse, to teach and to deceiue my seruants, to make them commit fornication, and to eate meate sacrificed vnto idoles.

21 And I gaue her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not.

22 Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.

23 And I will kill her children with death: and all the Churches shall know that I am her which search the reins and hearts: and I will giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your workes.

24 And vnto you, I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, as many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowne the deepenesse of Satan (as e they speake) I will put vpon you none other burden.

25 But that which ye haue already, hold fast till I come.

26 For he that overcometh and keepe thy workes vnto the ende, to him will I giue power ouer nations, 27 And hee shall rule them with a rod of yron: and as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken.

28 Euen as I receiued of my Father, so will I giue him the morning starre.

29 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

2 Be awake and strengthen the things which remaine, that are ready to die: for I haue not found thy workes perfect before God.

g Chap. 1.6.15. 1. the. 3. 10. 2. the. 3. 10.

I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee.

4 Notwithstanding thou hast a few garments yet in shreds, which have not defiled their garments, and they shall walke with mee in white: for they are worthy.

5 He that overcometh, shall be clothed in white array, and I will not put out his name out of the Booke of life, but I will confesse his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

6 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith unto the Churches.

7 And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia, These things sayeth hee that is holy and true, which hath the key of David, which openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth and no man openeth.

8 I knowe thy workes: behold, I haue set before thee an open doore, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.

9 Beholde, I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselves Iewes and are not, but doe lie: behold, I say, I will make them that they shall come and worship before thy feet, and shall know that I haue loved thee.

10 Because thou hast kept the wordes of my patience, therefore I will deliuer thee from the hour of temptation, which will come upon all the world, to trie them that dwell vpon the earth.

11 Beholde, I come shortly: holde that which thou hast, that no man take thy crowne.

12 Him that overcometh, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and hee shall goe no more out: and I will write vpon him the name of my God, and the name of the citie of my God, which is the new Ierusalem, which commeth downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my new name.

13 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

14 And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans write, These things sayeth Amen, the faithfull and true witness, the beginning of the creatures of God, 15 I knowe thy workes, that thou art neither colde nor hot: I would thou werest colde or hot.

16 Therefore, because thou art lukewarme, and neither colde nor hot, it will come to passe, that I shall spew thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou sayest, I am rich and increased with goods, and haue neede of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blinde, and naked.

18 I counsell thee to buy of me golde tried by the fire, that thou mayest bee made rich, and white raiment, that thou mayest bee clothed, and that thy filthy nakednesse doe not appeare: and I anoynt thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see.

19 As many as I loue, I reburke and chastise: bee zealous therefore and amend.

20 Beholde, I stand at the doore, and knocke. If any man heare my voyce and open the doore, I will come in vnto him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

21 To him that overcometh, will I graunt to sit with me in my throne, even as I ouercame, and sit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The vision of the Maiestie of God. 2 He seeth the throne & one sitting vpon it, 8 and 24 seates about it with 24 elders sitting vpon them, and foure beastes praying God day and night.

After this I looked, and behold, a doore was open in heauen, and the first voyce which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with mee, saying, Come vp hither, and I will shew thee things which must bee done hereafter.

2 And immediately I was rauished in the spirit, and beholde, a throne was set in heauen, and one sat vpon the throne.

3 And hee that sat, was to looke vpon like vnto a Jasper stone, and a Sardine, and there was a rainbow round about the throne in sight like vnto an Emeraude.

4 And round about the throne were foure and twentie seates, and vpon the seates I saw foure and twentie Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crownes of gold.

5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings, and voyces, and there were seuen lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seuen spirits of God.

6 And before the throne there was a sea of glasse like vnto crystal: and in the mids of the throne, and round about the throne were foure beastes full of eyes before and behinde.

7 And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calfe, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying Eagle.

8 And the foure beastes had each one of them six wings about him: and they were full of eyes within, and they cried not day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and which is, and which is to come.

9 And when those beastes gaue glory, and honour, and thanks to him that sat on the throne, which liueth for euer and euer,

10 The foure and twentie Elders fell downe before him that sat on the throne, and worshipped him, that liueth for euer more, and cast their crownes before the throne, saying,

g It is as cleere as cristall before the eyes of God, because there is nothing in it so lile that is hid from him. h Or, vnder the throne. i They are called Cherubims, Ezek. 10.20. i We are hereby taught to giue glory to God in all his works. j Ps. 63. k They will challenge no authority, honour, nor power before God.

II Thou art *worthy, O Loyde, to receive glory, and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy willes sake they are, and haue bene created.

CHAP. V.

1 He saith the Lambe opening the booke, 8. 14. And therefore the foure beasts, the 24 Elders, and the Angels praise the Lambe, and do him worship, 9 For their redemption and other benefites.

2 And I saw in the right hand of him that sat late vpon the throne, a Booke written within, and on the backside, sealed with 7 seuen seales.

3 And I saw a strong Angell, which preached with a loud voyce, Alho is worthy to open the Booke, and to looke the seales thereof?

4 And no man in heauen, nor in earth, neither vnder the earth was able to open the Booke, neither to looke thereon.

5 Then I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open, and to reade the Booke, neither to looke thereon.

6 And one of the Elders sayd vnto mee, Weepe not: beholde, the * Lion which is of the tribe of Iuda, the roote of Dauid, hath obteyned to open the Booke, and to looke the seuen seales thereof.

7 Then I beheld, and loe, in the middes of the throne, and of the foure beastes, and in the middes of the Elders, stood a * Lambe, as though hee had bene killed, which had 7 seuen hornes, and 7 seuen eyes, which are the seuen spirits of God, sent i nto all the world.

8 And he came and tooke the Booke out of the right hand of him that sat vpon the throne.

9 And when hee had taken the Booke, the foure beasts, and the foure and twentie Elders * fell downe before the Lambe, hauing euery one harpes and golden vialles full of odours, which are the * prayers of Saints.

10 And they sung a newe song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the Booke, and to open the seales thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast * redeemed vs to God by thy blood out of euery kinred, and tongue, and people, and nation,

11 And hast made vs vnto our God * Kings and Priestes, and wee shall * reigne on the earth.

12 Then I beheld, and I heard the voyce of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beasts and the Elders, and there were * thousand thousands,

13 Saying with a loud voyce, *Worthy is the * Lambe that was killed, to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and gloire, and praise.

14 And all the creatures which are in heauen, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the sea, and al that are in them, heard I saying, Praise, and honour, and gloire, and power bee vnto him, that sitteth vpon the throne, and vnto the Lambe for euermore.

15 And the foure beasts said, Amen, and the foure & twentie Elders fell downe, and worshipped him that sitteth for euermore.

CHAP. VI.

The Lambe openeth the first seale, and many things follow the opening thereof, so that this containeth a generall prophesie to the ende of the world.

1 After, I behelde when the Lambe had opened one * of the seales, and I heard one of the foure beasts say, as it were the * voyce of thunder, Come and see.

2 Therefore I beheld, and loe, there was a * white horse, and he that * sat on him, had a bowe, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and he went forth conquering, that he might overcome.

3 And when hee had opened the second seale, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.

4 And there went out another horse, that was * red, and power was giuen to him that * sat thereon, to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and there was giuen vnto him a great sword.

5 And when hee had opened the third seale, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. Then I beheld, and loe, a blacke horse, and hee that sat on him, had balances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voyce in the middes of the foure beasts say, A * measure of wheat for a peny, and thre measures of barley for a peny, and oyle, and wine hurt thou not.

7 And when hee had opened the fourth seale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beast say, Come and see.

8 And I looked, and beholde, a * pale horse, and his name that sat on him was Death, and I hell followed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with the beasts of the earth.

9 And when hee had opened the * fifth seale, I sawe vnder the altar * the soules of them that were killed for the worde of God, and for the testimonie which they maintained.

10 And they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Vnto long, Lord, holy and true! doe it not thou iudge & auenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth?

11 And long white robes were giuen vnto euery one, and it was sayd vnto them, that they should rest for a little season, vntill their fellowe seruants, and their brethren that should be killed men as they were, were fulfilled.

12 And I behelde when hee had opened the sixth seale, and loe, there was a great * earthquake, and the * sunne was as blacke as * sackcloth of haire, and the * moone was like blood.

13 And I behelde when hee had opened the seauenth seale, and loe, there was a great * earthquake, and the * sunne was as blacke as * sackcloth of haire, and the * moone was like blood.

a The opening of the scale is the dedication of Gods will, and the executing of his iudgements. b Signifying, that there were maruclous things to come.

c The white horse signifieth innocence, vigour, and felicitie, which should come by the preaching of the Gospel.

d He that rideth on the white horse, is Christ. e Signifying the cruel warres that ensued when the Gospel was refused.

f Who was Satan. g This signifieth an extreme famine and want of all things.

h The Greeke worde signifieth that measure which was ordinarily giuen to seruants for their portion or hire of meate for one day.

i Which amounted to about four pence halfe penny.

k Whereby is meant sicknesses, plagues, pestilence, and death of man and beast.

l Or, the graine. m The continual persecution of the Church noted by the fifth scale.

n The soules of the Saints are vnder the altar, which is Christ; meaning that they are in his safe custody in the heauens.

o Which signifieth the change of the true doctrine, which is the greatest cause of motions, and troubles that come to the world. p That is, the brightness of the Gospel. q The Church fully and defiled with idolatry, and afflicted by tyrants.

a A similitude taken of earthly princes, which iudge by bookes and writings: and here it doeth signifie all the counsels, and iudgements of God, which are onely known to Christ the sonne of Dauid, verse 5. b That is, many. Gene. 49. 9.

c This vision confirmeth the power of our Lord Iesus which is the Lambe of God that taketh away the sinne of the world. d That is, maruclous power. e Signifying the fullness of the spirit which Christ pouerth vpon all. f The Angels honour Christ: he is therefore God. g This declareth how the prayers of the faithfull are agreeable vnto God, reade Acts 10. 4 and chap. 8. 3. h Our Saviour Iesus hath redeemed his Church by his blood-shedding, and gathered it of all nations. i Pet. 3. 9. i Not corporally. 4-9 He seeth the seruants of God sealed in their foreheads: out of all nations and people, 15 which though they suffer trouble, yet the Lambe feedeth them, leadeeth them to the fountaine of liuing water, 27 and God shall wipe away all teares from

And after that, I saw foure Angels stand on the foure corners of the earth, holding the foure 4 windes of the 4 earth, that the windes should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any 4 tree.

2 And I sawe another 4 Angel come vp from the East, which had the seale of the liuing God, and he cryed with a loud voyce to the foure Angels to whom power was giuen to hurt the earth and the sea,

3 Saying, Hurt ye not the earth, neither the sea, neither the trees, till we haue sealed the seruants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them, which were sealed, and there were sealed 4 an

CHAP. VIII.

1 The seventh scale is opened: there is silence in heauen. 6 The foure Angels blowe the trumpets, and great plagues follow vpon the earth.

And when hee had opened the 7 seuenth scale, there was silence in heauen about halfe an houre.

And I sawe the seuen Angels, which stood before God, and to them were giuen
the seuen trumpets.

3 Then another Angel came & stood before the altar hauing a golden censer, and danger thereof, and what troubles, scds, and heresies haue beene and shalbe brought into the Church thereby. b That the hearers might be more attentive. c Hee sheweth the onely remedy in our afflictions, to wit, to appeare before the face of God by the means of Iesus Christ, who is the Angel, the sacrifice, and the Priest which presenteth our prayers, which remaine yet in earth, before the altar, and diuine Maiesie of God.

333 5 much

much odours was given vnto him, that he should offer with the prayers of all Saints vpon the golden altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the smoke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints, went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.

5 And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings & earthquake.

6 Then the seven Angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to blow the trumpets.

7 So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was hail and fire, mingled with blood, and they were cast into the earth, and the third part of the trees was burnt, and all greene grass was burnt.

8 And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine, burning with fire was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great starre from heauen burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the starre is called Wormewood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the Sunne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the stars, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13 And I behelde, and heard one Angel flying through the middes of heauen, saying with a loude voyce, Woe, woe, woe, to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the soundes to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blowe the trumpets.

14 That is, some excellent minister of the Church, which shall corrupt the Scriptures. n Which here signifie false and corrupt doctrine. o That is, of Christ, who is the some of Iustice, meaning, that men by boasting of their workes and merits, obscure Christ, and tread his death vnder feet. p That is, of the Church. q Of the ministers and teachers, which have not taught as they ought to doe. r These are plaques for the contempe of the Gospel. s Horrible threatnings against the infidels and rebellious persons.

CHAP. IX.

1 The first and six Angel blow their trumpets: the starre falleth from heauen. 2 The locusts come out of the smoke. 3 The first was a pest.

4 The four Angels that were bound are loosed. 5 And the third part of men is killed.

6 And the fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and a starre which was fallen from heauen vnto the earth, and to him was given the key of the bottomlesse pit.

2 And he opened the bottomlesse pitt, and there arose the smoke of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace, and the Sunne and the aier were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke Locusts vpon the earth, and vnto them was given power as the scorpions of the earth haue power.

4 And it was commanded them, that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheades.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vered five moneths, and that their paine should bee as the paine that cometh of a scorpion, when hee hath stung a man.

6 Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them.

7 And the forme of the locusts was like vnto horses prepared vnto battell, and on their heades were as it were crownes like vnto golde, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had habergions, like to habergions of yon: and the sound of their wings was like the sound of charrets when many horses runne vnto battell.

10 And they had tailes like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men five moneths.

11 And they haue a king ouer them, which destroy the elect, but such as are ordeyned to perdition, that is, the infidels, whom Satan blindeth with the efficacy of error, a. Thee, 2. 11. i Though the elect be hurt, yet they cannot perish. k The elect for a certaine space, and at times are in troubles for the wrath of God: but from April to September, which is five moneths. l For at the beginning the sting of their conscience seemeth as nothing, but except they soone seeke remedie, they perish. 1. a. 2. 19. hof. 10. 8. b This authority chiefly is committed to the Pope, in signe whereof he beareth the keys in his armes.

c Abundance of heresies and errors, which ouer with darkness Christ and his Gospel.

d Locusts are false teachers, heretikes, and worldly wise Prelates, with Monkes, Priests, Cardinals, Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops, Doctors, Rectors, and Masters, which forsake Christ, to maintain false doctrine.

e False and deuenable doctrine, which is pleasant to the flesh.

f That is, secretly to persecute, and to sting with their taile as Scorpions doe, such is the falsity of the hypocrites.

g For the false prophets cannot destroy the elect, but such as are ordeyned to perdition, that is, the infidels, whom Satan blindeth with the efficacy of error, a. is the Angel of the bottomlesse pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, & in Greeke he is named Apollyon.

12 One more is past, and behold, yet two moore come after this.

13 ¶ Then the first Angel blew the trumpet, & I heard a voyce from the four corners of the golden altar, which is before God.

14 Saying to the first Angel, which had the trumpet, Loose the four Angels which are bound in the great river Euphrates.

15 And the four Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an houre, at a day, at a moneth, and at a yeere, to slay the third part of men.

16 And the number of hostemen of warre were twentie thousand times ten thousand;
for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the hostes in a vision, and them that sate on them, having fire ha-bergons, and of Iacins, and of hymsone, & the heads of the hostes were as the heads of lions: & out of their mouthes went forth fire and smoke, and bysmoke.

18 Of these thre was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, & of the smoke and of the bysmoke which came out of their mouthes.

19 For their power is in their mouthes, and in their talles: for their talles were like unto serpents, and had heads, wherewith they hurt.

20 And the remnant of the men which were not killed by these plagues, & repented not of the workes of their handes that they should not worship devils, & idoles of gold, and of silver, and of byssie, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither have, nor goe.

21 Also they repented not of their murder, and of their fornicie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

CHAP. XI.

1 The Angel hath the booke open. 6 He sweareth there shall be no more time. 9 He giueth the booke vnto Iohn, which eateth it vp.

2 And he had in his hand a little booke open, and he put his right foote vpon the sea, and his left on the earth.

3 And cried with a loud voyce, as when a lion roareth: and when he had cryed, seven thunders uttered their voyces.

4 And when the seven thunders had uttered their voyces, I was about to write:
but I heard a voyce from heauen, saying vnto me, & seale vp those things which the seven thunders haue spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I saw stand vpon the sea, and vpon the earth, lift up his hand to heauen.

6 And sware: by him that liueth for euermore, which created heauen, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, & the sea, and the things which therein are, that time should be no more.

7 But in the dayes of the voyce of the seuenth Angel, when hee shall begin to blowe the trumpet, euery mystery of God shall be finished, as hee hath declared to his ser-uants the Prophets.

8 And the voyce which I heard from heauen, saide vnto me againe and sayd, Goe and take the little booke which is open in the handes of the Angel, which standeth vpon the sea and vpon the earth.

9 So I went vnto the Angel, and sayd to him, Giue me the little booke. And hee sayd vnto me, Take it, and eat it vp, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweets as honey.

10 Then I tooke the little booke out of the Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 And he sayd vnto me, Thou must prophesie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many kinges.

¶ <sup>a</sup> Which signifieth that the ministers ought to receive the word into their hearts, and to haue true and deepe iudgement, and diligently to studie, and with zeale to utter it. b Signifying that albeit the minister haue consolation by the word of God, yet shall he haue more & grievous enemies, which shall be troublesome vnto him. c Not only meaning in his life time, but that this booke after his death should be as a preaching vnto all nations.

sed by the Lord, are murdered by the beast. 11
But after receiued to glory. 15 Christ is exalted, 16 and God praised by the xxiii. Elders.

¶ Then was giuen mee a reede, like vnto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and mete the Temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship there.

2 But the court which is without the 4 These are two olive trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5 And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouths, and deuoureth their enemies: for if any man would hurt them, thus must he be killed.

6 These haue power to shut heauen, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophesying, and haue power over waters to turne them into blood, & to smite the earth with all manner plagues as often as they will.

God Almighty, which art, and which wast, and which art to come: for thou hast receiued thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdom.

18 And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be iudged, and that thou shouldst giue reward vnto thy seruants the Prophets, and to the Saints, and to them that feare thy Name, to small and great, and shouldst destroy them, which destroy the earth.

CHAP. XII.

There appeareth in heauen a woman clothed with the sunne, & Michael fighteth with the Dragon, which persecuteth the woman. 1 The victory is gotten, so the comfort of the faithfull.

And there appeared a great wonder in heauen: A woman clothed with the sunne, and the moone was vnder her feete, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue starres.

2 And shee was with childe, and cryed traouailing in birth, and was pained ready to be deliuered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heauen: for behold, a great red Dragon hauing seuen heads, and ten hornes, and seuen crownes vpon his heads.

4 And his taile deuo the third part of the starres of heauen, and cast them to the earth. And the Dragon stood before the woman, which was ready to be deliuered, to deuoure her childe when she had brought it forth.

5 So shee brought forth a man childe, which should rule all nations with a rod of iron: and her sonne was taken vp vnto God and to his throne.

6 And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feede her there a thousand, two hundredeth and threescore dayes.

7 And there was a battell in heauen, Michael and his Angels fought against the Dragon, and the Dragon fought and his Angels.

8 But they preuailed not, neither was their place found any more in heauen.

9 And the great Dragon that old serpent called the deuill and Satan, was cast out, which deceiveth all the world: hee was a In this third vision is declared how the Church, which is compassed about with Iesus Christ the sonne of righteousnes, is persecuted of Antichrist.

b The Church troath vnder foote whosoever is morable and inconstant, with all corrupt affections and such like.

c Which signifieth God and his word.

d The Church euer with a most feruent desire longed that Christ should be borne, and that the faithfull might be regenerate by his power.

e The deuill and all his power which burneth with fury.

f For hee is the prince of this world, and almost hath the vniuersall gouernement. g By his flatteries and promises hee gaineth many of the excellent ministers and honourable persons, and bringeth them to destruction. h Which is Iesus Christ the first borne among many brethren, who was borne of the Virgine Marie, as of a speciall member of the Church. i The Church was removed from among the Iewes to the Gentiles, which were a barren wilderness, and so it is persecuted to and fro. k Iesus Christ and his members, as Apostles, Martyrs, and the rest of the faithfull. l For the Dragon was deuiued of all his dignity, and had no more place in the Church.

even cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loud voyce, saying, Now is saluation in heauen, and strength, and the kingdome of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they overcame him by the blood of the Lambe, and by the word of their testimony, and they loved not their liues vnto the death.

12 Therefore reioyce, ye heauens, and ye that dwell in them. Also to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that hee hath but a short time.

13 And when the dragon saw that hee was cast vnto the earth, hee persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man childe.

14 But to the woman were giuen two wings of a great Eagle, that she might flie into the wilderness, into her place, where shee is nourished for a time, and times, and halfe a time, from the presence of the serpent.

15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman like a flood, that he might carie her to bee caried away of the flood.

16 But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her seede, which keepe the commandments of God, and haue the testimony of Iesus Christ.

18 And I stood on the sea sand.

1. 8 The beast deceiueth the reprobate. 2. 4. 13 And is confirmed by another beast. 17 The priuiledge of the beastes marke.

And I saw a beast rise out of the Sea, hauing 7 leauen heads, and 10 hornes, and vpon his hornes were tenne crownes, and vpon his heads the name of blasphemie.

2 And the beast which I sawe, was like a leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power, & his throne, and great authoritie.

3 And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

4 And they worshipped the dragon which gaue power vnto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Alho is like vnto the beast? who is able to warre with him?

5 And there was giuen vnto him a mouth that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was giuen vnto him, to doe: two and forty moneths.

6 And hee opened his mouth vnto blasphemie against God, to blasphemie his name and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heauen.

7 And it was giuen to him to make war with the Saints, and to ouercome them, and power was giuen him ouer euery kind, and tongue, and nation.

8 Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, shall worship him, whose names are not written in the booke of life of the Lambe, which was slaine from the beginning of the world.

9 If any man haue an eare, let him heare.

10 If any leade into captiuitie, he shall goe into captiuitie: if any kill with a sword, he must be killed by a sword: here is the patience, and the faith of the Saints.

11 And I beheld another beast coming vnto the earth, which had two hornes, like the Lambe, but he spake like the dragon.

12 And hee did all that the first beast could doe before him, and hee caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

13 And hee did great wonders, so that he made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men.

14 And deceiued them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted to him to doe in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did liue.

15 And it was permitted to him to giue spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed.

they should speak boldly, & aloud,
and so glorifie
the Lord.

e None can prayse God but the elect whom he hath bought. f By whoreldome: and vnder this vice hee comprehendeth all other: but this is chiefly meant of idolatrie, which is the spiritual whoreldome.
g For their whole delight is in the Lambe Iesus, and they loue none but him. h Which declareth that the faithfull ought to liue iustly and holily, that they may be the first fruits, and an excellent offering of the Lord. i Forasmuch as their finnes are pardoned, and they are clad with the iustice of Christ. k By this Angel are meant the 8 And there followed another Angel, saying, <sup>a</sup> It is fallen, it is fallen, <sup>a</sup> Babylon

10 The same shall drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the <sup>a</sup> pure wine,

1 Seven Angels haue the seven last plagues.

2 The song of them that ouercome the beast. 7 The seven vials full of Gods wrath.

3 And I sawe another signe in heauen, hauing the seven last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

4 And I sawe as it were a glasse sea mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victorie of the beast, and of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, stand at the glasse sea, hauing the harpes of God.

5 And they sing the song of Moses the seruant of God, and the song of the Lambe, saying, Great and marvellous are thy works, Lord God Almighty: iust and true are thy wayes, King of Saints.

6 Who shall not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name: for thou only art holy, and all nations that come & worship before thee: for thy iudgements are made manifest.

7 And after that I looked, and behold, the temple of the tabernacle of testimony was open in heauen.

8 And the seven Angels came out of the temple, which had the seven plagues, clothed in pure and 4 bright linnen, and hauing their 4 breasts girded with golden girdles.

9 And one of the 4 four beasts gaue vnto the seven Angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God, which lineth for euermore.

10 And the temple was full of the smoke of the glorie of God, and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seven plagues of the seven Angels were fulfilled.

C H A P. XVI.

1 The Angels poure out their vials full of wrath.

2 And what plagues follow thereof. 15 Admonition to take heed and watch.

3 And I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, saying to the seven Angels, Go your wayes, and poure out the seven vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth.

4 And the first went, and poured out his viall vpon the earth: and there fell a noysoine and a grievous 4 loze vpon the men, which had the marke of the beast, and vpon them which worshipped his image.

5 And the second Angel poured out his viall vpon the sea, and it became as the 4 blood of a 4 dead man: and euery living thing died in the sea.

6 And the third Angel poured out his viall vpon the riuers and fountaines of waters, and they became 4 blood.

7 And I heard the Angell of the 4 waters say, Loide, thou art iust, 4 which art, and 4 which wast, and holy, because thou hast iudged these things.

8 For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore shalt thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthy.

9 And I heard another out of the Sanctuary say, Euen so, Loide God almightie, true and righteous are thy iudgements.

10 And the fourth Angel poured out his viall on the Sunne, and it was giuen vnto him to torment men with a heat of fire.

11 And men boyled in great heate, and 4 blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer these plagues, and they repented not, to giue him glory.

12 And the fifth Angel poured out his viall vpon the throne of the 4 beast, and his kingdome waged darke, and they 4 gnawed their tongues for sorrow.

13 And blasphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their sores, and repented not of their works.

14 And the sixth Angel poured out his viall vpon the great riuer Euphrates, and the water thereof dried vp, that the way of the Kings of the East shoulde bee prepared.

15 And I sawe three 4 nucleon spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet.

16 For they are the spirits of 4 devils, working miracles, to goe vnto the 4 Kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battell of that great day of God Almighty.

thou hast sold for nothing.

And so these signes of great sorrow,

3 For all nations have drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, & the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 And I heard another voice from heaven say, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers in her sinnes, and that ye receive not of her plagues.

5 For her sinnes are come by vnto heaven, & God hath remembered her iniquities.

6 Reward her, even as she hath rewarded you, and give her double according to her workes: and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 And thus, as she glorified her selfe, and lusted in pleasure, so much give you to her torment and sorrow: for shee laith in her heart, I sit being a Queene, and am no widow, and shall see no mourning.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at one day, death, and sorrow, and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire: for strong is the Lord God which will condemne her.

9 And the kings of the earth shall bewaile her, and lament for her, which have committed fornication, and lusted in pleasure with her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning.

10 And shall stand a farre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, the great citie Babylon, the mighty citie: for in one hour is thy iudgement come.

11 And the merchants of the earth shall weep and waille over her: for no man buyeth her ware any more.

12 The ware of gold, & silver, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linen, and of purple, & of silk, and of scarlet, and of all manner of fine wood, and of all vessels of ivory, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and of iron, and of marble,

13 And of cinnamon, and odours, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oile, and fine flower, and wheat, and beasts, and sheepe, and horses, and chariots, & servants, and soules of men.

14 And the aples that thy soules lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more.

15 The merchants of these things which were waxed rich, shall stand a farre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping and wailing.

16 And saying, Alas, alas, the great citie, that was clothed in fine linen, and purple, and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stone, and pearles.

17 For in one hour so great riches are come to desolation. And every shipmaster, and all the people that occupie ships, and shipmen, and whosever traffike on the sea, shall stand as farre off,

18 And cry, when they see the smoke of her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great citie?

19 And they that cast dust on their heads, and cry weeping & wailing, and say, Alas, alas, the great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her traffike: for in one hour she is made desolate.

20 O heauen, reioyce of her, and ye holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath giuen your iudgement on her.

21 Then a mighty Angel took up a stone, like a great millstone, and cast it into the sea, saying, Alas, such violence shall the great citie Babylon be cast, & shall be found no more.

22 And the voyce of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpeters shall bee heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whatsoever craft he be, shall be found any more in thee: and the sound of a millstone shall be heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: & the voyce of the harp, organ, and of the pipe, shall be heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thyne incantments were deceived all nations.

24 And in her were found the blood of the Prophets, and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Praise are giuen vnto God for iudging the whore, and for auenging the blood of his seruants.

10 The Angel will not be worshipped, 17 The foules and birds are called to the slaughter.

And after these things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heauen, saying, Hallelu-iah, salutation, and glory, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements: for hee hath condemned the great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants, shed by her hand.

3 And againe they say, Hallelu-iah, and her smoke rise vp for euermore.

4 And the four and twenty Elders, and the foure beasts fell downe, and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.

5 Then a voyce came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his seruants, and ye that feare him, both small and great.

16 And I heard like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, saying, Hallelu-iah: for our Lord God almighty hath reigned.

7 Let vs be glad and reioyce, and give glory to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made her selfe ready.

8 And to her was granted, that she should be arrayed with pure fine linen, and shewing: for the fine linen is the righteousness of Saints.

i Who am charged to testify of Iesus, or which am partaker of the same Gospel and faith.
k He sheweth that none ought to be worshipped but onely God: and that he is of their number whom God vseth to reueale his secrets by, to the Prophets, that they may declare them to others, also that we must beleue no other spirit of prophetic, but that which doeth testify of Iesus, and leade vs to him.

Lambs supper. And he sayd vnto me, These words of God are true.

10 And I fell before his feet to worship him: but he sayd vnto me, See thou doe it not: I am thy fellow seruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the testimony of Iesus. (Worship God: for the testimony of Iesus is the spirit of prophetic.)

11 And I sawe heauen open, and behold, a white horse, & he that sat vpon him, was called Faithfull and true, and he iudgeth and fighteth righteously.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crownes: and he had a name written, that no man knew but himselfe.

13 And he was clothed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name is called, THE WORD OF GOD.

14 And the warriours which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horses, clothed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sword, that with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall rule them with a rod of iron: for he it is that treadeth the winepresse of the fiercenesse and wrath of almighty God.

16 And hee bath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh a name written, THE KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

17 And I sawe an Angel stand in the sunne, who cryed with a loud voice, saying to all the foules that dwelle by the mids of heauen, Come, and gather you selues together vnto the supper of the great God.

18 That ye may eate the flesh of Kings, and the flesh of his captiues, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen and bondmen, and of small and great.

19 And I sawe the beast, and the Kings of the earth, and their warriours gathered together to make battell against him that sat on the horse, and against his souldiers.

20 But the beast was taken, and with him that false prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceived them that receiued the beastes mark, and them that worshipped his image. Their body were aloue cast into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were slaine with the sworde of him that sitteth vpon the horse, which communed out of his mouth, and all the foules were killed with their flesh.

CHAP. XX.

2 Satan being bound for a certaine time, y And after his losse, vexeth the Church grievously. 10. 14. And vntill the world is iudged, he and his are cast into the lake of fire.

And I sawe an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key of the bottomlesse pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

2 And he tooke the dragon that old serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bound him a thousand yeres.

3 And cast him into the bottomlesse pit, and he shut him vp, and sealed the doore vpon him, that he should deceiue the people no more, till the thousand yeres were fulfilled: for after that he must be loosed for a litle season.

4 And I sawe scates: and they came vnto them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I sawe the foules of them, that were beheaded for the witnesse of Iesus, and for the worde of God, and which did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his markes vpon their foreheads, or on their handes: and they liued, and reigned with Christ a thousand yeres.

5 But the rest of the dead men had not liue againe, vntill the thousand yeres be finished: this is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the second death hath no power: but they shall be the Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reigne with him a thousand yeres.

7 And when the thousand yeres are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison.

8 And shall go out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euca = Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whose number is as the sand of the sea.

9 And they went by into the plaine of the earth, which compassed the tents of the Saints about, and the deloused city: but fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

10 And the deuill that deceived them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet shall be tormentted euen day and night for euermore.

11 And I sawe a great white throne, and one that sat on it, from whose face fire went both the earth and heauen, and their place was no more found.

12 And I sawe the dead, both great and small stand before God: and the bookes from sinne in newnesse of life. i The death of the soule, which is eternall damnation. k Shall bee true partakers of Christ and of his dignitie. l That is, for euer. m After that the chaine is broken, and the true preaching of Gods word is corrupt. n By them are meant diuers & strange enemies of the Church of God, as the Turke, the Saracens, and other: reade Ezek. 38. a and 39. 13. y By whom the Church of God should bee grievously tormentted. o Which was Christ prepared to iudgement with glory and maiestie. p Every mans conscience is as a booke wherein his deeds are written, which shall appeare when God openeth the booke.

a This Angel prefigureth the order of the Apostles, whose vocation and office was from heauen: or may signifie Church, which should tread downe the serpents head. b Hereby bee meant the Gospel whereby hell is shut vp by the faithful, and Satan is chained that he cannot hurt them, yea, and the saints hereby open to the iudiciall bar through their picture and burnt offering.

c That is, those Christs mistery vnto the time of Pope Syllister the second: so long the papall chaine should laster a fore reme.

d After this terme Satan had greater power then he had before.

13 And the sea came up, her dead, which were in her, and a death and hell delivred up the dead, which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works.

14 And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

3. 24 The blessed estate of the godly. 8. 27 And the miserable condition of the wicked. 11 The description of the heavenly Ierusalem, & of the wife of the Lambe.

And I saw a new heaven, and a new earth: for the first heaven, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

2 And I John saw the holy city new Ierusalem come downe from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

3 And I heard a great voyce out of heaven, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they shall be his people, and God himselfe shall be their God with them.

4 And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes: and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, neither crying, neither shall there be any more paine: for the first things are passed.

5 And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new: and hee sayd unto me, Write: for these words are true and full.

6 And he sayd unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give to him that is athirst, of the well of the water of life freely.

7 He that overcometh, shall inherite all things, and I will be his God, and hee shall be my sonne.

8 But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars that have their part in the lake, which burneth with fire & brimstone, which is the second death.

9 And there came unto me one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come, I will shew thee the bride, the Lambe's wife.

10 And he caried me away in the spirit to a great and an high mountaine, and hee shewed me the great city, holy Ierusalem, descending out of heaven from God,

11 Having the glory of God: and her shining was like unto a stone most precious, as a Jasper stone cleare as Crystal.

12 And had a great wall and he, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve Angels, and the names written, which are the twelve tribes of the children of Israel.

13 On the East part there were three gates, and on the Southside three gates, on the Northside three gates, and on the West side three gates.

14 And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the Twelve Twelve Apostles.

15 And he that talked with me had a golden reed to measure the city withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 And the city lay foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth of it, and he measured the city with the reede, twelue thousand furlongs: and the length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal.

17 And he measured the wall thereof, an hundred, forty and four cubites, by the measure of man, that is, of the Angel.

18 And the building of the wall of it was of Jasper: and the city was pure golde like unto cleare glasse.

19 And the foundation of the wall of the city was garnished with all manner of precious stones: the first foundation was Jasper: the second of Saphire: the thirde of a Chalcodonie: the fourth of an Emerald:

20 The fifth of a Sardonyx: the sixth of a Sardonius: the seventh of a Chrysolite: the eight of a Berill: the ninth of a Topaz: the tenth of a Chrysolalus: the eleventh of a Jacynth: the twelfth of an Amethyst.

21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearles, and every gate is of one pearle, and the street of the city is pure gold, as shining glasse.

22 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty, and the Lambe are the Temple of it.

23 And the Citie had no neede of the Sunne, neither of the moone to shine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it.

24 And the people which are saved, shall walke in the light of it: and the Kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honour unto it.

25 And the gates of it shall not be shut by day: and there shall be no night there.

26 And the glory and honour of the Gentiles shall be brought unto it.

27 And there shall enter into it none unclean thing, neither whatsoever worketh abomination or lies: but they which are written in the Lambe's Booke of life.

AND he shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lamb.

2 In the middle of the streets of it, and on either side of the river, was the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruites, and gaue fruit every moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with.

3 And there shalbe no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lambe shall be in it, and his seruants shall serue him,

4 And they shall see his face, and his name shall be in their foreheads.

5 And there shalbe no night there, and they neede no candle, neither light of the Sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, and they shall liue for evermore.

6 And he said unto me, These words are faithfull and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angell to shew vnto his seruants the things which must shortly be fulfilled.

7 Behold, I come shortly. Blessed is he that keepeth the words of the prophesie of this booke.

8 And I am John, which saw and heard these things: and when I had heard and seen, * I fell down to worship before the feet of the Angel, which shewed me these things.

9 But he sayd vnto me, See thou doe it not: for I am thy fellow seruant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the wordes of this booke: worshippe

10 And he sayd vnto me, I seale not the wordes of the propheticke of this booke: for the time is at hand.

11 He that is unjust, let him be unjust still.

and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still:
and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with me, * to give every man according as his worke shall be.

13 I am * Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first, and the last.

14 Blessed are they, that do his commandments, that their right may be in the trees of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city.

15 For without shall bee dogges and enchanters, and whozemongers, and murtherers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth o maketh lies.

16 I Iesus have sent mine Angel, to testify unto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of David, and the bright morning star.

17 And the Spirit and the Bride say Come. And let him that heareth, say Come: and let him that is athirst come: and whosoever will, take of the water of life freely.

18 For I protest vnto every man that heareth the wordes of the prophecie of this booke, If any man shall adde vnto these things, God shall adde vnto him the plagues that are written in this booke.

19 And if any man shall diminish of the words of the booke of this prophesie, God shall take away his part out of the booke of life, and out of the holy City, and from those things which are written in this booke.

20 We which testifieth these things, saith:
Surely, I come quickly. Amen. Even so, coming. Lord Jesus.

21 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

p. Seeing the Lord is at hand, wee ought to be constant and reioyce, but we must beware: we esteeme not the length or shortnesse of

THE PREFACE TO THE Christian Reader, touching the two Alphabets ensuing.

GOOD Christian Reader, because thou mayest enjoy and reape the profite of these two Alphabets of directions vnto Common places hereafter following, which I haue in maner of a brife Concordance, or large & ample Index, collected, digested, and caused to be imprinted for thy comoditie: I thought it not amisse to aduertise thee somewhat touching the principall contents, vse, and commoditie of them. Wherefore be it knowen vnto thee, that in the first of the said Alphabets, I haue together placed by themselves in a maner, all the strange names and wordes which are scatteringly to bee found here and there throughout the whole Bible, remaying written in the Hebrew, Chaldean, Syriac, Greeke, or Latin languages: to the ende thou mayst by that meanes, learne to be conduced vnto so much of the interpretation, Historie, Common places, and knowledge of them, and euery of them, as I trust thou shalt thinke needefull. And for that in diuers translations these strange names & wordes are written diuersly, I haue, in respect thereof, only in this Alphabet, followed the Geneua translation as most allowed in that behalfe, and yet haue placed in the Margent thereof, how in writing, other Translations differ from the same: to the end not only such corruptions as are found for want of true Orthographie of them, may appeare vnto those that are skillful in those languages, to be amended, when time shall minister occasion (as some of them are already) but also the vnskillful Reader be not defrauded of such commodity, as might grow vnto them thereby, especially if they should haue occasion to looke for any word in the same Alphabet, after the same maner of writing, that they had scene or read in other Copies, and not finde the same accordingly. Secondly, in the other of the said Alphabets, I haue likewise by themselves placed all, and as many proper and vntual English wordes, as are contained in the same Bible, conducing to the finding out of the most fittest sentence, and best common places, tending to the prouing or verifying of any article and doctrine, concerning our Christian faith & religion, or belonging to any other godly or necessary instruction: so as if thou wouldest vnderstand what is to be learned in the Scriptures touching God or his power, his wisdom, or his loue, his mercie, or his truth, his iudice, his promises, his plagues, or his punishments, &c. either else concerning Christ, or the holy Ghost, Angel, or Man, Nature, or Law, Sinne, or Grace, Faith, or Vnbeliefe, Predestination, or Reprobation, Iustificacion, Regeneration, Church or Sacraments, &c. or to be brife, if thou wouldest vnderstand what is necessarily to bee learned in the same Scriptures, touching the estate, authoritie, office or duetie of Kings or Princes, Iudges or Magistrates, Bishops & Pastors, Elders or Ministers, Fathers and Mothers, Masters and Mistresses, Subiects, and Parishioners, Husbands & Wives, Children and seruants, and how euery one, of what degree, estate, condition, or profession soeuer, he, she, or they be of, ought to behaue themselves towards God, and one towards another, and what is to be spoken and not spoken, and what is to be done and left vndone of them or any of them, by the rule of Gods word: thou art not voyd of competent knowledge or directions in this Alphabet to ayde thee. Thirdly, for further thee to finde out in these two Alphabets, anything whereof I haue before made mention, thou art to resort Alphabetically vnto the first of them, with the name of any Man, Woman, Countrey, Citie, Place, Riuer, Idole, &c. in the same contained: and also vnto the second of them, with the chiefe word of any sentence or common place therein mentioned, which thou art most affected vnto, or desirest to be satisfied of: and by this meanes in euery of them shalt thou by Gods grace, without faile be conduced, and to thy great ease.

A Preface to the Christian Reader.

directed, and as it were, ledde by the hand, coen to the Booke, Chapter and Verse, where the same (or so much thereof, as for a goodly, Christian, and necessary knowledge shall be thought requisite) is to be found out most readily: alwayes remembering, that whatsoever conuenient knowledge wanteth in these Alphabets, as touching the text whereunto it directeth thee, is there supplied by the Annotations, or quotations in the Margent. Moreover, good Christian Reader, thou hast also to obserue how that the first Figure, or Figures, which follow next after any Booke whereunto thou shalt bee guided, signifieth or signifie the Chapter, and the other the verse or verses of the same Chapter, where any of the foresaid things is to be sought for. Again, whereas thou shalt after a Chapter, and otherwhiles after some verse or verses of a Chapter, finde this marke or Starre * quoted, thou art to vnderstand, how that the whole Chapter, or from the verse of that Chapter where the same Starre is placed forward vnto the ende thereof, entreateth, or in some good respects chiefly belongeth, and may be applied to the same Historie, matter, or common place (thou seekest for, except there be any verses following the same * for then the common place is to be vnderstood; not to exceede those verses. Finally, whereas I haue sometimes in these Alphabets partly let downe the sense, & that which may properly be gathered of the text, which thou art directed vnto, & not the very words themselves, and otherwhiles repeated one thing in diuers places, but yet to diuers ends, I trust that will not offend thee, sith I haue so done for the vnlarned's sake, because the same could not ne can be made too plaine for them; and therefore haue yfed not so great a custome and abbreviation in that behalfe, as perhaps some others would haue had me: & yet considering to what a great quantity these two Alphabets are grown vnto, (ouer that I thought they would) I haue bene forced to leaue out somewhat, that otherwise I would haue added vnto them, which hereafter by Gods grace I will supply: thus much touching the principal contents, commodity, & vse of the foresaid Alphabets, which with such other doubts as may trouble thee, I mistrust not, but by well perusing of the same, and practise (with the diuersitie of letter, which is vsed in them) will soone appeare very easie, plaine, and apparant vnto thee, albeit I particularly touch not every of them. Now therefore to conclude, if my simple traualle and paines taken herein shall be wel accepted of thee, I meane, of the more skillful and learned Readers to be polished and amended of them (if they shall to deeme necessary and conuenient) to the better edification of the Church of God, whereof they are or ought to be ioynt members, helpers, and furtherers, so farre forth as their Talents wil stretch vnto, and that in the spirit of meekenesse, lowliness, and charitie: and of the lesse learned or vnlarned Reader (vnto whom I confesse my selfe the greatest debitor) as an aid and helpe to their godly studies, and honest trade of life, and withal Christianly to be construed of al men, as a meanes and furtherance, and not an hinderance vnto any, I shall for my part thinke my selfe well requited, and more then sufficiently rewarded, in that I shall enjoy my desire, and that which I longed for. And so beseeching Almighty God to giue vs his grace to be studious of vniuersitie, and bringing forth such fruites, as may declare our vndoubted election in Christ Iesus, I take my leaue of thee, this xxij of December.

Anno Domini.

Thine in the Lord, Robert F. Harry.
